TORONTO, April 2. — Canadian Press. - The market was strong and active during to-day's brief session on the Toronto stock exchange. Massey Harris and Brazilian Traction weer again the features of the trading. Massey-Harris common experienced considerable profit taking but remained firm at 128 1-2. The new stock weakened 3-4 to 31 1/2. Brazilian was in demand and firmed 1-2 to 134. Industrial alcohol sold up 12 to 26. Steel of Canada was an outstanding strong feature, advancing five points to a new high of 134. International Nickel was a soft spot and declined 1-8 to 41 3-4. Distillery stocks were active. Seagram gained 3-8 to 23 1-2 while G. and W. advanced 1-2 to 59 1-2.

Reports Of Crop Damage Result In Higher Prices

CHICAGO, April 2. — Canadian Press. — Reports of crop damage from high winds and bugs in Western Kansas tended to rally wheat to-day after initial declines. At first the market has been bearishly influenced by the fact that Liverpool quotations were almost altogether unresponsive to yesterday's advance here. Opening at 3-8c off to 1-8 up, wheat later showed slight general gains. Corn, oats and provisions were easy, corn starting unchanged to 3-8c lower, and subsequently sagging.

Opening prices were: Wheat, May, 1.33 7-8, July 1.29; oats, May 43 7-8, July 44 1-8; corn, May 72 1-2; July 77 1-8.

MAPLE SYRUP TO BE SCARCE

Lack of Frost Affects Run of Sap—New Market Rules in Force.

EGGS PLENTIFUL.

The beginning of the month saw the commencement of the new regulations at the farmers' market this morning, and a blue-coated officer of the law paid visits of warning to several of the regular vendors whose stock of meat and fruit comes under the classification of those which may be regarded as being only partially of strictly farm, garden or dairy origin.

Maple syrup was more plentiful than last week. The supply this year will be low owing to the lack of frost, it is said. One dealer had his stock lowered by about two gallons, which returned to Mother Earth in hasty fasion when the plug came out of the container. Speedy efforts to stop the flow by means of a convenient apple were not skilful enough and quite a large amount of the brown, sweet substance was lost. Prices for syrup ranged from 60 to 75c a quart.

There was plenty of butter and eggs in the basket section this morning the former priced from 25c to 28c a dozen, and butter at 47 and 48c a pound. One lady had a tall bottle of pickled carrots of excellent quality, priced at 75 cents.

Potatoes on the open market were $1.40 a bag and apples were 25 and 35c a peck. Pork was 18 and 20c and veal 17 to 23c a pound. Little Tamworth pigs were $14 a pair.

CAR RUNS INTO LADDER WAGON

ANSWERING ALARM.

The ladder wagon of the fire department collided with a car driven by A. Thompson of Mount Julian this morning at the corner of Aylmer and Hunter Streets. The team was driven by Fireman Degen and Fireman Mason was the other man on the wagon. One front wheel of the car was broken and both fenders badly bent.

The firemen were answering a call to a chimney fire in the north end of the city with the ladder wagon, as the truck was out at the time to another chimney fire. Fireman Degen stated to The Examiner that he was sounding the gong at the time and as he approached Hunter Street he noticed this touring car proceeding slowly north along Aylmer Street ahead of him. At the corner the wagon was almost alongside the car when Mr Thopmson turned suddenly to the left, striking one of the horses and throwing it on to the hood of the car. The horse was cut around the shoulder, and on one of its back legs, and the tongue in the wagon was broken.

It was at the noon rush and soon there was a jam of cars at the corner with several other minor collisions when cars tried to get by the long ladder wagon.

ity money which might otherwise remain within it. It would take a week or two before one could tell exactly how business was affected. The whole affair was very serious.

A. W. Pratten, president of the Peterborough Hardware Co., said, "We never have anything for publication."

H. Abramson could not say whether business had suffered since the cessation of activities.

F. G. Greatrix, proprietor of the Nugent Drug Store, said he would be in a better position next week to discuss the effect on business.

Grads Win Dominion Amateur Championship

TAYLOR SCORES WINNING GOAL IN SECOND OVERTIME PERIOD OF GRUELLING FINAL CONTEST

Neither Team Has Any Edge on Play in Fourth Game.

PLAY VERY FAST.

Gruelling Pace Tells On Both Teams Toward End of Game.

VANCOUVER, April 2—Toronto Grads are the senior amateur hockey champions of Canada, winners of the Allan Cup, and will represent Canada at the Olympic Games next year, as a result of their 2-to-1 win over the Fort William team last night after 20 minutes' overtime.

It was beyond doubt the finest hockey match ever witnessed here and was between two teams that were as evenly balanced as could be. The Grads won the fourth game, the first game being a 30-minute overtime tie. Fort William won the second, 3 to 2, and the Grads took the third by a 4 to 1 count.

Ross Taylor Does the Deed.

Ross Taylor, playing left defence for the Toronto team, was responsible for last night's win, when he beat Kearney in the Fort William net with a perfect shot, after a pass from Delahey on the ice as a sub. The score came one minute and 58 seconds in the second five minutes of the second overtime period, and was the break that both teams had been fighting for all night.

Neither team had any distinct edge on the play and the ten thousand people that packed the arena for the fourth time saw a game that was filled with thrills from start to finish.

Play Lightning Fast.

It was the second overtime game played here, and so evenly matched were the two teams that until Taylor's score a fifth game was not at all an improbability.

Play was lightning fast throughout the whole 80 minutes and near the end the gruelling pace began to tell on both teams. Penalties were comparatively light up to the second overtime period, when both teams went at it hammer and tongs, whenever opportunity presented, and there was a steady stream of men leaving the ice for the penalty box.

First period—No score.
Penalties—Trottier, Taylor.
Second period—
1—Toronto Grads, Plaxton, 12.55.
2—Fort William, Ward, 4.20.
Penalties Tuckwell, Fraser.
Third period—No score.
Penalties—Cook, Delahey.
First overtime period—No score.
Penalties—Porter, McLeod, Taylor.
Second overtime period—

The teams:

Toronto Grads—Goal, J. Sullivan; defence, Porter and Taylor; centre, Plaxton; wings, Hudson and Trottier; subs., F. Sullivan and Delahey.

Referee—Frank Patrick.

Judge of play—Beatty Ramsay.

LARGE ENTRIES ARE LISTED FOR GAMES

Information Leads To Belief Contestants More Numerous Than Previous Years.

AMSTERDAM, Holland, April 2.—(Canadian Press)—Preliminary information on the probable entries in the Olympic games to be staged here next summer (1928) shows that a large number of contestants from practically every country will again gather to battle for the Olympic titles.

Within this country alone, well over 100 contestants in various events, exclusive of numerous officials, have already signified they will compete. These include 16 boxers, 12 horsemen, with 15 horses, 10 tennis players and nine persons for each 8 metre yacht entry; eight for each 6 metre yacht entry and three for each 12 foot yawl entry. In addition some 30 yacht racing officials, 30 boxing officials, 20 horse racing officials and 10 tennis officials will be present.

So far information on probable contestants does not cover every country expected to send entrants, but particulars of some of the contestants from about 13 countries, including Great Britain, are available. Great Britain will send at least 100 athletes, 60 swimmers, 18 cyclists, eight gymnasts, 44 oarsmen, seven wrestlers and 20 weight-lifters, a total entry of 257.

Hungary proposes to send 80 contestants for various events; Estonia about 50 competitors and Lettland a football team in addition to five competitors in light athletic sports, four cyclists, five wrestlers, five weight lifters, four boxers and five Penthathlon marksmen. Finland will send 150 competitors including a football team. Rumania will send entrants for the games but not for the hockey events, and Czecho-Slovakia will send 10 cyclists, 10 athletes, six tennis players, six boxers, 20 swimmers, 16 fencers, eight gymnasts and nine horsemen, with a number of officials for each sport as well as a representative contingent for Graeco-Roman wrestling and weight lifting competitions, yachting and rowing events.

From Germany will come 400 representatives, including 30 or 40 football players, 25 hockey players, 10 tennis players, 15 fencers and four women fencers, 12 horsemen, 40 swimmers, 10 weight-lifters, five wrestlers, 16 boxers, and 18 cyclists, and a total of 194 active competitors, with as many or more officials.

Italy will send 200 representatives including officials, while Japan will participate. Switzerland has officially decided on at least a hockey team. One hundred and fifty will represent Brazil, inclusive of officials. Belgium will send entrants in almost every branch of sport on the calendar having already selected 30 rowers eight boxers, 10 cyclists, six fencing teams, 15 athletes, 40 hockey players, 20 footballers, six wrestlers, seven catch-as-catch-can entrants, five weight lifters, ten swimmers, and nine horsemen, a total of 166 contestants.

BIG TRADING WINTER.

Thirty-three players in the major loop will play with a different club this season from the one they played with last year. Seventeen American Leaguers changed owners fourteen National Leaguers and two players changed leagues. It was one of the biggest trading winters of all times.

Inside Sporting Dope

By A Wise Cracker

Mister Sporting Editor:

This being wrote Thurs., it looks now like the Grads was going to be taking a sea voyage next year, but this hockey dope has me laying on the ropes and ready to drop, so when the customers read this them Fort Williams may be bosses of Canada. By the way, Mac, did you notice who is President of the Forts? None other than our old friend, Mister Bobby Armstrong, the string bean which played centre for the 247th Battalion team here back in '17, and which was about the best goal-getter what ever wore a Peterborough tunic. With some bird that could pat the old disc like Mister Armstrong used to do on the Petes' line-up this season the Grads wouldn's have been almost forgot by this time. Mister Armstrong had the right idea about hockey—the real inside stuff being to plant the bootheel against the back of the net instead of trying to puncture the goalkeeper with it.

My hat is off to them Owen Sounders, Mister Sporting Editor. With our own Mister Shrimp McDougall leading the parade, the Greys has grabbed Dominion honours for the 2nd time in 4 tries, and they deserve all the good things what has been said about them. They is a team after my own heart, Mac, with 6 players able to go the whole 60 mins., and then outlast the other birds in overtime. I always will claim this sub system is the bunk, particularly the way most managers handle it. It's got so that a healthy young bird, sound in wind and limb, which oughta to go the full route at top speed and never turn a hair, is playing with 1 eye on the sub bench praying somebody'll soon be sent out to relieve him. It ain't the fault of the players, but of the system, and the way it's working out it's ruining a lotta good puckchasers. A man that can't go more'n 6 or 7 mins. without the lifesavers being sent to his rescue shouldn't be playing hockey at all, and yet the managers is using the subbing in a way that's making 5 min. players out of guys that oughta to thrive on a full diet. This Owen Sound bunch didn't use a sub, but in the final serious of the season they was fit to go through a overtime game and finish like colts. And they ain't no reason why a lotta birds in intermediate and sr. ranks couldn't do the same if they wasn't softened by a crazy system. And beside, 6 regulars what can go the whole distance will give you better team-work and a better all-round team.

Well, Mac, I ain't going to bother you no more this week, so I'll just go off the air with the usual,

Sportfully yours,
A. WISE CRACKER.

YANKEE SQUAD STARTS JAUNT TO NORTHLAND

IN TOP FORM.

Will Meet Cincinnati Reds in Two Game Series.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., April 2.—After sticking closer to their training base than any other big league club has stuck this Spring—and longer than most of them—the Yankees have started on their jaunt homeward.

One two-hour workout this morning under another cloudless sky was the farewell to St. Petersburg until another year has rolled around.

It was four weeks ago last Sunday that the first detachment of Yankees moved into the sunshine city, and only three games were played beyond its precincts. Some of the players, in fact, were not not outside this city from reporting time until they climbed aboard the train tonight for Palm Beach, the first objective on the barnstorming tour. One game with the Reds at Orlando, one with the Cardinals at Avon Park and one with the Orioles at Auburndale wts the extent of the Yankee traveling while headquarters were maintained at St. Petersburg.

Remain Behind.

Four players were left behind, some of them for another week. Herb Pennock will try to catch up in playing form while the club is en route home, and both Benny Bengough and Roy Chesterfied will work out their sore arms under the friendly sun. Tony Lazzeri joined the leftovers to continue treatment for a carbuncle which has kept him out of uniform for a few days.

Tony would like to give Palm Beach the once-over, if only to satisfy himself that it doesn't compare with the brighter spots along the beloved California coast, but he will have to pass up the trip. Tony cannot push-'em-up the ailing knee for a couple of days at least. He will join the Yanks at Savannah on Monday.

Will Meet Reds.

The Cincinnati Reds will be encountered at Palm Beach as part of the series which has already resulted in two victories for the Yankees and some much-needed assistance in the form of a rainstorm. It will be recalled that the Reds were riding high toward victory here last week, when a sudden downpour washed three runs right out of the statistics. If the Yankees do not display more skill than they have shown in their past three games against National League opponents, they will need another rainstorm to pull them through safely.

After the games with the Reds come the Cardinals, who have already bounded a pair of wicked thumps against the noble, or otherwise, chins of the Yanks this spring. The Spring world series gets under way at Jacksonville and then continues on and on. The line of travel extends through Savannah, Montgomery, Atlanta, Knoxville, Chattanooga and Nashville, where the tourists will part company.

Mark Roth and Clarence Lloyd, road secretaries and ticket counters, hope that all the natives of these cities who saw the world series over the ticker tape last October will be out to see the athletes in the flesh. Unlike the big series, space will be found on the playing field for all customers after the stands are filled, and there will be no disappointed ticket seekers. That's their programme, and they will stick to it even if some of the ball players have to move over so as not to crowd the spectators.

Mark and Clarence have assured Commissioner Landis that there will be no squawks and no ticket scandal in this Spring world series.

PRO GRID COSTLY.

It cost Adrian Maurer, former Oglethorpe football star, around $2000 to play pro football this past fall. Maurer was reputed to have received a "high salary." He, with other southerners, was with Newark. The club hit the rocks. Then the players financed their own games, and Maurer's part of the loss was two grand.

LEE FOHL MAY TRY ALEXANDER IN THE OUTFIELD

Slugging First Sacker Too Valuable With Bat For Bench.

BURKE SUBBING.

Proposes To Carry Three Catchers, Hargraves, Rensa and Styles.

ASHEVILLE, N.C., April 2.—Toronto's erstwhile outfield problem has been solved to the satisfaction of Manager Lee Fohl, with Spencer, Holland, Walker, Lawry and Alexander, the latter for occasional duty. The secondary defence gives him no concern. "Lena" Styles, no mean outfielder, will also be available because for a time at least Fohl proposes to carry three catchers, Hargraves, Rensa and Styles.

The infield, according to present indications, is likely to be composed of Heath at first, Harrington at second, Lamotte at short, and Webb at third base. Anyway that is Fohl's tentative line-up of the infielders.

That arrangement does not provide for Les Burke, bought from the Detroit Tigers. The impression had been more or less general that Burke would step into the second base job without question, but the dashing play of Harrington at second has won him a place until somebody can show enough to dislodge him. "What about Burke" was the query put to Fohl. That elicited the laconic but significant reply, "Let him make his place for himself."

Harrington at Second Base.

The trouble in Harrington's shoulder which caused him to be used very sparingly last season is apparent now only spasmodically, and then in a lesser degree. Burke did not have conspicuous success with American league pitching last season, which is probably one reason why Fohl has nominated Harrington ahead of him. Burke's .229 in 38 games was not impressive. Harrington was always a hard and effective hitter in the International league. Hargraves looks like becoming the first string catcher with Styles and Rensa in reserve. Styles' good work at first and third, in addition to his catching assignments last season, make him a most desirable man to carry. Big Rensa, independent leaguer from Parsons, Pa., is anything but a finished catcher, but he is a hard, free swinger at bat, and throws with terrific speed and fine accuracy to all bags. This husky Polish youngster is a most promising prospect and will not be allowed to get entirely free of Toronto control no matter whether he is carried all season or not.

There are some young pitchers on tour with the Leafs who will not make the class AA grade, but they will be taken along on the remainder of the trip to pitch to the batters in practice and to relieve the more experienced flingers while the latter are cannily nursing their arms, especially if cold weather be encountered when the team gets to New York and beyond.

Fisher on the Way?

The pitching promises to be up to the high standard of last season but there is no veteran backstop of the calibre and experience of O'Neill to steady the younger twirlers or 'work' the batters as did the stocky catcher now with the St. Louis Browns. Astute catching is a large part of the success of pitchers, be they recruits or veterans.

Pitcher Fisher has not arrived here at 11 o'clock this morning, but Manager Lee Fohl believes he will be here before the Leafs take their departure.

Ty Cobb visited the Leafs before they left Augusta. The former Detroit manager, now with Philadelphia Americans, does not mince his words when discussing the outlook for the Mackmen. The American league race is as good as over, according to the Georgian. He says Mack has eight high-class pitchers who will be consistent winners and that the attack will be strengthened by Collins, Wheat and Boley. Cobb modestly refrained from including himself, but he may be depended upon for something like the .339 he contributed last season. It is likely to be rather more than less.

Holland May Do.

Advices which have reached the Toronto team are to the effect that outfielder Holland is showing remarkable form with the Tigers and while he cannot break into the Detroit outfield he should be a strong addition to the Leafs. Pitcher Owen Carroll has not done all that was expected of him by Detroit, having worked very little in the San Antonio camp owing to a sore arm.

The attractive booklet descriptive of the delightful tour from Toronto to the Pacific Coast via Canadian National Railways to be operated by the Order of the Eastern Star of the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec is now ready and copies may be had on application to Passenger Traffic Department, Canadian National Railways, Toronto, or any Agent of the Company.

This booklet describes the routing in detail, outlining the many points of special interest which the tour will include, chief among which are Jasper National Park, Banff, and Lake Louise in the Canadian Rockies, and the wonderful steamer sail through the inside passage of the North Pacific Coast from Prince Rupert to Vancouver.

While this tour has been organized primarily for the benefit of the members of the Order of the Eastern Star, their families and friends, it is felt that the opportunity to make such a trip in pleasant and mutually congenial company will undoubtedly appeal to members of the various Masonic bodies in the Province, and a cordial invitation to join the party has therefore been extended to such members, together also with their families and friends.

Reservations may be made through any Canadian National Agent.

TRUTH VERSUS ERROR.

That all mankind will be saved from the first or temporal death, goes without contradiction, seeing many passages of Scripture state that fact.

Will all mankind be saved from the second, or everlasting, death? This question cannot be answered in the affirmative, from any Scriptural statements.

The fact of a day of judgment for the world, goes to prove that some may not stand the test, and go down to endless death. The words contained in Acts 3: 22, 23, seem to imply that some will fail to accept deliverance from endless death. Again, "the gift of God is eternal life," through Jesus Christ our Lord," but the gift to be effective must be accepted by the one to whom it is offered. This means that all who refuse to accept the Lord as the great Deliverer, and who refuse to obey, shall not live eternally, but shall be destroyed, as foretold by Moses.

The great ransom price paid is not a guarantee that everybody shall live eternally, whether he wants to or not, but it is a guarantee that everybody shall have an opportunity of obeying and living.—M. T. BUTCHER.

TAXI MEN DO NOT NOTICE DIFFERENCE

Cessation of Street Car Service Has Not Caused Flurry.

Judging from the replies given to a question addressed to the local taxi-men by the Examiner, the sudden dislocation of the street transportation system has exerted little effect on the number of calls for taxis.

Kenneth Hogg said: "I can't see any difference at all."

B. R. Weese reported a slight increase. "We have not noticed it very much. Of course the weather has been fine, and that affects the taxi business. We had a few more trips than usual—we had some this morning to the market."

J. W. Devall said business was good, but no effect was noticeable on account of the car stoppage.

P. J. Allen said as a result of the stoppage he had received an increased number of calls."

J. F. Akey said there was not much difference in the number of calls, since the closing down of the car system.

Herb Stinson said he could see no difference so far as the taxi business was concerned.

TALK ON SUCCESS VERY INTERESTING

Rev. W. M. Loucks Delivers Fine Address in All Saints' Hall.

Character, courage, hard work, and religion are necessary for success, the Rev. Walter M. Loucks informed his audience in All Saints' Parish Hall last night, when he lectured on that subject under the auspices of the Women's Guild of the church. The chair was taken by R. J. Bolton, and a short programme was given. Mr. Loucks' address was given in characteristic fashion, and interspersed with humorous anecdotes. The attendance was not as large as it might have been, those in charge blaming the street car stoppage, among other causes.

Taking up his four essentials, the speaker said that character is partly hereditary. People must live so as to give a good example to those who are to follow them. A good education is needed, with thorough training to fill the place which God intends each one to fill. Experience forms character and helps to bring success.

People must be courageous, holding fast to their aims in spite of difficulties, continued the speaker, referring to the recent war, where the refusal of the allied armies to give in brought victory. People should do the small things that come to them and wait for the big things.

Hard work is necessary. "Never mistake perspiration for inspiration," Mr. Loucks warned his hearers. Concentration and thoroughness in all things will bring success.

"The man who has no religion is a failure," was the concluding point brought out. "We must live our religion every day and keep in touch with God. This is the only thing that is really worth while."

Instrumental trio—Messrs. McKeown and Farthing and Mrs. Goodley.

Violin solo—Mr. McKeown, "Il Trovatore."

Vocal solo—Miss Jessie Pattison.

At the conclusion of the evening's entertainment a vote of thanks was tendered by C. Lacheur to the speaker and entertainers.

IN POLICE COURT.

Thomas Newell, of Norwood, was remanded in police court here yesterday, charged with an offense against the O.T.A. and is being held in the county jail.

IN MEMORIAM

FORD—In loving memory of Mrs. George Ford, who died February 24th, 1924.
It was a tender voice that called our dear one,
And sweetly bade her enter into rest,
We know that she is safe at home forever.
Within the "many mansions" of the blest.
But deep within our hearts we sadly miss her,
And Heaven seems nearer, dearer, and so fair,
We've one friend less on earth; one more in Heaven
Since this dear treasure of our hearts is there.

Though hard it seemed to her to leave her dear ones,
When first she felt that death was drawing near,
Yet to her Heavenly Father's care she gave them,
And Christ was nigh, and whispered words of cheer.
And though the surging billows bore her onward,
She clung to Jesus and His power to save,
Praying "Lord Jesus do I pray come quickly,
"And bear me safely through the dark cold wave."

So peacefully she fell asleep in Jesus,
To wake in that bright happy land above,
Now free forever from all pain and sorrow,
She's resting happy in her Saviour's love.
We know that she has gone to be with Jesus
Her form, so loved, we've gently laid away
To rest, to sleep her long last dreamless slumber,
To waken on the Resurrection day.

Then let our hearts take comfort in the promise
That God has given to comfort those that weep,
The dead in Christ shall rise to live forever;
For so he giveth His beloved sleep.
She waits for each and all her dear ones yonder,
In that bright city by the crystal sea.
Oh, may we all be ready for the Master,
And thus be safe through all eternity.

FISH MERCHANT TO FIGHT CHANGE IN MARKET LAW

J. Nasimok Claims Prohibitory Clause of Bylaw Not Legal.

POWERS DEFINED

Action will be taken on Tuesday against the City of Peterborough by J. Nasimok of 499 George street if the Council does not see fit in the meantime to amend its market by-law in regards to the selling of fish.

Mr. Nasimok, through his solicitor J. A.O'Brien, claims the by-laws to be ultra vires with regard to prohibiting the sale of fish on the market. A letter has been sent to the Mayor and City Council by his solicitor wherein Mr. Nasimok points out his position and the position of the city in regards to the by laws. In his letter the following extracts are given showing the reason for his action:

"No foreign fruit or vegetables and no goods chattels or effects of any kind shall be sold or offered for sale in the market building or the market place or the adjoining streets save and except farm, garden and dairy produce and wood and used implements brought to the market for sale by farmers or gardeners provided such implements have been previously used by the seller on his own farm or garden."

I also beg to draw your attention to Section 24 of By-law number 2634 reading as follows: "No person shall, offer, keep or supply for sale any animal or article of any nature or kind whatsoever in or upon that part of the market house, hall or building, known and described as the entrance thereto, and no person shall sell, offer, keep or supply for sale any fish or meat of any kind or description in or upon the market house, hall or building."

The authority of the Council of an urban Municipality to pass By-laws relating to markets is found in Section 401 of the Municipal Act. I draw to your attention Sub-section 3 of the said Act reading as follows:

"For regulating the place and manner of selling and weighing grain, meat, vegetables, hay, fish, straw and other fodder, wood, lumber, shingles, farm produce, smallwares and other all other articles exposed for sale, and prescribing the fees to be paid therefor."

From the extracts from your By-laws it is plain that this Municipality is attempting to prohibit in the market house, hall or building, and in or on the market place, the sale, amongst other things, of fish.

By reference to sub-section 3 of Section 401, the powers of the Council are limited to regulating the place and manner of selling—fish—and prescribing the fees to be paid therefor.

Reversal Of Sentence Against Socrates Asked

ATHENS, April 4 (A.P.).—The death sentence passed against Socrates in 399 B.C. has been appealed to the supreme court.

M. Paradopoulos has undertaken to act as the philosopher's attorney. He declares it was by a miscarriage of justice that Socrates was convicted of impiety and corrupting the young and drank the fatal hemlock. He urges reconsideration of the death verdict passed by the judges of the Athenian democracy "against their better judgment."

"The honor of Greece requires a revision of the judgment and a judicial declaration of Socrates' innocence," says Socrates' attorney.

DISTIL POISON FROM ALCOHOL

PROBE CONTINUES.

TORONTO, April 4 (Canadian Press).—The process of re-distilling denatured alcohol in an attempt to make it potable has been carried on to some extent in Western Ontario. The effort is to extract the poisonous denaturants from the alcohol, which is then blended or compounded into an imitation whiskey for human consumption.

Cecil Webb, in charge of excise officers in the London district, gave the royal customs commission some information along these lines during the sitting this morning. He described a siezure in Elgin County, when two large stills were found in operation. Sixteen drums of denatured alcohol were seized as well as the stills, and three men were apprehended.

Frederic B. Taber, Inspector of Provincial Polic at Hamilton, told of the seizure of eighty-one cases of liquor in Hamilton Bay in December, 1926. Frank Ellitt, Chief Inspector of Provincial Police, O.T.A. section, stated that there was evidence that beer and liquor from Ontario breweries and distilleries which were supposed to have been exported found its way back into the Province.

CANADA'S SHIPS DECREASE LOSS

Merchant Marine Comes Close To Paying Operating Expenses in 1926.

MORE REVENUE.

OTTAWA, April 4.— (Canadian Press.)— The Canadian government merchant marine came within $90,159 of paying its operating expenses in 1926, an improvement of $857,893 as compared with the previous year, according to the report of Sif Henry Thornton, tabled in the House of Commons to-day. In 1925, the operating loss was $948,053 and in 1924 it was $1,440,880, and the report states this may be regarded as a continued and most satisfactory improvement. The C.G.M.M. is now operating a fleet of 46 vessels. In 1926 the gross revenue showed an increase of $1,114,735 or 11.28 per cent., while the operating expenses were increased by $256,841 only, or 2.37 per cent.

COURTS TO SETTLE DISPOSAL OF FUNDS

Rev. Father Whibbs Asks Permission To Pay Legacies Under Will.

TORONTO, April 4 (Canadian Press)—A legacy of $10,000 awaits John Stafford Walsh, who has been missing for twenty years, provided that he appears to claim it within five years of the death of his mother, Mrs. Anne Doheny Walsh, who died at Lindsay, Ontario, on July 12,1926. If he does not appear he is to be presumed dead and his mother's executor, Rev. Father George Francis Whibbs, of Lindsay, is to be at liberty to distribute the legacy to such educational subjects as he may deem proper.

As Father Whibbs, by reason of an ecclesiastical dispute between himself and his bishop, the bishop of the diocese of Peterborough, Ontario, must proceed to the ecclesiastical courts at Rome shortly, and is likely to be there till after the time for the payment of the specific legacies, he asks the supreme court to dispose of certain questions which cannot be disposed of at the present time. The court is also asked for leave to pay other legacies to the amount of $14,900.

TEN JAPANESE MISSING SINCE TROUBLESUNDAY

FIGHT AT HANKOW.

Chinese Also Clash With American Sailors at Chungking.

SHANGHAI, April 4. Canadian Press. — Five Japanese civilians and five sailors were carried off by a mob, says a Japanese wireless from Hankow, during the fighting in the Japanese concession there yesterday, and were still missing to-day. It is believed one of the sailors was killed and thrown into the river.

Several Japanese houses in the concession were destroyed and the homes of those living in Chiakow, a suburb, are surrounded by Chinese pickets.

Trouble between United States sailors and the Chinese is reported from near Chungking, where coolies attempted to capture the United States steamer "Chinan" from the blue jackets of the gunboat "Monacacy," who was guarding it. Four Chinese were wounded by the Americans.

TO LODGE PROTESTS SOON

LONDON, April 4. — Canadian Press.—Protests by foreign government, over the outrage at Nanking, and demands for reparation, are expected to be lodged with the Cantonese government in a few days,, it was authoritatively stated at Downing street to-day.

Diplomatic exchanges between Washington and London continued over the week end without a hitch. It remains uncertain however whether the demands will be made jointly or in identical notes by the three powers.

There is also some difference of opinion as to whom to address the notes, but the likeliest recipient is Eugene Chen, the Cantonese foreign minister.

SAILORS FIGHT COOLIES.

BOSTON, April 4. United Press. —An Exchange Telegraph Despatch from Hong Kong to-day said British sailors and Chinese coolies clashed at Shasi after a case of foreign goods had been confiscated and burned by the Chinese.

The anti-foreign feeling was increasing at Shasi, the despatch said, and conditions were becoming chaotic. Chinese police were said to have been routed in a second street fight after a hand to hand engagement with labor pickets. Bandits raided a Chinese shipping office and looted the contents.

JAPAN WON'T INTERVENE.

BERLIN, April 4. (United Press.) —Japanese recognition of the Cantonese government in China, if it captures Peking, was forecast to-day by the usually well informed Moscow correspondent of the Vossische Zeitung. Recognition however would be predicated upon Cantonese agreement to autonomy for Manchuria, where Tokio's chief interest lies, according to the Moscow view.

In any case Japan will not intervene in China, the Soviet authorities were quoted as believing.

Crisis in Hankow

LONDON, April 4 (Canadian Press).—Another crisis seems to be aproaching in Hankow, Sir Austen Chamberlain told the House of Commons today. He said, however, that the latest reports showed a lull following yesterday's fighting in the Japanese concession there.

The Foreign Minister said steps were being taken by British and Americans to reduce their nationals in the foreign community at Hankow to a minimum.

Advices from Nanking, Sir Austen Continued, showed the Nationalists to be adopting an increasingly truculent attitude towards foreigners, and foreign property. They have fired upon British steamers leaving the port and the looting of foreign houses is continuing. All foreigners have been evacuated from Nanking.

Answering a query he said he had no evidence to fix responsibility for the Nanking events. The troubles there and elsewhere undoubtedly had been encouraged and stimulated from Moscow. He emphatically denied the statement by Eugene Chen, the Cantonese foreign minister, that for every foreigner killed at Nanking, 100 Chinese were killed in the bombardment by the foreign warships.

The foreign minister said that last Thursday the British in every part in the interior of China were warned to withdraw to places of safety. He thought that not more than two hundred Britishers remain in the interior at present.

Holds a Carnival Kiss Is No Offence For Girl

BERLIN, April 4 (A.P.). — Carnival kises do not count, it has been ruled by a judge in Cologne.

The city has just finished celebrating the biggest carnival season since 1913, and a suit for damages was a result.

The plaintiff, Fraulein Maria Horsheim, formerly a cashier in the beer hall of Herr Schurman, sued for 400 marks wages in lieu of notice, and as damages for wrongful dismissal brought about by Frau Schurman. The wife caught her husband bestowing a good morning kiss upon the cheeks of the pretty cashier.

Before the case was concluded the respondent offered to pay the money, admitting the kiss and the girl's dismissal, but the judge handed down his decision that such a kiss, given during carnival time, when good cheer was in the air, was no cause for dismissal.

CHICAGO, April 4. Canadian Press. — Sporadic moves for peace, marked the opening of a new week in the coal mining controversy that brought idleness to more than a hundred thousand men when the Jacksonville wage pact expired last Thursday at midnight. Conferences were scheduled in various parts of the coal area. A number of smaller mines in the central competitive fields resumed operations to-day under temporary agreements.

MAN TRAPPED UNDER HIS CAR FOR TWO HOURS

Stephen Harrison of Asphodel Badly Cut in Accident.

FOUND IN DITCH.

Passers-by Rescue Him From Painful Plight Near Norwood.

Stewart Harrison was pinned under his car for amost two hours on Saturday night, when it overturned in the ditch on the Norwood Road. He was returning from Indian River about midnight, and was driving up Harrison's Hill, which is about two and a half miles from his own home, when his car swerved into the ditch, and started to climb up the embankment. When he tried to bring it back on to the road the car turned over pinning Mr. Harrison underneath.

About two o'clock in the morning, Joseph Anthony, who operates a fruit store at 91 Hunter street east, and also one in Campbellford, was returning home from Campbellford, accompanied by Frank DeLauro, and Mr and Mrs. H. W. Cooper. As they approached Harrison's hill, Mr. Cooper, who was driving, noticed the lights of a car in the ditch, and when they came alongside it, they could hear a man calling for help.

They found Mr. Harrison pinned under the car, so that he could not move hand or foot, with part of the frame resting on his head. The men

Big Dogs As Pets Rouse British Hotel Patrons

LONDON, April 4 (A.P.).—Dogs are on the defensive in English hotels. They used to have the run of hotels, even those of the first rank. That was when women carried pekingese and pomeranians in their muffs and fed them cake at public dining tables.

But since pet dogs have taken on the size of overgrown wolves and "kindly" Alsatian pets have bitten several persons the long-suffering public has turned.

"Keep dogs out of the public rooms of hotels" is a cry that has risen all over England. This is especially true of motoring areas.

"Why turn hotel lounges into zoos?" "Provide arenas for folks who carry packs of trained wolves around with them"; "Why can't I be allowed to drink my tea without having an Alsatian swish his tail in it?" are samples of the protests which reach the British newspapers.

BUY LUMBER FOR EXPORT

Will be Used for Ship Building in Old Country.

ROCK ELM AND OAK

OMEMEE, April 4.—Mr. F. E. Hall, of Toronto, purchased from several farmers in Ops township enough rock elm and oak trees to make up four car loads. These are being shipped from Reaboro to England, where they will be used in ship-building. The price paid is $50 per 1,000 feet. Four men are supplied to cut the trees and get them ready for shipment. Each tree must be 20 feet long at least and 14 inches in diameter at the top in order to be squared. In many cases they run 39 feet long and the diameter in the centre 25 inches. If they do not measure the 14 inches these are shipped round. When squarred out the number of feet to each log runs from 250 feet to 1,000 feet.

Mr. Hall will make his next shipment from Best's Station.

PRESIDENT SAYS ALBANIA SAFE

Intervention By Powers Stopped Invasion By Political Refugees.

LONDON, April 4. — (Canadian Press.)— Ahmed Aogu, president of Albania, told the Daily Mail correspondent at Tirana that anxiety over the recently threatened invasion of Albania has ceased. Political refugees and irregulars were waiting to descend upon the country, he said, but intervention by the powers was effective and the situation had improved in the last few days.

EXPECTED POWERS WILL JOIN WITH BRITAIN IN PRESENTATION OF NOTE TO CANTON AUTHORITIES

Despatch, It Was Indicated in Official Circles, Would Require Apology and Reparations for Nanking Incident and Guarantees for Future.

REPORT STATES LITTLE DAMAGE DONE DURING ANGLO-AMERICAN BARRAGE.

Foreign Office Asserts There is New Evidence That Attacks Are Now Being Directed Against All Foreigners.

LONDON, April 4(AP)—Great Britain, which has been carrying on communications with Washington and Tokio concerning the Nanking disorders on March 24, continued its exchanges over the week-end and there was a confident belief last night in official quarters that within a short time a joint note will be presented to the Cantonese authorities.

This note it was indicated, would require an apology and reparations for the Nanking incident and guarantees for the future.

All information reaching the government, not only from consular sources, but also from Chinese witnesses, it was stated, was contrary to Nationalist declarations that more than 100 Chinese were killed or wounded for every foreign casualty.

The reports received by the government also declare that little property was destroyed by the Anglo-American barrage to aid the escape of foreigners beleaguered on Socony Hill. There were only three Chinese casualties from bombardment and no property was damaged or houses burned, this information said.

Strengthen Forces

The war office has officially announced that another infantry brigade and auxiliary units totalling approximately 4,000 men would be dispatched to the far east as soon as they were brought to war strength by calling up reservists.

Decision to augment the Shanghai defence force came as a surprise even to those in close touch with events, but military experts at home and in China have maintained that it is essential, when the demands are made on the Chinese, that there be an adequate force on the spot to back up threats of possible action.

It is stated that the brigade will be rushed to Hong Kong, relieving the troops there for duty in Shanghai. If urgently necessary, they will be sent directly to the Yangtse.

Officials say this does not mean that a Chinese refusal to the forthcoming demands is anticipated, but that the reinforcements are to be sent as a measure of precaution to care for emergencies.

The week end brought no let-up in the British Government's concentration on the Chinese crisis, Premier Baldwin and Foreign Secretary Chamberlain kept in closest touch with their Downing Street desks, with the other members of the cabinet quickly available.

The newspapers are full of reports and predictions that the powers finally will agree on a blockade as the best step to take in the event the Nationalists refuse reparation for the Nanking affair.

Against All Foreigners

Foreign office spokesmen assert there is now evidence that attacks now are being directed by the Cantonese against all foreigners indiscriminately, whereas hitherto the British have been the main targets.

For instance, it is said, the usual anti-British posters have been supplemented at Tsinanfu by others urging the Chinese to rise and kill all foreigners.

An admiralty communique states that foreigners are being treated with increasing truculence at Anking, in Anhwei Province, southwest of Nanking.

U. S. Cruisers Arrive

SHANGHAI, April 4 (AP)—With the evacuation of foreigners still remaining in various sections of China continuing over the week-end, the United States cruisers Richmond and Marblehead arrived here yesterday reinforcing the naval armada already in Chinese waters.

Asserting that militarism, brigandage and bolshevism has destroyed all semblance of law and order in most of China, the American Chamber of Commerce yesterday issued a statement in which the belief was expressed that "immediate, concerted action of the powers to restore the security of foreign lives and property at the treaty ports and to recover all foreign properties destroyed or confiscated will have a far reaching effect throughout China and be of ultimate benefit to China."

"In our opinion," the statement said," the future peace of the world and the welfare of the Chinese people would best be served by the maintenance of the alignment of powers established by the sub-Washington treaties and their co-operation in the service pledged to China during the Washington conference."

Dispatches from Hong Kong say that forty foreign women and children, a majority of them members of the families of missionaries, have arrived there from Canton

Girl Commits Suicide Before Statue In Church

LONDON, April 4. — (United Press.)—While scores of worshippers bowed at mass in St. Michael's Church, Dublin, Miss Mary Behan, 20, lighted two candles before the statute of the Sacred Heart and cut her throat with a razor, a despatch tin the Westminster Gazette said to-day.

GENERAL STRIKE DIDN'T SUCCEED

Those Behind It Believed It Would End Industrial Strife.

HODGES PREACHES.

LONDON, April 4 (Canadian Press).—The general strike has not achieved the object of those who sincerely believed in it—namely, the end of industrial strife, said Frank Hodges, secretary of the International Miners' Federation, speaking from the pulpit of Coventry Cathedral yesterday. The Cathedral was crowded with miners who had walked from all parts of Warwickshire.

Barbaric strife and industrial war were futile, he declared, and some better way must be found.

GIRL RECOVERS FROM POISONING

AT WINNIPEG.

WINNIPEG, April 4 (Canadian Press).—Ethel Pishker is recovering in a hospital from the effects of poison, which police allege she took immediately after shooting to death Roy Pickman in a local boarding house. The girl is under police guard, and her recovery is said to be assured, according to hospital authorities.

The girl was a friend of Pickman, a married man, whose wife is an inmate of the Provincial Asylum.

Workman Falls 27 Floors and Is Expected To Live While Another Is Killed in a 15-Storey Plunge

NEW YORK, April 4—An electrician's helper fell fifteen stories down an elevator shaft and was instantly killed in Brooklyn Saturday, while in Manhattan a workman who fell twenty-seven stories down another elevator shaft was expected last night to recover.

The man killed in Brooklyn was William Malone, 22 years old, of 466 East 135th Street, who was employed on the construction of the Leverich Towers, a hotel at Clark and Willow Streets. He was drilling a hole near the top of the shaft and lost his balance.

Plunging down, Malone hit Richard C. Detthoff of Wayne, NJ., who was working on the top of an elevator fifteen stories below. Both crashed through the top of the car and landed on Joseph Wademan who was working inside the car. An ambulance doctor from the Long Island College Hospital said that Malone had died at once. He took the two others to the hospital.

At the time Anthony Craffo, the Manhattan laborer, lost his balance and fell the hoist was being lowered, but Craffo, falling much faster, struck it as it passed the third floor. He bounded off and fell the remaining distance to the street level. He was taken to Knickerbocker Hospital. Doctors who found him to be suffering from a compound fracture of the right foot, a possible fracture of the skull and internal injuries, said they hoped for his recovery.

"Power at cost." That is and has been the slogan that has and will sicken and deceive the taxpayers of this city, before and until they learn by bitter experience that under public ownership, there is no such thing as real economy, but on the other hand waste and extravagance creeps in at every turn, with the net result that under private ownership excessive profits could be made on the savings of waste under public ownership.

FACTS MUST BE FACED

Let us look at the facts, but before doing so let it be understood that figures are uninteresting except when you take 30 cents on the dollar, in payment of your hard-earned money or when you make an improvident bargain or get shoddy cloth instead of cloth containing a high percentage of pure wool

"POWER AT COST" EXCESSIVE

"Power at cost" to the Peterborough street railway. That is a solemn fact announced by the Hydro Commission that this railway was supplied with. On page 217 of the Hydro Report for 1925 appears these very words "power supplied at cost to the Peterborough street railway the Campbellford pulp mill and works under construction, $67,552.80." Of this amount the Peterborough street railway paid $14,546.11 for 300 horse power in one year. That is at the rate of $48.48 per horsepower. In addition to that this poor railway had to pay the Local Utilities Commission $8.00 per horse power extra to transform and distribute it. That made in all: "Power at cost" to the street railway no less than $56.48 per horse power.

FORMER RATES $26.48 PER H.P. LESS

These are facts taken from Hydro records and the sooner they are verified and believed and acted upon by our taxpayers the better. Just fancy! The old Otonabee Power Company to my knowledge and the old Peterborough Light and Power Company made money on the sale and distribution of power at $26.48 per horse power less than has been charged by Hydro to the street railway to which power has been sold at "cost" by Hydro. No wonder the street railway has run under ground.

ONTARIO GOVERNMENT THE BOSS.

The services of its manager, the Hydro Commission are no longer required with the result that the Ontario Government has a closed down railway on its hands. What is it going to do with it? That is a question for Premier Ferguson to answer and his answer must give some concern to his supporter Mr. W. H. Bradburn, M.P.P. No less than 1,300,000 passengers were carried last year on this same street railway and this summer unless something is done, they will walk and talk and walk in the hot sun, and ask the question at next election: "Why de we walk to the polls?"

This hint is gentle but it is enough to stimulate action on the part of the powers that be, for power is vested in the elector to say to the representative "We are exrcising our 'power at cost' to thee."

UNITY OF ACTION AND COMMON SENSE

Now what is the remedy? That is the question. Unity of action all round by all taxpayers in Peterborough working with a common end, to assist Mr. Bradburn, M.P.P., Mr. Peck, M.P., and the City Council to buy the street railway at scrap price for that is what it is worth; to buy the gas plant on a basis that the Consumers Gas Co. of Toronto is enabled to sell at present prices plus extra charges in freight of raw materials; to purchase Auburn Power plant at cost; and to develop dams 4 and 5 and Burleigh Falls. All assistance should be given by the Ontario Government and its servant the Hydro to carry into effect this plan. Any scheme that falls short of this proposal is doomed to failure.

RAILWAY, GAS AND POWER IN ONE

Why?- If the street railway alone is taken over then the power rates imposed would eat up all the profits. If the gas plant is taken over with the street railway the owner would be cursed with all the demands for reduced rates that would be impossible to give and yet live. If we do not buy Auburn, we would be in Hydro hands and the Lord provide us against this Hydro-headed monster. If we do not get control of the dams to the North, this city will be forever hamstrung by Hydro. What this city needs is a "clean up" and to obtain that "clean up" the truth must be told in plain language to our politicians at Ottawa and at Toronto as well.

LET US HAVE ABOVE BOARD DEALING

Again I repeat that the syndicate I represent if given a fair opportunity and honest dealing can supply power, gas and street railway service at 20 per cent. less cost than is now being supplied by Hydro. Why should not the City Council act? Why should not Mr. Bradburn, M.P.P., act? The Hydro Commission is the manager. It has the sack by the street railway. It has been weighed in the balance and found wanting.

A round table talk would solve our troubles with a reasonable time to carry them into execution, and in the meantime there is no reason why the street railway should not carry on.

CIVIL SERVANTS WELL SATISFIED WITH INCREASE

ISSUE STATEMENTS.

Regret Expressed That Some Exceptions Had To Be Made.

OTTAWA, April 4.—Satisfaction is pretty general throughout the civil service at the announcement made in the house of commons Friday by Hon. Fernand Rinfret, on behalf of the government, as to the salary increases decided on, although there is, at the same time, regret expressed that some exceptions had to be made to the fairly general increase. Statements were issued Saturday on behalf of the Civil Service Federation of Canada, and of the Civil Service association, of Ottawa. The former indicates the gratification of the federation that its persistent efforts, with the co-operation of other organizations of civil servants, have borne such fruit, while the statement on behalf of the Civil Service association, of Ottawa, frankly declares that on the whole the present upward revision is more generous and satisfactory than any previous award.

Grievances Redressed.

Passing of the third reading in the commons Friday night of bills to amend the Superannuation act of the civil service and to grant relief to widows of former civil servants who did not get allowances such as are now provided for civil servants and their dependants, marks another stage in the redress of grievances and hardships which have been much under discussion in recent years.

Log House Burns When Sparks Ignite Roof—Cottages Saved.

NO INSURANCE.

EAST EMILY, April 4. — The third fire for this district within the last week occurred on Saturday at noon, when the log house on Wilbert Fee's farm, 7th concession, was ignited by sparks from the chimney. The tenant, Mr. Edwards, and the neighbors, made valiant efforts to save the building but were unsuccessful. They had a hard time to keep the fire from spreading along the grass to Fee's Landing. There was no insurance on the building.

Declares Dancing oT Jazz Cuts Lives of the Elderly

PARIS, April 4 (A.P.).—The views of an English doctor at Monte Carlo are causing many elderly dance lovers on the Riviera to pause in their revelry.

This doctor asserts that the present craze for dancing is taking five years from the lives of persons over 60 who indulge.

"Dancing harms no one," he says, "but the harmful part is that the man or woman over 60 usually insists on a youthful dancing partner. They hire youthful instructors to teach the the latest steps.

"Then, rain or shine, well or sick, they keep their weekly appointments because they will have to pay even when they don't appear.

"There have been scores of deaths in the British and American colonies of France directly traceable to dancing when not well. Then men are harder hit than the women."

SOLE SURVIVOR OF THE GALLERY

Newspaperman Served at the Capital City Over 60 Years Ago.

STILL WRITING.

CHARLOTTETOWN, P. E. I., April 4—The only surviving newspaper correspondent of that group which occupied the press gallery of the house of commons at the opening of the Confederation parliament, 60 years ago, J. E. B. McCready, of this city, celebrates his 80th birthday anniversary to-day. Mr. McCready has bowed but slightly before the onslaught of years, and to-day he writes a column of live commeat upon the political affairs of the Dominion, which appears as a daily feature in a local newspaper.

Asked recently to divulge his formula for longevity, Mr. McCready replied: "Moderation in all things, six hours sound sleep out of every 24, forget the troubles of yesterday in zeal for this task today. Above all, keep going on."

STRIKE CLOSES POSTAL SERVICE

Labor Unrest Reported as Extending Throughout Province of Fukien.

SITUATION BAD.

AMOY, April 4 (Canadian Press). —Strikes have closed down the entire postal service of the Amoy district. Labor unrest is reported as extending throughout the province of Fukien.

Heavy foreign mails from Shanghai are tied up by the strikes. Postal Commissioner Forzinetti, a Frenchman, was held a prisoner in the post office by the strikers until six o'clock Saturday night, when he was released by the Chinese naval authorities.

The general situation here is bad but ample protection is afforded foreigners by the British, United States and Japanese warships in harbor.

GERMANY GAINS TRADE IN CHINA

CUSTOMS REPORTS.

WASHINGTON, April 4. (United Press.) — Millions of dollars of foreign trade—and other potential millions in rich concession values—are at stake in war-torn China to-day.

Germany, stripped of ext-aterritorial (special privilege) rights by the Peace Treaty, is forging ahead in trade with China; with Britain lagging, and the United States in the fore rank, according to Chinese customs reports and Commerce Department statistics.

Besides the trade foreign nations do with China, there are rich exploitation prospects in China's silks, cotton, coal, iron ore and min rals.

In 1913, Britis exports to China amounted to $70,745,000, which constituted 17 per cent of all the foreign goods passing the Chinese customs.

British exports to China farmed 12.9 per cent., 12.. per cent. and 9.7 per cent of the total in 1923, 1924 and 1925, respectively. Thus England's share had been reduced to nearly half of what it was before the war. Complete figures are available only to the end of 1925, but reports indicate this tendency has continued during 1926 and the first months of 1927.

This development is the more remarkable because China's exports to Great Britain have increased. Exports to Great Britain constituted 5.7 per cent. 6.5 per cent. and 6.1 per cent. in 1923, 1924, 1925 respectively.

Germany's exports to China, which before the war amounted to $20,600,000, amounted in 1923 to $25,000,000; in 1924 to $31,200,000, and in 1925 to 827,000,000. In percentage of imports these figures mean 4.9 per cent. for 1913, 3.5 per cent. for 1923, 3.8 per cent. for 1924, and 3.' per cent. for 1925. Reports indicate that for 1926 Germany's position again improved.

As for the United States, before 1910 its trade to China was negligible. 1923 exports from the United States to Canada amounted to $118,400,000 or 16 per cent. of all foreign imports. In 1924, the respective figures were $151,000,000, or 18.3 per cent.; in 1925, $116,500,000 or 14.7 per cent. The figures for 1926 seem to indicate further decline, for the American imports for January and February together amounted to $13,600,000, while the monthly average of 1923 had exceeded $9,500,000. The same tendency is shown for 1927.

DENIES BISHOP LEADS REBELS

Mexican Prelate Is Well Known To Hamilton Bishop.

PROPAGANDA SPREAD.

HAMILTON, April 4—Insidious propaganda, fostered by opponents of the church in Mexico, is being spread over Canada and the United States, declared Right Rev. J. T. McNally, Catholic bishop of Hamilton on Saturday, commenting on recent news despatches to the effect that a detachment of rebels was in command of Archbishop Francisco Orozco y Jiminez, of Guadalajara, Mexico.

"I know Archbishop Orozco well," said Bishop McNally, "and no more gentle and refined man lives in the world to-day. He is totally incapable of the actions attributed to him in these reports; reports which are simply propaganda issued by the enemies of the church to justify their tyranny. All the Mexican churchmen accused of such violence have given specific denials to the stories, and even Obregon, a hard and violent man who has been held responsible for much oppression, has declared that the tyranny in Mexico to-day must end.

Mix with Japanese

SHANGHAI, April 4 (AP)—Japanese sailors at Hankow, attempting to disperse a mob of Chinese coolies which was looting shops in the Japanese concession there yesterday, was compelled to fire with machine guns, resulting in the wounding of two Chinese, says a Japanese naval radio message from Hankow.

The message said that the mob invaded the concession after a quarrel there between a Japanese sailor and a rickshaw coolie. Shops were looted and Japanese Nationals were held up in streets. A detachment of Japanese sailors was landed hurriedly from warships in the Yangtse and in dispersing the looters opened fire.

A majority of Japanese in the concession area, numbering more than 2,000, have taken refuge on Japanese warships, while others are remaining in the other foreign districts under the protection of soldiers. Japanese soldiers are now guarding the Japanese concession.

More Japanese warships were ordered to Hankow immediately from Nanking and Shanghai to reinforce the three already there. Tomorrow three Japanese steamers will leave Shanghai for Hankow to evacuate the Japanese nationals.

Wealthy Society Woman Faces Cruelty Charges

NEW YORK, April 4 (Canadian Press).—Mrs. Everett S. Pratt, wife of a wealthy Des Moines paper manufacturer, will face a charge of assault if the accusation that she beat and burned her six-year-old adopted daughter, Roberta, is proved, Vincent Pisarra, superintendent of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, said yesterday.

The juvenile court of Des Moines, of which the child is a ward, has intimated its intention of taking the child from the Pratts.

The child was placed in the custody of the S. P. C. A. Saturday by Justice Levy in children's court after a physician had certified to finding evidence of burns and abrasions on her body. Pisarra took the child from the Pratt suite at a fashionable hotel Friday night after women guests had reported that she was being neglected and mistreated.

The little girl yesterday repeated her story regarding how she was burned with a curling iron and told of being beaten with a shoe tree. She seemed reluctant ot name her foster mother as the person who mistreated her.

DEMAND VOICED FOR RETIREMENT OF CHANCELLOR

"Churchill Must Go," Says Liberal and Labor Press.

TEST COMING.

Failed In Not Resisting Pressure of the Spending Departments.

LONDON, April 4.—Churchill Must Go. Brilliant Failure. Weak Chancellor These are some of the condemnatory headlines addressed to Hon. Winston Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer, to-day by the Liberal and Labor press and very much the same thing is being said among the more vigorous Tory supporters, following the publication of his annual budget for 1926, showing deficit of nearly £37,000,000.

The Conservatives are naturally blaming this huge deficit on the general strike and labor upheavals, but the Liberals, in their analysis of the country's finance, have concluded that where the chancellor failed was in not resisting the pressure of the spending departments.

Fight Coming.

Undoubtedly the budget is going to give real anxiety to the Tories, and Hon. Mr. Churchill's future as chancellor depends on how he acquits himself in framing his budget and how he meets the severe criticism which he is bound to be faced with in the commons.

Premier Baldwin will undoubtedly try to turn the budget against labor and there is little doubt that the government would go to the country but for the results of the recent by-elections, which have caused considerable doubt as to whether, in a general election, the Tories would be able to return to power in anything approaching their present strength.

REPORT FERDINAND SLIGHTLY IMPROVED

Affirmed That Sovereign's Chances For Recovery Appeared Much Better.

BUCHAREST, April 4 (Canadian Press).—Improvement in the condition of King Ferdinand of Roumania who has been gravely ill with grippe, was reported yesterday in an official bulletin signed by six physicians who are in attendance on the King.

The King's condition was looked upon with optimism by his entourage, and all members of the royal family yesterday affirmed that the sovereign's chances for recovery appeared much better. Young Prince Michael, son of Prince Carol, who is now Crown Prince by virtue of his father's renunciation of his rights to the throne two years ago, visited his grandfather yesterday.

"His Majesty passed a very good night. His temperature was 38.6 centigrade (101.48 Fahrenheit) at the last examination; his respiration 24, and his pulse 90."

The general state of amelioration in the King's condition, as announced in the last day or two, was maintained in a bulletin signed by the six attending physicians and issued at 12.30 p.m. Dr. Sluys, the Belgian radium expert, who has arrived from Brussels, was among the signers.

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

How human is royalty? Just about like the rest of us. For instance, when the infant child of the Duke and Duchess of York came through with a tooth the other day, the king sent couriers dashing through the corridors to apprise the queen of the great news. Little Princess Elizabeth is a great favorite with his majesty.

MINER'S WAR AT STANDSTILL

AWAIT AGREEMENT.

CHICAGO, April 4 (Canadian Press).—Miners and operators in the soft coal fields throughout the central competitive district, which has been virtually idle since the expiration of the Jacksonville agreement, last Thursday, are waiting developments to determine the exact extent of the tie-up.

Both are silent concerning the situation pending activities anticipated at various middle western conferences during the week.

Since the shut down at midnight Thursday there has been little opportunity to determine the extent of the strike, for Friday was miners' holiday and Saturday a half-holiday, and the coal fields are usually inactive on Sunday.

It is known, however, that several operators reaching individual agreements with miners are to continue operations under an extended contract based on terms of the Jacksonville agreement, pending a general settlement.

To-day, with mines ordinarily due to re-open after the week-end and holiday suspension, observers will be able to gather a more definite view into the extent of the idleness. Of approximately 200,000 miners in the central competitive soft coal fields, it is estimated that by far the greater percentage will leave their picks and shovels idle until a new agreement is reached.

Averscu and Bratiano On Opposite Sides in Present Contest.

PARIS, Apr. 4 (United Press). — According to a despatch from the Bucharest correspondent of the newspaper Lematin, Premier Averesco is preparing for a coup d'etat in the event of King Ferdinand's death and is concentrating troops at various points in Roumania. He is said to have named General Michel Jonesco director of railroads.

Former Premier Bratiano, realizing the danger in such action, has organized political resistance to it. He has put military matters in charge of General Prezan, chief of the Roumanian general staff, during the war.

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

DO BY DOING

The fiddler old drew notes of gold
From fiddle and from 'cello,
And hearts beat fast and sorrow passed
Because of that old fellow.
It seemed somehow in heaven now
A thousand birds were singing;
We heard the swell of many a bell
In distant belfries ringing.
"Whence came the skill our hearts to thrill?"
I found myself a-saying.
He turned his head and softly said,
"I learned to play by playing."

We may not know the path to go;
Some golden goal pursuing.
But make the start with singing heart;
And learn to do by doing!

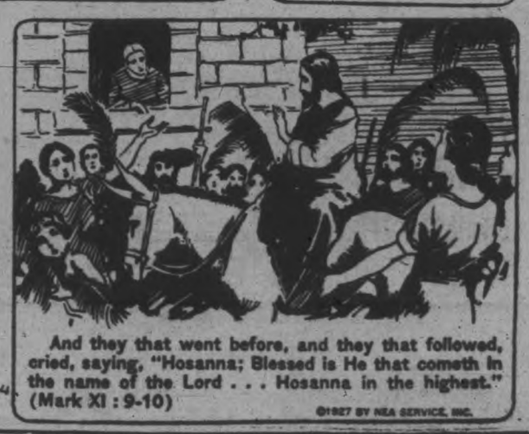
THE LIFE OF CHRIST : The Triumphal Entry

Synopsis Arranged by Dr. Wm. E. Gilroy, D.D. Sketches by Kroesen.

Nearing Jerusalem, Jesus sent two of His disciples into a village, bidding them bring an ass that they would find tied there, with a colt. (Matthew XXI : 1-3)

As they cast their garments upon the colt, Jesus sat upon him and began His triumphal entry into Jerusalem. (Mark XI : 7)

The people spread their garments and palm branches before Jesus. (Matthew XXI : 8)



And they that went before, and they that followed, cried, saying, "Hosanna; Blessed is He that cometh in the name of the Lord . . . Hosanna in the highest." (Mark XI : 9-10)

Following in mother's footsteps

Ever since Magic Baking Powder was first introduced, many years ago, it has been the favorite with thousands of Canadian housewives. And the rising generation appreciates it just as highly.

Miss Fannie Thompson, Howard Street, Toronto, writes:—

"My mother used your baking powder for years. We follow in her footsteps and we find Magic Baking Powder good."

For sure success in baking insist on "Magic." Ask for it by name, for none other is "just the same."

PRIEST UPHOLDS CATHOLIC UNIONS

MONTREAL, Que., April 4th (Canadian Press).—Catholic Unions are not only recommended by the church but are considered the safest and the best means for the worker to employ to attain justice, fair-play and reasonable treatment, Rev. Father L. A. Lafortune, assistant chaplain of the Central Council of Catholics and National Syndicates, stated during an address on the occasion of the seventh anniversary of the formation of the syndicate here.

Quoting the words of Scripture: "He has given each one care of his neighbor" (Eccles. XVII:-12), and the Papal encyclical of Pope Leo XIII, "Rerum Novarum," dealing with relations between capital and labor, the speaker gave a long discourse on the logical and moral reasons which led the workers to get together, not only for their own, but for the protection of society in general.

In National Catholic Unions, he said, were found the elements of sane co-operation, combined with moral and social advantages which appealed to the workmen throughout the country, but particularly in Montreal, where 85 per cent. of workers were eligible to membership. These unions fulfilled every object of social union, in providing means for corporal, spiritual, material and moral advancement.

Benefits in procuring better wages, better hygienic conditions, better working hours, observance of the Sabbath and holy days, would all accrue from membership in these societies, which did not oppose in any way the legitimate enterprise of capital or labor. Father Lafortune declared. In addition to the latter, remedies against Bolshevism, communism, sabotage and boycotting would be found in adherence to the principles which animated the National Catholic Syndicates.

There was not the least intention on the part of Catholic unions to disband labor or to disorganize unions, out on the other hand they encouraged co-operation with all other reasonable organizations of labor and preached, not opposition, but collaboration with allied societies, Father Lafortune concluded.

The Burrier to Health— Waste Matter in the System

London, Ont.—"I have never taken a medicine that is so good as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. For many years I was bothered with sluggishness. I would become constipated, have dull headaches, feel drowsy, sleepy and mean. I took different pills but without results until I began taking Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. Since taking them I have had no such trouble. I take them about twice a week and they keep my whole system in perfect condition. I am never without a bottle of the 'Pellets' and I highly recommend them—there is nothing better."—Mrs. Henry Dean (Picture above), 661 Lorne Ave.

Can you use these 6 extra salesmen?

IF you had six salesmen as good as your best one, think how your sales would jump!

Set your best salesman the task of selling by Long Distance, and you will multiply his efforts many times. One jewelry and silverware house calls its customers every week on the Station-to-Station basis, offering them a low-priced "Special." The extra orders secured after selling the "Special" amount to considerable.

It is an accepted axiom of telephone selling that going after business by Long Distance results in about twice as many sales as waiting for customers to telephone in their order even if you pay the charges.

MAY NOT BE SO ROSY.

At Friday night's meeting of the City Council Ald. Denne pointed out a few facts that if considered by other municipalities in Central Ontario who are enthusiastically applauding the action of the Hydro Commission in shutting down the local street railway may take a considerable portion of the joy out of their celebration.

The loss occasioned by the scrapping of the Peterborough street railway will be borne by the Central Ontario system, and not by the Province; that is one feature that is being overlooked.

A second factor is that the Peterborough street railway has been a customer for $14,000 worth of power a year, for which there is at present no other market available.

So the net results of the withdrawal of Peterborough's transportation facilities so far as the other power municipalities of the district are concerned may not be nearly so desirable from their viewpoint as they doubtless appeared last Friday.

TIME TO RALLY.

The resolution unanimously passed by the Ontario Legislature last week, after eloquent speeches by Premier Ferguson, W. E. N. Sinclair, Liberal Leader, and Hon. W. E. Raney, Leader of the Progressive party, calls upon all municipal, fraternal and other organizations to do everything in their power to make the celebration of the diamond jubilee of Confederation a complete success.

The Examiner hopes that in Peterborough this appeal will be answered by early evidence that local organizations are anxious to co-operate with and assist the Dominion Day Committee in every way possible.

What is needed to ensure a real celebration is an organization such as made the Patriotic Fund possible or that carried the Victory Loan drives through to triumph.

Less than three months' time is left—little enough in view of the work that must be done to work out the details of the celebration and arrange a programme spreading over the three days.

Real leadership on the part of representative citizens and an awakening by the whole community to the importance of the occasion are essential to the success of the celebration.

It is high time for a whole-hearted rally behind the local committee.

The jubilee celebration will be one of the biggest events in Canada's history, and Peterborough's part in the demonstration must be worthy of this city.

THREE REASONS FOR HURRYING A SOLUTION.

There is no disputing the fact that an early solution of the transportation problem should be sought with all possible vigour by the Council.

Without some adequate system of transportation there will be a serious condition created by reason of which the value of property in the outlying portions of the city will immediately be materially lessened.

At the same time the absence of an easy means of reaching the business section will naturally hurt business to some extent at least, and in bad weather will be reflected in diminished receipts in down-town stores.

To these disadvantages must be added the inconvenience that is being caused to hundreds of workers who have long depended upon the street railway cars and buses to get them to their places of employment and home again.

These conditions, depreciated property values, a falling off in business and the personal inconvenience being suffered by many citizens who set up homes away from the centre of the city, relying upon a transportation service being maintained make it imperative that there should be no delay in trying to provide the city with a substitute for the service that has just passed out.

Submitting the question of the purchase of the street railway to the citizens might well have been done months ago, and been disposed of before an emergency was created by the Hydro's action in closing down the system.

In that event the Council could have been ready with a policy that would have avoided any suspension of transportation facilities.

Unfortunately these things were not done, and for the present a solution is not easy to find.

"DETROIT'S BARKEEPER."

United States newspaper men may be a little hazy as to their knowledge of Canada, but they apparently have no doubts as to what is to happen in Ontario when Mr. Ferguson's cash and carry liquor stores open their doors.

Windsor people will be surprised to learn, for instance, that they live in a small town of about 18,000 population, otherwise the following article from The New York Sunday News, which is accompanied by a map, will probably be regarded by the Border Cities folks as helpful publicity.

Says The Sunday News:

"Windsor, Ontario: that is the place. Less than a mile by ferry across the Detroit River from the great city of Detroit. Population, according to the latest census, about 18,000. Population of Detroit, one million and a quarter.

"In the small town of Windsor three ten-story hotels are building. Landlords lick their chops in anticipation of a flight by hundreds, maybe thousands, of Detroiters across the river to take up permanent residence in Windsor. Stores, apartment houses, homes, shoot into the air. Real estate is on the boom in Windsor.

"The reason? Ontario has gone wet again, after ten dry years. Windsor is going to be Detroit's barkeep and wholesale liquor merchant. Detroit's liquor bill is going to run into millions per year, all payable in Windsor, and in American dollars.

"The least the city of Windsor can do by way of acknowledgment is to set up a life-size bronze statue of Andrew J. Volstead in whatever is Windsor's City Hall park."

HOME INFLUENCES ARE ON DECLINE.

There is no doubt whatever that Police Chief Dickson, of Toronto, was right the other day when he declared that many homes nowadays are but "parking places and filling stations", for those who are domiciliaries there. There is as much authority in the home now as in the olden days, but "the children exercise it."

The statement is not true of all homes. There are parents who still adhere rigidly to first principles. There are parents who are insistent that their children go to church, also to Sunday School, and who require a schedule of lesson time in the home. But there are many others, unfortunately, who do not know the whereabouts three parts of the time of their youngsters of teen age, that dangerous period in which character is formed. Smaller cities are not as bad as the larger ones, but the modern parental laxity can be found near home any time. Nor are we as bad as some American cities. What can children grow up to be like when, as is occasionally the case, their father and mother are divorced, both remarried, the children divided between the two parents, and as a crowning climax both remarried parents meeting each other socially and assuming casual friendliness, to show the matter of course decision they amicably made. Such callous indifference is a tragedy to the boys and girls who have been cursed with such parenthood.

People blame the schools for not doing their share to keep youths from the wayward path. The church is likewise blamed. The home, however, is the very basis of training. Selfish, pleasure-loving parents are the ones very frequently who should be arraigned in court instead of the ones they brought into the world and neglected. Nor is it necessary to revert, in this age, to the old methods of corporal punishment. The effect of such, all too frequently, is baneful. But the honor system in the home has its own reward. It works. The best in children if appealed to will invariably respond. Discipline does not involve punishment, but an understanding. Every child is a study in itself, becomes more or less the product of its environment. If the parents of today do not keep their trust, then it is a sorry outlook for the generation to come. Uncontrolled, pleasure-mad, self-willed children now are the parents of tomorrow. What happens ultimately?—St. Catharines Standard.

BELIEVE IN CANADA.

Senator George Graham, Chairman of the Canadian Diamond Jubilee Committee, is making practical suggestions preparatory to the celebration of July 1. One is that the motto, "We believe in Canada," should be placed in every educational institution in the country and the pupils and students made to recite it every day. The idea is good. It is based on the plea of the Senator for the inculcation into young Canada particularly of the principle of national unity. That is a principle upon which a very sturdy Canadian sentiment could be erected. Canadians are lacking in that according to the observation of some of its own public men, and certainly, according to the shrewd comment, of many visitors from abroad.

Hon. Mr. Graham illustrates some of his arguments about inter-provincial prejudices with the declaration that many folks in this country are still living in the days when the Plains of Abraham were the scene of a battle between the armies of two nations. He suggests that Lieutenant-Governors of Provinces be not appointed from their own, but from neighboring Provinces; that there might be more attention given in Canadian history text books to the great advances of this country in the last few decades, and that Canadian sentiment be encouraged in every possible way.

The Canadian clubs and the work they have done in fostering patriotism, are praised by Mr. Graham. There is still much for them to do, and for all such organizations. City Councils and Provincial Governments, as well as that of the Dominion, should be moving in unison to instill into the minds and hearts of Canadians some germs of that genuine patriotism of which so glorious a country is deserving.

All civic bodies especially should by now have some idea of what they are going to do to make July 1 a notable day in the records of their municipalities. A composite committee, which includes representatives of all the various patriotic and civic bodies in the city, has been in existence for some time, working on plans for the celebration. It is to be hoped that the impressive features of the diamond jubilee of Confederation will not be obscured in the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of Brantford's incorporation as a city. The union of these two will perhaps make the work of the committee somewhat more complex, but there is no reason why the general outlines of the celebration of the diamond jubilee should not be observed. It is a splendid opportunity to impress upon the Canadian people, and especially upon the youth of the country, the enormous progress of Canada since Confederation 60 years ago. Brantford has played an important part in Canadian public life, and it is easy to link the city with this patriotic diamond jubilee. —Brantford Expositor.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Letting the people walk may be one way of solving the transportation problem, but it will be difficult to convince a lot of citizens that it is the best one.

The Hydro Commission must have taken those "Stop" signs more seriously than some automobolists do.

The Council's advice, "Let the people walk," may be helpful in making motorists realize that people really have a right to walk.

It is to be hoped the Ontario Government has better success in running liquor stores than it has had in operating street railways.

Speeches such as that delivered by Henri Bourassa the other day are evidence that even a 40-minute limit may prove much too long.

The official comment of the fashion experts is that the short skirt has lost its thrill. It could not lose much else and be anything at all.—Brantford Expositor.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, April 4. (Canadian Press).—Signs of broader export demand for United States wheat helped prices upward on Saturday. Crop damage news from Western Kansas tended also to stimulate buying. Wheat closed firm at a shade to 1 1-8c advance, corn unchanged to 1-4c lower; oats 1-8c off to a shade up, and provisions varying from 12c decline to a rise of 2c.

Corn and oats failed to reflect wheat strength. Eastern shipping demand for corn remained inert.

Provision trade was light, and as a rule the market held steady in line with hog values.

Sterling demand $4.85.
Sterling cables $4.85 9-16.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, April 4 (Canadian Press).—Only a small volume of export business was done in Canadian grain on the Montreal market Saturday owing to the fact that foreign buyers were not disposed to respond to the higher prices asked by local exporters. The demand for cash grain in the domestic market was also quiet, but the undertone was steady.

The trade in Spring and Winter wheat grades of flour continued quiet, but prices were unchanged.

Prices for all lines of millfeed were well maintained under a steady demand from all sources. The market for standard grades of rolled oats was quiet and steady.

A moderate amount of business was transacted in eggs and values ruled firm. The receipts were 3,641 cases.

Owing to the short supply of creamery butter available on spot the undertone to the market was again strong and sales of ten to twenty-five packages of finest grades were made as high as 49 1-2 to 50c per pound. The receipts were 398 packages.

The undertone of the cheese market was slightly firmer and prices were marked up a fraction. The receipts were 75 boxes.

.. .. .. WANTS PUZZLES. .. .. ..

The Examiner, Peterboro.

Dear Mr. Editor,—As a citizen of Peterborough I of course read and enjoy your valuable paper. A few weeks ago I used to look forward with great anticipation to receiving it each evening, especially because of one little section. Of late, however, this section ahs been eliminated and it is with a disinterested air that I now turn the pages. Can you guess what the said small section is? The cross-word puzzle of course!

Now, dear editor why the omission? Surely it cannot be that the people of Peterborough have so increased their vocabularies that there is now no need to rack their brains for new words. And it cannot be that it takes too much space. I am really puzzled to know the reason.

Would it be possible to bring it back to our paper? I know that I am not the only one who would advocate for its return.

Thanking you on behalf of the Cross-Word Puzzlers.

THE GEORGIAN BAY CANAL.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Sir:

There is a widespread misunderstanding of the bill to renew the charter of the Georgian Bay Canal owned by the Sifton interests. It is not intended by the King government to renew this charter on the same terms, but it is intended to send the bill to Committee where the whole scheme of a Georgian Bay Canal can be looked into. This is the opportunity, the time and the occasion to do it. First of all let it be said that the Sifton interests are obligated to do just as has been done in Quebec and just as we did in Peterboro when we gave, under certain conditions, the undeveloped h. power at Nassau and Dickson's dams to two great private enterprises—enterprises which have surely proven that the policy was a good one.

No one proposes nor did the Sifton charter propose that the Siftons should get a great proposition for nothing. The conditions were and are that great industries shall be given their own horsepower at a nominal rate and to develop it at their own expense. Isn't that what we want? Do we want the Dominion Government to go into government ownership as the Ontario government has done in Eastern Ontario (not in Western Ontario where the municipalities own Niagara and not the Ontario Government)? Is government ownership a success in Eastern Ontario? Isn't it a dead failure?

Quebec has no government ownership but does just as the Sifton Charter calls for—leases undeveloped h. powers to guaranteed industrial enterprises for very long terms.

Why then do Quebec and Ontario join against the Dominion Government in this matter?

Why then does the Dominion Government resist? Because what gives it a title to this vast system of h. powers is its right of navigation and without the prospect of a canal at some time there would be no such rights in its hands.

To kill the bill would mean declaring that Ontario and Quebec are owners of this horsepower. This would deprive the Dominion of these immense interests and the north of all hope of a canal.

This uproar is therefore a struggle on the part of the provinces, to get from the Dominion Government what the latter now owns.

If the Dominion Government should lease the canal interests as has been done in Quebec to great syndicates with the usual limitations and conditions wouldn't it be a good thing? Why hand it over to others who will in Ontario introduce what has proved the blight of Eastern Ontario viz: Goverament Ownership.

The Dominion could have paid for a completed T. V. Canal if it had not been foolish enough to part with its power to Hydro.

CYCLIST KILLED BY AUTOMOBILE

Found Dead On Road Near Beachville—Bicycle Placed On Bank.

INQUEST ORDERED.

WOODSTOCK, April 2. Canadian 2. — The body of George Russell of Beachville, was found on the highway west of the village early to-day. He had left his home a short while before on his way to work in the stone quarries. Richard Blay and Charles Smith found the body. Russell had been riding a bicycle and apparently had been struck by motor car going in the same direction. Officials believe the motorists carefully placed the bicycle against the side of the road and probably continued on their way without notifying the authorities. An inquest will be held.

MARRIED MEN LIVE LONGER

Statistical experts of a large insurance company have just published some startling new figures on the average length of life.

The last statistics were made in 1916 and, at that time, the average length of life with men was found to be forty-seven years.

In the last ten years men must have learned more about living, for now the average length of life is fifty-five years, which is an increase of eight years in the last ten years. This is, no doubt, due to several factors.

Mens' working hours have shortened considerably. At no time before have men worked such short hours. Ten years ago a workman averaged ten hours, and many worked twelve hours six days a week. This shortening of hours has surely made a great deal of difference, and has given men more opportunity for recreation.

The significant fact brought out by these factors is that married men really do live longer than single ones. This is, no doubt due to more regular habits on the part of the married man. The single man is a better prospect for the undertaker because of his careless and irregular habits.

A startling fact brought out by these investigations is that, while the average length of life of women is 59 years, the married ones do not come up to that figure; and really do not live as long as the spinsters.

The married woman, apparently, has more worries, is submitted to the dangers of motherhood, and is worn out by the cares of raising children and managing the household. The housewife still works the better part of twelve hours, and the average wife continually burdens herself with needless responsibilities for the rest of the family.

The time will soon come when women will recognize the necessity for working shorter hours, and they will also learn to stop worrying about the conduct of each one in the family.

I predict that, through a study of scientific dietetics and more attention to physical culture, we will be able to achieve even greater results in the next ten years.

Study the lessons I am giving you each day in this column, and learn how to live longer with better health.

DR. FRANK CRANE'S DAILY EDITORIAL

ANTI-CAPITALISM

By Dr. Frank Crane.

The Communists of Russia expressed themselves sometime ago as being dead against America in its imperialistic designs and as decidedly supporting the poor, down-trodden people of Nicaragua.

All that the United States wants Nicaragua to do or wants any other country to do is to behave itself sufficiently to meet its obligations. As in the case of an individual, they should not undertake to promise anything they cannot perform.

If they get to messing up the place by a revolution and imperiling the interests of invested capital, the United States will administer a quieting dose with the marines until all is normal again.

The Reds of Moscow and all the other countries of Europe cannot understand the position of this country. We want no other nation's territory. There is too much of our own to look after and we have plenty of land, thank you, and to spare. We are determined however, to protect American citizens and their rights in whatever country they may be found.

We took Cuba from the Spaniards, but handed it over again to the Cubans. This would have been an intriguing prize to most European nations.

We do not want our neighboring Republic and were glad to hand it over to its citizens with the proviso only that they get together to work and not indulge in occasional revolutions.

Uncle Sam is too big and powerful to want any more territory. He is also too big and powerful to allow his nationals to be deprived of their rights without due process of law.

And we welcome the antagonistic attitude of the Moscow Reds. We feel that a nation as well as an individual is judged by the enemies he makes and we are delighted to know that the bolsheviks are our enemies. We would hate to number them in the list of our friends.

The United States represents a country governed by a majority, such as it is.

(By Howard R. Garis.)

Old Mr. Poke, the mud turtle gentleman, crawled slowly out of the bottom of the pond where he had slept peacefully and happily all winter. Though the weather was not very warm, still it was not as cold as it had been, and Mr. Poke, down in his mud house, began to feel the thrill of spring.

"It is time," he said, very slowly, for he talked almost as slowly as he walked. It is time I stirred myself and took a look around."

Swimming in the cold water of the pond, which he wished was a bit warmer, Mr. Poke made his way to the bank, where he crawled out to rest in the sun, the golden beams of which warmed him a little.

"It is good to be out of my dark mud hole," said Mr. Poke to himself. "Though I was quite snug down there, it was getting a bit tiresome. Now I shall have spring adventures, as Uncle Wiggily does."

Thinking of the rabbit gentleman made the turtle wish to see his hopping friend. So, after sunning himself for a while longer on the bank, Mr. Poke began slowly to crawl toward the hollow stump bungalow.

"I shall be glad to see Uncle Wiggily," said the turtle, "and I think he will be glad to see me."

After what seemed almost like a year to Mr. Poke, who could only crawl very slowly, after what seemed almost a year, but which, really, was only about half an hour, Mr. Poke reached Uncle Wiggily's home. On one side was a low window and by standing up on his tail and his hind legs and by resting his front legs against the wall of the bungalow Mr. Poke could look in this window.

This the mud turtle gentleman did for he wanted to see if Uncle Wiggily was in before knocking on the door.

"He may be off adventuring, which I shall soon be doing," thought Mr. Poke. "Yes, there he is," he went on, slowly, as he caught sight, through the window, of the bunny rabbit. "And he is playing on his musie box. How delightful! I love music!" said Mr. Poke, and he propped himself there to listen.

For he saw Uncle Wiggily sitting on a chair in Nurse Jane's kitchen. The rabbit held a square box between his knees. On top of the box was a handle and Uncle Wiggily was turning this handle with all his might.

"I certainly love music!" murmured the turtle. "If I was a little quicker on my feet I suppose I could learn to dance. But, as it is, I can listen to music. I certainly love a good tune! I wonder—I wonder if—er—ah——"

A queer look came over Mr. Poke's face. As he stood there by the window, listening with all his might, he could not hear a single note of music, though he could see Uncle Wiggily turning the handle of the music box harder than ever.

"This is very strange," said Mr. Poke. "I can't hear any pretty music! Not a note! Oh, I must have become deaf during my long winter sleep in the mud! Oh, this is dreadful! I'm deaf—deaf as a post! Oh, dear! To think this should happen to me and so fond of music as I am! I can't hear Uncle Wiggily playing his music box! Oh, dear! Oh, dear!"

Hearing these sad sounds near his bungalow, Uncle Wiggily hurried out. There he found Mr. Poke with tears in his eyes, slowly wagging his tail.

"What's the matter?" asked the bunny.

"I'm deaf!" sighed Mr. Poke. "I saw you playing your music box and I listened, but I couldn't hear a thing, even though the window was open a crack. Oh, send for Dr. Possum! Perhaps he can cure my deafness so I can hear you play your music box, Uncle Wiggily!"

Mr. Poke could look in the window.

"Music box!" chuckled the rabbit gentleman. "I wasn't playing any music box!"

"No? What was it then?" asked Mr. Poke, wondering how he could hear the rabbit's voice so plainly. "What was it?"

"That was a new kind of coffee grinder," laughed Mr. Longears. "It makes no noise. I bought it for my wife and I was just trying it. It isn't a music box at all—it's just a noiseless coffee grinder!"

"Ha! Ha!" chuckled Mr. Poke. "No wonder I couldn't hear it. But I'm glad I'm not deaf! Hurray!" Mr. Longears said he, also, was glad. Then he and Mr. Poke went down to the drug store to get a chocolate soda.

Monthly Business Summary Sent Out by Bank of Montreal.

OLD TIME SHIPS RACE TO ENGLAND.

LONDON, April 4 Canadian Press.— Thirteen old time ships, under full sail, are on their way to the United Kingdom from Australia, with cargoes of wheat. The skippers are making a race of it. It may the last time these old wind-jammers will race across the world.

The 13 ships, which have an average tonnage of 3500, and are scattered over all parts of the ocean, are: Archibald Russell, Hougomont, Herzogin Cecilie, Grace Harwar, Kiloran, Lawhill, Lonape, Mozart and Favell, (Finnish. Greis, Gustav and Lisbeth (Germany), and C. B. Pedersen (Swedish.)

A hundred days is considered good sailing, but if the wind jammers come round Cape Horn the trip may take 130 or 140 days.

The Favell, which is the smallest of the sailing ships (2220 tons) was the first to leave Australia. She sailed on January 3, and will not reach England until April. The Herzogin (4000 tons) made an exceptionally good passage out to Australia in ballast.

There are only two British sailing ships of any size in commission. They are the Garth Pool and the William Mitchell. Both are on the Australia run. Two other famous British wind jammers, the Kilmallie and the Monk Barns, have just passed out, the Kilmallie is being broken up, and the Monk Barns has gone to Spain destined to be a depot ship for a whaling company.

DETROIT PARTY UNDER ARREST AFTER ACCIDENT

Charged With Reckless Driving, Following Fatality Near Ingersoll.

MANY MISHAPS.

INGERSOLL, Ont., April 4. — Stopped at Windsor at the instigation of the local police, following the killing on the highway east of here, Saturday morning, of George Russell, of Beachville, a quarry worker in the employ of the Beachville Lime Company, a motor party, composed of Leo J. Padrack, driver, Detroit; Julius Padrick, Detroit; Mrs. W. C. Padrack and Mrs. Schemanske, Detroit ,appeared in the police court, before Magistrate Paterson, about 9 o'clock Saturday night, charged by Highways Officer A. E. Spank, with reckless driving.

They were charged separately and in no case was a plea entered. All were remanded until 10 o'clock Monday morning for trial, the men being taken to the Woodstock jail, while the women were allowed to remain at a local hotel under guard.

The machinery of the law was soon in motion following the finding of Russell's body at the side of the highway about 4 o'clock Saturday morning, only a few minutes after he had left his home to begin his day's work at the quarry. His bicycle, with the rim of the rear wheel broken, lay in the ditch, while Russell's body, his skull fractured, was nearby.

Soon after the fatality word was brought to Ingersoll by truck drivers that a rapidly driven car had passed them not far from the scene of the fatality. Taking the description of the car as a clue, local police sent word to the Windsor authorities to be on the alert, which resulted in the detention of the Detroit party.

While Russell's body had not been run over, there was evidence that it had been carried by the car for some distance.

The victim of the fatality was widely known in Beachville and district as he had lived in Beachville for 16 years. He was born in England and was 45 years of age, and is survived by his widow and one daughter.

Coroner Dr. Cornish opened an inquest at 2 o'clock on Saturday afternoon and adjourned until Friday evening.

AT THE REGENT.

NOVEL PLOT KINKS IN STAGE ROMANCE.

Billie Dove, Lloyd Hughes and Lewis Stone Bringing Gay Tale to Regent

Did you ever try to meet someone for a whole year, and then discover that during all that time you had been lunching at a restaurant table adjoining his, six days per week?

That is one of the many intensely human plot kinks of First National's "An Affair of the Follies," which is the attraction at the Regent Theatre to-day. Lewis Stone, Billie Dove and Lloyd Hughes are featured in the picture, which begins in a New York chop house, where three men whose lives are being vitally entangled by outside events meet daily without knowing each other.

The story was adapted from Dixie Willson's magazine tale, "Here Y'Are Brother," and produced for First National by Al Rockett, under the direction of Millard Webb.

Of course, it is a woman who brings the three men together — charming Billie Dove, who is the screen wife of Lloyd Hughes and the object of Lewis Stone's affections. The story is packed with clever twists and genuine human interest, and parts of it are a gorgeous visual treat, for among the various settings are some colorful scenes of the famous Hollywood Music Box Revue.

KING STILL LIVES: CAROL AT NEUILLY

Hope Held For Recovery of Rumanian Monarch—Son Covers Tracks.

PARIS, April 4.—(Canadian Press.) —King Ferdinand to-day gave fresh proof of his remarkable vitality. Hope was entertained at Bucharest that the sick monarch might pull through the crisis. His son Carol, who vanished from his villa at Neuilly on Saturday, completely covered his tracks and his whereabouts are unknown to-day.

Meantime the political parties in Roumania are busy to-day manoeuvring to gain control of the kingdom in the event of the death of Ferdinand.

Premier Averescu, said the Matin correspondent in a despatch sent by way of Belgrade, Jugo Slavia, was preparing for a coup d'etat after the manner of Admiral Horthy, Regent of Hungary. He had posted troops at all strategic points to check adherents of former Premier Bratiano and to keep Carol out of the country.

According to the correspondent, the Regency Council, as at present constituted, is impracticable in the opinion of everybody, leaving the future of the country a big interrogation mark.

4TH PETERBORO TROOP.

Well, George, did you hear about the tests the bunch are passing? Why, no, Dick! What bunch? Why, the Scouts of the 4th Peterboro Troop. The other night at the troop meeting two Scouts passed their tests on the compass points, while the following afternoon three more Scouts passed their test on Scouts' pace.

I bet I can go a mile that way in less than 12 minutes.

Yes, George you could do it in about 8 minutes, if you wanted to. This is not an athletic test but rather a means whereby you can measure distance and tell the time.

Well, if you ask me, I think you are a little off, Dick!

Maybe, George, but according to Hoyle, this is how it is done. A Scout by continual practice at Scouts' pace learns to find his right pace and speed to go a mile, as near as possible in twelve minutes time. Now a taller boy may find 20 paces too short, so he can try 25 or 30 paces till he thinks he has got his correct stride, but whatever number is most suited, is must be the same number of paces running as there are to walking. If a Scout started out, say, to some camping spot, five miles out of town, at the Scouts' pace, and he had left at half past one o'clock, he would know on his arrival it would be around half past two o'clock, while on the other hand if he had been going Scouts' pace for one hour and a half, he would know that he had travelled 7½ miles out of town.

Gosh! that's right, Dick; but wouldn't you get tired counting the paces

There are differtn ways to count, George; you could whistle or sing a little song, such as the Little Brown Jug, or you could keep count by holding the fist clinched and straightening out one thumb, one finger, every other time the right foot touched the ground, or you could count by holding five small pebbles, and repassing from one hand to the other, one by one, until one hand was full when you would know that you had travelled 20 paces, or on most country roads, you could run from one telephone pole to the next, and walk to the next one, and so on.

But is there any fun in it?

Yes, George; we have any amount of fun, but we find a lot of real joy in being prepared, and also trying to be a help to other people.

Do you know Dick, I would like to be a Scout!

Well, think it over George, and let me know in a couple of weeks time, but remember it is really worthwhile.

Well, see you again, Dick.

So long, George.

OUTLINE OF SCIENCE CXLIV—Why the Ocean Is Salty. by MAX HAHN

AS THE RIVERS OF THE WORLD RUSH DOWN TO THE SEA THEY CARRY WITH THEM SALT FROM THE ROCKS ALONG THE WAY. THAT IS WHY THE OCEAN IS SALTY.

© McClure Newspaper Syndicate

IN FACT THERE IS SO MUCH SALT IN THE OCEANS THAT IF ALL THE WATER SHOULD BE DRAINED AWAY LEAVING THE SALT BEHIND, THERE WOULD BE ENOUGH SALT TO COVER THE SURFACE OF THE WORLD WITH A 30-FOOT WHITE BLANKET

A CONSIDERABLE QUANTITY OF THE WORLD'S SALT SUPPLY IS OBTAINED BY EVAPORATING SEA WATER FROM SAN FRANCISCO BAY, GREAT SALT LAKE AND FROM THE MEDITERRANEAN AND CARIBBEAN.

THERE ARE MANY ROCK SALT MINES IN NORTH AMERICA. NEAR DETROIT THE SALT IS OBTAINED BY FORCING WATER DOWN INTO THE MINE AND THEN TREATING THE BRINE WHICH COMES UP. IN LOUISIANA MINERS GO AFTER SALT WITH PICKS.

OUTLINE OF SCIENCE CXLV—The World's Tallest Flames. by MAX HAHN

PERHAPS YOU HAVE SEEN THE HUGE FLAMES TOPPING A STEEL MILL AT NIGHT. THE FLAMES FOOL YOU INTO BELIEVING THE WHOLE MILL HAS CAUGHT FIRE. BUT COMPARED WITH THE WORLD'S TALLEST FLAMES THE STEEL MILL BLAZE IS VERY PUNY.

THE FLAMES I AM DESCRIBING WERE FIRST RECORDED BY THE BRITISH ASTRONOMER BAILY IN 1842. HE WAS IN NORTHERN ITALY WATCHING THE MOON SLIDE BETWEEN THE EARTH AND THE SUN WHEN SUDDENLY HE SAW THREE GREAT PINK TONGUES OF FLAME ADORNING THE RIM OF THE SUN.

© McClure Newspaper Syndicate

THESE FLAMES WERE VISIBLE DURING THE TOTAL ECLIPSE, BUT AS SOON AS DAYLIGHT WAS RESTORED THEY DISAPPEARED. SCIENTISTS DO NOT HAVE TO WAIT FOR AN ECLIPSE BUT CAN USE A SPECTROSCOPE TO STUDY THE FIRE BANNERS NOW.

SOME OF THE FLAMES LEAP MORE THAN 500,000 MILES INTO THE SKY. THUS THEY ARE LONG ENOUGH TO REACH FROM THE MOON TO THE EARTH AND BACK TO THE MOON. THE FLAMES APPARENTLY FEED ON HYDROGEN.

THIS CANADA OF OURS

Q.—What is the extent of the telephone system in Canada?

A.—No less than 1,144,095 telephones were in use in Canada, at the end of 1925, in 2,945 systems, public owned and private. Canada is surpassed only by the United States, in the number of telephones per hundred of population, viz.: 12.22 as again 14.2 in the U.S. When it is remembered that the telephone is only 50 years old, commercially, this degree of growth is all the more remarkable, and is steadily increasing.

Matinee Ladies

BY William B. Courtney

"MATINEE LADIES," with May McAvoy, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Bob Ward, working his way through college, is informed by his chums, Freddy and Arch, that they have found an easy and profitable way to earn money—working as dancing partners, of afternoons, for rich women in a fashionable New Jersey roadhouse. Bob thinks it isn't a fit way to make a living; but, faced with eviction for unpaid rent, reluctantly agrees to go to the roadhouse. There he sees the prettiest, sweetest girl he had ever laid eyes on. She is Sally, the cigarette girl. Before he can talk to her, his employer takes him in tow.

CHAPTER IV—Continued

Proud of the latest and handsomest acquisition to the Palisado Inn's staff of dancing male entertainers, Madame Leonine presented Bob to his first partner:

"Mazie, this is Mr. Ward. Bob, meet Miss Revere!"

Revere! Good old New England name, Bob thought. The Reveres of Woburn, Massachusetts? He gave timid voice to this last possibility. But;

"Woburn? Where's that? It sounds like a mammy song. Naw. I'm one of the Reveres of Ninety-second Street and the first row in the Follies. Say, sonny, don't mistake ME for the usual dame that you'll meet in this place. I'll be frank with you. You look like a nice kid, and I think I'm going to like you. I'm not rich, but my gentleman friend is, see? However, I'm an old friend of Madame Leonine's. She and me were in the chorus together, back in our yo-ou-ou—well back a year or two ago. I come over here because I like to dance, and I like to chew the fat with Leo, and I like to team up with such of the lady customers as think they can play bridge, and relieve them of their husband's hard-earned dollars. I won't have any false impressions between me and you, kid. I just wanted to grab off your first dance for myself—and then surrender you to the hungry rich—who are ogling you. Just a little conceit of mine. C'mon, let's go!"

They danced. It WAS a splendid orchestra. A marvelously waxgroomed floor. Bob, feathery and graceful on his toes for all his more than two hundred pounds of charging football brawn, wafted around with Mazie Revere—and enjoyed it. He abandoned himself to the intoxication of the rhythm. Mazie raved in his ear—that is, up toward his ear, which she lacked a full twelve inches of reaching.

But Bob, who had the faculty of enjoying purely physical and animal things with his body, while his mind and heart worked elsewhere, gave scant heed to her mouthings. His bright eyes were following the quaint figure of Sally Smith from table to table.

Mazie saw whom he was watching; and bit her lips.

"Say," she said, with some heat and asperity despite the indulgent superiority of her years, "you are a green kid, all right. Falling for the cigarette girl first crack out of the box!"

"What?" demanded Bob, hotly but lamely.

"I said—Sally Smith is a nice child."

Bob clutched unguardedly at the elder sister attitude. "Isn't she!" he declared. "You—know her pretty well? She—isn't—err-r-r the usual kind that work in dance halls?"

Mazie laughed richly. "You silly fool. You've been reading cheap magazine stories, confession yarns, about the girls who work in dance halls, I bet. Say, let me tell you, the only people who don't know how to take care of themselves around the average roadhouse and dance hall and cabaret and night club are the customers. They're the only ones who get nothing for something!"

Bob felt himself getting red. He was not used to talking in this quasi-intimate way with women. In fact, he had never met an outspoken woman of Mazie's type before. Although he had no trouble in cataloguing her from things he had heard, and stories he had read, as a "gold digger." However, she was not the type with whom to discuss—Miss Smith, the cigarette girl. Anyone could see that with half a glance.

Yet what was—Miss Smith—doing now? Bob, though he missed not a turn nor a dip nor a nuance of the music and the pagan rhythm, also did not take his eyes off Sally Smith. He noticed her at the table of a lone, well-dressed, elderly man. A leering salesman, out to pick someone up for a gay afternoon. The man had attempted to stroke Sally's hand in handing her a bill for a packet of cigarettes, and pushing back her hand with the change.

Bob saw that. He wanted to rush over and sock the man. Involuntarily his fingers tightened on Mazie's shoulder. She stared up at him with suddenly quickened ardor—ardor, however, that filtered away instantly when she saw that he wasn't looking at her. Her mistake!

Bob expected Sally to slap the man. She did nothing of the sort. She just bantered with him. Bob, amazed, watched closely.

The two, Sally and the man, chatted a while longer. Then Bob saw Sally, as if giving in after long cajoling, mutter something shyly, which the man copied down triumphantly in a book. Then Sally sidled quickly away, looking—Bob thought—guilty.

So! She was that sort, after all. The aura of youth, and innocence, and romance, was all part of the make-up, a complement for her trade. Still, he could not bring himself to believe it. Even when he saw her immediately afterwards repeat the incident with another man.

Now she was talking to a third man—one of two old roues seated at a table on the edge of the dance floor—when Bob whirled by with Mazie in the very last strains of the dance. In passing, Bob caught a flash of the conversation.

The man said: "Come on, sweetheart, be a sport—give me your phone number and you can keep the change out of that tenspot."

And Sally said; "Well, all right, if you insist—it's Rhinelander," so and so.

Bob's muscles did not even imaginatively mangle a roue foe at that. He decided she was not worth getting excited about. He would forget the little eye and mind and soul filling picture she had made when first his entranced gaze had rested upon her. He had been fooled, misled. A misapprehension, that was all.

It was Mazie who set him straight. Mazie with the lagoon green eyes and the slothful grin, who had been covertly watching his appraisal of Sally's table-to-table plied trade. Mazie chuckled to Bob, even as the dance ended, and they joined in the clapping for an encore.

"What's the matter, college boy? Wondering why Sally's giving her name and phone number to all those gents? Say, that's just Sally's little game—the game that makes ten cent packets of cigarettes worth five to ten bucks. She gives a phoney name and number to each and every one of those simple minded saps!"

Bob tried to affect a disinterest, which, of course, only served to make Mazie more sure of the truth of her jealous guess that he was smitten.

But inwardly Bob's heart was bouncing and thumping in gay relief. His illusion, his ideal, his vision—all these were still intact.

And that, where Youth is waiting to be served great gobs of Romance cake with Cupid icing, means a lot!

CHAPTER V

"I wonder," thought Sally Smith, the cigarette girl, to herself, shyly conscious of the persistent way in which the new dancing entertainer's eyes sought her, "what the heck's the matter with me?"

How should Sally Smith know, to be sure? After all, Sally Smith was so young, so freshly launched on the overscented paths which lure the trusting feet, and tempt and tangle the way of just such youth and innocence as hers. After all, Sally Smith was just a child. A bud unopened.

A bud fluttering under the first loving touch of direct sun rays. The ardent beams of this big, handsome boy's eyes.

Since first he had burst upon her frank girlish sight hardly half an hour since, Sally Smith had moved about her business in that dance hall like a blossom taking its first garden bower sunbath.

GARNETS IN CANADA.

The garnet is usually looked upon as a precious stone, but the quantity used as gems is very small in comparison with that used for abrasive purposes, according to the Department of Mines, at Ottawa. There are several deposits of abrasive garnet in Canada. In Ontario, a good type of garnet is being produced from a rich vein near Bancroft, and a promising deposit of larger extent but lower garnet content at Parry Sound has been well prospected and will probably be an economic producer. Near Sudbury, there is another promising exposure about fifty feet wide and traceable for a considerable distance. At Chegoggin Point, near Yarmouth, Nova Scotia, a 35-foot dike with a garnet content of approximately 40 per cent. outcrops on the sea shore and has been traced inland for several miles. All the above deposits are near rail or water transportation and should be of commercial importance. Several other deposits are known that are both rich and suitable for abrasive purposes, but they are at present remote from transportation facilities.

BRIGHT WORKERS CONCLUDE SEASON

Norham Mission Band Has Had Very Successful Year.

NORHAM, April 2.—The last meeting of the "Bright Workers" mission band was held in the league hall on Saturday afternoon. On account of sickness in the community, the attendance was not as large as usual, but the program was especially good and the contribution through mite boxes, which were used for the first time this year, amounted to $8.80. The collection was 80 cents, and six members paid their dues. The total membership is 20, an increase of two over last year. The income of the society this year was $43.34, an increase over last year of $8.34. The income of the band has increased 65 per cent in the last three years. Through the year the band has had sixteen regular meetings, one open meeting, one concert, and one picnic. The band has two members who missed only one meeting during the year and another who only missed two meetings. The superintendent, Mrs. J. F. Everson, was present at all the gatherings.

The program on Saturday was in charge of Clair Curtis. The Lord's Prayer was repeated in unison, Ida Bertrand read the 27th Psalm, The roll-call, read by Lucile Lean, was answered by each member repeating a verse of Scripture containing the word "keep."

Reading, Margaret West.

Reading, Irene Tweed.

Trio, by Lucile Palmateer, Edith Brenton, and Ida Bertrand.

Reading, "The Story of St. Patrick," Edna Evans.

An illustrated talk, "Reflecting and Blessing," by Rev. J. F. Everson. Pictures were drawn of the earth, moon, and sun, these to represent the heathen world, the Christian world, and God, the giver of life and happiness, respectively. It was pointed out that as the moon receives its light from the sun and reflects it upon the earth, so Christians, receiving spiritual life and light from God, should, according to their ability, give that light to those who have never heard of salvation.

Recitation, Lenore Isaac.

Guitar solo, Flossie Everson.

Reading, "A Resume of Uncle Tom's Cabin," Mrs. Oscar F. Laver. In this selection it was clearly demonstrated that God loves the negro children as much as he does the white children. This came as a revelation to the little black girl.

Mrs. Everson gave an account of school days in India, as taken from the mission band study book, "The Wonderland of India." In Indian schools there are no seats or desks excepting one chair and a table for the teacher, one or two books for the whole class, a few slates and pencils, and a small blackboard. Only one boy in ten and one girl in a hundred can read and write. The missionaries have opened night schools where fathers and their sons study together. Only about one boy in a thousand continues at school, and finally becomes a doctor or a lawyer. One school has for its motto, "In All Things be Men." Each boy is expected to be kind and helpful to some one every day. Little girls are undervalued and slighted from birth. Very few of them are getting any education.

The meeting was closed by singing "He Leadeth Me," and prayer by Mrs. Everson. Those present were treated to home-made candy.

MOTHERING SUNDAY

Mothering, mothering come with me
Down the lane and over the lea,
Back to the fields were we used to roam,
Back to Mother and back to Home,
Let us be children once again,
Mothering, mothering, mothering Home.

Mothering, mothering come with me,
Over the rivers, across the sea,
Fill your hands with blossoms and flowers,
Live today in the bygone hours;
What will she say when she sees us come,
Mothering, mothering, mothering Home.

Mothering, mothering come with me,
Seek her and find her wherever she be,
Gifts for flowers, or kisses for May,
Nothing must rob us of joy today,
Kneel at her feet and smooth her brow,
Mothering, mothering, mothering Home.

Mothering, mothering come with me,
Into the Church by the cypress tree,
Kneel again in the old, old pew,
Say the prayer that is ever new,
Spread white flowers on the grave we love,
Mothering, mothering, mothering Home.

Mothering, mothering come with me,
Up to the Mother of all the free,
Leap the ages, traverse the sand,
Dream of her joy in the Better Land,
Meet her again by the crystal sea,
Mothering, mothering, mothering Home.

Mothering, mothering come with me,
Bury your sorrow and find your glee,
Do not say you have nothing to give,
Help us to make the old days live,
Think of her smile when she sees us come,
Mothering, mothering, mothering Home.

—Revd. W. S. Pakenham-Walsh.

SUNDAY CENSORS KEPT BUSY.

Since the inauguration of censorship of Sunday events in Glasgow, the Glasgow magistrates are kept busy scanning applications for permits. On a recent Sunday 32 permits were granted, although, for the first time in several weeks applications for moving picture performances were not filed. Four requests for rights to hold concerts were opposed vigorously, but unsuccessfully, by Bailie Alex Brown. Nearly half of the permits were for non-religious meetings and the others were for church, Sunday School, evangelistic and like services.

SAINT and SINNER

By ANNE AUSTIN

After a number of questions concerning the exact location of the body and its appearance, Banning instructed Bob to go on with his narrative.

"I stooped over my uncle. His head was resting on the right cheek, in a—a pool of blood," Bob's voice thickened as with tears. "I did not touch him, for I realized instantly that he was dead. I—I saw that the back of his skull had been shattered. I looked about me, of course, and I saw a large Chinese vase lying on the carpet between the body and the open window——" His emphasis on the word 'open' was as unmistakable as the impression he desperately hoped to create—that hi uncle had been slain by a person crouched in the open window.

Churchill smiled triumphantly but Banning scowled, realizing that his witness, an unwilling witness at best, was running away from him.

Removing the paper wrappings with great care, Banning hefted a tall, thick Chinese vase, of crackled porcelain, ornamented with gaudy flowers and birds in a bold, raised design. "I offer this vase, your honor, as State's Exhibit B; also, as part of the exhibit, these two pieces which were broken from it and which exactly fit the lip of the vase."

To Faith it seemed an interminable time before Churchill was satisfied as to the admission of the exhibit, its condition, etc. But at last Banning went on with his questionings of the witness.

"You were on intimate terms with your uncle, Mr. Hathaway? You visited him frequently?"

"Yes," Bob answered unhesitatingly.

"Can you tell the court and jury where this vase was accustomed to stand?"

"On the low bookcase immediately to the right of the window which was open when I entered the room," Bob answered with great definiteness.

"Now, Mr. Hathaway," Banning went on in an annoyed voice, "just what did you do immediately after you had satisfied yourself that your uncle was dead?"

"I ran to the door and shouted for the maid, Mary Kearney, who had admitted me to the house. She came out of the kitchen——"

"Repeat your exact words, if you remember them, Mr. Hathaway."

"As nearly as I can remember I said, 'Mr. Cluny is dead, Mary. For God's sake'—or something like that—'what has happened here?'"

"And what did Mary Kearney say to you, Mr. Hathaway?" Banning went on relentlessly.

"I don't remember exactly, but she screamed out something about 'Miss Cherry,' that she had been there—"

"And what did you say to Mary Kearney then, Mr. Hathaway?"

"I don't remember exactly," Bob flushed. "I said something like this: 'Cherry! Oh, my God! Poor Faith!' or 'This will kill Faith.'"

Banning puffed out his cocky little chest and almost crowed. "When you made that remark, Mr. Hathaway, did you believe that this defendant——"

"Objection!" Churchill roared like an angry lion.

"Objection sustained!" Judge Grimshaw rapped with his gavel. "Confine your questions to what the witness did and said, not to what he thought or believed."

"Very well, Mr. Hathaway. Go on with your story in your own words."

Bob Hathaway has been on the witness stand an hour before Banning permitted him to finish his story of the finding of the body of his uncle, Ralph Cluny, his notifying the police, his hurried trip to the church to inform the rector, the Rev. Mr. Ashburn, and Faith, of the death of the bridegroom.

"That is all, Mr. Hathaway. Oh, pardon me, just a minute, Mr. Churchill," Banning spoke suavely to the dedense attorney who had sprung from his seat to cross-examine Bob. "Mr. Hathaway, do you remember the events of Sunday, September 26 last?"

Bob frowned, looked puzzled, then shook his head slightly.

"Then let me refresh your memory, Mr. Hathaway," Banning spoke gently. "Were you in Darrow—the city of Darrow, Chelton County—on that date, in company with Miss Faith Lane who is now your fiancee, and with this defendant, who was at that time your fiancee?"

"Objection!" Churchill thundered.

After the customary session of wrangling and arguments on both sides, Judge Grimshaw overruled the objection and Bob was forced to answer:

"I was in Darrow on a Sunday in September, in company with Miss Faith Lane and her sister, who is now Mrs. Wiley. I do not remember the exact date."

"Ah!" Banning expelled the syllable with acute satisfaction. "Now, Mr. Hathaway, you admit, do you not, that Mrs. Wiley, then Miss Cherry Lane, was your fiancee at that time?"

"She was," Bob answered in a low but distinct voice, his face going quite white as he remembered the events of that dreadful day, when he and Faith has hastened to Darrow to rescue Cherry from her rash elopement with Albert Ettleson.

"Your witness, Mr. Churchill."

Churchill advanced his heavy, imposing body slowly to the witness chair, to rest one hand familiarly on the arm of it. "Mr. Hathaway, the question of your engagement to this defendant, little Cherry Lane Wiley, has been twice raised by Mr. Banning. Will you tell the court and the jury who broke this engagement—you or Cherry?"

"Cherry broke the engagement herself," Bob answered clearly.

"Cherry, in the presence of her father, her brother, Jim Lane, Jr., and her sister, Faith, broke the engagement over my protest that same night——"

"The night of Sunday, September 26 last, when you, Miss Cherry and Miss Faith had been in Darrow?" Churchill prompted.

"Yes, after our return from Darrow, to the Lane home. I announced our engagement to Mr. Lane, and Cherry, said that she would not marry me." Bob's voice was steady, but his cheeks were flaming.

After a few apparently irrevelant questions, Churchill indicated that he was through with Bob as a witness for the state, and Banning immediately sprung another question upon him:

"Mr. Hathaway, did you escort this defendant to a dance at the Marlboro Country Club on the evening of Saturday, October 3?"

In addition to the many words brought to us through scientific research and modern invention, amusements, games, sports, and the like have added their quotas; and if we do not wish to be looked upon as a "back number," we should learn the languages of radio, aviation, golf, lacrosse, polo, and other modern activities.

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

Short puffed sleeves give a novel touch to this tucked frock of pink and cyclamen georgette.

Short sleeves are back in the limelight — elbow sleeves, three-quarter length sleeves, sleeves that end coquettishly just above the turn of the elbow, sleeves that consist of a little shoulder puff and sleeves that just cover the elbow and can hardly be called sleeves at all. And don't imagine that these sleeves are seen only on evening frocks. You must revise your opinion at once if you think that the long sleeve is the only suitable sleeve for daytime wear.

There are even short-sleeved coats—that remind us of the fashions of 1907 or thereabouts. These are sometimes of three-quarter length and sometimes extend only to the elbow. It has been suggested that these short-sleeved wraps will inevitably bring back the long glove for general wear—but the short-sleeved coats are usually made to go with a frock with close-fitting, long sleeves, and with this short gloves are worn. Sometimes a wide band of fur is used around the lower edge of the short coat sleeve, and this accentuates the slender lines of the close-fitting frock sleeve beneath.

Chanel of Paris has gone so far as to put three-quarter length sleeves in some of her afternoon frocks, and it will be interesting to see whether as these frocks are worn they will be accompanied by long gloves. The sleeveless frock and even the frock with short sleeves that end above the elbow may be worn with rather picturesque effect with short wrist-length gloves, though this fashion has never been so much followed here as abroad. But the short wrist-length glove makes a poor ally for the three-quarter length sleeve.

The sketch shows a georgette warm-weather frock made with little puffed sleeves that end just above the curve of the elbow. Sleeves of this length that end just above the turn of the elbow have a way of making lovely young arms very lovely indeed—but it is a fashion that makes the fat arm look ludicrous and the thin arm look pathetic.

Intrigue and secret plots are indicated for the United States in which conspiracies will be discovered the seers predict.

Men and women should cultivate habits of honest thought and action for there will be a strong tendency to reflect world conditions in which nations will be treacherous to one another.

Again a marked advance in prices of food and clothing is prophesied and they who are wise will lay in large supplies.

National conferences will take place in Europe and there will be meetings of the representatives of many countries to discuss the harmonizing of world discords but they will accomplish little it is prognosticated.

Interest in horse-racing and in other mediums for betting is to be intense in many places an unusual manifestation when nations are at odds.

FARMERS BOYCOTT TRUCKS

Farm produce agents in the vicinity of Sydney, N.Z., have decided to use horse-drawn vehicles exclusively in hauling hay, straw and chaff to the market. The decision was reached at a meting of the farmers recently held in Sydney, it being argued that horses would eat forage while auto trucks would not, and a steady demand for forage should be built up. It was also claimed that within a radius of eight miles horses had proved to be more economical than motors.

ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL.

His Lordship, Bishop O'Brien, speaking at the morning Masses at St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday, emphasized the importance of true religion in the life of men and women. Human beings should not think of God in the light of a far-off Being who has little concern with their every-day affairs, but rather as an All-Seeing Father who is interested in every moment of their daily lives. They should have a keen appreciation of the Fatherhood of God and of their intimate relationship with Him. Those only are happy who walk always with their Creator, living forever in His Blessed Presence, and they who walk thus with Christ in their daily lives need not fear lack of companionship with Him through eternity.

"What is comparable," said His Lordship, "to the happiness of a life lived in, and through, and by God?"

While having that sense of nearness and delight in everything that pertains to Almighty God, we should also look upon the church as our Father's home, and take occasion to visit it as frequently as possible, not only on Sundays but on week days. And we should be interested in all of the church's activities and in its welfare, no matter where it may be located in the world.

His Lordship referred to the history of the church, and its achievements in the fields of science and art. The hundredth anniversary has recently been celebrated of the birth of Beethoven, who found much of the inspiration for his glorious music in the church, of which he was a devout son, and Volta, who gave his name to "volts" in electricity, was another member of the same church. Many of the early Fathers of Confederation, the sixtieth anniversary of which is being commemprated this year, were Catholics.

ST. PAUL'S PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

A great future for the Jewish race was forecast by Rev. Wm. Allan, pastor of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, in a sermon delivered Sunday evening before a large congregation. Prophesies, still unfulfilled, that after a world-wide dispersion, because of their sin in rejecting Christ as their Messiah, they will again be re-gathered to the promised land, were emphasized in the course of the sermon. In the prelude to the sermon three questions were asked and answered. One question raised the point if it was scriptural for Presbyterians to only observe th Lord's Supper at intervals, such as three months, or if it should be held weekly, as is done by the Plymouth Brethren and some other sects. Rev. Mr. Allan stated that there is no scriptural rule defining how often the Lord's Supper shall be observed. He, himself, had had experience with congregations which observed it weekly, some which observed it every month and with others which observed it at still longer intervals. Based on this experience, as well as on the fact that the Scriptures leave freedom in this matter, he was convinced that the old adage that "familiarity breeds contempt" was true in many cases of congregations which observe the Lord's Supper at close intervals. He believed that when Communion is observed at longer intervals, such as in the Presbyterian Church, its sacred nature can be emphasized better, and its significance be even more apparent.

The Future of the Jews.

The text was based on three passages of Scripture, including Genesis 16:18, "In the same day the Lord made a covenant with Abram, saying, Unto thy seed have I given this land, from the river of Egypt unto the great river, the river Euphrates." The second verse was in Deut. 30:3, "That then the Lord thy God will turn thy captivity, and have compassion upon thee, and will return and gather thee from all the nations whither the Lord thy God hath scattered thee."

After showing that the world has received the best brand of morality and religion from the Hebrew race, and that this race was given a definite mission by God, that of witnessing to the other nations of the world, the speaker pointed out that the Jewish race itself does not recognize the purpose for which God has preserved it throughout all these centuries. Orthodox Jews study the Old Testament Scriptures just as Christians do, but because, as pointed out by the Apostle Paul, himself a learned Jew, they are unable to understand many of the Scriptures they read because their minds have been darkened, "until the fulness of the Gentiles be come in." After the crucifixion of Christ, God commenced a new work in the calling out of the Christian Church from the world round about. This work is still in progress. When God has completed it the darkness will be removed from the eyes of the members of the Hebrew race, and their time of national blessing will have come.

Christians owe their conception of the unity and sovereignty of God to the Hebrews. We also received our ideas of the Omniscence and Omni-Presence of God from this people. Yet the Hebrew race fails to recognize its mission. It is their duty to press the claims of their belief upon the nations of the earth. God spoke of them as a "priestly nation." Yet they are looked upon with suspicion by all nations and make no effort to fulfil their priestly office. Their chief desire is to be left alone.

At the close of the Great War, much was said about the Balfour Declaration, restoring the land of Palestine to the Jews. One eminent Jew in New York referred to the British race as being their Messiah. It apparently was overlooked that long before the Balfour Declaration, God had given this land, in fact a much larger area, as shown by one of the texts, that is, the land extending from Egypt to the river Euphrates to this race. He had predicted their dispersal among the nations and had promised to re-gather them. These promises were not fulfilled, as claimed by some, when the Jews returned from Babylon. In support of this statement, Rev. Mr. Allan read a number of prophesies and showed there were features connected with them that had never been fulfilled. He stated that those Jews that are returning to Palestine in connection with the Zionist Movement are returning just as the Scriptures said they would, in a condition of unbelief. Brief reference was made to the belief held by some that the British race is the ten lost tribes of Israel. This belief was opposed by the speaker who quoted the prophecy in the 36th chapter of Ezekiel. This prophecy, he pointed out, related to all Israel and could not be applied in any sense to the British race. It showed that although the Jewish race is spoken of as being nationally dead, something which cannot be said of Great Britain, God intends to restore them to national life, and to their promised land. The sermon throughout was a striking exposition of faithfulness of God towards His chosen people, the application to present world conditions and movements making it all the more interesting. Next Sunday evening a feature of the service will be a Passover table, set in the manner followed by Orthodox Jews. Rev. Mr. Allan intends to show that all the features of this table are types of Christ and of His work.

The organ prelude Sunday evening was enjoyed by a large number of people, many of whom are making it a point to attend early, in order to be able to enjoy this feature of the service.

ONWARD CLASS SOCIAL EVENING

Ladies Have Banquet, With Music and Speeches Afterward.

The Onward Bible Class of George Street United Church had a most enjoyable eveping in the Sunday School Hall. Mrs. Stubbs, the teacher of this class, was taken ill about four months ago, and since that time has been confined to her home. Through the untiring efforts of the ladies, under the able leadership of Mr. Heard, a special effort was made to keep up the membership, and a campaign took place between two teams of the class to secure new members. The result was that several new names were added to the class roll, and on Tuesday evening a banquet was held. Several addresses were given. Rev. Mr. Todd acted as chairman and spoke in the highest terms of Mrs. Stubbs and her work, not only as a teacher but also as a valuable member in church work. He made special mention of her kindly disposition and Christian principles, and of her name having been referred to in Guelph before he had accepted the call to George Street Church. Since coming to Peterboro, both he and Mrs. Todd had been ably assisted in Sunday school work by Mrs. Stubbs. Vocal solos were rendered by Mrs. Curvin and Mrs. Saunders, and a profitable evening brought to a close with the singing of the Doxology.

WASHINGTON, April 4 — (Canadian Press).—Summing up testimony given this far at the Federal Radio Commission hearings to find a solution of the present radio situation, Commissioner O. H. Caldwell announced that it all led to one conclusion, that "the number of stations has got to be cut down."

LOFTY NOTE IS STRUCK BY HON. W. A. BUCHANAN

Western Senator Tells Rotary Club That Country Needs Vision.

ALBERTA'S RICHES.

Changing Conditions in the West Described in Fine Address.

"What this country needs more than any other thing is vision," declared Rotarian Senator W. A. Buchanan of Lethbridge, at to-day's luncheon of the Peterboro Rotary Club in the course of an eloquent address in which the former local newspaperman, long a prominent figure in Western politics, evinced a pardonable pride in the resources of his own province of Alberta and struck a high note of patriotism in his references to the future of Canada.

Senator Buchanan was introduced by Rotarian H. R. H. Kenner, who referred to Mr. Buchanan's newspaper career in Peterborough and to the great interest he had shown in hockey in this city, which afterward led to his selection as treasurer of the Ontario Hockey Association.

In his opening remarks the guest of honor referred to the presence of two men who had been closely connected with his initial experience in journalism, Rotarian S. R. Armstrong, who had given him his first instructions as a reporter, and Rotarian F. H. Dobbin, the first man to pay him for newspaper work.

Senator Buchanan devoted the first part of his address to relating the fascinating story of the agricultural development of Alberta, showing how the all-grain farmer was giving way to the mixed farmer. He found in his eastern visits that most people had an idea that the prairie provinces were given over almost entirely to the growing of grain. To correct this impression, the speaker quoted figures that proved how rapid had been the progress of mixed farming in Alberta. Twenty years ago that province had to import its poultry, whereas to-day its poultry was being shipped by the car load over the border and to the eastern provinces. The same condition was true of dairy products. The province formerly had to rely upon importations, but in recent years the dairy industry had increased so rapidly that Alberta exported millions of dollars worth each year. Some twenty years the total agricultural wealth of the province was some twenty million dollars, whereas last year the total was $263,000,000.

Great progress had been made in corn-growing, something that a few years ago was regarded as impossible in Alberta. Some 75,000 acres were now used in growing corn.

In the growing of sugar beets, too, a splendid start had been made and there were great possibilities before this industry in Alberta.

Speaking of other natural resources of his province, Senator Buchanan told of the extensive coal fields with plant capable of producing much more coal than at present there was any market for, and he stressed the desirability of the business and public men of Canada endeavoring to solve the problem of supplying Canada's fuel wants from the coal mines of Alberta and of Nova Scotia, saving the sending out of Canada of many million dollars each year.

He was most hopeful of the prospects in Alberta of extensive oil production, and as to natural gas he aroused envious feelings in the minds of his hearers by remarking that the people of Lethbridge used natural gas for cooking and heating in preference to coal at a cost of 42c per 1,000 cubic feet.

The speaker, in regard to immigration, declared Canada should welcome the best stock from other countries and not be too strict in insisting that only trained farmers should be brought into the western provinces, quoting the success of Major Strange, now called the Saskatchewan seed export, and others who without any previous training had climbed to the top of the ladder.

In conclusion, Senator Buchanan urged his hearers as Rotarians to endeavor to establish a better understanding among the people of the various sections of Canada. With vision and faith in this country the next sixty years would see Canada with her population increased at least threefold and her material wealth many times more than that.

Among the guests at to-day's meeting was Rotarian Charles Wright of Halifax, who conveyed the greetings of his club and expressed his faith in the future of Rotary.

The report of the nominating committee was unanimously adopted, and the following will therefore be directors of the Peterboro Rotary Club for the next year: A. L. Killaly, Andrew Brown, Gordon S. Matthews, Walter Blackwell and Tom Dutton.

REGAINS VOICE, TAKES LIFE

Tragedy followed joy in the home of a farmer named Langsdorf of BadNeupheim, Germany, recently. He became dumb during the Battle of the Somme in 1916 as the result of a shock following the explosion of a British shell. Recently Langsdorf was stricken with influenza. In delirium he uttered a cry and recovered his speech. His wife and children were delighted to hear his voice, but Langsdorf was so amazed that he lost his reason, and went into the woods and hanged himself.

Ottawa Defeat Canadiens In First Game Of Play-Offs

SENATORS TAKE FOUR-GOAL LEAD IN GROUP FINALS

RUSH TACTICS

MONTREAL, Que., April 4—(Canadian Press).—Ottawa Senators have practically clinched the honors in the Canadian section of the National Hockey League and are almost certain to represent the division against the United States group winners for the league championship, world's pro hockey laurels and the Stanley Cup. Staggering Canadiens with three goals in the first period and a finishing tally in the middle session, the Senators took a 4-0 triumph out of the opening game of the group finals before a record crowd of 13,500 at the Forum Saturday night and left Canadiens with the hopeless task of picking up five goals in the second and deciding tussle at the Capital tonight.

The Senators, contrary to usual practice, rushed from the opening whistle, adopting the strategy of attempting to catch Canadiens before they shook free of the stiffness and lassitude which was the aftermath of the gruelling two-game series with the Montreal Maroons. The imprint of the terrific battles waged between Canadiens and Maroons was apparent in the play of the Canucks. They were sluggish to start, though they were shaking out the kinks and seemed in a fair way to steady down when the break came which enabled Denneny, Kilrea and Hooley Smith to rush in three goals before the first period had elapsed.

Ottawa had been pressing speedily and dangerously through Hooley Smith and King Clancy chiefly, though the entire team was working in combination so perfect that it was dazzing. Halfway through the period Morenz took a penalty for heavy play and was followed by Joliat, leaving Canadiens two short. It was Ottawa's chance and they acted with all the confidence which characterizes the team. Morenz got back on before any damage had been done by the Senators' vicious assault. But before Joliat returned the deadlock was broken. Hooley Smith, who starred for Ottawa as he always does on Forum ice, drove along the right boards where there was little opposition. He whistled a cross-fire shot at the Canadien goal. Hainsworth swept in to the opposite side with one motion—but right into the stick of Cy Denneny, who was loafing unmarked. Before Hainsworth could get settled to handle the return fire, the veteran Ottawa winger had sniped the puck into the corner of the net.

It was a tough break for Canadiens, though a smart play by Cy Denneny. Hooley Smith was benched a moment later and Kilrea went fresh to left wing. He duplicated Denneny's feat within 30 seconds. Taking the puck at his own blue line and with his side one man short, Kilrea shot the puck down the ice in the general direction of the Canadien goal. It was a high loft and Hainsworth never saw it until it was dropping into the net. It was a soft goal and took the heart out of the Canadiens. They wilted and the daring in attack which had been coming to the fore subsided as the team went to defensive hockey to make certain nothing similar occurred. But the hustling Hooley Smith and Dame Fortune had still to be reckoned with. Smith drove a fast one, it caromed off Gardiner's leg into the net for Ottawa's third goal.

Senators capitalized again when Lady Luck stalked through once more across the ice, Frank Nighbor catching Mantha in pain through stopping a puck with his leg and rounding the Canadien defence player before he could make a move to halt him Nighbor had no trouble scoring the final tally. Thereafter Ottawa went to defensive hockey. Canadiens fought gallantly to cut down the margin. Morenz and Gardiner fought gallantly and courageously to beat Connell in the Ottawa net. They came close time and again as they skated themselves steadily into the ice in futile efforts to break down the stubborn Senator guard.

Fortune played a part in giving Ottawa that four-goal margin, but the Senators clearly deserved a victory. Never on local ice has the Ottawa machine worked so smoothly, so confidently and so willingly as they did Saturday night and seldom has it show that aggressiveness on attack which characterized their play from the first of the opening game. The team entered the fray with that winning morale which cannot be broken down. That they got the breaks was because they forced them at all times.

The line up:

Canadiens—Goal, Hainsworth; defence, Gardiner, Mantha; centre, Morenz; wings, Gagne, Joliat; subs, Cooper, Lepine, Hart, Larochelle, Leduc, Palangio.

WET GROUNDS HINDERS PLAY

ENGLISH SOCCER

LONDON, April 4. — (Canadian Press.)—The grounds throughout the country were bad for play yesterday, with the result that the goal scoring in the First Division of the English Soccer League did not faithfully represent the real brand of the games. At Villa Park, where West Ham defeated Aston Villa by five goals to one, the field was in such a condition due to constant rains that workmen had to lift the turf with pitchforks prior to the kick-off in order to let the sheets of water seep into the ground. Even with this treatment the field was next to unplayable. West Ham made the homesters look like second raters, and in the first half were leading by four goals to nothing. Aston Villa changed their forward line around for the second period and a steadier game ensued with one goal coming the way of each team.

Both the cup-finalists were beaten on their own grounds yesterday, Arsenal succumbing to Huddersfield Town by two goals to nothing at Highbury and Cardiff City dropping points to the Spurs by the odd goal in three. Neither of the Wembley aspirants showed cup final form. Huddersfield's first goal came after the ball had been kicked only five times and not once by an Arsenal player. Bent made a sensational debut in Huddersfield line-up, securing both counters. His first followed ten seconds from the opening whistle.

The general appearance of the divisional table was unchanged with respect to the leaders after yesterday's encounters, for Newcastle United also obtained a couple of points at the expense of Bury, when they defeated the Lancastrians by three to one.

One of the critical games of the day was at Leeds where the home team and West Bromwich, both of whom are in the danger zone for relegation, fought out a three-one tilt in favor of Leeds. The result of the contest served to put West Bromwich in a still more hopeless position, and with the end of the season looming up, their situation is perilous. Derby County split the points with Everton in the only drawn game in the First Division.

DELORO MAN ON EXECUTIVE

R. A. Elliott Elected at O. B.A.A. Meeting—Midget Series Out.

LESS IN TREASURY.

Business pertaining to minor leagues held the limelight at the eighth annual meeting of the Ontario Baseball Amateur Association on Saturday at the Carts-Rite Hotel, Toronto. How to curtail the large expense involved in staging the minor league playoffs was the big problem in the day's busines. And while there was no solution reached, the expenses this year will be lightened by the abolishing of the midget series. In doing away with the midget series the bantam age limit was raised from under 15 years to under 16.

The minor league debate was just a revival of what took place at the semi-annual meeting last Fall. Guelph minor leagues tried to solve the problem by having an amendment put through that where the distance between teams is less than one hundred milees, home and home games should be played and when it is more the elimination should be by sudden death games. The executive of the association asked for sudden death games in all playoffs. The latter met with much disapproval. The Guelph amendment had about an even break with the delegates. The question took up a lot of time, finally Mr. Walton, a Hamilton delegate, brought the discussion to a close by having the matter tabled and the association carry on for another year with the law that is now in vogue.

Reduce Minors' Grant

Last year the O.B.A.A. set aside the sum of $800 to assist minor league clubs in their playoffs, but with the abandoning of midget series and the intertmediates asking for assistance the amount was reduced to $500 for this year.

The proposal to have all the amateur baseball clubs in the province under the jurisdiction of the O.B.A.A. by direct affiliation, instead of through leagues, was defeated, while the motion to have an office of registration to handle all certificates was also beaten.

The annual effort to have the seniors vote on senior business and intermediates have the say in their own affairs was again beaten. It was decided that any affiliated league must secure permission to hold baseball tournaments, making applications more than 10 days in advance and also pay a fee of five dollars.

The treasurer's report shows a balance on hand of $2,508.55, which is $1,109.90 less than a year ago.

In the election of officers two newcomers were elected to the executive in the persons of R. A. Elliott (Deloro), and W. C. LeMarsh (Chatham). W. J. Snyder (Hamilton), was elected president by acclamation. The vice-presidents are: Geo. S. Martin (London), and A. Hillmer (Oakville). A. J. Walsh (Toronto), defeated W. H. Heise, (Preston), for secretary, and C. K. Jutten (Hamilton), was returned as treasurer. At the first meeting the president will name the four other members to complete the executive. The A.A.U. of C. governor, P. M. Kennedy, Toronto. The following executive was elected: J. Turner, Toronto; H. C. Maguire, St. Catharines; R. A. Elliott, Deloro; W. C. Le March, Chatham.

The greyhound is the fastest of all dogs. There is a record of one one of these hounds running a quarter of a mile in 25 2-5 seconds.

TROPHY DONOR

BRUINS BATTLE N. Y. RANGERS TO SCORELESS TIE

Play First Game in Finals for Stanley Cup Contenders.

ROUGH HOCKEY

Neither Team Had Punch to Pierce Other's Stubborn Defensive.

BOSTON, Mass., April 4. Canadian Press. — The Boston Bruins and the New York Rangers battled to a scoreless tie here last night in the first game of their home and home series, to select an American contender for the Stanley cup. It was a contest replete with thrills and rough hockey, but neither team had the punch necessary to pierce the others' stubborn defensive. A crowd of 10,000 frenzied spectators yelled vainly for a score, and at one time the enthusiasm reached such a pitch that papers and coins were peppered on the ice and the game was held up until the surface could be cleared.

Bruins were the more aggressive throughout, Chabot in goal for New Yorkmade 28 stops as against 15 by Winkler, but the Rangers were the more brilliant in action. The high scoring Bill Cook was too closely checked to be effective, but Frank Boucher, the New York centre, was everywhere on the ice, and his work was a spectacle.

The first period developed the roughest hockey seen here this season. The forwards were thrown back time and time again as they sought to get through the two rugged defense lines. The Bruin defense was the tougher one, which fact drove the Rangers to much long distance shooting.

Rangers led in penalties with 9 to Boston's 5.

The rough contacts might well have developed more trouble but for the efficient refereeing of Jerry Laflamme and Billy O'Hara.

Shore, Herberts, Galbraith, Oliver and Frederickson provided the Bruins with an attack of championship calibre. For the Rangers Bill and Bun Cook co-starred with Boucher while Abel and Johnson were strong on the defence.

The line up:

Boston.		Rangers.
Winkler	goal	Chabot
Hetchman	defence	Johnson
Shore		Abel
Frederickson	centre	F. Boucher
Galbraith	wing	Bill Cook
Stuart	sub	Murdock
W. Boucher		Thompson
Meeking.		Brown
Herberts.		Bourceault.
		Mackay

Referees: Jerry Laflamme and Bill O'Hara, Toronto.

Summary:

First period: No score.

Second period: No score.

Penalties: Stuart, Bourceault 2, W. Boucher, Bill Cook, Bun Cook, and Johnson.

Third Period: No Score.

Penalty: Bill Cook.

OTTAWA WINS FIRST GAME

Defeat Montreal in First of Senior Basketball Play-Downs.

THREE-POINT LEAD

OTTAWA, Ont., April 4.—(Canadian Press.)—Ottawa basketball club took a lead of three points in the first game of the Eastern Canada senior basketball play-downs by defeating the Montreal A.A.A. at the Coliseum here on Saturday night by a score of 19 to 16. The return game will be played in Montreal on Saturday next.

For three quarters of the game Montreal held as in a vise, by the brilliant defensive system looking like a badly defeated team, and only erratic shooting on the part of the locals prevented them cinching the game and the series. In the last five minutes the visitors, led by Cliff Melville, started a fighting rally which all but erased the ten point lead which the Ottawas had gained in the first half and the opening states of the second.

Ottawas showed themselves a better floor team than the visitors, having a better defensive system and having control of the ball much more than their opponents. Montrealers were, however, much deadlier in their shooting and scored points on nearly every one of the few opportunities offered. The teams on the whole were evenly matched.

There were two outstanding stars in the game last night, Captain Don Young of the Ottawas playing one of the finest games of his career, while Billy Goodsall, youthful Montreal guard, was a postive sensation. He was the "heart" of the visitors' team last night, playing a sterling defensive game, being the speediest man on the floor, and was also the spear head and key man in nearly all the Montreal offensive movements. Melville played well for the visitors in the closing stages, while Leo McCaffery, Jack Young and Tokey Allan also worked hard for the winners.

The score:

Ottawa B.C.—L. McCaffery, 5; A. Burton, 3; D. Young, 6; R. T. Allen, 2; J. Young, 3; E. Kilpatrick, T. Spear, T. Langford. Total 19.

Montreal A.A.A.— H. Land, 3; H. Baldwin, 1; C. Melville, 4; S. Atchison, 0; M. Goodsall, 4; A. Smaill, 0; N. Parson, 2; F. Gronau, J. Laidlaw. Total 16.

Referee—Donnie Burnett.

WATCH THE KIDNEYS

Fatigue and that tired feeling is the result of poison in the blood. When the kidneys fail to remove this poison from the system it leads to backache, rheumatic pains and sometimes to that fatal ailment known as Bright's disease. When this condition exists, don't delay, go to your druggist and get a box of Dr. Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills and they will quickly correct the cause of your trouble.

Mr. Arthur Pinch of Smith Township states that Dr. Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills give him more speedy relief than any other preparation that he had tried.

INQUEST OPENS AT INGERSOLL

TRIAL POSTPONED.

WOODSTOCK, April 4 (Canadian Press).—The inquest into the cause of death of George Russell, the Beachville man killed on the Beachville Road on Saturday morning, was opened in Ingersoll this morning. This necessitated the postponing of the charge of reckless driving preferred against Leo K. Padrach, Detroit fireman, who is alleged to have been the driver of the car that passed over the highway at an early hour on Saturday. The charge against Padrack's wife and two others was also laid over until this afternoon. Norman L. Spencer, Windsor represented the accused at the hearing this morning and also questioned witnesses at the inquest. Richard Blav and Charles Smith, the two St. Catharines' men who found Russell's body, were the chief witnesses this morning. The young men said they were repairing a tire about a mile or two east of where Russell was found and during all the time they were there only one car passed them going west and this car they described as an Essex coach.

NO QUOTATIONS TO-DAY

The Stobie and Furlong wire was out of commission today and The Examiner was unable to get any stock quotations.

Mine Exchange Firmer With Moderate Trading

TORONTO, April 4.— (Canadian Press.)—A firmer tone was evidenced in the trading on the Standard Mining Exchange to-day. The volume of business was moderate and price movements were varying. Dividend paying gold stocks were strong. Teck Hughes featuring with a gain of 16 cents to 6.67. Wright Hargreaves was up five cents to 10.60. Dome Mines advanced five cents to 8.55 as did McIntyre. Lake Shore was up 10 to 18.25. Kirkland Lake was the outstanding strong spot, selling up to 92, a gain of five cents. Beaver was up two to 64. Mining Corporation soared up 12 cents to 3.28. Vipond gained 4 to 144. Laval Quebec was weaker, declining 1-2 to 26 1-2. Duprat was off 3-4 to 12 3-4. Noranda advanced 66 cents to 21.60.

Wheat Prices Go Down When Shipments Increase

CHICAGO, April 4. — (Canadian Press.)—With a liberal increase shown in the amount of wheat on ocean passage, wheat displayed an early downward trend here to-day. Commission house selling in small lots proved sufficient to weaken values. Opening unchanged to 1-4 cent off, wheat later sagged all round. Corn, oats and provisions were relatively firm, corn starting at 1-8 cent. decline to an equal advance and subsequently scoring light general gains.

Interest At New York Centres On Rail Stocks

NEW YORK, April 4.— (Canadian Press.)—Operators for the advance centred attention on railway issues in to-day's stock market. Hope for more favorable dividend distributions was in large part responsible for the buoyancy of rails. Erie common touched 52 7-8, the highest price in 20 years, while Rock Island, Western Maryland Second Preferred, Missouri Pacific and Pennsylvania reached their highest levels since 1925 or longer. The contiued flow of re-investment money lent strength to a number of high-priced industrials. United States Steel Common held firm around its recent high level, but General Motors encountered further selling pressure. Continental Insurance, American Express and Western Union all sold three to seven points above last week's final quotations. Continental Banking 'A' had a rise at the expense of bear traders. Oils developed a better resistance to selling pressure.

Unlisted Stocks Active On Toronto Market To-day

TORONTO, April 4 (Canadian Press).—Activity of the Toronto Stock Exchange was confined chiefly to the unlisted department this morning, with the listed stocks being quiet and price movements narrow. Massey - Harris Common was the most prominent of the listed issues and under a deluge of profit-taking it declined 3-4 to 127 3-4. Seagram was active and, in sympathy with other distillery issues, it firmed 1-8 to 3 7-8. Walker was active and firmed 1-8 to 39. G. and W. weakened 1-4 to 59 1-2. British Columbia Fishing sold off 5-8 to 77.

The mining stocks were in demand and consequently stronger, Kirkland Lake sold up seven points to 92, Noranda advanced 55 cents to 21.50, and Teck Hughes was up 13 to 6.70.

The oil stocks were dul. British-American Oil declined 3-8 to 25 3-4, Imperial Oil was off 3-4 to 4 1-4.

Nipissing Mines.

At first reported through this Service, this Company are now taking in a complete mining plant to explore their Montbray property. Last week a second diamond drill was taken in to follow the Lundberg survey and to prove up the extensive indications or "kicks" which have been obtained by the electrical survey. This survey, although it was thought that it would have been completed at least two weeks ago, is still being carried on. This is due to the fact that indications have been so good that the management decided on very much more detailed work than was at first anticipated. The running of loops some 300 ft. apart as is customary with this survey indicates ore deposition in a rather indefinite manner. Where the indications are strong and fairly numerous it is best to shorten the loops and make them 50 or 100 ft. apart in order to more closely estimate the dimensions of ore deposits indicated. This has happened on the Nipissing property with the result that there is sufficient work at present on the indicated zones alone for two diamond drills. In addition to these indications there are the three known ore bodies which have been diamond drilled to such an extent that sinking an underground development is immediately warranted. Details of this diamond drilling were given to you in our last and in previous issues.

Camps which were erected last fall are now being enlarged and new ones being built to accommodate the large crews of men which the Company intend to employ on this work during the next year. As work progresses on this property uncertainties as to its probable value are rapidly disappearing. It is to be noted in connection with the work on this property that no results have been given out publicly in regard to the Lundberg survey which is being made. This can be largely credited to the Area fiasco. Before the Lundberg survey was ever started on this property the Company had assured themselves by surface stripping and diamond drilling that they had valuable ore deposition. The Lundberg survey was brought in, not so much to indicate ore as to give the management some idea of the extensions of their ore zones which on surface appeared to be covered by a very heavy overburden. The Lundberg survey was brought in, not so much to indicate ore as to give the management some idea of the extensions of their ore zones which on surface appeared to be covered by a very heavy overburden. The Lundberg survey has indicated these extensions and they will immediately be proven or disproven by diamond drilling.

There is nothing particularly new at the Cobalt property. In South Lorrain, the Company is continuing their exploration and development of their property adjoining the Canadian Lorrain. Work here at present is on a more or less limited scale, which is not likely to be greatly increased until the coming summer when the additional necessary plant and equipment can be taken in over water by boat.

Nipissing's prospects are certainly improving steadily and while present prices for the shares in this Company appear to have discounted the future to a small extent, we believe that they are warranted for a hold.

Coniagas.

Nothing particularly new at the Montbray property. Preparations are getting under way for a greatly increased exploration campaign during the coming Summer. Up to the present this Company has confined its work on its Montbray property to surface exploration. While this has resulted in the gathering of an immense amount of geological data, together with the uncovering of at least three important showings, nothing has been done as yet in regard to diamond drilling or similar exploration, so that while surface indications are considered to be highly promising it will be necessary to prove some of these at depth before definite conclusions can be arrived at.

LOCAL JUNIORS WIN HOME GAME

Defeat Broadview Juniors 29 to 18 in Basketball Game.

'Y' GIRLS WIN.

On Saturday night at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium, the local junior basketball team defeated the Broadview juniors of Toronto, 29 points to 18. The game was very fast throughout, and the fine playing of Ecobichon, who scored more than half the points for the locals, was the feature of the game. The game was tied at half-time, but in the last half the locals had the best of the play. As a preliminary feature the Y.W.C.A. Seniors played the Canadian Woollens, the former winning.

He leaves to mourn his loss a sorrowing widow, three daughters, Mrs. Newton Switzer, of Vancouver, Mrs. Rev. W. J. Mumford of Welland, and Miss Alberta at home, and two sons George H., of Williams Lake, B.C., and Charles E., of this city.

The funeral will be held on Tuesday at 2.00 p.m. from his late residence, 690 Aylmer street, with interment in Little Lake cemetery, the Rev. J. E. Todd officiating.

A. J. REID, K.C.

TORONTO, April 4.—(Special.) — A. J. Reid, K.C., general regional counsel Canadian National Railways, and a prominent figure in legal circles in the province, died on Sunday evening following a heart attack. Born in Vittoria, in 1878, the late Mr. Reid was educated at Vittoria Public school and Simcoe High school. After being called to the bar he joined the firm of Brown and Wells, at Ingersoll, subsequently removing to Simcoe. In 1891, Mr. Reid practised at Cannington, where he remained until 1910, when he came to Toronto, becoming identified with the legal department of the Canadian Northern Railway. He was appointed a King's Counsellor in 1908 and when the amalgamation of the Canadian Northern and the Grand Trunk Railways took place in 1923, he became chief regional counsel. The late Mr. Reid is survived by his widow, Islay Elinor Sinclair, a daughter of the late Capt. R. Sinclair of Cannington and a son, Donald A., of Toronto. The funeral will be held from his late residence, 96 Dawson street, on Tuesday afternoon next.

JOHN TROMBLEY.

The death took place on Saturday, at St. Joseph's Hospital, of an old and respected resident of the city, in the person of John Trombley, after a painful illness extending over some time. The deceased, who was in his sixty-first year, was born in Peterborough and lived here up to the time of his death. He had been an employee of the Canadian General Electric Company for the past quarter of a century, and was a general favorite with his companions. Quiet and unassuming, kindly, warm-hearted and generous, devoutly religious and very charitable, the late John Trombley will be remembered as a real friend and good neighbor to many who will mourn his loss.

He is survived by his sorrowing wife and one adopted child, Joseph, also one sister, Mrs. Grollo, of Hamilton.

The funeral will take place on Tuesday morning, at 8.40, from his late residence at 536 Charlotte Street, to St. Peter's Cathedral, thence to St. Peter's Cemetery for interment.

GWYNETH HALL.

A large number of beautiful floral tributes marked the sorrow of relatives and friends over the passing of Gwyneth Hall, one of the younger residents of the city, whose death at the early age of twenty-one years took place at three o'clock on Saturday afternoon at Nicholls Hospiptal, after an illness lasting since November.

The only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Hall, 532 Weller Street, Gwyneth Hall will be mourned by many who watched her last hours on earth. Her death was expected last Sunday, but since that time she lingered until Saturday, in full possession of her faculties, cheering her relatives and sorrowing friends by the resignation and sweetness with which she accepted the will of God in her regard, and providing a spectacle of Christian fortitude and courage unusual in one so young.

The deceased was born in Peterborough and lived out her short life here, with the exception of one year spent in training at the Sick Children's Hospital, Toronto. Of a quiet, retiring disposition, she made a host of friends in the city and in the summer colony at Stoney Lake. Her many school-friends were close attendants during her illness.

She is survived by her sorrowing parents and three brothers, Douglas, Terry and Gordon. An uncle, Llewellyn Hall, lives in Peterborough, an aunt in Toronto, and two aunts in British Columbia.

The funeral, which was private, took place this afternoon from the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Hall, Weller Street, to the Little Lake Cemetery, Rev. Dr. R. C. Blagrave conducting the services. Pall-bearers were school friends of the deceased: Martin Chenhall, Alex. Donnelly, Herbert Mason, Pete Mulholland, Otto Ladderick and Heber Rogers.

INA McCARTHY.

The funeral of the late Ina McCarthy was held on Friday morning from his late residence, 42 Sophia St., and was conducted by the Rev. R. T. Richards, after which the remains were forwarded to Madoc for burial. At Madoc a short service was held at the residence of George Huffman, a brother-in-law of the deceased.

Many friends had gathered as Mr. McCarthy was well known and respected by the people of that village. The service at the house was conducted by Rev. Mr. Foster and the Rev. Mr. White.

He leaves to mourn his loss a sorrowing wife, one son, Frank, of Buffalo; two daughters, Mrs. Baxter of Oswego, N.Y., and Mrs. W. H. Morton of this city, and an only sister Mrs. George Smith of Madoc.

Another Bus Company Injects New Element In Council Discussion

Mayor Instructed To Ascertain the Ability of Belleville Concern To Supply Temporary Transportation — Hydro Chairman Can not Be Interviewed Until Friday.

RECENT AMENDMENTS TO MARKET BY-LAW REPEALED ON THREAT OF LEGAL ACTION

Worry of Street Railway Situation and Criticism of the Thoughtless Leads To Heated Debate—No Action Expected This Week—Mayor Expects None Till April 24th.

No further progress was made by the City Council last night on the transportation problem, though the Mayor was given new instructions to guide him in his dealings with Hydro. In fact, the outcome is more beclouded than ever. If the Mayor knows what he is to do, he is probably the only member of the Council who does, for an almost personal wrangle broke out last night over the directions, implied directions, and what-not that were given him at the special meeting three days ago. According to the minutes of the meetings, he is to ascertain the lowest price Hydro will take for the street railway and gas plant, and he is to find out whether a Belleville concern is in position to give a temporary transportation service in Peterborough. On "understandings" of one kind and another, His Worship is commissioned to suggest to Hydro the possibility of releasing the Gotfredson Corporation from the contract which keeps the four busses locked up in the car barn and forbids their bringing in any other busses to supply a transportation service, and at least one Alderman believes that the Mayor has been asked by the Council to suggest to Hydro the possibility of resuming transportation pending a settlement of the dispute.

The temperature ran high in portions of last night's meeting, Alderman Hancock openly criticizing his confreres for their alleged disregard of the rights of the working man; Alderman Fife struggling to bring action that would persuade Hydro to restore transportation service this week; and the stand-patters getting into the argument now and then with "It's no use; you'll be no farther ahead." And, a sure sign this of Aldermanic perturbation, the "yeas and nays" were called for three times and taken twice.

At that, the street railway situation did not monopolize the interest of the evening. There was a by-law, for instance, to repeal a by-law amending a by-law; in other words, throwing out the recent changes in the market regulations and restoring the free-for-all market conditions that existed before a delegation of the Retail Merchants' Association led the Council into indiscretion. There was also a controversial ten minutes when an application to erect an office building at Charlotte and George was under discussion, involving the incident of an Alderman who seconded a motion, voted for the amendment, and then went on record on the "yea and nay" call in opposition to the proposal to which he was an original partner.

In the public gallery were all the members of the street railway staff, and though the two-hour wait before the street railway situation came up tired out half a dozen of the men, the remainder appeared to enjoy sufficiently the discussion of what was peculiarly their business.

Wants Immediate Action

Alderman Fife touched off the fireworks when he suggested a resolution asking Hydro to continue the street railway service until some action has been taken on the proposal to purchase. "We want the service," he said "and they are entitled to give it. It's no matter to make fun of." His motion was seconded by Alderman Hancock.

OPEN VERDICT IN RUSSELL CASE

Struck From Bicycle By Some Vehicle Unknown To Jury.

SHORT DELIBERATION.

INGERSOLL, Ont., April 5. Canadian Press. — After just 15 minutes deliberation the jury brought in an open verdict yesterday afternoon with regard to the death of George Russell who was killed on the highway near Beachville Saturday morning about 4 o'clock. There was a long line of evidence. The inquest opened at 10 o'clock in the morning, adjourned at 12.40 for lunch, and resumed again at 1.30. At 4.10 the case was closed and the charge put to the jury.

Hitch in Time.

It was evident that there was a hitch in the time as shown in the evidence concerning the passing of the suspected car. Blay and Smith the two St. Catharines truckmen, say that while they were repairing a blowout just a short distance west of Beachville lights, an Essex car passed them at a terrific rate of speed. They said it was a greenish car with nickeled radiator, and bearing a Michigan license plate. After they had finished changing the tire, and had lighted cigarettes preparatory to resuming their journey, they looked at a watch. It was then just 3.45. It was only a distance of less than two miles to the scene of the accident from the point where the truck had stopped. Yet according to the evidence, Russell had not left his home until five minutes to four. This would mean that the speeding Essex car would be well into Ingersoll before Russell left his home.

No new light was thrown on the case. Only one man said he saw another vehicle on the road. That was Stanley Johnston, of Centreville, who said that at ten minutes to four a truck followed by a car passed his home. But these vehicles would also have been past the scene of the killing before Russell left his home.

The jury was out but 15 minutes when they brought in the following verdict: We, your jury impanelled to inquire into the circumstances surrounding the death of George Russell, find that the said George Russell came to his death by hemorrhage of the brain caused by being knocked from his bicycle on the morning of April 2nd, by some car, truck or other vehicle unknown to the jury."

Couple Dismissed.

They then appeared before Magistrate Patterson on the reckless driving charges and which had been

Bank Evolves Scheme To Beat Hold-up Men

CHICAGO, April 5.—Night life in Cicero is such an important feature that the Western State Bank has evolved a plan for accommodating depositors all night. A steel and cement chute has been constructed from the outside entrance to a vault in the basement. Large and small envelopes are placed beside the chute. Name and address of the depositors are required on the envelopes. Gamblers made the plea for night accommodation so that the industrious hold-up man might be curbed. Once the money enters the vault it cannot be withdrawn until next day.

LABOR TO FIGHT BILL ON UNIONS

Fierce Political Battle Looked For in British House.

CAMPAIGN STARTS.

LONDON, April 5.— (Canadian Press.)—An immediate meeting of the joint committee of the Trade Union Congress and the Labor Party has been called to consider the situation created by the introduction in the House of Commons of the Government's bill seeking to curb the powers of trades unions. The action of the Laborites presaged the fiercest political fight Great Britain has seen in years. Former Premier Ramsay MacDonald to-day described the bill as "one of the most dangerous excursions of class war" he had ever known. The Laborites will start an intensive campaign against the bill immediately.

Boy Hammers Dynamite; Damp Averts Explosion

SCUMACHER, Ont., April 5.—(Canadian Press.)—Several people, including an old prospector waiting for a train at the station here, were startled to discover an eight year old boy hammering industriously at a stick of dynamite just a few feet away from the station platform. Investigation indicated there were several more sticks of explosive in the hands of children in the neighborhood. Police are investigating. The dynamite was wet, which was one reason there was no explosion.

NO ULTIMATUM TO CANTONESE FROM POWERS

Demands For Reparations To Contain No Formal Threats.

PRESENTED TO-DAY.

LONDON, April 5 (United Press).—It can be taken for granted that no formal ultimatum will be sent to the Cantonese Nationalist Government either by Great Britain or any other power, the British United Press learns authoritatively.

The British are not willing to reveal their hand at present. The greatest likelihood now is that separate but almost identically worded notes will be despatched to the Cantonese by the British, American and Japanese Governments, demanding the fullest reparations and amends for the Nanking outrages. It is expected here that these notes will be sent at the same time.

Notes to Be Presented.

LONDON, April 5 (Canadian Press).—The announcement from China that Great Britain, the United States and Japan had presented demands upon the Cantonese Government for reparations for the Nanking outrages was expected in London momentarily to-day, following news that the United States had instructed its Minister in Peking what course to take. It is stated that the British Minister has already received his instructions.

Although the text of the United States note is understood to have been slightly amended, it is essentially the same as the Japanese and British protests.

It is expected the notes will be handed to the political and military authorities of the Cantonese regime both at Hankow and Shanghai.

CRIMINAL ASSAULT CHARGED

SHANGHAI, April 5. (United Press.) — The Shanghai foreign settlement was excited to-day by the publication in the British owned North China Daily News of affidavits charging unreported atrocities against white women at Nanking.

While indignation is great among the foreigners, the unrest increased among the natives throughout the Yangste Valley.

The greatest danger of native riots seemed to be at Shanghai which was being hastily evacuated by Americans, and at Amoy. At Hankow, where the Japanese and natives clashed on Sunday the anti-foreign feeling was reported intense. Two Japanese were killed and the vice-consul was wounded, it was reported.

There has been no report in London or Washington bearing on the North China daily's statement, that foreign women were criminally attacked or that the facts at Nanking had been censored. United States' Consul John K. Davis, who with his wife and children, and other foreigners, were besieged by the Chinese on Standard Oil Hill, reported to the United States department of state that there had been two attempts at criminal assault.

Foreign Secretary Sir Austen Chamberlain, speaking in the House of Commons, referred to the incident but did not enlarge on the facts as Davis had reported them. Statements by refugees immediately after the Nanking disorder said that the women had been searched.

Cantonese Lose City.

SHANGHAI, April 5 (Canadian Press).—The northward drive of the Nationalists along the railway leading to Tientsin and Peking is meeting with strong resistance. Northern forces captured Kwangtien, 60 miles north-west of Nanking, on Sunday, after heavy fighting, and two hundred Nationalist wounded have arrived at the latter city. The Nationalists are rushing reinforcements to that sector.

The latest estimate of the casualties in the recent skirmish between Chinese and Japanese in Hankow, said a radio message, were ten Chinese killed and many wounded and two Japanese killed and two wounded. Seven Japanese were held as hostages. British property was not touched.

Cantonese Attack Looters.

PEKING, April 5 (Canadian Press).—Killing or looting throughout the Salt area in Shantung Province and along the coast south of Tsingta by the Tatao Hui, or "Destruction Society," was reported to-day. Troops have been sent

Blizzard Follows Rain In Prairie Provinces

WINNIPEG, April 5 (Canadian Press).—The steady downpour of rain which had greatly aggravated flood conditions in Manitoba and eastern parts of Saskatchewan turned into a driving blizzard last night, while the temperature crashed from 50 above to 20 within twelve hours at many points. The immediate menace of floods is checked but the situation is likely to be worse when the thaw sets in.

RUMANIA QUIET; LEADERS WORRY OVER SITUATION

Fear That Russians Will Take Advantage of King's Death.

COALITION LIKELY.

Carol Disconsolate At Not Being Called—Son May Become King.

PARIS, April 5 (Canadian Press). —King Ferdinand of Rumania today was fighting a losing battle in his efforts to overcome the ravages of his ailment. This was apparent even from laconic bulletins issued from his bedside in Bucharest, but latest reports received in Paris from Bucharest indicate that death was only a matter of a few days, perhaps hours.

The country remains quiet and Premier Averescu, in a statement, declared that no internal trouble was feared. Latest advices concerning the international situation received from Bucharest said the authorities in the Kingdom are alive to the danger of Russia taking advantage of the disorganized condition of the country and that they now envisaged a coalition ministry to include all parties. The National Peasant party has given up the idea of bringing back former Prince Carol to rule in case of the death of Ferdinand.

They will expect Prince Michael, Carol's five-year-old son, to be king, and the regency provided for to take charge of affairs in the event of the king's death. The regency would act until Michael is 18. Prince Carol remains at his Neuilly villa with his inamorata, Magda Lupescu. He is somewhat disconsolate at not being summoned to his father's bedside.

FARM IMMIGRANTS ARRIVE IN TORONTO

Seventeen Families and 150 Single Men Destined For Ontario Farms.

TORONTO, April 5 (Canadian Press).—Approximately 150 single men and seventeen families from the Old Country arrived in this city to-day. They had debarked from the liners Montcalm, Aurania, Cedric and Athenia, and are destined for farms in various parts of Ontario.

CLUB DEBATE WON BY LADIES

Many Hear Interesting Discussion at St. James' Y. P. Meeting.

WOMEN UPHELD.

There was a splendid attendance last evening in Wesley Hall for the debate held under the auspices of the Young People's Club of St. James' Church on the resolution, "That women have been a greater factor in nation-building than men."

The debate was exceptionally interesting and was well contested by both sides. Many keen arguments were advanced by the debaters, and the judges, Miss M. Kidd, Mr. T. E. Gilchrist, and Mr. A. E. Prest, had considerable difficulty in making a decision, the affirmative being finally declared the winner. This side was upheld by Miss Constance Wagar and Mrs. J. D. Richardson; the negative being taken by Messrs. Elmer Frost and William McLaren.

A musical programme included vocal solos by Mrs. E. Kitney, Mrs. Percy Dallin and Mrs. V. Walker; also instrumental selections by Ashton Fife.

HELP OF PEOPLE NEEDED TO MAKE ACT SUCCESSFUL

Lieutenant-Governor Urges Co-operation in Enforcing Liquor Control Law.

PROROGUES HOUSE.

TORONTO, April 5 (Canadian Press).—An appeal for the co-operation of the people in an endeavor to administer the Government control law in a manner to promote better conditions in the province was made in the speech from the Throne, read by His Honor W. D. Ross, the Lieutenant-Governor, in prorogation of the Ontario Legislature Assembly this afternoon.

"It is earnestly hoped that the new law will promote better conditions throughout the province," said the Lieutenant-Governor. The speech said that by adherence to the principles approved by the electors, the Government had enlisted a degree of public support for the measure which should ensure the most favorable conditions for its operation and enforcement.

The further extension of Hydro power undertakings, ensuring additional power when needed, were mentioned as having been approved during the session. It also noted the extension of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway, work on which would be commenced in the near future. It was stated that delay in development of the St. Lawrence River made necessary the early ultilization of the powers of the Ottawa River.

Hope was expressed that a fitting celebration of the diamond jubilee of Confederation would draw closer the people of the Dominion. All of the time-honored customs of prorogation from the booming of guns to the Lieutenant-Governor's military escort were observed, and an unusually large number of members and others witnessed the ceremonies.

CARLINGS MAY OWE GREAT SUM

AT LEAST $303,000.

TORONTO, April 5 (Canadian Press).—The Carling Brewing Company, London, may be in arrears for sales tax to a considerably larger sum than the $303,000 mentioned yesterday, if it is determined that export beer sales are subject to this tax. The $303,000 represents the arrears of the company up to the end of September last if exports were taxable, according to commission auditors.

A. E. Nass today explained that the amount was figured on a basis of approximately $1.75 a case on export beer sold. The price ultimately realized may have been higher. The books of the company, according to Mr. Nass, showed that additional large sums had been received from one company and credited. The account was called "export insurance account," and in 1924 alone $150,000 had been received from the one firm and credited to it.

The auditor said that if these amounts were subject to sales tax the liability of Carling's Brewery would be greatly increased.

Long Service Record In Township Office

STRATFORD, April 5. — What may constitute a record of service to the community in which they have resided, has been set by the Fisher family of North Easthope. For a period of 68 years members of this family have held offices in the township, and the present incumbent of the Township Clerk's office looks good to stretch the record over many more years.

In 1859 Alex. Fisher, grandfather of the present Clerk, J. D. Fisher, became Treasurer of the Township, and continued in that office until 1878. In 1871, A. M. Fisher, father of the present Clerk, became Clerk, and held office until 1900, when it was taken over by his son, the present holder.

NEW YORK, April 5.—Automobiles, within 25 years, traveling at 150 miles an hour on the general highways, are foreseen by Major E. O. D. Segrave, who last Tuesday drove his Mystery S. car at a speed of 211 miles an hour at Daytona Beach, Florida.

Major Segrave, who sailed for England last night on the Berengaria, said engineers who perfected his car had the idea in mind that within a quarter of a century it would be of practical use.

The secret of his car's success, he said, was in its six-foot blunt nose, which covers the wheels and prevents the wind from hampering the speed of the car.

SIFTON'S OFFER TO AMEND BILL

PROHIBIT EXPORT.

OTTAWA, April 5 (Canadian Press).—The committee stage of the Georgian Bay Canal Bill orgned this morning with Harry and W. D. Sifton, officials of the company, giving evidence respecting the project and offering amendments which they said met most of the published objections to the bill.

One amendment would develop the revenues of the company to the canalization system until the project was completed. Another would restrict the majority of directors to Canadian citizens, while a third would prohibit the exportation of any of the power developed.

SEVEN MEN SHOT.

MEXICO CITY, April 5.— (Canadian Press.)—Tried by summary court martial for the kidnapping and murder of Edgar M. Wilkins, a United States' electrical engineer, seven men have been executed by a firing squad at Gualajara. The guilt of the culprits was established on Sunday night after Wilkins' ten year old son had identified one of the men as a leader of the band which captured his father and himself.

BRITAIN MAY ACT ALONE ON NANKING POLICY

Cabinet Reaffirms Decision To Act Single Handed, If Necessary.

VIEWS EXCHANGED.

Chamberlain Says Moscow Agents Are Fostering Anti-Foreign Feeling.

LONDON, April 5 (A.P.). — Without waiting for the other Powers to decide whether to make joint demands on Chinese Nationalists for the Nanking affair, the British Cabinet yesterday reaffirmed its decision to carry out a strong policy, single-handed if necessary, in obtaining full satisfaction

Reinforcements for the Shanghai defence force are hurriedly preparing to embark at English ports, and officials declare that the government is determined to exact full reparations for the outrages to which British nationals in China have been subjected. Then Great Britain will consider the Nanking incident closed and proceed with the policy of trying to conciliate British and Nationalist interests in China.

It is stated at Downing Street that the British demands on China are likely to be made within a very few days. Nevertheless, the cables last night still carried exchanges of views between Washington, Tokio and London. It is not yet certain whether the demands will be presented jointly or in identic notes, leaving each nation in a position to act independently in the event of rejection of the demands by the Cantonese. Great Britain's action in the latter eventuality, it was understood, will be speedy, firm, and perhaps spectacular.

Explains Latest Phases

Foreign Minister Chamberlain explained the latest phases of the Chinese crisis in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon. The Laborites raised the subject of the statement issued last week by Eugene Chen, Nationalist Foreign Minister, in which he questioned whether Nationalist troops were responsible for the Nanking afair, and asserted that Chinese casualties outnumbered foreign losses at Nanking a hundredfold. Sir Austen challenged the accuracy of Chen's figures regarding losses. He also remarked that the Nationalists at Nanking were showing increasing truculence toward foreigners and that Moscow agents were apparently encouraging the anti-foreign feeling in China.

George Lansbury, Laborite, suggested that a commission of investigation into the Nanking affair be established, but he was howled down by the Ministerial supporters, to the evident pleasure of the members of the Cabinet in whose minds there seems to be no doubt about the responsibility of the Nationalist and whose whole idea evidently is to liquidate the Nanking affair quickly as possible.

This attitude of the British Government eliminates the prospect of a blockade of Chinese ports, which, it is believed by officials here, would result in a long campaign which would harm nobody except the foreigners who desire to conduct business in China.

Will Be Reserves

It is stated that the reinforcements which are being sent to China are reserves which will be available for any purpose which the British command in China may designate. It is not believed that they are needed at present, but they are being despatched immediately on account of the seven weeks' voyage to the Far East.

Flee to Coast

SHANGHAI, April 5 (A.P.).— From Chihli Province, seat of the Peking government, and from the cities of Hankow and Capton came the most disturbing news yesterday.

As the Cantonese armies continued their march northward in the direction of Peking the situation in Chihli became more dangerous for foreigners and they are leaving their homes and mission posts by the score, making their way to what are looked upon as safety zones along the seaboard. Many foreign women and children are even leaving Peking.

At Hankow, where fighting occurred in the Japanese concession Sunday, there were further outbreaks by Chinese mobs again yesterday. A Japanese wireless message reported that the Chinese were storming the concession, but that Chinese troops were taking a hand to maintain order. The Japanese evacuation of Hankow is under way, and it is expected it will be completed shortly. Twenty-five Japanese have gone aboard the British gunboat "Bee" for shelter.

DEFER ONE YEAR FINAL DECISION IN CANAL CASE

Such Will Be Plea of the Georgian Bay Company.

DIVERGENT VIEWS.

OTTAWA, April 5. — When the Georgian bay canal bill comes before the railway and canals committee to-day, the company will enter a plea that, without prejudice, its charter be kept alive for one year more. It will be urged that as the session is swiftly coming to a close there is no opportunity of adequately going into the merits of the case and that the simplest way out is to extend the charter for just one year, looking to a thorough examination of the matter then. Meanwhile, it would be understood, no plans would be proceeded with or work done. It is quite evident that there is no chance of the bill passing this year and there will be opposition even to the tentative resuscitation of the enterprise till next session.

Whether any statement of policy will be made by the government was not clear yesterday. Heretofore it has not gone further, officially at least, than to suggest that the bill be referred to the committee, but its position in the one year's extension is not indicated. Some of the ministers are inclined to favor it privately, and others to oppose it, thinking that the question, so far as concerns the Georgian Bay company, may as well be disposed of first as last.

It would not be surprising if there is an amendment favoring the wiping out of existing charters and leases and looking to a solution of the Ottawa river power problem on some new lines.

Devotees Say Drinking Canned Heat Is Lost Art Manufacturers Have Been Putting Coal Oil In It

Canned heaters were reforming, a former member of the "cult" announced to-day, but not because of an uneasy conscience or that they were prompted by virtuous instincts. The underlying reason was that the manufacturers had callously introduced kerosene into the mixture, making it unpalatable for even the most confirmed heater to tackle.

"Why, it's got to be terrible," the informant said in a sad voice. "It was bad enough to drink before, but now it just can't be done. They tell me they're putting coal oil in it, and here's one that's ready to believe it. I haven't had a drink for three weeks now. One of the boys is still going strong, but even he is beginning to weaken. We first noticed it about a month ago. The kerosene, or whatever they call it, has an awful smell and it tastes just as bad. I guess we'll have to look around for something else. A couple of them used to drink bay rum all the time, but its too expensive for a steady diet. Besides, there isn't the same kick to drinking there used to be. Most of the fellows I 'bummed' around with are in jail. Remember when the police rounded up all the lodgers on charges of vagrancy and sent them to jail? Well, they got about three-fourths of the heaters then. The longer you lay off the less you like it. I guess there's nothing else for me to do."

FIRE DESTROYS FARM BUILDINGS

Western Ontario Farmer Suffers Heavy Loss When Property Destroyed.

PARTIALLY INSURED.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., April 5 (Canadian Press).—Two large barns and three outhouses on the farm of J. R. Stirtzinger, at Fonthill, were destroyed yesterday afternoon by fire believed to have been caused by children playing with matches. The village volunteer fire brigade succeeded in saving the brick house and some implements but five cows, a horse and several pigs perished. The loss, which includes a motor truck, will be in the neighborhood of $6,000, partially covered by insurance.

Sufferers from specially severe toothache are now taken in as bed patients at one of the London, Eng., hospitals.

BRITAIN MAY ACT

Wuchow on the Si Kiang, or West River, northwest of Canton, to protest Britishers there. The United States gunboat "Pampango" has reached Canton to cover the evacuation of foreigniers. An American exodus from that city is reported.

Houses Destroyed

Details of Sunday's rioting at Hankow, which coolie disturbances created a threatening situation several months ago, reported that a number of Japanese houses in the concession were destroyed by the mob. Five Japanese civilians and five sailors carried off by the Chinese are still missing. It is feared that one of the sailors was thrown in the river after being killed.

The Chinese commander, General Tang Seng Chih, apologized to the Japanese Consul-General for the attack on the concession, and said that while he would do his utmost to maintain peace and order, he was handicapped by the presence of the Japanese sailors. He contended that if these sailors were withdrawn, the populace would be satisfied and further disturbances would be prevented. The Japanese Consul-General refused to consider the request that the sailors be withdrawn.

Display Banners

An indication of the bitter feelings against the Britishers in Shanghai was had yesterday, when banners appeared across the road leading into the British section from the native Chapei quarter. In full view of the British troops encamped along the barriers these banners proclaimed in Chinese: "Down with the British"; "Avenge the Chinese killed by the British at Nanking," and "Evacuate British troops and warships from Shanghai, or suffer."

FOR COURAGE AN INITIATIVE

Employees of the Bell Telephone construction forces, and other branches of the service, have received a thorough training in first aid, and as a result, have been able to render valuable help in critical circumstances, not only to fellow employees, but to other victims of accident or injury, to the saving of both life and property. The Bell Company has established a plan of awards and citations for conspicuous service of this kind. Each year, in the Company's Annual Report, mention is made of the names of those especially deserving of commendation. In the 1926 report the names of twelve employees are cited—two of them women—for Acts of Courage, initiative and public service performed while on duty."

"BOOTLEG KING" TAKES STAND BEFORE BOARD

COOL WITNESS.

Says He Had Given Up the Liquor Business Long Time Ago.

TORONTO, Ont., April 5.—(Canadian Press.)—Rocco Perri, called "the king of the boot-leggers," to quote counsel, took the witness stand before the Royal Commission on Customs yesterday. He proved a cool witness with a ready smile and a memory which he admitted was "very poor." So poor it turned out to be that Mr. Perri could give but a very vague account of his movements for the past couple of weeks, though Hon. N. W. Rowell, K.C., counsel for the commission, urged upon him the importance of doing so.

Mr. Perri's memory was sufficiently unreliable to call for protests from the commissioners themselves. When counsel asked him if he had come down to Toronto from Hamilton last week with Mrs. Perri he answered with his frequent "I can't remember."

"That's perfectly ridiculous and it's not true," retorted Chief Commissioner J. T. Brown to this response. When the witness suggested that his memor, was so vague that he might not be able to state where he was yesterday, the Chief Commissioner told him that "he needn't think we are so childish as to believe that."

The possibility of the commission taking some action in regard to Mr. Perri, was suggested at one point by Mr. Rowell. "I'm going to give you another chance," he told the witness when Mr. Perri had answered that he could not remember some detail, "because I may have to ask the commission to exercise its powers in respect of you." This remark failed to change the witnesse's answer.

Long Distance Calls.

Mr. Perri was called to give the commission some information regarding the very large number of long distance telephone calls which originated at his number in Hamilton. As brought out last week when Mrs. Rocco Perri took the stand, some of them terminated at the distillery of Gooderham and Worts, Ltd., of Toronto. Counsel is anxious to find out who gave the orders and where the liquor went. Mrs. Perri has disclaimed all knowledge of them, explaining that friends and associates of her husband used her telephone frequently. Mr. Perri's evidence yesterday was along the same lines.

Not In Business.

Yesterday Mr. Perri asserted that he was not in the liquor business. He admitted that he had done "quite a big mail order business" some years ago, but that was over. "Nothing at present," he replied when asked to state his business.

Mr. Rowell produced the collection of telephone slips which have already figured in the investigation. They are very numerous, and besides the Toronto calls, messages were transmitted to Thorold, Port Credit, St. Catharines, North Bay, Waterloo, Welland, Guelph and other points. Mr. Perri asserted that many of the calls were put in by friends of his who came and stayed with him for a time. A single person, "Mr. J. Penna," who has been mentioned as one of the United States' consignees for liquor, put in a hundred calls. There were thirty calls to Charles Muir at Fort Erie, but Mr. Perri said that he did not know this man. Some of the calls, the witness explained by saying that they were inquiries as to the health of sick friends or relations. He denied that orders for liquor were telephoned in to Gooderham and Worts by Mrs. Perri, on behalf of J. Penna.

Mrs. Perri Examined.

Mr. Perri was followed on the stand by Mrs. Perri in brief testimony. She produced a bank-book, her personal account, which contained one entry and showed a balance of $95. R. L. Calder, K.C., asked for the one previous to that produced, but Mrs. Perri hadn't it with her. She agreed to sign a letter authorizin ginvestigation of her account.

Carling Brewing Company.

Inquiry into the affairs of the Carling Brewing Company, of London, Ont., was opened shortly before adjournment. With Charles Burns, President and General Manager of this firm on the stand. Mr. Rowell asked some questions in regard to sales tax and export business. Marco Leon, Harry Low and Mr. Burns are now the controlling figures in this company. The amount for which the company will be liable if it is decided that sales tax is collectable on export business stands at $303,778. Mr. Burns stated that his company is one of those making up the Bermuda Export Company which handles export business for a number of Ontario breweries. He stated that the Bermuda Export Company disposes of the beer brewed at $3.25 a case of two dozen pints while the sales are entered in the books for sales tax purposes at $1.75 a case. He explained, however, that there are charges in connection with handling the product from the time it leaves the brewery until it reaches the buyer which forms a part of the difference in the two prices.

Further investigation into the Carling Company will take place to-day.

DEER LACK FOOD.

OLEAN, N.Y., April 5.—Hunger is driving deer from the mountains into civilization. They seem weak from lack of food and do not run at the approach of automobiles. One motorist actually ran into a group of three, one buck being bowled over several times before he regained his feet and fled into the woods.

Declares Sandwiches Are Most Lethal Food

BLOOMINGTON, Ills., April 5.—Sandwiches cause more deaths than any other form of food, Mrs. Delle Ross, Bloomington dietitian, said here today.

"The sandwich encourages the eating of too much bread," Mrs. Ross said.

"Bread is responsible for many stomach disturbances. The lunch of a big majority of Americans is largely composed of bread, which is good if eaten moderately.

"No one can go on week after week eating a sandwich meal at noon and get away with it."

MAKES FIGHT AGAINST DEATH

CAROL AT NEUILLY.

BUCHAREST, April 5 (Canadian Press).—King Ferdinand continued last night to struggle against death though under less favorable auspices. Weakened by a restless night and racked by a persistent cough, the congestion of the lungs increased and his temperature rose appreciably last night.

Still his physicians have not relinquished hope that the monarch will survive the attack of influenza with which he was stricken several days ago. The public was saddened by the news that the sovereign was worse. Generally the man on the street is viewing with indifference the activities of the various political groups which were redoubled yesterday.

The stock of former Crown Prince Carol seems to have suffered a drop, for the main body of the National Peasants' Party has definitely decided not to seek a change in the succession as established by the act of January 4, 1926, which named Carol's five-year-old son, Prince Michael, as heir apparent, and set up a regency to serve in the event of the Kings' death before Michael reached the age of 18. The supporters of the former Crown Prince now appear to be confined to the dissident section of the peasants' party and a few partisans in the army who are anxious to have him resume the prerogatives he renounced more than a year ago.

Awaits News.

PARIS, April 5 (Associated Press).—Prince Carol of Roumania is remaining at his Neuilly residence, just outside Paris, awaiting news from friends in Roumania concerning his father, King Ferdinand, who was stricken with influenza several days ago.

Yesterday afternoon Carol had a long conference with five Roumanians, whose names were not revealed, but it was known that his old tutor, Professor Nicholas Jorga, and M. Mircea, a young journalist, who has been his secretary and confidant, were not among them.

Carol had left his Neuilly villa early Sunday for an unknown destination, but, according to semi-official sources, an accident to the automobile in which he was travelling caused him to abandon the trip. When he returned to Neuilly it is said he found three telegrams from Bucharest relative to the King's condition. After learning that it was less serious, Carol decided to remain here awaiting the turn of events. He is described as reassured by the news that his brother-in-law, King Alexander of Jugo Slavia, was not summoned to the bedside as had been erroneously announced.

Mme. Magda Lupescu, Carol's companion when he left Bucharest to renounce his rights to the throne in December, 1925, and who has lived at Neuilly virtually all the time since, was with Carol when he returned to his villa yesterday morning.

TUG DISABLED.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., April 5 (Canadian Press)—The tug Sabin became disabled in Mud Lake yesterday afternoon when she broke her shaft and lost her wheel. The steamers Tremaine and Werner have come to anchor in the ice field above Point Aux Frene. With the Sabin out of commission opening of navigation will be delayed as it is improbable the Alabama will be sent into the ice alone and the Illinois and Iowa are not yet in readiness although little remains to be done to put them into shape.

The other occupants of the car were Julius Padrick, uncle of Leo and Mrs. S. Schemanske, mother of Mrs. Padrick. Mr. Padrick is a member of the Detroit fire department. He was married last October, and this was their belated wedding trip. Padrick was formerly with the United States navy. His case was in the hands of Norman R. Spencer of Windsor, Crown Attorney R. N. MORE EVIDENCE IN LIBEL SUIT

Tell of Efforts To Organize Southern Planters Co-operatively.

DULL SITTING.

DETROIT, April 5 (A.P.).—King Cotton and Aaron Sapiro's efforts to organize the southern planters co-operatively, with occasional side trips to cover his activities in New Jersey, Oregon and New York were centered upon yesterday in the Chicago lawyer's $1,000,000 libel suit against Henry Ford.

Many pieces of documentary evidence, letters, telegrams, contracts drawn up by Sapiro for co-operative associations, and a speech he made seven years ago went into the record yesterday, slowing up the proceedings and contributing to a generally lack-lustre day.

"They do no harm and they do no good," objected William Henry Gallagher, chief of Sapiro's counsel, at one point. "They merely clutter up the record. At this rate we will be here for years."

The old speech by Sapiro at Montgomery, Alabama, required fifty minutes of steady reading by James A. Reed, United States Senator from Missouri, chief of Ford's counsel, and while it provided him his day's chief topic, seemed to take a lot out of him. At the end of the day his sixth of cross-examining the keen-witted Sapiro, the Senate veteran frankly admitted he was tired.

At the end, exhibits numbers 330, 331 and 332, old form and modified contracts for co-operative associations were admitted as evidence and with nearly as much fine type as an insurance policy, will require many minutes of reading by somebody today.

Brought Records

Sapiro's brother, Milton, arrived from California yesterday, bringing a trunk full of records demanded by Senator Reed last week. He immediately was administered the oath and seated himself at his brother's counsel table. He did not raise his voice during the day but talked frequently with Gallagher.

When court adjourned it was indicated that cross-examination of Sapiro was far from finished, and that it might require the remainder of the week.

Gallagher has served notice upon the Ford counsel that he would call the manufacturer as the next witness. It was definitely stated yesterday, however, that under no consideration would Ford appear in court this week. By the first of next week he may be sufficiently mended to take the witness stand.

The only report available yesterday as to the manufacturer's condition was this from Dr. Roy D. McClure, surgeon-in-chief of the Henry Ford Hospital, who has continued attending Ford since he was taken back home:

"Mr. Ford is recovering from the strain. He is resting easily."

DISSATISFACTION ALARMS CABINET

LONDON, April 5.—Conservative leaders are very perturbed at the many indications of dissatisfaction with Hon. Winston Churchill as chancellor of the exchequer, and Lord Younger, one of the most astute directors of the Tory party, has admitted that it is difficult to please everybody.

The campaign against Hon. Mr. Churchill over his budget is in full swing, both inside and outside the Conservative ranks, and if he imposes any unpoplar taxation there is certain to be a violent outcry.

In fact, the cabinet seems even more concerned about the chancellor's fate than it does about the crisis in China, and is regarding budget day with considerable apprehension.

Downfall Predicted

The Liberals are predicting that the government will not last much longer, and that dissolution is not far off.

Moreover, both Liberals and Labor are getting their respective organizations ready for a general election long before it is naturally due, as neither know just when Premier Baldwin will take the plunge.

OLD MASTERS

The world is too much with us; late and soon,
Getting and spending, we lay waste our powers;
Little we see in Nature that is ours;
We have given our hearts away, a sordid boon!
This sea that bares her bosom to the moon,
The winds that will be howling at all hours,
And are up-gathered now like sleeping flowers;
For this, for everything, we are out of tune;
It moves us not. Great God! I'd rather be
A Pagan suckled in a creed outworn;
So might I, standing on this pleasant lea,
Have glimpses that would make me less forlorn;
Have sight of Proteus rising from the sea;

—William Wordsworth: Sonnet.

BATTLE LINES MORE DEFINITE IN COAL WAR

Rumors of Impending Negotiations Disappear With Rejection of Invitations.

EXPECTS HEADWAY.

Most of Families Reported To Be in Good Circumstances.

CHICAGO, April 5 (A.P.).—Battle lines became more definite as the bituminous coal wage deadlock entered upon its first full week yesterday.

Rumors of impending negotiations in the central competitive field, where 200,000 men left their jobs last Thursday midnight because of failure to negotiate a contract with operators, disappeared before rejected invitations to conferences and delayed overtures. But in Indiana strip mine operators with an annual tonnage of 2,000,000 will meet with union officials at Terre Haute Friday to discuss tentative continuation of the Jacksonville scale.

Refusal of Ohio miners to meet with operators Thursday and the hopeful declaration of Governor John Hamil, of Iowa, that he expected "to make some headway in six days," were developments of the day. The Iowa governor had asserted he had invited both sides to meet with the state industrial and agricultural commission to discuss differences. Illinois operators are meeting in St. Louis Friday, but the probability of a wage conference is remote, officials said.

Pay in Advance

One thousand miners and their families in Ohio are said to be affected by the order of the Powhatan Mining Company, demanding that idle miners pay rent in advance or vacate houses owned by the company.

Most of the families are reported to be in poor circumstances and have asked union officials to ascertain how long under the law they may remain in the houses before they can be ejected.

Claims of the United Mine Workers that they have induced large numbers of non-union coal diggers of the Pittsburgh district and in West Virginia to join in the suspension, were met by operators' contentions that union organization efforts have been fruitless.

WEDDING SHOWER.

LAKEFIELD, April 5.—A pleasant evening was spent at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. B. Nicholls, Bridge street, on Friday last, when a large number of the Baptist congregation gathered in honor of Miss Beatrice Campbell to extend their good wishes on her approaching marriage and in more tangible form show their feelings toward her. Three little folks, Marjorie and Stella Roseborough and Alex Nicholls, drew in a waggon decorated with crepe paper and ornamented appropriately and carrying a load of useful things which constituted a miscellaneous shower accompanied by expressions of felicitation. Miss Campbell, during her residence in the village has been a member of the choir of the church and assisted in the church work in many ways.

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

MOTHER'S FOUND THE HOE

Father's got his tackle out;
But Mother's found the hoe.
Father's ready, just about,
To pack his things and go.
I don't think he'll go today,
Whatever his intent;
I've a feeling, anyway,
That something will prevent.

Well, if Father cannot fish;
Baseball soon will start.
All the joy a man could wish
Who has a sporting heart.
Soon the ball will meet the bat,
And shouts will split the air;
But I'm worried, though, at that;
That Father won't be there.

But there's still another place
And still another thing;
There's a smile on Father's face
You always see in spring.
Bogie he will shoot, no doubt,
And yet I do not know:
Father's got his mashie out,
But Mother's found the hoe.

THE LIFE OF CHRIST : Jesus Draws Near to Jerusalem

In Jerusalem, Jesus again cleanses the temple, overthrowing the tables of the money-changers and driving out those who bought and sold, saying, "My house shall be called the house of prayer; but ye have made it a den of thieves." (Matthew XXI : 12-13)

The chief priests and elders assailed Jesus as he taught in the temple, asking, "By what authority doest thou these things?" (Matthew XXI : 23-27)

To these hypocritical professors of religion Jesus said, "Verily, I say unto you, that the publicans and the harlots go into the Kingdom of God before you." (Matthew XXI : 31)

Likening the kingdom of heaven unto a marriage feast, Jesus compared those who failed to accept its privileges to the man discomfited and cast out because he had not on a wedding garment. (Matthew XXII : 2-14)

Pain is so often unnecessary

SUFFERED WITH PAIN IN NECK AND SHOULDERS

After three days' home treatment got complete relief

"After trying everything else," she writes, "my mother persuaded me to let her apply Sloan's Liniment, and after three days I felt no further pain."

It is amazing what Sloan's will do to relieve pain. This is because it doesn't just deaden the nerves. It stirs up the body to throw off the cause of the trouble.

Apply gently without rubbing. Instantly it sends a healing tide of fresh, new blood to the place that hurts. In just a few minutes the pain stops. So pleasant and easy to use too. Get a bottle today. All druggists—35 cents.

Matinee Ladies

BY William B. Courtney

"MATINEE LADIES," with May McAvoy, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Bud Ward, working his way through college, is informed by his chums, Freddy and Arch, that they have found an easy and profitable way to earn money—working as dancing partners, of afternoons, for rich women in a fashionable New Jersey roadhouse. Bob thinks it isn't a fit way to make a living; but, faced with eviction for unpaid rent, reluctantly agrees to go to the roadhouse. There he first dances with Mazie, a gold-digger. And there he sees the prettiest, sweetest girl he has ever laid eyes on. She is Sally, the cigarette girl.

CHAPTER V—Continued

Never in Sally Smith's tender years had she felt so queerly thrilled as she did now under the spell of Bob Ward's cleanly eyes. Little shivers here and there. Gentle tremors within the warm sheath of her flower-like young body.

Heretofore, everything in the Palisado Inn, every happening, had quite passed over the innocent young head of Sally Smith, the cigarette girl. She had idly wondered at things. In a preciously unsophisticated way, of course. Now, in the course of half an hour, she felt herself—always under those steady, pleasant, kindly eyes!—bloom into understanding. A sweet understanding, quite too holy for the unbefitting place of its birth.

Heretofore she had bantered with the roues, the wolves, who bought her cigarettes, in the purely impersonal and indifferent way that is natural only to sublimely innocent and unbudded girls or to incredibly virtuous mature women; and that is successfully simulated only by the most self-confident and self-sufficient of all the other and laxer species of womankind. Joshing with a man about her telephone number had meant no more to Sally Smith than swapping apple cores would mean to a boy of Tom Sawyer age.

But this afternoon—this last thirty minutes—something new and strange, and quite delightfully terrifying, had been tingling in Sally's warm young blood. Those level eyes of Bob Ward had some penetrating force, some mysterious potency, that carried them right through clothing and flesh into the hot channels where coursed one's blood.

Sally had been quite tongue-tied at Bob's presentation to her by Madame Leonine in the dressing rooms. She had been so embarrassed that she was glad, in a reluctant way, when the Madame gave them no time to talk.

Ever since, watching Bob dance, and being watched by him in return, Sally had been making queer little noises of delight deep in her soft throat. She had been involuntarily hunching her shoulders, too, and hugging herself—in delight. Her slim round arms ached strangely to press something under her girl-child breasts. She couldn't divine the impulse, but she gave it vicarious expression by tightening the beribboned cigarette tray to her. Delight. Purring delight. Delight with everything—with herself, Bob, Madame Leonine, these men who made such a silly fuss and said such silly things, certainly with Freddy and Arch for their having brought this Prince Charming; even with Mazie, who said such cruel things sometimes — things Sally never fully understood.

Sally preened and glowed, within and without; and tripped around on polished boards that had magically turned into roseate clouds, and felt realistically like the little princesses, the Cinderellas, in the fairy tale books of a childhood from which she had not wholly emerged. Indeed, what one of the familiar, dearly-beloved stories, of the books so lately closed by Sally Smith, had a Prince to compare with this handsome giant of a boy with—those eyes, that wavy hair!

Oh, the dance was over! He was escorting Mazie to a table. Sally Smith's heart pounded with a great womanly satisfaction to note that there was no grace, no artificial polish, in his manner of attendance upon his dancing partner. He was just a big, awkward boy.

And little Sally Smith grew bold—very bold. She pointedly held up a package of cigarettes toward him, while her cheeks deepened to the red of salvia petals and her eyes were shining stars.

Yes! He was diffidently, yet eagerly, nodding "yes"—as he stood there beside the table of Mazie, from whom, in the awkwardness of his entertaining technique, he had not yet parted himself.

Sally Smith went forward with outwardly bright determination, while in truth her dimpled little knees were knocking together under the boiling flare of her costume dress.

She was handing the package to him now—and looking into his eyes. And he was taking the package from her now—and looking into her eyes. By that uncanny seventh sight of first sight love, hand met packet. There was no telltale groping. But Mazie Revere saw, and sneered, nevertheless. Little enough that Mazie ever missed.

Sally wondered: were these cigarettes the kind Mr. Ward wanted?

Bob, without noticing what kind they were, avowed that they were exactly what he wanted. The kind he always smoked. If she had proffered him a packet of tenpenny horseshoe nails he would have sworn, in that moment, that they were exactly what he smoked!

Suddenly Bob remembered that if one purchased cigarettes, one was expected to pay for them. The red of his boyish shyness deepened into the flaming fire of awful embarrassment.

For Bob recollected, in some remote and unreal way, that he had but two bits in his pocket. The price of his carfare home, little more! No margin to squander on the luxury of fags.

"Maybe I'd better not smoke while—I'm working. Maybe the proprietress—err-r-r Madame Leonine, might not like it!" He was lame and unconvincing.

Sally, with the rare insight that has been a hundred centuries of sex in the perfecting, softly cut him short:

"Oh, the Madame won't mind!" Deftly she forestalled further objection by breaking the packet open, and extracting a cigarette with her delicately pointed fingers. Her slender fingers with their oval nails. "Here, take them. You can pay me tomorrow!"

Bob was defeated as much by his own sense of inadequacy, of failure to rise gallantly to a romantic occasion, as by the prim persuasiveness of her manner. As in a daze, he accepted the cagarettes. Her eyes were so caressing.

Mazie had to spoil things. Mazie, the worldly wise and worn. Mazie, the social Countess with the burlesque chorine's sense of fitness, of etiquette, and philosophy. Mazie—rolling her eyes in what she thought was oh! so wise and tricky a manner—said:

"Say, Sally, that's a great line of yours. Giving all those old bozoes fake numbers. But, on the level, kid—you're missing some great contacts. I always say—never miss a contact. You've got a gold mine, kid, in yours—if you'd only quit being a sap and a goose, and develop them!"

Sally Smith was quite bewildered. She did not clearly understand.

Bob austerely championed her; "I hope Miss Smith doesn't follow any such advice!"

The look Mazie Revere bent upon both of these youngsters was full of oldish contempt. It was on the tip of her Broadway crusted tongue to emphatically inform this young gallant that he was in a roadhouse, not a monastery. Only Madame Leonine came hustling over and aborted the welling speech.

BUDGET WORRY TO TORY PARTY

Conservative Leaders Anxious, Due To Indications of Discontent.

LONDON, April 4 (British United Press) — Conservative leaders are very perturbed at the many indications of dissatisfaction with Hon. Winston Churchill as chancellor of the exchequer, and Lord Younger, one of the most astute directors of the Tory party has admitted that it is difficult to please everybody. The campaign against Hon. Mr. Churchill over his budget is in full swing both inside and outside the Conservative ranks, and if he imposes any unpopular taxation there's certain to be a violent outcry. In fact the cabinet seem even more concerned about the chancellor's fate than it does about the crisis in China, and is regarding budget day with considerable apprehension.

The Liberals are predicting that the government won't last much longer and that dissolution is not far off.

Moreover, both Liberals and Labor are getting their respective organizations ready for a general election long before it is naturally due as neither know just when Premier Baldwin will take the plunge.

YOUNG FARMERS DEBATE VALUES

Discuss Relative Utility of Horse and Tractor on Farm.

REGULAR MEETING.

NORHAM, April 5. — The Junior Farmers' Improvement Association held its meeting on Thursday evening in the Council Chamber of the Town Hall, Warkworth. There was a splendid attendance of young men. This was the second meeting since the organization was formed, with Gordon McCubbin as President and John Goodfellow as Secretary and Treasurer. Five new members were added at the above meeting, bringing the total up to seventeen. This organization has the appearance of a going concern. The members seemed enthusiastic, and one proposed to have a meeting every two weeks instead of every month. This idea was discouraged, at least for the present, as it was thought wise to get well established before launching out too [illegible]. The membership fee is 25c.

It was moved by Arthur Menelley and seconded by Reggie McCann and unanimously carried, that the society put a team in the Junior Farmers' Softball League, which will include teams from Wooler, Castleton, Burnbrae, and perhaps other places.

Walter H. Smith, Agricultural Representative for this district, was present and displayed some very fine moving pictures on how to judge and cut up the carcases of lambs and swine, and plucking chickens, judging livestock at Lempville Fair, and a few of domestic science students at work baking and trimming hats. One reel was shown of the livestock judging at the Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto; also a comic one of a chap who lived a little fast and wanted money from his father to see him through, and who tried to fool his dad, but got caught.

The outstanding feature of the above meeting was a debate, "Resolved, that the horse has a greater economic part on the farm than the tractor." The affirmative was upheld by Ewart Huycke and Arthur Menelly and the negative by Hayden Newman and Reggie McCann. The judges who awarded the victory to the negative by four points were G. A. Purcell, of Brighton, John Goodfellow and Arthur Wartman.

The next meeting is to be held on April 28. The programme will include a debate, "Resolved, that the local agricultural fairs are a benefit to the community." Arthur Wartman will lead the affirmative and John Goodfellow the negative. The other members of the society are to study both sides of the subject and will be chosen the night of the meeting on one side or other and given three minutes to speak.

Following are some of the points made by the speakers on Thursday night:

Ewart Huycke, in favor of the horse, said: "Profit from use of horses comes to farmers, while that from tractor goes often even out of Canada. The horse is more cheaply produced, comparatively speaking. Compared with a tractor, a horse lasts longer, and can be put to a greater variety of uses. It is more easily managed. The profit from upkeep of horses goes to farmers. A horse does not depreciate in value so rapidly. Less experience is necessary to handle the horse."

Haydon Newman, supporting the use of the tractor, said: "A farmer can sell grain and hay and buy fuel for tractor. Tractor has much greater serving power. With it work is more quickly done, assuring better crops. Its use saves hiring power to thresh, saw wood and fill silos. The exhaust can be used to kill woodchucks which destroy much grain. Needs no care in winter like the horse."

Arthur Menelley, uphold the horse said: "Repairs for tractor are hard to get and there is much loss time while waiting for them to arrive. The horse can be easily trained to do work without a driver, such as work on the hay-fork, unloading grain or hay. The horse is valuable from the breeding standpoint. It can be worked on hills. A young man can use it to drive his sweetheart around."

Reggie McCann, for the tractor, said: "Cost of harness must be considered, which will bring the initial cost up to that of a tractor. Tractor needs no bringing up out of the pasture in the morning or cleaning and feeding at noon hour or when the day's work is done. Work can be done cheaper per acre. On rainy days a tractor costs nothing, while a horse must be fed. A tractor does not cost in winter and saves a veterinary bill. It is no trouble at nights, while horses are often sick and demand great care. The tractor does not require rest on hot days like horses."

Ewart Huycke, in closing the debate, quoted from the experience of practical farmers who had owned tractors, but who had gone back to the use of the horse.

Canadians Offered Use of U.S. Air Mail

WASHINGTON, D.C., April 5—(Canadian Press.)— Prepayment in Canadian stamps of the special fee of 10 cents for the United States' air mail service will be arranged for Canadians if there is any demand for the service. Discussing informally the extension of the U. S. air mail to Canadian mail matter, Postmaster-General New stated here that he saw no reason why Canada could not be given some arrangement whereby Canadian stamps could be used for the extra 10 cents postage on matter to be transported by air. At present, while the ordinary postage of two cents can be prepaid in Canadian stamps, it is necessary to buy United States' stamps to prepay the extra fee. It is understood that Canadian authorities have not asked for such an arrangement. No figure could be obtained here as to the number of letters being sent by people in Canada by the air mail route which now operates from coast to coast in the United States and is said to save from one to two days on ordinary postal routes.

Heart Palpitation Dizzy, Sinking Spells

Mrs. M. A. Gagnon, Donatville, Alta., writes:—"Some time ago I was very nervous, could not sleep at night, often had dizzy, sinking spells and palpitation of the heart, and was so run down I could not do my housework, but just leave everything and sit down.

I spent a lot of money using medicine from the doctor, but it did not do me any good.

At last a friend told me to use MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS and after using a couple of boxes I was not the same woman. I began to feel so much better, and after a few more boxes I was in perfect health. I always recommend them to all those I know who are suffering from heart trouble."

THE SESSION OVER.

The first session of the seventeenth assembly was formally closed this afternoon when Hon. W. D. Ross, Lieutenant-Governor, gave the royal assent to the numerous bills passed during the session and prorogued the Legislature.

It has been a business-like and quickly-moving session, the credit for which must be shared between the Government for having a majority of its bills ready for an early introduction and the Opposition for co-operating in keeping affairs moving and refusing to indulge in obstructive tactics.

The result has been that the legislators are through their tasks in splendid time, and the usual spectacle of galloping through business at the eleventh hour has been avoided.

While the liquor control bill was the most important piece of legislation passed and occupied chief place in public attention, there were several other noteworthy measures, such as Hon. Wm. Finlayson's reforestation bill, Hon. G. S. Henry's bills amending the Highway Traffic Act and taking control of commercial public vehicles, and numerous bills by way of consolidation and amendment, brought in as a result of recommendations from the Statute Revision Committee.

TOO MANY LAWS.

J. B. Williams, the City Solicitor of Vancouver, has discovered that more than 14,000 "Thou shalt nots" have been written into the statute books of Canada.

That is going a long way from the Ten Commandments!

And the worst of it is, that legislators are ever busily engaged in passing more.

We have, of course, got to speed up a lot faster than we have been going to catch up to our friends in the United States, where they have solved to a remarkable degree of effectiveness the problem of making ten laws grow where only one grew before, and where in some States at least they aim at regulating everything from the length of women's skirts to the tip to be given the waiter.

But we are not doing too badly for nine million people—14,000 laws and a whole army of legislators trying to think up new ones.

That we could do without half of these regulations goes without saying; they'd never be missed except by the lawyers, and they would still have enough left to give them a profitable field in which to operate.

If some day there appears in the public life of this country a statesman who will make a real effort to eliminate the unnecessary laws on our statute books and simplify those which are needed, we should erect a statue of him in every municipality in the Dominion.

BLOWING THEIR HORNS.

People who like to play tunes on their motor horns are beginning to find the going a trifle hard in St. Thomas, where the authorities are strangely cold to such attempts to produce harmony out of something that was never intended for such purposes.

Recently an automotive dealer who advertised the arrival of a fleet of new cars by a procession in which the noise-making properties of the horns was displayed very effectively, was called into the police station and warned against such noise method of introducing his new stock.

At the same time a warning was issued to bridal parties that the successful culmination of the pursuit race must not be celebrated by a motor horn sonata.

It is to be hoped the local police will not be so hard to get along with.

Just now, with our street cars in the barn, a little noise from motor horns is necessary to keep the downtown section awake.

But we haven't the slightest objection to a campaign against the individual who summons his lady fair with an auto horn instead of climbing out of the car and in the old-fashioned way using the door bell.

The fellow who pulls up in front of the home of the girl friend and disturbs the whole neighborhood by fifteen-second salutes on his motor horn, while the other half of the sketch is putting into effect the paint company's slogan, "Save the surface and you save all," deserves attention.

FAITH IN CANADA.

When Hon. W. A. Buchanan was appointed to the Senate The Examiner declared that his selection was a splendid one, and his speech here yesterday confirmed our opinion that more men of his type are needed in public life.

Brought up in Ontario and having spent over twenty years in the West, Senator Buchanan understands the problems of the Prairie Provinces and at the same time is fully aware of the viewpoint of the East.

He is able to think in terms of Canada as a whole—a process that is by no means easy for a large number of public men whose vision terminates at the Provincial boundary, if it does not indeed come to an end at the border of their own constituencies.

Senator Buchanan's address to the Rotary Club in which he emphasized the necessity of Canadians seeing more of their own country, and of having more faith and confidence in themselves and in the natural resources of the Dominion, was a tonic.

In this year of Canada's diamond jubilee we can stand a lot of that same kind of practical patriotism, and perhaps an interchange of speakers by which Eastern manufacturers could talk to prairie farmers and Western grain growers could present their case to Eastern hearers, would be about as effective a way of making the celebration stand for something that could be devised.

THE CASE FOR THE FARM.

It is safe to say that Ontario has never had a more popular Minister of Agriculture than the Hon. John S. Martin. The Norfolk County poultry king is handling an important job in a big way. He enjoys public confidence and has made good. Mr. Martin is from the country and he knows the needs of the country. He believes, also, that the youth of the Province must be "sold" on the advantages and benefits of rural life.

Agriculture has always been looked upon and is Canada's basic industry. For this reason it is rather a shock to learn—as mentioned by Mr. A. E. Warren in his Windsor address this week—that agriculture is no longer in first place as far as national receipts are concerned. It has been passed by the manufacturing industry. What is the reason for this? It is found to a large extent, of course, in the development of the automobile and the paper industry. But another reason is the trek from the farms. The young men have been leaving the rural spaces of Canada in large numbers. The lure of the city with its apparent ease and luxury has been too strong. In many cases, the farmers themselves have been to blame for the departure of their sons.

Mr. Martin believes that we should spend some time in pointing out to youth that it need not go beyond the farm in order to find an attractive and lucrative calling. We must show the young men, the Minister told the Legislature, that money is being made on the farms, and that there are opportunities there that he should thoroughly investigate before deciding to leave the country and go to the city. And Mr. Martin is right, of course. For the sake of Canada generally and our own Province particularly it is imperative that the march from the farms be halted. The situation today is one of too many people in the cities and too few in the country. This is a condition that, in the national interest, should be righted. It is not possible, of course, nor desirable, to say to this man or that, "You cannot come to the city. You must remain on the farm. It is so decreed by the Government whose knowledge is superior to your own." No, the way to right the condition is the way that Mr. Martin has suggested, a well thought out campaign to "sell" the farm idea to men and women, boys and girls.

Through this form of work much can be accomplished. Practical examples can be furnished to show the superior advantages of life in the country—from the standpoint of finance, health, pleasure and contentment. Many farmers can be induced to take a different attitude toward their children and to use different methods to keep them at home. For instance, the boy growing up on the farm has often left home in order to secure independence. He wanted to feel that he had a job and that he was being paid for the work he did. At home he had no such feeling. Despite his labors he was stamped as dependent on his parents. Sometimes he was given spending money, but often grudgingly. Some farmers, of course, have taken the opposite attitude. When their boys reached a certain size they were made to feel that they were partners in an enterprise. Their advice was sought, their opinions asked, their responsibility defined. This sort of attitude on the part of their fathers was helpful. The other simply intensified the lures of the city and made the boys anxious to get away as rapidly as possible.

Another big factor in the success of any campaign to keep the boys on the farm and to persuade many who have left, to return, is the drastic change that has taken place in rural conditions during the last ten or fifteen years. Nowhere is this more true than in our own Ontario. Not long ago life on a farm was a life of isolation. Today, the city has been brought to the farm and the farm to the city. Good roads, automobiles, radios, electric power, telephones, more labor-saving machinery and other devices have served to make an agricultural career something to be welcomed rather than avoided. The great loneliness of the past, so far as Ontario is concerned, has been largely swept away.

Another potent argument lies in the independence of the farmer as compared with the average city dweller. Men who have lived in both town and country can testify as to this. There is no question, also, that the country is much the better environment in which to rear children. It is healthier, safer and better from a moral standpoint.

If Mr. Martin, in his capacity as Minister of Agriculture, can "sell" Ontario on the advantages of farm life, and induce more people to remain in the country and still more to return to it, he will have done something big and decidedly worth while for his Province and for his country.—Border Cities Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

To the multitude of such weeks has been added in Peterborough's case a "Walk-to-Work" week.

A man who can drive down town these days with an empty rear seat in his car must be made of stern stuff.

At least, one local man thinks there is something fishy about Peterborough's new market bylaw.

It wouldn't be quite so bad if all the district papers refrained from referring to our defunct transportation system as the "Toonerville Trolley."

Evidence before the Royal Commission investigating the customs administration indicates that considerable liquor is being consumed in Ontario. But surely no Royal Commission was necessary to establish that fact.

The street railway situation is just another proof of the truth of the old saying, "We never miss the water," etc.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Que., April 5 (Canadian Press)—The export business in grain in Montreal and at United States seaboard ports with foreign buyers over the week-end was very disappointing and the market was quiet. There was some demand from local exporters for Duluth No. 1 Northern Wheat and odd purchases were made at 12 1-2c per bushel over the May option, C. I.F. Montreal, and No. 2 Northern was offered at ten cents per bushel over. The domestic trade in coarse grains was also of a limited character, but prices were unchanged.

The local and export trade in spring and winter wheat grades of flour continued inactive, but the undertone was steady.

A fair amount of business was done in all lines of millfeed and prices were unchanged. The trade in standard grades of rolled oats was quiet, and values ruled steady.

Owing to the continued liberal supplies of eggs and the fact that supplies are now in excess of the daily requirements, the undertone to the market was easy, but there was no important change in prices. The receipts were 3,547 cases.

The market for potatoes was without any new feature to note, business being quiet with car lots of Quebec varieties selling at $1.10 to $1.15 per bag of ninety pounds in bulk, ex-track.

The feature of the butter trade was the easier feeling that developed in the market and prices scored a decline in spite of the fact that supplies were still short. The season for the new make is now at hand and several lots were received to-day of fresh made Eastern townships No. 1 pasteurized creamery butter which sold readily at 46 1-2c to 47 1-2c per pound. The receipts were 908 packages.

The condition of the market for cheese was unchanged, business being still dull in all directions. The receipts were 44 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, April 5 (Canadian Press) — Setbacks in the price of wheat formed the rule yesterday, largely as a result of highly promising domestic crop conditions except in Western Kansas alone. Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled, 5-8c to 1 1-8c net lower; with corn unchanged to 1-4c off; oats unchanged to 1-8c up, and provisions showing 2 to 20 cents decline.

Wet weather delayed field work, tending to steady the corn market and so likewise did 1,086,000 bushels decrease of the visible supply. Oats were in good demand from shippers.

SAY THEY CAN'T LEARN.

Dear Sir,—The South-End Club presents its compliments to The Examiner and would respectfully say that no one can learn games from newspapers and no one reads them because they can't do it. We can only learn from experts who can teach us, and at the same time answer questions which we want to ask. It is an awful waste of perfectly good space.

WOOLER NEWS.

WOOLER, April 5.—Maple Syrup making has been the most interesting and profitable industry during the last few weeks. The men begin, by going out with brace and bit to bore the hole in the maple tree and immediately wedge in the spile. And these spiles hold the sap-buckets. These buckets are made of tin, uniform in shape and will hold ten quarts of sap, and need a great deal of care to prevent rusting. The outside of the buckets may be painted. The syrup making season requires frosty nights and warm bright days, and on an average the buckets of sap may be emptied twice a day. The large maple groves have the evaporators to boil the sap and great care is taken in the cleansing and straining to have the syrup the proper color and thickness, which adds to the flavor.

The last boiling of the syrup is when the friends are invited to the "bush" and enjoy the sugar making, in other words "Sugar off." This is a rare treat, as maple sugar cannot retain its flavor after molded and put away. And it is considered a great privilege to be invited to a sugar making party.

LINES WRITTEN ON AN APRIL DAY IN THE COUNTRY

By W. D. Packwood.

Long dreary winter now is past,
No longer skies are overcast,
Nor feel we now the north winds blast,
For glorious spring is here at last.

'Tis April now, the month of showers,
When tiny leaves and wayside flowers,
Do 'ope again, 'mid nature's bowers,
And ewe lambs bask in sunny hours.

Soon merry May will gladden all,
And soon we'll hear the cuckoo's call,
And nightingale 'ere dusk doth fall,
With sweetest song again enthrall.

The countryside with blossom gay,
Will soon be out in glad array,
Soon birds will nest and sing their lay,
All nature smiles, when it is May.

O! lovely Spring, thy season brings
All these wonderous, beauteous things,
The skylark soaring upward sings,
And all in nature, praises rings.

'Tis man alone by worldly ties,
Too often bound, forgets to prize,
Who heeding only, selfish cries,
Sees not the best that nearest lies.

A HALL OF HEALTH

An interesting exhibit is now being completed at the Smithsonian Institution in Washington. This exhibit shows the great advancements made in hygienic living conditions since the time of the early cliff-dwellers.

An effort is made to show how increased sanitary conditions have increased the span of life. The exhibit has not been completed entirely, but a great deal has been completed in the last three years. The plan for the development of this "Hall of Health" was first developed at the Convention of the National Health Council.

One of the exhibits shows the cliff-dwellers living in their dirty houses with apparently no idea of sanitation. The average span of life of these people was seventeen years.

Then, there is another model of an Indian wigwam. The Indians lived a more healthful life than the cliff-dwellers and had a better idea of sanitation. Consequently, their average length of life was a great deal more than that of the unsanitary cliff-dellers.

The log cabin of the early American pioneers furnishes material for another exhibit. These cabins of our forefathers were cleaner than the Indian wigwam but still the early white settlers did not understand how to separate the drainage from outhouses and barns so as to keep it away from their wells. The average length of life of these pioneers was less than thirty years.

The last model shown is a modern house with all the latest sanitary surroundings. This home contains modern heating, lighting, plumbing and improved cooking methods with sanitar, refrigeration for food. The plan is to show that the average span of life, which is fifty-eight years at the present time, can be attributed, in a large measure, to the fact that we are now living in such hygienic surroundings.

I hope the fact will be emphasized that hygienic living and sanitary surroundings are responsible for this increased life span, and that no one will believe the theory that it is because we know more about antiseptics for killing germs.

Cleanliness is truly next to godliness, and those who can keep themselves clean inside and outside of the body need never be afraid of contracting infectious or contagious diseases.

Keep your yard and your house clean, but be sure to use still more care in body cleanliness.

DR. FRANK CRANE'S DAILY EDITORIAL.

MICE

By Dr. Frank Crane.

Out from a lake region near Bakersfield armies of mice began to invade the surrounding country.

All the resources of the inhabitants were summoned to contend with them.

They came not in hundreds, but in millions. People dug trenches and filled them with poison grain. Many of the mice died, but their brothers kept right on.

The United States government has been appealed to for aid.

Man is always in combat with the little folk from microbes to mice and to maintain his place upon the earth. It would seem as though human beings had enough trouble fighting the insects and other small creatures without fighting each other.

Yearly the crops in various districts are menaced by pests of one kind or another and human ingenuity is taxed to the utmost to contend with them. It is a well accepted theory that most of the diseases incident to humanity arise from microscopic organism and scientists are constantly on the watch for other organisms to combat them.

The study of the entomology of the mouse world and micro-organisms is not a useless and ornamental study alone, but has very practical bearings.

Mice along with mosquitos and flies are natural enemies of mankind. They must be kept in check or they will destroy the human race.

Of course mice and other "such small deer" should not be tortured, but any plan to exterminate them mercifully and quickly should be encouraged.

Nature "red in tooth and claw" makes them the prey of birds and other animals. Somehow nature preserves the balance in her realm.

Any species of small animals if left alone would speedily overrun the earth. The shad if allowed to breed and hatch without limitation would soon fill up the ocean. Their multiplicity is only kept down because they are the prey of other creatures.

Swat the fly, kill the mosquito and exterminate the mice.

This should be the program of men if they wish to retain their position on the earth. It is a mere matter of self defense. Unless we destroy these small creatures they will destroy us.

CARPENTIER READY TO FIGHT DELANEY

Would Accept Offer of Bout —Not Through With Boxing.

PARIS, April 5.—(Canadian Press.)—Questioned concerning a report that Floyd Fitzsimmons had made him an offer to meet Jack Delaney, light heavyweight champion, Georges Carpentier declared: "I certainly will accept a bout with Delaney." Although going on the stage, Carpentier declared that did not imply that he would box no more. He intimated his return to the ring would be in the United States next season.

CLEAR WATER NEAR HIAWATHA

Many Open Places in Rice Lake—Warm Rain Would Ruin Ice.

MEN PLAN CROSSING.

HIAWATHA, April 5. — The Otonabee River is now open to its mouth. The clear water is also showing out as far as Spook Island.

Wild ducks, tame geese and gulls are swimming in the lake south of the Hiawatha dock, over the remains of the old railroad bed. Open water there extends over one-half a mile.

West and south Tick island ice has disappeared.

Several men are planning to cross over in a boat the week-end after Easter Monday, as they think by then that the lake will be free of floating ice.

All that is needed now is a long warm rain and with it some thunder, to take the frost out of the ice.

A strong wind then will finish the work of clearing the lake.

DEALERS FIGHT FORD GROCERIES

Protest Results in Closing of Comissaries To General Public.

PRICES QUOTED.

DETROIT, April 5. — Henry Ford went out of the grocery business, at least so far as the general public of Detroit is concerned, last night.

After a hectic meeting of a thousand retail merchants in Hotel Statler had verbally bombarded the Ford plan from every angle, and and raked his selling schemes fore and aft, G. N. Staples, manager of the Ford commissaries, arose suddenly and announced that Mr. Ford would close the commissaries to the general public at once.

Merchants Up In Arms.

The assembled retailers went wild. They represented some 3,000 members of the Michigan Retail Merchants' Association, who had called the meeting to protest against Ford selling to the public at large, declaring that they faced absolute ruin and that if Ford's scheme was carried out Detroit alone would lose more than a billion dollars in property values represented by whole retail districts that would be wiped out by Ford and other big manufacturers who might follow his example and establish commissaries for their employees and the public.

It was the dramatic sinking of a galleon of business enterprise that was floating in millions, according to the written admission of E. G. Liebold, Ford's general secretary, and whether the wreck will be raised later remains to be seen. However, Mr. Staples announced the commissaries are to be closed to the public, but will remain open as heretofore for all Ford employees.

Threats of a Boycott.

There had been threats of a boycott of Ford and his cars, of wholesalers who used Ford cars in deliveries, of all who did not actively oppose the Ford selling scheme.

E. J. Larose, Secretary of the association, gave some prices in which he declared Ford was selling articles at a retail price less than it cost the average retailer at wholesale. David A. Brown, chairman, also declared Ford was inconsistent in his business methods, asking why he did not sell Ford cars and Ford parts on the same basis, of 3 1-2 per cent. profit.

New Docks at Tilbury Will Cost 3¼ Millions

LONDON, April 5 — (Canadian Press).—At a cost of two and three-quarter millions the Port of London Authority is contructing new docks at Tilbury, which will provide facilities for the largest vessels now afloat, and allow ample margin for probably developments for many years to come.

The work is now well in hand, and about 1,000 men will be provided with work for four or five years. In addition to the dock improvements a fully equipped passenger landing stage in the river at Tilbury is being provided. This scheme includes a stage 1,140 feet long for landing of passengers from ferry-boats, excursion steamers, and ocean liners.

The railway company's station will be enlarged and will be connected with the landing stage by a covered way. The Customs baggage hall and annexe will be close at hand so that there will be the least possible delay in the disembarkation of passengers and their entraining for London.

In addition to the arrangements for passenger traffic there will be: A new entrance lock to Tilbury Dock, 1,000 feet long and 110 feet wide, with a depth of 45 ft. 6 in. below Trinity high water level, so that there will be room for a vessel much larger than the Majestic, which is the longest liner now afloat. A new dry dock 750 ft. long, 110 ft. wide and 37 ft. 6 in. deep below Trinity high water level.

Buffalo Mayor Says City Partly On Canadian Soil

BUFFALO, N.Y., April 4.—(Associated Press).—Many residents of the Niagara River front district of this city are trying to figure out whether Mayor Frank X. Schwab really meant what he said when he told a local reporter that a part of Buffalo in reality is on Canadian territory.

The Mayor's explanation is simple. The international boundary line is in the middle of the river and was when it was first agreed upon. He believes this centre has shifted westward in the course of time, and that what is now dry land on the United States side is west of the original boundary, which he asserts has not shifted.

Those who are taking the matter seriously wonder whether provisions in the new Ontario Liquor Control Act will apply to the section of the city west of the original boundary.

Chang Hsueh-Cheng, son of Marshal Chang Tso-Lin (in oval), is one of the latest of the northern generals to flee the land of rice and poppies for the safety of Japanese soil. As the fortunes of the Pekin Government and its tuchun adherents begin to crumble in the face of the steady advance of the National troops from the south, many of the generals, in fear of revenge and treachery are adopting a "safety first" policy and clearing out of the country. The photo at the right shows Chang Hsueh-Cheng arriving in Tokio with his wife, who is regarded as one of the most beautiful women in the erstwhile celestial kingdom. She has been called "Queen of the eastern provinces."

MAIL VOICE CHOIR PROGRAMME GOOD

Many Splendid Numbers Are Included—Noted Singer Assisting.

Next Friday evening the citizens will have an opportunity of hearing a musical programme of exceptional merit. In addition to the attractive numbers of the Male Voice Choir—including items grave and gay, majestic and light—there will appear Madame Holland, contralto, of Toronto, whose singing so greatly charmed the audience at St. Paul's Church on a recent occasion. Madame Holland is gifted with a powerful contralto voice of rare beauty and compass, and many will welcome her reappearance in the city on Friday next.

We understand Madame Holland will, by special request, repeat her rendition of Liddle's "Abide With Me", a number in which she appears at her best. She will also join the choir in the lilting chorus "The Beautiful Ship From Toyland."

ALL KINDS OF ALPHABETS.

China Has Largest Number of Letters and Uses Them All.

In the old days the first thing that children were taught in school was the alphabet, known as the A, B, C's. Then when the child learned to count the twenty-six letters, it had quite a good start on arithmetic.

Where would the beginner be after learning the Chinese alphabet? There are more than 200 letters in that, and the Chinese laundryman uses them all when we accuse him of a shortage in the weekly wash.

Next in size comes Sanskrit, the ancient Aryan language of the Hindus, with 44 letters; then Russian, 36; Persian, 31; Turkish, 28, and Spanish 27. Those with less than our 26 are French, 25; Greek, 24; Latin and Hebrew, each 22; Italian, 20; and Celtic, 17.

Get the New Universities Dictionary so that you may be sure that you are using every letter of our alphabet correctly. This volume contains all of the words necessary for everyday use — and more than the Chinese use ordinarily. The coupon in another column shows how to get this new dictionary.

Ridgetown Arms Police To War On Stray Dogs

RIDGETOWN, April 4.—Not a revolver in workable order is owned by the local police. Such was the striking tribute to the peacefulness of life locally that was brought out by a discussion in the Village Council. The Council thereupon empowered the chairman of the Police, Health and Market Committee to provide the Chief of Police with suitable revolvers. But in so doing members were at pains to make it clear that, in their opinion, revolvers were not indispensable to the preservation of peace in the community.

No; the firearms were needed, they said, to destroy the stray dogs so prevalent in the locality.

PLAY REPEATED.

The young people of Knox United Church repeated their play, entitled "Mother Mine," in the lecture hall of George Street United Church, on Friday evening last, under the auspices of the Onward Bible Class of George Street Church. There was a good attendance at the bright little play, and refreshments were served to the cast at the conclusion. Musical numbers between acts were given by the Sunday School orchestra, also by Mrs. T. E. Curvin, Miss Greta LeBarr and Miss Isabel Black, in vocal solos, and the Misses Trethewey, in banjo and guitar duetts.

Theatres

AT THE REGENT.

VIVID THEATRE TALE OPENS AT REGENT

Packed with realism, humanness, touches of alternating comedy and pathos, "An Affair of the Follies" opened at the Regent last night as a distinct screen hit.

Billie Dove is cast as a chorus dancer who marries a fifty-dollar-per-week clerk and relinquishes her career for life in a cottage—or a flat.

The play retains a situation which caused the original short story to be cited as one of the best of the year. Three men, the principals, lunch at adjoining tables in a chop house daily for months, without learning each others' names. An introduction might have averted the dramatic tangle of their lives, but it is not brought about until too late.

Intimate scenes of the Follies and of other phases, elaborate or simple, of New York life, lend realism as well as beauty, feminine pulchritude and fashion appeal, to "An Affair of the Follies." It is as wholesome as it is entertaining, and will be heartily enjoyed.

AT THE CAPITOL.

CLARA BOW IN "IT"

Elinor Glyn is a versatile lady. She has evidently more than one trick up her sleeve, when it comes to amusing and pleasing the reading and theatre-going public. Anyone who saw previous pictures directed by her might expect the sort of thing that was so apparent in her "Love's Blindness," a picture that escaped complete censorship by some miracle. There is a new word for this sort of thing, in literature or in drama. "Pornographic" is the descriptive appellation for anything that smacks strongly of sex in its ultra aspects. And it applied very beautifully to Elinor Glyn's work, up to the present. Now she comes along with a widely-advertised affair "It," and makes it happily innocuous in the extreme. There was a large crowd at the Capitol Theatre last evening. Probably some were disappointed..

"It" is a "cute" picture. That overworked word describes it quite well. Although the intangible quality of "It" which she declares is such a rare possession, and might be likened to the virtue of patience, which is said to be "seldom possessed by man, and never by woman,"—although this attribute is not so directly noticeable in the lady of the picture as might be expected from advance notices, still she is a "potent" female, in the language of the youth of the day. She does nothing outrageous, however, thereby perhaps once more disappointing Madame Glyn's hitherto carefully catered-to audiences. The most terrible action on her part is the claiming of a baby as her own, which is really the child of her girl friend. She does this to save the infant from the clutches of "neighborhood workers" who are determined to take it from the mother's care. Then Monty, the gentleman whom she vamps to such an extent that he can do nothing but carry out her commands in goggle-eyed silence, relates the story of the child to his friend, who is, by the way, the object of Betty Lou's still-hunting activities. Cyrus Waltham, the hero, is played by Antonio Moreno in his usual admirable fashion. He continues loving the small possessor "It," even after such disclosures, and the affair winds up satisfactorily to all concerned, with the excention of Adela, the blonde damsel, who has waited patiently for six years for a declaration from Cyrus and who is destined to see herself pushed into the discard by the little shopgirl who has none of the blonde loveliness that gentlemen are said to prefer, but who defeats her rival in a neat way, notwithstanding.

"It" is highly amusing and distinctly entertaining. Abounding in comedy situations, the art of its hero and clever little star make it a delightful evening's entertainment. It is a distinct departure from Elinor Glyn's usual style, and on that account, perhaps, is refreshing and surprising. Its author, by the way, appears in one of the scenes in person.

Damsels attending the production of "It" may learn to get what they like from life if they will follow the example of the small Betty Lou Spence, the heroine. The lesson is plain. All a girl has to do is to become a saleslady in the establishment of a wealthy young man, attract the attention of the proprietor's closest male friend, vamp the last-named until he will do anything in the world to please her, then push the hero's lady-love into the background and annex him for herself.—Jeanette.

The new idea of an asylum is not that of a convenient locking-up place where the mentally unbalanced can be shut up and forgotten, but a hospital in which the erratic patient can often be won back to complete sanity by the exercise of humane and psychological methods. Dr. Ryan, recently appointed director of the mental hospitals conducted by the Ontario Government has made wonderful improvements during his regime at Rockwood, the mental institution situated on Lake Ontario, just outside of the city of Kingston (shown above).

SHEEP AND HOGS SHOW INCREASE

But U. S. Produces Fewer Horses and Cattle During 1926.

NET GAIN SHOWN.

WASHINGTON, April 5th (Canadian Press).—The United States produced more sheep and hogs and fewer horses and cattle in 1926. The net increase in all livestock was 339,000 head or two-tenths of one per cent over 1925.

This increase in total numbers resulted from an increase of 2,045,000 head of sheep and 481,000 head of swine. There was a decrease in cattle of 1,627,000 head and in milk cows of 324,000 head, while horses decreased 561,000 head. Mules stubbornly maintained their reputation and showed no change.

The total value of all farm animals in the United States on Jan. 1 last, is estimated at $5,076,805,000, a slight but steady increase over previous years.

SHORT STORY

By P. B., Millbrook.

Mrs. Walker sat before a glowing grate fire in the large living-room of her daughter-in-law's home, and her grandson, Robert Walker, though but a boy in his twelfth year, stood in the archway leading from the hall and admired the picture he saw in living reality, and repeated in the gilt-framed mirror over the mantel.

A grandmother of the old-fashioned type, Mrs. Walker wore a dress of lustrous black silk which rustled when she walked, a fine lace collar pinned with a large cameo brooch, and as Robert well knew, under the glass on its reverse side were two locks of hair intertwined—one black, and one of a fairer hue—the brooch being a gift from her deceased husband in their early courting days, the braided locks from his own, and his sweetheart's head—being a custom of the time when a betrothal took place.

On her white hair she wore a snowy cap with tiny pleats forming its crown, a narrow, pleated frill about its edge, and tiny satin bows of lavender ribbon completing its adornment.

The steel knitting-needles, plied by her blue-veined hands, gleamed in the light of the electrolier and the firelight, as the soft, white, wooly thing she was making grew under her deft fingers. Her small feet, encased in slippers of finest, black kidd, rested on the big, white bearskin which formed the rug before the grate.

Flying down the stairs in true, school girl fashion, came Robert's sister, Margaret, two years his junior, and dropped breathlessly on the bearskin beside her grandmother's chair.

"Why, granny, you've got my nightingale almost finished, haven't you?" she exclaimed; "will you finish it with a blue edge and trim it with blue ribbon bows?"

"O never mind the nightingale, sis, if that's what you call it. I say, granny, both Margaret and I have to bring valentines to school on Monday; each scholar has to bring one for someone else, and put them in a big box we've got trimmed up. Do you suppose mother would help with ours?"

Just then Mrs. Walker, junior, entered the room. She had been out to some afternoon affair, and wore a dress of soft, black crepe over a white satin slip, a rope of carefully matched pearls about her neck, and a shoulder knot of tiny, white satin flowers, centred with mauve.

There was, as always, an air of detached dignity about her which seemed, at times, to keep even her own children at a distance, though her affection for them was deep-rooted, and of this fact they were well aware. Her bobbed hair of a reddish tinge, which was reflected in her daughter's short curls, and her slim figure, helped in retaining her youthful appearance; she had but recently passed her forty-fifth birthday.

"Had a good time, mother?" questioned Robert, and Margaret cried impulsively, "Mother's been giving a paper this afternoon at the musical club, I know; that's why she looks so tired. My, I wish tea was ready, I'm starving. Aren't you hungry, mother?"

Their mother smiled rather absently at her eager children; there was noticeably dark circles under her eyes this night, and the straight lines between her brows were unusually deep cut.

The silver chimes of the dinner-gong rang out as she answered:

"No, dear; we had lunch at Mrs. Scott's. But roll back the folding doors, Robert; Katie evidently has the supper ready."

The dining-room was large, with massive mahogany furniture, for this had been her late husband's father's home, and it was built on the substantial, and spacious scale in which men of wealth provided residences for their families two generations ago.

A cheerful wood fire burned in the wide fire-place, its wire fender set to catch the flying sparks, and the light shone softly on gleaming china and the solid silver tea urn and service tray, with the other appointments of a well-laid, and well-supplied table.

The meal was proceeding rather silently when Robert broke in, "Mother, Monday is St. Valentine's Day, you know, and at school we have a big box trimmed up for a post office. Everyone of us has to bring at least one valentine to put in for someone else—"

His mother's face had grown an ashy gray color, and the circles under her eyes were like wide splashes of ink; her hands and her voice shook as she interrupted in tense tones:

"Robert, on pain of my severest displeasure, never let me hear either you, or Margaret, mention that word valentine again—" and unable to finish her sentence she left the table abruptly, walked swiftly from the room, up the stairs, where they heard her door close sharply.

The two children looked frightened, and their grandmother, whose hearing was at times quite poor, though she had no clear idea of what had passed, was visibly distressed.

"Why, what happened to your mother, children? What did you say, Robert?"

"We don't know, granny," Margaret almost whispered, the nervous tears slipping down her cheeks; "Robert just began to tell about St. V——"

She couldn't say the word, but they managed to make their grandmother understand enough of what had occurred, and as even the children's healthy appetites seemed to have vanished, the three soon adjourned to the rug before the grate once more.

They were listening somewhat soberly to a story they loved to have their grandmother tell of a trip she and her husband had once taken to the Orient, when their mother came downstairs again about nine o'clock. Mrs. Walke, was still looking white and strained but made no allusion to what had passed at the tea table, saw her children to bed presently, kissed them each good-night, chatted a while with the grandmother, saw her safely to her room, the lights out, and the house silent, and then, crouched before the grate fire in her dressing-room, lived again through the events of a twelvemonth before.

Clearly to her mind came the remembrance of the subdued sounds in the home, the smell of drugs, her husband lying on the bed in his room yonder, slipping fast into the valley of the shadows. The silver-haired, family doctor, his elbows on his knees and his chin resting on his clasped finger tips, gave directions occasionally to the white-capped nurse for such ministry to the patient as could be of use when the end was so near. In vivid reality she saw herself cross the sick room, and slip to her knees by her husband's bedside.

Suddenly, as she watched him longingly, hoping intensely for some word or sign of recognition before he should go, his eyes opened, the lines of suffering and weakness faded as if my magic, a great, glad light illumined his whole face, and reaching out his hands, and even raising himself up a little, he uttered one radiant cry, "Annie," and slipped back upon his pillow, his spirit passing with the beckoning vision he had seen. His wife's name was Francis.

All through that night she had brooded, as now, before her fire, that one cry, "Annie," eloquent of an undying love, eating like a live coal into her heart and brain.

This then explained that strange wall in his inner heart she had so often come up against with a sense almost of despair, and had never seemed able to break down. Robert Walker had been a model husband, proud of her as the mother of his children, and the mistress of his stately home. He had given an unceasing and chivralrous care and affection, and yet always, always, she had been baffled by the consciousness that there was one door within his life before which she was abruptly halted, and for which she had never been able to find the key.

Now she knew; his real love had occupied that sacred shrine. "Annie"—who was she? Would she ever find out? Remembering that radiant voice and look, a great surge of black hatred rolled up within her.

It was for this, then, she told herself bitterly, that she had borne him children, loved him, given herself for nineteen years in unstinted service and devotion. To be so humiliated at the very last—she had noted the significant look which passed between the doctor and nurse when that glad cry passed her husband's lips. Perhaps Doctor Fenton knew of this early love, but pride sealed her lips against any questions.

While the casket lay in state in the drawing-room, in the early morning hours, she had gone boldly to his dressing-room and deliberately searched his private key-ring until she found one to fit the drawer in his chiffonier which he had always kept locked. She had somehow gained the impression that its contents were papers of value; now she would know. Opening the drawer, she found it contained but a shallow, cardboard box, shiny of surface, and lifting the lid, a valentine of the raised and lacy description popular in Robert Walker's young manhood days, was disclosed. A sweet-faced girl, with fair hair, and a smile upon her lips, looked back at her from its heart-shaped centre. On the back a flap lifted and she read the note:

"Dearest Robert,

"I am so happy in knowing of your love; your 'whole hearts' unfailing devotion as your letter tells me. You shall have your answer in person at the Saint Valentine's ball to-morrow evening. I will be there, masked, and dressed as Kate Greenaway, and I shall know you by the cavalier's suit you have described to me.

Lovingly yours,
Annie."

In her fierce jealousy and anger she tore the lacy thing to shreds, carried box and all to the fire in her room, and with set lips and a cruel satisfaction, had watched them consume to ashes.

Glancing by chance at the calendar over her desk she had noted the date, February 14, St. Valentine's Day, and felt she would hate it to the grave and beyond.

So this was why Robert had insisted upon naming their first baby girl that lived 'Annie.' They had been married morethan five years before any children came to their house, and twin babies had been their first-born, but the boys had died at birth, and the girl's tiny life had followed within the week.

She had agreed to his choice of a name but had urged "Margaret" also, after his mother, and her husband had acquiesced, but almost from the first 'Nancy was what the happy little mortal had come to be called. She was grimly determined there would be a change now.

The morning after the funeral, when she and the children were seated at the breakfast table, she had said sternly: "My daughter, it is my wish that you are never again to be called by that foolish name 'Nancy.' From now on we will use the name given you for your grandmother, 'Margaret'."

Dismay was on her little daughter's face. "But, mother, I like Nancy best" she began, when her mother broke in abruptly.

"It is my express command, Margaret; and Robert, you will remember at home and at school to call your sister by her other name. I will tell your grandmother of the change, and write a note to your teacher to-day, asking her to tell the other pupils before you return to school on Monday."

And there was something so really terrible in her look, and her determined air, they had not dared to question her, nor had they ever in her presence actually slipped again into using the old name.

She had locked her door against all intrusion, answering only such questions, and giving such orders as were necessary, and had not once gone to look at the corpse until the night before the funeral, when all the household except herself had retired. Then she had gone reluctantly and looked upon the face of the man she had loved truly, only to be so keenly stabbed in the end.

Flowers, flowers, everywhere; the heavy perfume was stifling. Robert Walker had been a highly respected resident, belonging to a pioneer family and having a standing in the business and civic life of the city which was without a stain.

As she stood by the casket and turned the light of the floor lamp full on, the hate in her heart flamed up again, for even in death the face retained something of the glad radiance which had transfigured it with that cry of the loved name, "Annie." Her eyes were like steel points, and she seemed encased in ice, as without one tear, or one softened feeling, she snapped off the light, and returned with heavy heart and step to her own room. Then for the first time she broke down, and sobbed in utter abandon until exhaustion overtook her. These were the only tears she had shed.

From that day to this she had shut up the whole affair in her own heart, and though it haunted her often, especially in the night watches, she resolutely refused to open the door of memory and recall the details of the numbing experience of sorrow and despair.

The tardy dawn was beginning to appear in the wintry sky as the tortured mind kept rehearsing the scenes of those days of anguish which her boy's reference to St. Valentine's Day, and the fact that it was the anniversary of her husband's death, had brought back with cruel suddenness and vividness.

Impelled by something she could not define, she suddenly walked over to her husband's bureau, fitted again the key to the lock of the fateful drawer and opened it. It was empty, as she knew, but she absently lifted the paper which covered its bottom, and her fingers grasped feverishly the plain, unsealed envelope which lay underneath. Opening it with trembling haste she took out a newspaper clipping dated over twenty years before, telling of the death by drowning, in a canoe accident on the Saginaw River, Quebec, of Annie Farncomb, in her twenty-first year. She had been the guest of relatives that June, it appeared, and it was at a picnic party the tragedy had occurred. "The saddest feature of the accident," the account read, "lies in the fact that Miss Farncomb was to have been married the next week to Mr. Robert Walker, a rising young business man of Hamilton, Ontario."

On the sheet of notepaper in which the clipping was folded, her husband had written in pencil, evidently while his grief was quite fresh. "Annie, Annie, my little valentine; my own dear love. With you, in your watery grave, goes the first and finest of my heart's devotion. Never may any other take your place, and when it comes my turn to pass I pray that you, dear one, will be near me at the last, and the first to welcome me to whatever lies beyond."

Francis Walker was of a nature to give her whole self to the one she loved; every word of these pencilled lines burned itself into her heart and mind as she consigned to the flames envelope and all, just as she had the valentine and its box twelve month's before.

Well, it was all over now. She must give herself unreservedly to her children; they at least were left her. Even this foolish intolerance of valentines she must root up for their sakes. She must have help from a Higher Source, she realized that as she knelt with her head buried in the cushion of the low chair before the fire, and prayed for strength to go on, for a less bitter hate, and a less unforgiving spirit.

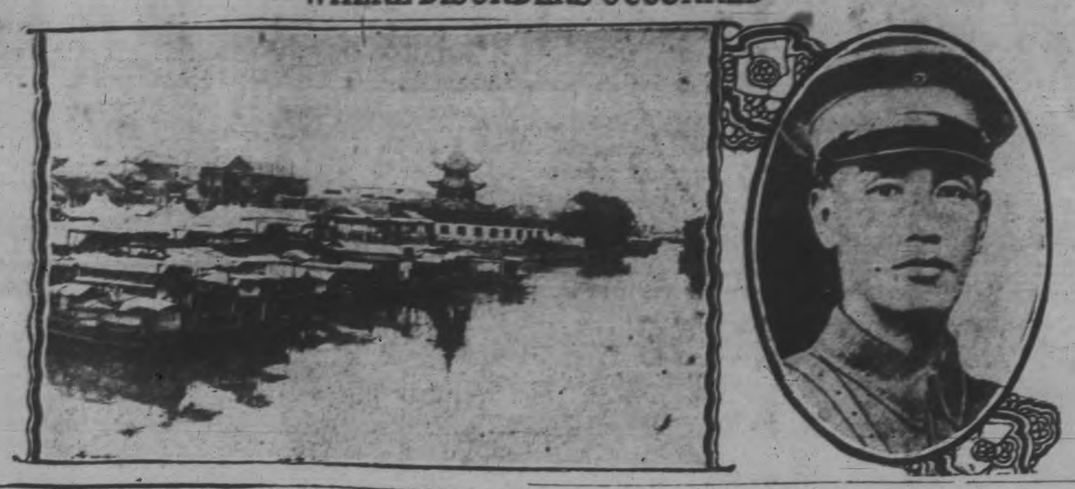
At the breakfast table, two hours later, immaculate as ever, covering the pallor of the night's vigil with a touch of rouge, she was waiting when Robert and his sister came in; as she kissed them good-morning it caused her a sharp pang to notice that their young faces were still clouded from the remembrance of the scene the evening before.

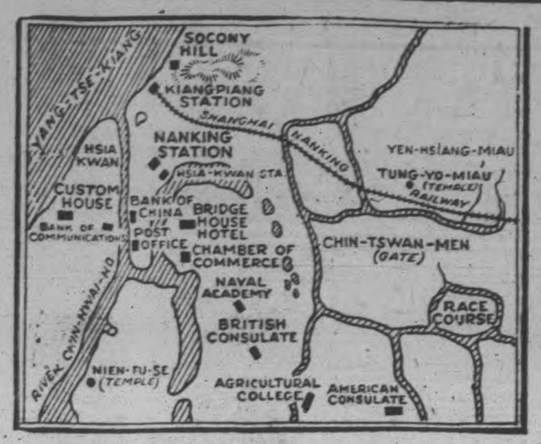
No human being would ever know what it cost her to say presently, holding her self to a brave smile the while:

"Robert, I am afraid I was rather harsh last evening about the valentine scheme you and Margaret are interested in with your school chums. We will drive downtown about ten o'clock and you may each choose whatever number you need at Hudson's. Then you can address them this afternoon, and have them all ready for Monday morning. What do you think of my plan?"

The glad smiles, and the happy relief and chatter of her boy and girl had to drown out the cry which was twisting her heart strings. "Annie, Annie, My little Valentine, My own, dear Love."

WHERE DISORDERS OCCURRED





The Chinese situation remains grave. Immediately above is a map of the Nanking area, where foreigners have been in danger from the irregulars of the conquering Cantonese army, and sympathizers with the Nationalistic cause. The foreigners took refuge on the Standard Oil Company's hill, shown to the top of the map, and marked "Socony." When the Chinese attacked the warships laid down a barage around the hill and undoubtedly saved many lives. Above shows part of the waterfront of Nanking, also a picture of General Chiang Kaishek, the Cantoneses war-lord. He disclaims responsibility for the rioting.

ALASKAN PULP TO RIVAL CANADA

U. S. Government Promoting Production of Newsprint There.

RESERVES FOR SALE.

WASHINGTON, April 5th (Canadian Press)—Canada's position as the largest exporters of newsprint is threatened by the move just launched to make Alaska a big producer of newsprint. "Mills on American soil, using American timber and supplying American paper users" is the avowed object of the United States government, which has offered for sale ten billion board feet of soft timber in Alaska. The establishment in the far northern stateof paper mills of at least 200 tons capacity is a condition of the sale.

The government tracts offered for sale consist of two reserves of 5,000,000,000 board feet each. One is near Juneau and the other near Ketchikan. They will be open for bids on April 25 and April 15, respectively. Companies tendering are invited to bid at the same time for permits to exploit water-power sites nearby. Tenderers must undertake to develop the water powers and erect mills of at least 200 tons capacity in each place. Capital expenditure of from $8,000,000 to $10,000,000 is implied in the carrying out of each project.

In return the government offers to sell enough timber to supply a 500-ton paper mill on each site, running 300 days a year for 50 years. Secretary of Agriculture Jardine estimates that there is room in Alaska for five or six plants of this capacity, and that there is timber and power resources enough to maintain perpetually an industry producing at least 1,000,000 tons of paper annually, more than a quarter of the annual consumption of newsprint in the United States. "The department is planning for a permanent Alaska paper industry of this size," the government's announcement says, adding that the Panhandle can furnish 78,000,000,000 feet of hemlock and spruce, with adequate water powers and sheltered channels of approach, open the year round.

The desire of the department, it is said, is to develop the resources of Alaska and to supply the users of newsprint in the eastern United States where "scarcity of available timber close to cheaply developed water power has prevented the growth of paper making in recent years and has led to the establishment of new mills in Canada and Newfoundland instead of in the United States."

It is understood that the department also has under consideration a new also has under consideration a new machine invented to make newsprint out of hardwoods and semi-hardwoods. It is claimed that this machine will make commercial woodpulp out of the gum trees of the southern states and the ash and aspen plentiful in the states further north.

MILLIONS IN GOLD.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Canadian Press. — Canada continues to be by far the biggest exporter of gold to the United States. In January the Dominion sent $38,000,000 of the $62,000,000 which came in to this country. The total was the biggest since September, 1921.

Reaction from seasonal trade, a diminished demand from the Canadian public, was one of the reasons why Canada had so much gold to send, says a bulletin issued by the United States treasury, but it adds that for years much of the gold received from Canada in the last few years has been in excess over domestic requirements in that country.

Meantime other countries are having difficulty in obtaining enough gold to build up their balances in the United States. Much of the $15,000,000 sent by the French in January was acquired by the French government from citizens who have been hoarding gold. Chile and Japan also were building up balances here. They sent $5,000,000 gold in January.

CAMPBELLFORD COUNCIL PLANS WORK INSTEAD OF CHARITY DOLE

Insurance Against Liability For Street Accidents Purchased.

COUNCIL MEETING.

Petition For Sidewalk To St. Mary's Cemetery.

(By an Examiner Reporter.)

CAMPBELLFORD, April 5. — Acting upon the authority of the Council, Mayor Kingston last night signed a contract with the Globe Indemnity Company, by which the company for a premium of $204.70 assumes for one year full liability for any accidents which may occur on the streets and bridges in town. Mr. Frank Plaxton of the well-known Toronto family of athletes, of whom the most famous is Hugh Plaxton of the Canadian Senior hockey champions, now homebound from Vancouver, represented the company, outlining the highway hazards which confront Ontario municipalities with a greater probability than ever this year.

The members of the Council were agreed upon the advantage of providing protection for the town against possible claims for damages.

"We insure our own property," said J. N. Stone, "and we are elected to look after the interests of the town as a whole."

Councillor Stone seconded Councillor W. S. Wiggins' motion to buy the insurance. J. P. Archer is the company's local representative.

Petition for Sidewalk

J. D. Cumming and Rev. C. J. Phelan requested the Council to build a cement sidewalk on Centre Street to St. Mary's Cemetery.

Mayor Kingston assured them their petition would be considered when the Council makes a tour of inspection of the town on Friday of this week, to find out what improvements are needed.

Mr. Cumming pointed and adorned his address with anecdote and a quotation from Shakespeare. For six years there has been no walk on that section of the street, he said, and added that he made the request on behalf of those citizens who visit the cemetery.

Rev. Father Phelan said he appealed to the Council in behalf of the congregation of St. Mary's Church. "When the Council makes its trip of inspection, I hope you will see the need of this sidewalk. I have refrained from coming before you during the last three or four years because of the large undertakings you have had. I ask you in all fairness and justice to grant this."

J. A. Daly, L. Irwin and others petitioned for a concrete walk on Rannie Street to Front. Councillor C'Sullivan moved, seconded by Councillor Abernethy, that this walk be built this year.

Police Constable Light's request for an increase in salary was deferred until the next meeting owing to the absence of Deputy-Reeve Davidson, who was in Belleville on business. Mr. Davidson is chairman of the police committee.

Charity Accounts.

Scrutiny of the March accounts elicited from Mr. Stone a comment that the payments were "running low" and semed excessive. Some of the bills from merchants were for such amounts as $39.87, $14.29, $4.60, $5.00, $50, $8.55, and $5.55.

Referring to an item for tobacco on one account, Mr. Stone asked if it could be properly included in the category of groceries.

Mayor Kingston stated that one family was certainly deserving of public assistance.

Some of the other beneficiaries were from the western hill section. The head of one of their families is in jail, and the maintenance of his dependents falls upon the town.

"Better petition the authorities to get him out," Mr. Stone suggested.

"He wouldn't work on the streets if he was out," said Councillor Abernethy.

"Let him starve them," was Reeve Bygott's attitude.

"But the wife and children had to live," Mayor Kingston asserted.

"She shouldn't have married him," said Councillor Alex. McDonald.

"Send him to Cobourg if he won't support his children," suggested Jno. O'Sullivan, who also stated that there were institutions that would take care of the children. "Our charity list is running too high. There was little charity in the past history of Campbellford. I remember when the council would not allow $2.75 for a load of wood and I had to give it myself. Now we are paying in the hundreds."

Mr. O'Sullivan: "There is a place where they can be looked after—I am just as anxious for them as anyone."

The Mayor: "No one can take care of them as well as the mother."

Major Bygott promised work in cleaning the C.N.R. office for the woman whom the law has temporarily separated from her spouse. When he returns it is likely the town will have a job for him, but there are other men of doubtful industrious inclinations living in the western hill section who are right now not the keenest of job hunters, and it is alleged that they escape the pinching consequences of the usually inevitable economic pressure by receiving the modified dole which members of the council intended should be discontinued.

Mr. O'Sullivan proposed that the council clean up the old market square property, lease it and prepare it for a park. "So far," he said, "the town has not spent five cents on that property. We can offer these peopel a job there; it will be a start and if they won't work cut them off the charity list."

Mr. O'Sullivan's motion to that effect, seconded by Mr. Stone, was adopted.

A three-piece sanitary toilet will be installed in the armory building, upon which Reeve Bygot said the government had spent $1,872 in four years, which was, in effect, a rental of $39 a month.

Mr. O'Sullivan reported on his inspection of the property. An estimated cost of the toilet was $300. Reeve Bygott and Mr. Wiggins moved that it be provided in the building.

Tour This Week.

Councillor W. J. Abernethy recommended that the annual spring inspection tour be made this week. The Council fixed on Friday next at 9 a.m. for their outing.

And speaking of oiling the streets, a need already mainfesting itself with the early spring, Mayor Kingston said: "If we oil the streets now, say in April or May, we will have to oil them twice this year."

James Parcells, custodian of the town dump, talked himself into $150 remuneration for work which Mr. Abernethy and others said was being well done. Mr. O'Sullivan moved that Parcells receive $15 a month for six months of summer and $10 a month for the remaining six months.

A letter from Brantford Council that the provincial government be urged to take over the Bell Telephone system as a public utility, was laid on the table, but the Council approved a communication from Drumheller, Alta., for a favorable freight rate on Alberta coal to Ontario.

SEYMOUR FARMERS BEGIN WORK ABSENCE OF RAIN DRIES THE LAND

Fred Bennett Turned First Furrows Last Saturday.

FIRE BRIGADE OUT.

Contract Let For New Dartford Bridge.

(By an Examiner Reporter).

CAMPBELLFORD, April 5. — A few farmers in Seymour Township have gone out to meet the spring half way and are already at work on the land. One of the first was Fred Bennett of Seymour East, who began plowing last Saturday.

Absence of rain in spite of prevalent east winds for nearly a week has permitted the sun to dry out the damp spots, and the upper levels of the fields are in fine condition for ploughs and harrows.

Lot Bridge Contract.

Reeve W. H. Nelson of Percy Township and George Greer of Cobourg, county road superintendent, arranged on Monday with a representative of the Ontario Bridge Company for a new steel bridge on the county road east of Dartford. The cost was not fully decided, but the company will submit an estimate. The old bridge collapsed a few weeks ago from the effects of a freshet.

Only a Grass Fire.

The fire brigade responded smartly Monday afternoon to an alarm from Centre Street and First Avenue, but it was only for a grass fire near James Moore's home. It was the first time some of the men heard of First Avenue, only a glorified lane. Chief Davidson and six men of the volunteer brigade were aboard the motor truck,, and their promptness would have impressed any fire underwriter who might have timed the "get-away."

Frank Labrash is building the battery shed at the Empire service station which Clarence Williams has rented from R. S. Southworth. Mr. Williams was with C. H. Davidson eight years as a mechanic and battery man.

Buying "Gym" Apparatus.

The Board of Education has decided to buy five ceiling apparatus for the High School gymnasium at a cost of $300. A ladder, rings, ropes and trapese are included in the equipment, which will complete the standard appointments of the gymnasium. It is understood that Women's Society will contribute $50 toward the cost of the apparatus.

The Government grant for the Cadet Corps will be expended upon a kettle drum and officers' uniforms.

The Board has decided not to accept children at Easter for the kindergarten of the Public School. They will not be admitted until September, thereby avoiding the setback in the school's work which results from the enrollment of beginners at Easter.

Church Sermon.

The sixth of a series of sermons "Why Believe?" was delivered in the United Church on Sunday evening by the pastor, Rev. C. J. Beckley, before a large congregation. The subject was "Why Believe in the Church?" The sermon dealt with the purpose and place of the church in the life of the community. Among other questions brought out and answered were these "What is the church?" "What is the church accomplishing?" "Is there any substitute for the church or church going?" Marmora Male Voice Quartette rendered a very pleasing quartette.

Rev. W. H. Jones Gives Address at Services in Warkworth.

REPORT GIVEN.

WARKWORTH, April 5.—On Sunday morning the service in St. Paul's church was entirely conducted by the members of the W.M.S. This service was largely attended.

An important feature was given by the president, Mrs. A. J. Harper, when in using the Master's words, "She hath done what she could", tried to point out to everyone the need of doing what they could to help in this great missionary work.

Rev. W. W. Jones gave an address, A review of the missionary work in India for the past fifty years.

Mrs. W. H. Barringer, secretary, gave the report of the year's work. Special music was rendered by a choir of twenty ladies.

The offering amounted to one hundred and eighteen dollars, this being the largest thankoffering the W.M.S. of this church ever received. The church was beautifully decorated with carnations and after the service these were sent to the shutins of the congregation.

The W.M.S. of the Dartford church on Sunday afternoon received over eighty-four dollars. Of this amount the Dramatic Club donated twenty-five dollars and the Mission Band five dollars.

Mrs. J. E. Thompson and Verna were guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Thompson, Cobourg, Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Would of Toronto spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James McVety.

BENSON'S GOLDEN SYRUP

PRAYER DESK IS PRESENTED

Grandson of Founder Makes Donation To St. John's, Emily.

MANY RECENT GIFTS.

ORANGE CORNERS, April 5.—The name Magee has been associated with St. John's Anglican church of Emily for over a century, since Mr. John Magee, one of the earliest pioneers of this district, arrived from his native land of Ireland and settled on the farm at present owned and occupied by Mr. Walter Magee, his grandson.

At this early date there was no provision made for the religious welfare of the community so Mr. Magee donated a plot of ground from the corner of his farm for the purpose of erecting an Anglican church thefeon. Accordingly a spacious log building was erected on the site of the present St. John's church. About forty years ago the congregation outgrew this primitive church and it was replaced by the present brick structure under the rectorship of the Rev. Mr. French, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Magee then being the owners of the farm.

During the past year several donations have been made to the wardens for the church. Mr. Harry and Miss Lena Finlay have kindly donated a very pretty oaken communion table, Miss Dench a beautiful baptismal font in memory of her sister, Mrs. Blackwell, the W.A. an artistic altar cross and now a unique gift from Mr. Walter Magee in the form of an exquisite solid oak prayer desk, which was received on Sunday, March 27, 1927, by the wardens at a dedicatory service conducted by the rector, Rev. A. T. Weir of Omemee.

This prayer desk is unique in that it has a history. tI is made from an oak tree which was growing on Mr. John Magee's farm at the time he donated the land for a site for the original log church.

The congregation wishes to express to the several donors mentioned its deep appreciation of the handsome and useful gifts so generously given.

COMMUNION SERVICE NORWOOD CHURCH

Twenty-two New Members Are Received—W.M.S. Service Held.

NORWOOD, April 5.—The Sacrament of The Lord's Supper was dispensed in the United church on Sunday morning. Baptism was administered to one candidate and twenty-two new members were received into the church. There was a large number of communicants in attendance.

The Young People's League of the United church intends holding a social evening in the Sunday school room on Friday evening next.

Thankoffering Service.

At the annual thankoffering service in connection with the Woman's Mission Circle of the Baptist church, held on Thursday night, two life membership certificates were presented, one to Mrs. J. A. Stevens, the president, and one to Mrs. Frank Raddon.

Views of Bolivia, the land and the people were shown. A vocal duet by Mrs. George Morton (nee Ruby Patterson) and Miss Mary Patterson, and a mixed quartette by Mrs. F. Raddon, Miss Paterson, Mr. Alex Kempt, and Mr. J. Rutter added to the enjoyment of the evening The offering amounted to about twenty-five dollars.

FAREWELL PARTY

INDIAN RIVER, April 5.—On Tuesday evening, March 29, about three hundred people gathered in the Indian River cheese factory to bid farewell to our popular cheesemaker and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Juby, who, to the regret of all, are leaving to reside in Peterborough after having lived in Indian River for eleven years.

The chair was taken by Mr. Michael Walsh and an enjoyable programme was given.

The East Peterborough Orchestra supplied excellent music, instrumental and vocal. Mr. Leonard and Mr. Holland, of Peterborough, were the comedians of the evening, their numbers being enjoyed by all.

Mr. Arthur Carveth sang several songs. Mr. Stephen Millar played the banjo, accompanied by Mrs. Jim Foley at the piano. An instrumental selection, violin, banjo and piano, was given by Mr. Jim Foley, Mr. S. Millar, Mrs. Jim Foley and Mr. Bolin. Mr. Wm. Dewart delighted the gathering with a reading, "Matilda's Beau." Mr. Andrew Quinlan's song, "Paddy and the Rope," was enjoyed by all, also his step-dancing. Mrs. Jim Foley and Mr. Bolin sang a pleasing duet.

Mr. and Mrs. Juby were called to the platform, and Mr. Percy Davidson read the following address:

"Mr. and Mrs. Juby.

"Dear Friends,—We, your neighbours and patrons, which means friends in the true sense of the word, have learned with regret of your departure for wider fields.

"When we say friends, you are well deserving of such reference. The term of years you have been among us is entitled to still more reference. The part you have taken in the dairy industry, the information imparted by you and the volume of business are indicative of the value of such citizenship. You and your wife have taken part in every good community cause, and your places will not be easily filled. Your clean attitude toward, not only business, but also clean, healthful sports, has had a good effect.

"We regret, yet we congratulate you, that upon the facts of your success here wider fields require your ability and business proclivities.

"Again expressing regret at your departure, we are cognizant of the fact that our loss is gain to another locality. Kindly accept this small token of our esteem in order to remind you of our appreciation of you both, and God bless you.

"Signed on behalf of the citizens and patrons of Indian River — John McAdams, Samuel O'Brien, Elmo Kidd."

At the proper moment Mrs. George Bradley presented Mrs. Juby with a beautiful set of toilet articles in French ivory, and Mr. Samuel O'Brien presented Mr. Juby with a walnut humidor and smoking set.

Mr. Juby replied suitably, expressing his and Mrs. Juby's thanks for the gifts and their regret at leaving Indian River.

During the evening the new cheesemaker, Mr. Myers, was introduced and welcomed to Indian River.

Towards the close of the evening an excellent lunch was supplied.

The audience was indebted to Mr. Harvey, the local agent for the Aladdin mantle lamp, who kindly supplied lights for the evening.

SHOWER HELD FOR MILLBROOK GIRL

MILLBROOK, April 5.—The ladies of Grace Presbyterian church were hostesses for a very pleasant social gathering held in the basement of the church in honor of Miss Florence Larmer immediately on the eve of her marriage to Mr. Melville Whitfield Ball, which event took place on Thursday of last week.

A large basket, beautifully trimmed in pink and white, was brought in by two little girls, Mary Eakins and Dorothy Gilmour, two other smaller tots, Betty Carveth and Aileen Russell followed with parcels the basket could not accomodate, and two little boys also carried bundles for which no place could be found in the big container.

The bride-to-be expressed her thanks in a few well-chosen words, and the pleasant task of opening the many-shaped parcels and boxes followed the hearty singing of "For She's a Jolly, Good Fellow."

Among the host of gifts were fine china, pierced silver, dainty embroidery on table linen, towels, etc., kitchen utensils, and many other articles both useful and ornamental—evidence of the high place Miss Larmer held in the affection and esteem of a wide circle of friends in the church of which she had been a faithful member and worker.

FAME IN BROKEN GLASS.

PHILADELPHIA, April 5.—As a child, Hazel Blake French used to dig about the waste heaps of the famous Sandwich glass factory on Cape Cod. • FLOOR • PLAN • 1. BASEMENT

(By J. W. Hawker, Architect.)

Here is an ideal home for the small family who, tired of the dreariness and congestion of the average apartment, wants something "just a little way out" which they may call their own. It follows no architectural precedent of design, but relies simply on good proportions and materials, and its freedom from ornamental "frills" or fake construction.

The demand for efficiency of plan, in this case, would be particularly strong, but it would be adequately met, as a study of the plans will show. Each of the five habitable rooms is of moderate size and in convenient relation to the other parts of the house.

Entry is made through the vestibule into a good size rectangular hall, at the right of which is a small recess from which the bedrooms, and a bathroom open. Any woman will immediately see the possibility of hanging portiers in a manner which will give these rooms the maximum of privacy from the main hall. A linen closet, and a coat cupboard open into the hall.

On the opposite side of the hall are the living and dining rooms. The living room has a centre fireplace with a window on each side occupying the end wall. From the perspective it may be observed that these windows are high and small, which is very commendable, for the cosy atmosphere which we expect around a fireplace is hopelessly dispelled when large windows are throwing their light directly into the circle.

A kitchen, which for efficiency will equal or surpass even the ex-apartment dwellers' hopes, has been planned, among the features of which an electric refrigerator, ironing board, broom cupboard, and electric stove, may be mentioned. A grade entrance has been incorporated in such a way that while providing absolutely the usual efficiency for the kitchen, may also be used as a garden entrance.

Let us now descend by way of these stairs to the basement. Here we find that only the area required for the laundry, boiler room, and storage, has been excavated. To the right of the laundry is the furnace room, which contains a hot-water heating boiler.

The general interior treatment has been made subordinate to the individuality which the owner may express through furniture and hangings, by the use of sand-faced walls with oak floors. Oak trim has been used in the hall, dining room, and kitchen, with French ivory enamel finish elsewhere.

Walls of cream stucco on brick, and a mixed asbestos shingle roof minimizes the upkeep cost of this home.

Readers desiring further information regarding the plans and specifications of this house should communicate with the architect direct. Address Mr. J. W. Hawker, 312 Kennedy Building, Winnipeg, Manitoba.

SALVATION ARMY

The evening service was conducted by Commandant and Mrs. A. Smith, late of this city, now engaged in social work in Ottawa. Interesting glimpses into the work of that Salvation Army were given by the Commandant. Taking for the lesson the 19th chapter, Luke 1-10, Mrs. Commandant Smith said that there was the story of a man who was not only anxious to see Jesus, but also to hear him. Zaccheus, a little man—and with the crowd gathered round and following Jesus, considerable difficulty seemed in the way, but we read that this man ran and climbed into a sycamore tree. He was anxious—he had heard of the Man of miracles, of the Man who had said to many—"Thy sins be forgiven thee," and it is as with the seeker of Jesus difficulties present themselves—that is the work of the evening of our souls, to make it hard, and appear impossible. It was apparently the realization that Jesus Christ was the only One who could do anything for him that urged Zaccheus on, he was a rich man, but money could not buy him peace of mind, so he ran and climbed a tree and Jesus saw him. He knew of his anxiety. So with Christ in all things—when we seek after Him, He always sees us, knows our desires and is always ready to help us. I have proved this myself when I have prayed with a heart full of trouble and care He has heard my cry—hallelujah! And He has answered, has come right to my side and spoke words of comfort and cheer. Sinner-friend, put yourself in the place of Zaccheus, and do as he did—be anxious and seek. Then the story says when Zaccheus was bidden to come down "he made haste and came down"—without hesitation. You heretonight, who have allowed fear and doubt—have procrastinated so long. You are in a worse position than ever. Make haste, Jesus calls to you to come down from that tree of pride; you must come down in humbleness of spirit—from that tree of sport, gambling, vice, immorality and many of you are here tonight, unheeding the call of Jesus to come down.

When Zaccheus came down, Jesus invited himself to the house of the "little man," and many that saw murmured that He was to be the "guest of a man who was a sinner." Many a long day Jesus has wanted to be your guest—wanted you to open your heart and bid him enter in. It was not the desire to eat that made Jesus go to the sinner's house, but that he might talk and reason with Zaccheus in his anxiety. And while He talked, the light streamed in, for we read in the eighth verse of the story that Zaccheus said, "Behold, Lord, the half of my goods I give to the poor, and if I hav taken anything from any man by false accusation, I restore him fourfold." Jesus knew that was the right spirit and answered, "This day is salvation come to this house." The confession was open—the desire to do anything that he might receive the gladness of salvation.

How many thousands have heard the wonderful news and salvation has come to their hearts. Jesus is here tonight to say the same words to you, but perhaps you are not prepared to pay the price. There are many ways that restitution is necessary in, but what your own heart tell you to do, you must do. It is hardly probable that Zaccheus in his anxiety knew that it was his last opportunity—but it was for within a few days Christ was crucified. This may be your last opportunity. God has not promised a tomorrow. He says "This is the day of salvation, and now the accepted time." Many times you have heard the message—and talked over these things, but tonight, reason the matter out make wrong things right. The last verse of our reading says. "The son of man came to seek and save that which was lost."

Jesus longs to put your troubled heart at rest—to give you peace, a verse we sang this evening:

"But Thou, they say art passing by
Oh, let me find Thee near.
Jesus, in mercy hear my cry;
Thou Son of David, hear.

If you cry out He will hear you. Make haste and come down, and seek Him.

GILMOUR MEMORIAL.

"Christian Unity" was the theme of the sermon at the Gilmour Memorial Church yesterday morning. Taking his text from 1st Corinthians 12-4, "Now there are diversities of gifts, but the same spirit," Rev. W. S. Edgar said:

"The lesson the Apostle seeks to convey here is that unity is consistent with variety, that underneath the manifold activities in the Church of Corinth the one Spirit was revealing itself. Unity in variety is the mark of God's handiwork and is found everywhere throughout nature.

"The various churches are separated and divided. It is a far cry from a cathedral to a Salvation Army barracks, but, alike in both, men hear the voice of God and are saved. The same Spirit works in both places. Behind the variety is the unity.

"Some people look at the Christian church and see only the variety. They complain of the number of sects and the difficulty of knowing which is right. Others again see under all the variety and differences a great unity, a unity of spirit and aim and purpose. There is all the difference in the world between uniformity and unity, whereas it is possible to have unity without uniformity. Religion is not going to profit by eliminating differences in methods and in service. Our denominations are simply different regiments in the same army and this is how the various churches ought to regard each other. They are not rivals, but allies. The variety is external and mechanical; the unity is internal and spiritual. However much of our own church may differ from others, let us gladly and gratefully recognize that the Spirit of God works in all the churches. A recognition of this fact will enable us to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace.

"It is only natural that we should wish that the variety in the church should decrease as much as possible and that the unity should increase. But on no account must we sacrifice vital principle for the sake of uniformity.

"Absolute uniformity is no rule of spiritual life. All life, vegetable and animal manifests itself in almost endless variety of form and structure. So it is with the life of the Spirit. It is one life, but an infinite variety of experience and endowment. Let us not condemn other Christians because their spiritual feelings are not precisely the same as ours. All the saints of God are led in a right way, but no two of them in exactly the same way. Far be it from us to set up a standard and expect all to conform to it. If we reject all believers who do not see eye to eye with us on the various points of doctrine our fellowship will be scant indeed."

Was Nearly Crazy With Boils All Over His Body

Mr. S. L. Burke, Barronsfield, N.S., writes:—"For some time I was nearly crazy with boils all over my body. I tried everything I could think of to get rid of them, but to no avail, for as soon as one was healed up another would appear to take its place.
I was advised to take

and after I had used two bottles the boils had all disappeared and I have not been troubled with them since."

PLAY PRESENTED AT MARK STREET

Under the auspices of the Young People's Society of Mark street United Church, a three-act comedy, entitled, "The Deacon's Second Wife," was presented in the basement of the church on Friday evening, with a very good attendance and much interest manifested in the work of those taking part, all of whom acquitted themselves excellently, and much to the credit of their instructor, Rev. R. T. Richards.

The play deals with the adventures of the Deacon who has a number of visitors during his wife's absence, and whose niece fills the gap by representing the absent lady. The Deacon's farm house, his dooryard and his sitting room, form the backgrounds for the three acts, which are filled with humorous situations and comic dialogue.

The cast of characters was as follows: Malvina Fitz (Miss Pearl Finnie), Deacon Barachias Fitz (Rev. R. T. Richards), Melton George Washington Fitz (Alfred Mills), Nancy Melissa Fitz (Marion Snelgrove), Mrs. Brown (Myrtle Currie), Kate Rollins (Mabel Reynolds), John Bullock (Cyril Agnew), Mrs. Bullock (Winnie Fuller), Dorothy Bullock (Grace Currie), Hartley Bullock (Cleve Robb), Ernest Rench (Wand Throop), Philip Gamboge (Elijah Forbes).

Between acts, vocal solos were rendered in pleasing voice by Miss Fern Stenton and Mr .W. Hepburn, and enjoyable instrumental numbers were played by Miss Pearl Smith and Mr. Elijah Forbes.

SAINT and SINNER

Before Bob could answer, Mr. Churchill was on his feet, shouting his objections. "Your honor, I object to all this questioning by the district attorney into the social life of this defendant, on the grounds that any testimony along these lines is incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial."

"Your honor," Banning retorted heatedly, "It is my purpose with these questions and their answers to paint a character portrait of this defendant, and I can quickly demonstrate, if your honor will have the jury withdrawn, that all such testimony is extremely relevant to this case."

From the press tables a sigh of relief went up. Western Union boys, scenting a big moment, hovered over the chairs of frantically busy reporters.

"I did escort Mrs. Wiley, then Miss Cherry Lane, to a dance at the Marlboro Country Club on Saturday, October," Bob answered slowly but distinctly.

But to the acute disappointment of press and audience, Banning dismissed Bob without another question.

Cherry leaned back to grasp his hand as Bob took his seat immediately behind Faith. "Don't feel badly," she whispered, a brilliant smile on her lovely little face for the benefit of the watchful reporters. "You did splendidly and I wouldn't have had you lie for me for the world."

"Oh, Bob," Faith quivered, as her cold fingers closed over his outstretched hand, "Banning's going to rake up everything that Cherry ever did. He'll have Mrs. Allbright testify to what happened at the Country Club—"

She and other whisperers were silenced by the rapping of the judge's gavel, which preceded the calling of the next witness:

"Dr. Enos Paxton! Dr. Paxton!"

When the thin, middle-aged, soft-spoken doctor had taken his place on the witness stand and had been sworn, Banning, after a few preliminary questions allowed him to describe the wound which had caused the death of Ralph Winston Cluny.

"Then, in your opinion, doctor, death resulted from one blow upon the back of the skull, made by a blunt instrument?" Banning summed up the medical examiner's testimony.

"That is correct," Dr. Paxton nodded.

"Would you say that such a blow could have been administered by this vase?" and Banning passed the broken Chinese vase to the doctor's outstretched hands.

"I would."

Further examination of the witness brought out the fact that human blood had been found on the broken lip of the vase, thus dispelling any possible doubt that the vase had been the instrument of death.

"Are you able to fix, approximately, within a few minutes, I mean, the time of death?" Banning asked, and every ear in the courtroom was strained for the answer. Upon his answer Cherry's very life might depend.

"By certain tests, which I will describe if you so direct, I fixed the time of death at approximately one half hour before my arrival, that is, at approximately eight forty or eight forty-five, though it is possible that death took place as early as eight thirty-five."

By not a flicker of an eyelash did Cherry betray fear or surprise at this fixing of the time of death so that it coincided with her confessed visit to Ralph Cluny's bedroom. By her own admission, she had asked Chris Wiley the time when she had stepped into his coupe, parked in the driveway close to the house, and had learned the hour to be nineteen minutes of nine.

"Your witness, Mr. Churchill," Banning smiled triumphantly, as if his case was clinched.

Stephen Churchill began his cross-examination of Dr. Paxton with great deference.

"You are a medical expert, I believe, Dr. Paxton. You would not be willing to swear, I presume, to the exact minute that Mr. Cluny's death occurred?"

Everyone in the courtroom knew, from newspaper accounts of the coroner's inquest, that four minutes had elapsed between Cherry's leaving the grounds of the Cluny mansion and Bob's arrival.

"No, I could not swear to the exact minute," Dr. Paxton coughed deprecatingly. "I can only fix the time approximately."

"You would not swear then that death could not have taken place between nineteen minutes or eighteen minutes of nine and fifteen minutes of nine?"

"No," Dr. Paxton answered, as if a little uncertain of just what Churchill meant. "That is, death could have taken place between those specified times, but not more than two or three minutes before or after that time."

"Now, Dr. Paxton, that is a heavy vase, is it not? Will you lift it high in your hands, please?"

"What would you say that vase weighs, doctor?" Churchill asked suavely.

"Why, I don't know. Between four and five pounds, I suppose. I am not an expert at guessing weights," he smiled.

"Approximately four or five pounds," Churchill repeated impressively. "Now, doctor, you must be fairly expert in judging a woman's strength, aren't you? A woman of a certain age and size and physical training, I mean."

"Now, Dr. Paxton, in your opinion," Churchill went on triumphantly, "could a girl of eighteen, weighing ninety-five pounds, with no special athletic training, deal a blow with an instrument weighing four or five pounds, holding the instrument aloft so as to strike a man more than twelve inches taller than she—"

"I object! I object!" Banning was roaring shrilly.

After much heated exchange of argument and angry personalities between himself and Banning, Churchill conceded the point and withdrew the question, but it might as well have been answered, for every juryman in the box, every reporter at the press tables, every spectator in the audience, had had time to form a mental picture of diminutive Cherry wielding the long, heavy vase, standing on tip-toe and stretching her tiny hands upward so as to be able to reach the head of her six-foot fiance.

Banning seized upon the witness again. "Dr. Paxton, as a medical man, can you tell this jury if it is not true that anger increases one's normal strength to a great degree, a degree which is measureable by science?"

"I object, on the same grounds on which our honorable district attorney objected to my questioning the learned doctor," Churchill bellowed with dramatic anger.

As Dr. Paxton left the witness stand, the court crier chanted the name of Mary Kearney, maid in the Cluny home, and the only servant in the house at the time of the murder.

"Now, Mary," Banning began very pleasantly, coaxingly, after the preliminary questions had been disposed of, "I want you to tell in your own words what happened at the Cluny home from eight o'clock on, on the evening of Thanksgiving Day, November 25 last."

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, but do not Compel.

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

FOR TUESDAY, APRIL 5, 1927

Fate apparently seesaws between good and evil today, according to astrology. Women are rather well directed.

Under this sway there may be an awakening of women to a consciousness of large public tasks to be performed.

This is an auspicious date for theatres and for public assemblies of every sort. Many forums will be held for the discussion of national problems, the seers prophesy.

Weddings are subject to the best rule of the stars and the seers prophesy another epidemic of romance which will increase the number of marriages in the United States.

Although lovers benefit from this rule of the planets it is read as not a fortunate day for making new acquaintances.

It is not a favorable day for seeking employment of any sort, but the seers promise activity in many lines of work as the spring advances.

According to a London astrologer the conjunction of Jupiter and Mars next July will affect the whole world, causing the uprising of political powers and the increase of military dictators.

If the forecast is to be believed an era of force is to begin, military might sweeping the world as never before in history.

War and carnage are to be expected before the close of the year in which "the flail of the gods" will be active.

Campaigns for peace, led by women, are to attract wide attention and to attain great influence, it is prognosticated.

All the signs give warning to build firmly for the future individually as well as nationally. Thrift should be practiced.

Changes of fashion may be expected with the summer, which is to be a period of transitions.

Persons whose birthdate it is should beware of deception that will lead to losses. The year should be prosperous.

Children born on this day may be introspective and sensitive, but rarely gifted. Poets are born under this sign.

WOMAN SO NERVOUS CAN'T DIGEST FOOD

GOLF BUNKER HOLDS SKELETON.

While reconstructing the Musselburgh golf links near Glasgow, Scotland, recently, the skeleton of a man was found in a bunker, six feet below the surface of the ground. It lay east and west, indicating Christian burial, and, in the opinion of a doctor who viewed the remains, it must have been there for more than 100 years. Oliver Cromwell camped on the links, as also did Scottish troops during the Napoleonic wars, so that the skeleton may be that of a soldier.

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

Suitable for the afternoon as well as for dinner and informal evening wear is this frock of black lace over black chiffon.

One speaks of the bridge frock which has come into prominence this spring as if it were something quite new. The name may be new—but the type of gown it indicates is something that has long been worn. The important thing now is that a fashionable French dressmaker has sponsored it and has brought it out as something worth the consideration of all well-dressed women.

The bridge frock, as it appears here and abroad, is simply a frock that you can wear for afternoon bridge—or other occasions where a soft frock is required—and continue wearing for afternoon tea, for dinner and the evening. Some women speak of it as a really marvelous invention—for now they need dress but twice a day—sports clothes for the morning and luncheon and the bridge frock for afternoon and evening, unless some important evening engagement calls for more elaborate attire. Such a simplification—this not having to dress for the evening—and so much more appropriate when you are dining out or going to the theater with a husband who is too busy or too indifferent to change to evening clothes.

As a matter of fact, the great majority of American women—even well-dressed American women—have never made a daily habit of changing into evening dress, save when some sort of party was on foot.

But these women who don't make a daily habit of dressing specially for dinner should rejoice now that a number of first-rate designers are actually considering their problem serioudly. The bridge frock that we have as a result is almost always made with long sleeves, though now that Paris has revived the elbow and three-quarter sleeve they will doubtless appear in bridge frocks for warmer weather.

There are younger women who will find the bridge frock a solution to their dress problems, but it will undoubtedly be the older women who will gain the greatest advantage thereby. When the thoroughly up-to-date young American girl wants to dress but twice a day she dons a sports costume in the morning, wears it at lunch and keeps it on in the afternoon as well. She is more apt to spend her leisure hours in the afternoon outdoors anyway, than sitting over a bridge table. Then, when she does dress for dinner she doesn't want to wear something that would do just as well for an afternoon tea party or bridge. In her scheme of things there is no halfway measure—and the bridge frock is decidedly just that.

POLICE WORKING ON OMEMEE THEFT

OMEMEE, April 5.—Provincial Constable Storey, of Lindsay, is investigating the robbery of T. J. Parson's hardware store, which was entered on Friday night, when a quantity of goods was stolen.

The thieves gained admittance through a trap door in the roof. This was chained, but they managed to pull it a little to one side and gain an entrance. From there the culprits dropped to the upper storey, where the wall paper is located. This done, they were free to enter any part of the store, which they did, as was shown by several articles knocker over.

The extent of the robbery cannot be ascertained by the proprietor, but a quantity of traps and other sporting goods are missing. The escape was made through the back door on the ground floor.

This is the second time within a few months that stock has been stolen from Mr. Parson's store. Last fall a rifle, powder, cigarettes, etc., were taken and the guilty ones were never apprehended.

Fellowship of Prayer

Daily Lenten Devotion

Prepared by Rev. Charles Emerson Burton, D.D., for Commission on Evangelism of Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America.

Copyright 1927

Topic for the Week
"SPIRITUAL INTERCOURSE"
We Should Pray With Others"

SCRIPTURE: Read—John 17.

"If two of you shall agree on earth as touching anything that they shall ask it shall be done for them of my Father who is in heaven" (Mt. 18:19). "Confess therefore your sins one to another and pray one for another" (Jas. 5:16).

See—Acts 1:4 14; 2:1-4 46 47; 4:31.

MEDITATION: We cannot be Christian unless we are unselfish. Prayer quickens the feelings. We can love men better when we pray. When people really get together sympathetically their hearts are warmed. When we thus become more sensitive to human souls we are naturally more sensitive to the divine spirit. The heart like the radio may be tuned in on heart wave-lengths. Let me yield myself to Lenten sympathy and let me broaden that out into brotherhood into right race relations into international friendships.

"My spirit cannot live on an island and be one with God's Spirit for the Spirit of God is brotherhood and brotherhood is the continent of souls."

HYMN:

Dear Lord and Father of mankind
Forgive our feverish ways;
Reclothe us in our rightful mind
In purer lives Thy service find
In deeper reverence praise.

Drop Thy still dews of quietness
Till all our strivings cease;
Take from our souls the strain and stress
And let our ordered lives confess
The beauty of Thy peace.

Breathe through the hearts of our desire
Thy coolness and Thy balm;
Let sense be dumb let flesh retire;
Speak through the earthquake wind and fire
O still small voice of calm.

—John G. Whittier 1872.

PRAYER: Pray for — sympathy; mastery of the unexpected; officers of the law.

Collect—Our Father in heaven whose patience knows no bounds we thank Thee for the oncoming of Thy kingdom in the world and for the means of grace in our lives. We bless Thee for the Son of Man; serving in Galilee loving in Judea triumphing in Gethsemane atoning on Calvary and rising from the grave. We rejoice in our redemption through Him and in the hope of immortality brought to light by Him. Yet in our weakness we have set our hearts on things on the earth. We have thought success better than righteousness and ease desirable above service. In Thy patience brood over our dull spirits till love awakens in us. We commit ourselves to the Son of Man in holy living and loving service for His name's sake. Amen.

EPIDEMIC DEFINITELY TRACED TO MILK

The danger of using milk which had not been pasteurized has surely been proved in Montreal. The following extract from the Star is startling:

"The authorities at the City Hall declared today that they had definitely traced the source of the epidemic and that it had had its origin in infected milk. Steps have been taken to eradicate the disease at this source.

Medical men are still advising inoculations, and thousands of citizens continue to take advantage of the free clinics that have been opened by various institutions.

Toronto authorities have taken every precaution and all milk sold there is now PASTEURIZED.

With such an alarming example, why does not Peterborough take some precautions, and why do not the citizens insist on PASTEURIZED milk. We have an abundant supply.

"Hello! Hello!" called Uncle Wiggily over the telephone one day to Uncle Butter the goat. "Are you doing anything special this afternoon?"

"No, nothing special," bleated the goat gentleman.

"Then ramble over to my bungalow," invited the rabbit. "I'm going to have a little party. Just you and Mr. Bow Wow, perhaps Doc Possum if he can come, and myself. It's raining and I'm not going out to look for any adventures."

tleman, and then to Mr. Longears. "We shall have a merry little party!"

The four friends talked together about old times, and Uncle Wiggily went out in the pantry where he kept crackers and cheese, some carrot bread with honey molasses and other good things to eat. He and Mr. Bow Wow, with Dr. Possum and Uncle Butter were having a little lunch when, all of a sudden, out in the hall sounded a most tremendous bumping racket.

"What's that?" growled Mr. Bow Wow.

"It's the Bad Chaps after me!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "It must be the Fox, the Wolf or the Bear!"

"Perhaps it is some one who wants me to go see a sick animal," said Dr. Possum, reaching for his bag of powders and pills.

"I'll open the door and see!" offered Uncle Butter.

But just then a sad voice in the hall cried:

"Help! Help! Oh, please help me out!"

"That isn't any Bad Chap!" shouted Dr. Possum. He opened the door and there on the floor in the hall was fat little Floppy Twistytail, the pig boy. And Floppy was stuck inside a round, wooden hoop. He couldn't get loose.

"Whatever has happened?" asked Uncle Wiggily. Then, up on the top step of the stairs he saw Scooter and Tooter, his two little rabbit boys.

"We—now—were playing circus," explained Tooter. "We came home from school 'cause there's only one session on account of the rain. So we went up the attic by the back stairs, me and Scooter and Floppy."

"They covered a hoop with paper stuck on, like in the circus," grunted the pig boy, "and they made me jump through! Oh, wah! Wee!"

"Only he didn't jump through—he got stuck and he fell down stairs!" added Scooter. "That's what made the racket."

"Well, I'm glad it was none of the Bad Chaps," laughed Uncle Wiggily. Then he and his friends put some grease on Floppy so he could slip out of the hoop, which was a tight fit, and everything was all right.

SENSITIVE DEVICE IS DEMONSTRATED

Movement of Hand Near the Apparatus Starts It In Motion.

NEW YORK, April 5. — A new invention makes possible the starting of a battleship with one-fortieth of the amount of energy exerted by a fly walking vertically upward for one inch in one second, according to experts who demonstrated a new current controlling device at the Hotel Pennsylvania yesterday. The invention, which is sensitive enough to be operated by the approach of the human hand, was created by D. D. Knowles, research engineer.

In the demonstration a watch was laid upon a plush cover on a small table. As the hand approached the instrument recorded it by a light, and with another attachment, the ringing of a bell. Similar tests were made by touching a picture and with attempts to pick up silverware from a plate. It was also shown that a drop of water was sufficient conductor to start the instrument, as was the flame from a burning match. By the connection of a small photo-electric tube to the circuit the device was made sensitive to light, and operated when the window shade was lowered and raised or when a piece of paper created a shadow before it.

Mme. Noel Makes STARTLING STATEMENT

3 years of stomach trouble wrecked her health. Reduced to extreme weakness, she tried Tanlac and now enjoys full strength and youthful vigor.

Mme. Ignace Noel, 21 8th Ave. Limoilou, Quebec, is a happy, healthy, woman today. "For 3 whole years," she said, "nervous indigestion caused me a lot of misery. My nerves were on raw edge all the time. My housework was a heavy burden and I was listless and depressed. I grew so nervous the slightest noise upset me. The lightest food caused my stomach to bloat with gas.

"The slightest exertion was a big effort. I couldn't stand those conditions much longer and was getting desperate, for nothing seemed to help. Finally I tried Tanlac and from the very first bottle a marked improvement showed. Normal sleep and appetite returned. Now my digestion is perfect. I took but 4 bottles of Tanlac and to these alone my complete recovery and present robust health are due."

If you are below par, get a trial bottle today. Tanlac is nature's own remedy made from herbs, roots and barks. Your druggist has it. Over 52 million bottle already sold.

FIRE DESTROYS OTONABEE HOME

Edward Lynch Loses House, With Contents Of Upstairs Rooms.

SOME INSURANCE.

On Friday afternoon between one and two o'clock the home of Edward Lynch of Otonabee was destroyed by fire.

Mr. Lynch was alone in the house at the time and was unaware of the disastrous fire until neighbors came in with the news that the roof of his house was all in flames. In a very short time a large crowd of neighbors was at work hauling out what furniture was downstairs. Some even went into the cellar and bagged up what potatoes they could save. None of the contents of the four bedrooms upstairs was saved as that part of the house was soon filled with smoke.

The fire is supposed to have started by a spark from the chimney lighting on the roof.

The loss is partly covered by insurance.

WONDERFUL AUTOMOBILE ROADS.

The most wonderful automobile road in America, the Banff-Windermere Highway 104 miles in length, is in danger of losing its well earned laurels by the opening of another, and if possible, more wonderful road, the Great Divide Highway between Field and Lake Louise, which was completed last summer. But Prof. Laird's tour "Across Canada and Back," which leaves Toronto by Canadian Pacific Railway July 25th, 1927, for a 21 day trip, includes both these drives in his itinerary, and they are only a small part of the wonders to be seen. There is Banff, the beautiful; Lake Louise, the Pearl of the Rockies; Emerald Lake, second only to Lake Louise in beauty; the Yoho Valley, one of the most marvelous Valleys in the world, with Takakkaw Falls over 1,200 feet in height pouring into it, and all the magnificence and grandeur of 900 miles of Rocky Mountain scenery. Vancouver and Victoria, those marvelous Pacific Coast cities, as well as Winnipeg, Calgary and Edmonton, are only a few of the places to be visited, and three great bodies of water are also on the route, the Great Lakes, the Kootenay Lakes and the Strait of Georgia between Vancouver and Victoria.

Write for illustrated booklet of this marvelous trip to W. Fulton, District Passenger Agent, Canadian Pacific Railway, Toronto, or to Prof. Sinclair, Macdonald College P.O., Que.

CITY STOPS TAXI "ROLLING."

To relieve traffic congestion, Berlin is endeavoring to stop solicitation, or "rolling," as it is called in the trade vernacular of this country, by taxi drivers. Taxis are assigned to stands in a central parking space and respond only when called. The city has installed 50 telephone stands along the sidewalks so that patrons may easily summon the cabs. Telephone subscribers say the new system is much more satisfactory than the old.

BODY OF WOMAN FOUND IN DITCH

Sarnia Lady Missing Since November Discovered By Workmen.

COVERED BY MUD.

SARNIA, Ont., April 5.— The body of Mrs. John Eddings, who disappeared from her home, 383 Maxwell St., in November last, was discovered yesterday in a ditch on Exmouth street, near the intersection of the London road, about three miles from the city.

Mrs. Eddings' disappearance has been a complete mystery since the night in November when she left the home of a neighbor where she had tea, to do some shopping downtown. When she did not return home a diligent search was made for her but no trace whatever was discovered. Firemen, police and friends turned out to look for the lost woman, who was nearly 70 years of age. News of her disappearance was broadcast by radio from Detroit, London and Toronto, but nothing resulted.

Yesterday workmen engaged in laying a tile drain came upon the body almost completely covered by mud and water. It is supposed that she became confused when leaving her neighbor's house and turned north to Exmouth street and then continuing slipped and fell into the ditch.

Boston And Ottawa Qualify For N.H.L. Finals

SENATORS HOLD CANADIENS EVEN WINNING ROUND

Four Goal Lead From First Game Gives Them Edge On Series.

HARD FOUGHT GAME.

Losers Try Hard Until Near End To Overcome Big Lead.

OTTAWA, April 5—Ottawa Senators are champions of the Canadian section of the National Hockey League. Holding the Montreal Canadiens to a one-all tie in a brilliant and stubbornly-fought contest here last night, the Ottawans forced the Habitants off the hockey map for this season. The four to nothing victory registered by the locals in Montreal on Saturday night gives the Senators a four-goal lead on the series which ended, 5 to 1, in their favor.

Last night's game here was a splendid exhibition for two periods, and half of the third. Then, with only minutes to go, the fire died from the Canuck attack as they saw the futility of the task before them.

Scoring first, slightly more than half way through the opening period, Canadiens hopes were raised and they unloosed a terrific attack that was sustained until over ten minutes of the second period had elapsed.

Then the Senators, sensing that the gruelling pace was taking a heavy toll on the visitors, bore down with a vengeance and after a goal by Kirea from Finnegan had been ruled offside, the same pair went racing back to knot the count on the game and practically settle the series.

It was a comparatively clean game only eight minor penalties being inflicted and the Senators drew six of these. The hard feeling usually in evidence was stowed away with the final gong and Canadiens trooped into the Ottawa room to offer congratulations.

Canadiens, by supreme efforts, stayed with the Senatorial pacemakers for two periods and a half and then folded up. There spots of the opening session that saw the home team in command, especially in the middle period and both goalers in turn made many wonderful saves.

Nighbor, Clancy, Hooley Smith and the youthful Kilrea were Ottawa's bright stars, while Morenz, Mantha and Gardiner stood out for the Habitants. The auditorium was jammed to capacity, ten thousand fans attending.

NO TICKET SCANDAL IN SENIOR FINALS

F. Patrick Tells How Tickets Were Disposed of at Vancouver.

VANCOUVER, B.C., April 5.—"Every possible precaution to prevent ticket 'scalping' in connection with the Allan Cup hockey finals concluded here Friday night, was taken by the management of the arena in which the four games were played," Frank Patrick, owner of the rink, said Saturday in refuting charges that sale of tickets was not conducted with fairness to the public.

Officials of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association which had charge of the staging of the series in which the Toronto Grads defeated the Fort William representatives to win the Canadian amateur championship, placed all responsibility for the actual seat sale on the arena management.

"The association officials and the competing teams," said Mr. Patrick, "were allotted 200 tickets for their friends, which, after all is the Vancouver public. The Toronto club protested strenuously when the allotment was cut down to 100 for Wednesday's game, so that the list was raised to 300 in order to satisfy them for the final game.

"We allowed each customer in line a limit of six tickets for the first three games, but on Friday this was cut to four each. If these 'scalpers' paid boys to get into line and grab tickets, it is no fault of ours."

SOCCER PLAYERS NOT ENTHUSIASTIC

Quakers and Thistles Will Play Exhibition Game Saturday.

"If the players do not become more enthusiastic in the soccer game and co-operate with their respective teams, they cannot expect the local executive to function with only two or three elevens in the Senior league," was the explanatory remark of President Vincent Stewart at the meeting of the local soccer association held last evening in the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

Teams Haven't E rod.

Up to dat: the local board have not received any offici l information relative to how many tear s will enter the league this season, and have now extended the time li mit to Monday evening, April 11th, so as to give them the opportunity to make arrangements. It was stated that the Masseys would enter a team, if they could find a manager.

A telegram from Bucharest, where Carol's father, King Ferdinand, is critically ill, was received yesterday after the Prince's departure. It was forwarded hastily to the prince at Le Bourget flying field, and is believed to have brought about his return home. Mme. Magda Lupescu, with whom Carol has been living at Neuilly, returned with him.

The renewal of radium treatments by Dr. Sluys, Belgian radium specialist, who has returned to Bucharest, has been proposed.

PENALTIES COST RANGERS GAME AGAINST BRUINS

Winners Score Three Goals in Hectic Second Period.

MANY OFFENCES.

Twenty-seven Penalties Served By Two Teams During Game.

NEW YORK, N.Y., April 5.—The Bruins of Boston last night defeated the New York Rangers, 3 to 1, in the second contest of their two-game series in the National Hockey League semi-finals. The Boston team won the round by the same count, the two teams having battled to a scoreless draw Saturday night in the first game, at Boston. Last night's victory, besides giving the Bruins titular honors in the American division of the league, also gave them the chance to battle Ottawa Senators in a five-game series for the much-battered and famous Stanley Cup.

Boston grabbed off victory last night by a second-period onslaught, which netted them three goals, after the Rangers had gained the upper hand with a neat counter by Bill Cook in the initial session. This second period provided both players and fans with the most hectic times of a rugged game. It was marked by 14 of the 27 penalties which were handed out during the sixty minutes of play, Shore and Abel accounting for seven between them.

Odd Man Decides Game.

The teams during this stanza were seldom at full strength, and shorthandedness practically cost the Rangers the game. With the count tied at one-all, Herberts having evened matters earlier in the period, Abel and Johnson were penalized from the local defence, along with Shore, of Boston. The Bruins took advantage of their extra man-power, and, led by Frederickson, the big Icelander, they crashed the weakened Ranger defence for two goals in quick succession, Hitchman and Oliver crashing through to accept passes from Frederickson right in front of Chabot. The latter had no chance on either drive.

The third period was marked by a strictly defensive play on the part of Boston. Both teams were tired after the two previous dashing and hectic sessions, and it was a case of a jaded Ranger attack against an equally jaded Boston defence, with the Boston system proving the more successful. Close to 15,000 fans witnessed as thrilling a contest as ever has been witnessed at Madison Square Garden.

STANLEY TO PILOT CHICAGO HAWKS

Manager of Winnipeg Maroons Receives Appointment For Next Season.

WINNIPEG, April 5.—(Canadian Press).—Barney Stanley, who acted as playing manager of the Winnipeg Maroons of the American Association this winter has signed to pilot the Chicago Black Hawks in the National Hockey League next season.

The report was confirmed by Stanley on his return from the Windy City yesterday. It is the veteran's intention to hang up his skates for good and direct operations from the bench.

Stanley has enjoyed a most successful career as a hockey player and manager, having piloted the Edmonton Eskimos to a championship in the Western Canada Hockey League in 1925-26, while he kept the Winnipeg Maroons at the top of the league for the greater part of the season's schedule just closed only to be robbed of greater honors as the result of a series of injurie to his proteges.

Alderman Denne: "We left it with the Mayor."

Alderman Fife (referring to Friday night's meeting): "My motion was to ask for the lowest price Hydro would take, and for continued service."

The Mayor: "The way I understand it, I was to interview the chairman of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission and ask him to release the Gotfredson Corporation from the contract that does not expire until April 24, and to obtain the best price."

Alderman Fife: "My idea was to continue the service."

The Mayor: "We got in touch with the head office on Saturday morning, and found that Mr. Magrath is in Washington until the end of this week. You almost insisted that I have a personal interview with him. The only way I can do that is by going to Washington."

Alderman Fife: "Wire him."

The Mayor: "Mr. Armstrong has arranged for me to meet Mr. Magrath in Toronto on Friday, between 11 and 12."

Alderman Fife: "Well, put this resolution through and send it on. It's up to them to give us service until Friday."

The Mayor: "They won't give us service."

Alderman Ackerman: "This has all been discussed before. Hydro told us they were going to discontinue the service, and they asked the Mayor to submit an offer. That was done; it was not acceptable, and they carried out their threat. If every citizen in Peterborough went and interviewed the Commission they wouldn't pay any more attention. They know we had ample time to meet the price, and they know that we made an offer that was not a reasonable offer."

Take the Losses.

Alderman Phelan remarked that Mr. Robertson had suggested that Hydro might continue to operate the street railway while negotiations are pending if the city would pay the losses from April 1.

Alderman Denne: "It's a fine recommendation to buy if he admits they're having losses."

The Mayor: "The Gotfredson people are willing to give us temporary service at once if released from this contract, without asking any concessions. It's a big concern, but it's being paid to keep out."

The Mayor: "I'd suggest just that very thing." His Worship went on to explain against the contract by which the 'bus company is bound to Hydro until April 24. In the meantime, the 'busses now here cannot be used, nor can any other Gotfredson 'busses be brought in.

The Mayor: "We can't cut off all opposition to any 'bus corporation. We know Gotfredson is a very satisfactory and powerful corporation. They always carry two or three extra 'busses, so that if accidents occur they can maintain full service with some 'busses laid up. If these other people aren't up to that standard, there is no use in dealing with them."

Alderman Stocker: "I'd like to see service at once, and if we can't get satisfaction from Hydro after Friday, we should do something else."

Alderman Fife: "What we should have done long ago is obtain the best price. It should have been submitted to the people on January 1. We had lots of time."

An argument occurred at this point over the implied duties cast upon the Mayor at the last meeting, ending in disjointed statements from which the following were plucked:

Alderman Fife: "If I was on the Hydro Commission, I'd take the same attitude in dealing with the Peterborough Council."

Alderman MacDonald: "$150,000 is more than you'd get past the people."

Alderman Phelan: "Why not write Hydro then, and tell them we've withdrawn our offer?"

Alderman Stocker: "We should stop talking amounts. We mentioned $200,000 here the other night, and it was in the Mail and Empire next morning, and it's on his desk waiting for Magrath when he gets back."

For Working Men.

When this flurry had subsided, Alderman Hancock took the floor to tilt a lance for the working men of the city. "I feel," he said, "that the working people deserve consideration from the Council, and we should be big enough to give them transportation. You and I" (addressing the Mayor) "have our cars and don't need it, but hundreds and thousands of others have to get up at six o'clock in the morning, when we're still sleeping in our beds, and go to work. These are the people we're put here to look after, and we should do it."

Alderman Greene: "And hundreds of these men you're talking about don't live in the city and don't pay a cent towards city maintenance. They are not residents of the municipality, but they have been taking advantage of the transportation."

Alderman Hancock: "If they are not residents, they come here to buy their goods."

Alderman Fife pressed his motion, after suggesting tentatively to Alderman Hancock that it be withdrawn. Alderman Hancock wouldn't hear of it. The Mayor directed his eloquence against Alderman Fife in write Hydro and ask them to continue the street railway and 'bus services until negotiations with the city are concluded"—was put and lost, nine to two. Alderman Hancock called for "yeas and nays," and they lined up:

Yea	Nay
Fife	Phelan
Hancock	Cotton
	Stocker
	McIntyre
	MacDonald
	Ackerman
	Greene
	Denne
	Holloway

That there might be no misunderstanding as to who favored an attempt to obtain immediate service, and those who did not, Alderman Fife had the City Clerk read the motion again, and the chapter ended.

Another 'Bus Company.

Alderman Ackerman, mildly criticizing Alderman Hancock's suggestion that the Council has not the interests of the working-man at heart, proposed that the Mayor be authorized to communicate with a Belleville concern for the purpose of ascertaining whether it is in a position to give temporary 'bus service in Peterborough.

Alderman Greene repeated his warning of Friday against hasty transportation arrangements before the Hydro franchise expires.

Alderman Ackerman expressed the opinion that there would be no danger in such a move as he proposed, and continued, "I've read over very carefully the contract (not the franchise) with Hydro. It was drawn up by the H.E.P.C. with every conceivable thing in their favor. I think the city must be a little firmer in future with Hydro than in the past. Hydro has issued and carried into effect an ultimatum and I don't think in any honest attempt to give the citizens transportation as a relief measure, we could be held liable."

The Mayor's protest that he couldn't undertake to deliver to Hydro all the messages that he had been given, if put under the handicap of having previous dealings with another firm, was over-ruled by the suggestion of the added power he will have by intimating that another arrangement is pending. "It will strengthen your hands," Alderman Ackerman said, "in dealing with Hydro if you are able to show them that you have another organization ready to come in to supply transportation."

The Market Bylaw.

The market bylaw was easily disposed of. All of the Aldermen had been given copies of a letter setting forth reasons why the recent amendments could not stand. The letter also promised that if the offending changes were not wiped out last night, to-day's dawn would see the council faced with legal action brought by J. Nasimok, 499 George Street, who desires to continue his occupation of selling fish on the market square every Saturday forenoon.

It appears from this notice that the Council has only the right, under the Municipal Act, to regulate, not to prohibit, the sale of fish and other articles. And without argument or debate, the Council last night passed a bylaw repealing the amendment recently made, automatically restoring the old market bylaw. Revision will be considered in the Property Committee.

Another Tangle.

Reg. H. Turner appeared to ask Council for permission to erect a metal-clad, fir-lined office on the lot at the corner of Charlotte and George streets.

Alderman Phelan lauded the work already done by Mr. Turner at this important intersection, and urged the granting of the request. "We've let others build such offices," he said, "and Mr. Turner surely deserve. it."

Inquiry elicited the information that permission to build would be barred by the city fire bylaw, because the inside of the office is to be of fir, not a fire-resisting material. The City Engineer, acting under the bylaw, had no option.

Alderman Stocker seconded Alderman Phelan's motion to grant the request outright. An amendment to refer the question to the City Engineer, with power to grant the permit when suitable construction is decided, carried by nine to two, and Alderman Phelan called for "yeas and nays." The result showed:

Yea.	Nay.
Cotton	Phelan
Stocker	Denne
Fife
McIntyre
Hancock
MacDonald
Ackeran
Greene
Holloway

Alderman Ackerman: "It's nothing to get excited about. The engineer says the building lined with wood is more likely to catch fire than one lined with gyproc or some other fire-resisting material. It is within the fire limits, in the very centre of the city. The engineer will explain to Mr. Turner, and the matter will be adjusted. That's all there is to it."

A request from the Imperial Oil Company to erect a temporary building on the northwest corner of the lot at Charlotte and Aylmer streets, was referred to the City Engineer to prepare a report for council.

Bylaws.

A bylaw providing for the borrowing of money for current ordinary expenditure of the city and for school purposes, was passed.

Another bylaw was passed authorizing the borrowing of $34,700 for the construction of pavements.

A fourth bylaw provided for borrowing $3,816.21 for the building of sewers and private drains.

The purchase of 500 feet of fire hose was authorized by bylaw.

An agreement with the C. P. R. regarding sewers and crossings was authorized by bylaw.

A bylaw was passed respecting the lately passed amendment to the market bylaw.

Mothers' Allowance Board.

F. Dobbin and Mrs. Knox were re-appointed to Mothers' Allowance Board.

Boys' Week.

Rotary Club asked for a special meeting of council in connection with Boys' Week, and a motion was passed promising co-operation.

Governor-General's Visit.

A letter announced that the Governor-General will probably be in Peterboro on June 20th, from 8 a.m., until late at night. The Reception Committee was asked to prepare a programme.

Sunday in the Park.

Mr. Mulligan asked for permission to use Central Park for religious meetings on Sunday evening.

His Worship suggested that an agreement might be made to allow special services in the park if other bodies apply.

Paving Tenders.

The City Engineer was instructed to call for tenders for paving George street from the C. P. R. station to Charlotte; Aylmer from Charlotte to Hunter, Water from Brock to Hunter and for repairing where necessary.

Condolence Sent.

On motion a letter of condolence will be sent Charles Curtis, assistant City Clerk, on the death of his father, and flowers will be sent by the city.

All Present.

There were present: Mayor Holloway; Aldermen Cotton, Stocker, McIntyre, MacDonald, Ackerman, Greene, Denne, Phelan, Fife, Hancock.

Gladstone Chapin of Peterboro, son of the late George R. Chapin of Deloraine, Man., and Mrs. M. Hallihan of Peterboro. The ceremony was performed by Rev. William Spencer. The bride and groom left on the 3.55 C.P.R. for Toronto and Hamilton, where the honeymoon will be spent. On their return they will reside in Peterboro.

ADDITION PLANS WELL ADVANCED

Board of Education Will Soon Be Able To Call For-Tenders.

REGULAR MEETING.

Plans for the extension to the Collegiate Institute are well advanced, chairman E. B. Fowler told the Board of Education, at the regular monthly meeting, held last night. It is expected that they will be ready for the next meeting of the Board. He reported also that members of the Building Committee had visited Chicago, St. Louis, Toledo and Detroit, seeking information on vocational training, and had received much helpful data.

The Special Committee appointed to look into the matter of the Non-resident pupils attending the public schools reported and recommended that, dating from the first of September next, the full cost of educating the pupils be charged to the various townships, instead of the nominal fee at present charged the pupils, and that the townships interested be notified accordingly.

When this report was presented by J. F. Strickland, chairman of that committee, Trustee W. R. Turner asked if it could be enforced. School Inspector Mowat explained that the school section trustees have power to pay such fees from the section funds.

The Inspector of Auxiliary Classes, Dr. F. P. Sinclair suggested in his report that there are enough pupils in Peterborough for two and possibly three of these classes. With three classes, one could be for pupils over 13. Inspector Mowat said that a class for children over 13 would hardly be feasible here without facilities to teach trades.

Dr. J. J. Craig is chairman of the Parade Committee for the Dominion Day Celebration, and when his committee wrote asking for the co-operation of the Board in having the school children take part, he and Mr. Mowat and Mr. Kenner were instructed to take such action in the matter, as they deem advisable. A letter from the Urban Trustees' Association, passing on a suggestion from Kingston that the schools celebrate on June 29 was received and declared unsuitable, in view of the Entrance Examinations being held on that date.

The report on attendance at the public Schools and Collegiate Institute for March is as follows:

Hunting Bad Boy Or Maniac Sniper

NEW YORK, April 6 (United Press). — Police yesterday were searching the Bronx for a maniac sniper or a small boy with a mail order rifle who wounded two young girls in fifteen minutes last night.

Rosie Peloso, 12, and Vivian Taylor, 14, were the victims of the mysterious gunman, who used a .22-calibre rifle. The size of the gun led police to favor the small boy theory.

Neither girl was believed seriously wounded.

HOUSE REJECTS AMENDMENT ON PARLEY REPORT

Defeated By Majority of 44, Long Debate Brought To Close.

WITHDRAW MOTION.

Recognized Equality of Status Between Dominions and Mother Country.

OTTAWA, Ont., April 6 (Canadian Press)—By 122 to 78, a majority against of 44, the House of Commons yesterday rejected the amendment on the imperial conference report proposed by Hon. Hugh Guthrie, leader of the Conservative Opposition. With this division ended the long debate on the report of the inter-imperial relations committee of the imperial conference—the report which formally recognized equality of status as between the dominions and the mother country.

The amendment was made not to a motion to give formal approval to the report, but to a motion to go into supply. And when the amendment had been defeated, Premier King rose and, announcing that the purpose of the supply motion being to afford opportunity to discuss the report, he would now withdraw the motion. Thus the House passed to other business.

Mr. Guthrie's amendment stipulated that the House should not be deemed tacitly to have acquiesced in the declarations and recommendations of the report; that the declarations and recommendations should not be binding upon parliament until approved by formal resolution; that no amendments affecting provincial right should be procured to the B.N.A. Act to give effect to report unless first approved by the legislature of each of the provinces.

Appeals for Withdrawal

Closing the debate, Premier King appealed to Mr. Guthrie to withdraw his amendment and not divide the House "upon this question of imperial unity as it comes to us from the imperial conference." In turn, Mr. Guthrie declined to withdraw the amendment, declaring that he believed the amendment to be right in principle, that it would be found right in practice and would be adopted sooner or later.

On their amendment, Conservatives had the support of Messrs. Lucas, Campbell, Kellner and Carmichael of the U.F.A., and Messrs. Evans and Fansher (Last Mountain), Progressives. Liberal-Progressives voted with Liberals against. Also voting against were: Messrs. Spencer, Gardiner, Garland (Bow River), Kennedy, Jolliff, Luchkovitch, of the U.F.A.; Messrs. Woodsworth, Heaps and Tdshead, Labor, and Neill, independent.

Charity Patient Leaves $50,000 In Stock and Cash

NEW YORK, April 6 (United Press). — Detectives searching the effects of George McLeod, a charity patient at Bellevue Hospital, who died to-day, found $50,000 in stocks and cash among his effects. For the past five years McLeod had lived in a hall bedroom for which he paid only $3.50 a week and limited himself to one meal a day.

As McLeod died intestate the money was placed in the custody of the public administrator. The estate will be divided among a brother, John McLeod of Scotland and a nephew, Robert A. McLeod of Australia.

RIOT SCENE IN TIENSTIN

Typical of the chaos and pillage which is in China to-day is this extraordinary photo of an actual riot in Tientsin, reported visited by the latest disorders. All is lawlessness and loot here as unmolested coolies hurry along the spoils of their plundering on heavily laden carts. Crowds of Chinese aimlessly throng the sidewalks, gazing with Oriental indifference, if not envy, upon the rioters booty.

DOCTORS HONOR GREAT SURGEON

Peterborough Medical Association Observes Lister Centenary.

PAPERS READ.

An interesting open meeting of the Peterborough Medical Society was held last evening in the rooms of the Public Library, with a good attendance of the medical men of the city, with the dentists and the nurses, who were invited as guests for the occasion. The president, Dr. J. M. McCulloch, was in the chair.

The event, especially designed to mark the anniversary of the birth of Lord Lister, the founder of antiseptic surgery, who was born near London, England, in 1827 and died in 1912 after carrying on extensive researches both in his own country and in Scotland, was marked by three splendid papers. Dr. Ray Scott gave a biographical sketch of the great surgeon, Dr. G. S. Cameron gave a description of prevailing surgical conditions before Lister's time and Dr. H. M. Yelland spoke of his influence on modern surgical methods.

LABATT BOOKS UNDER INQUIRY

Accountant Says Sales Tax Has Not Been Paid For Some Months.

NO SECRET FUNDS.

TORONTO, April 6. Canadian Press — For the present the investigations into the operations of Carling Brewing Company of London, Ont., before the Royal Commission on customs, is suspended. When the commission meets in Windsor it is expected that Harry Low and Marco Leon, directors of the Carling Company, will be on hand to give evidence.

To-day Charles Burns, President and general manager of the Carling Company, explained an amount in the books as a contribution to the Moderation league. The amount was not given.

From the Carling Company, N. W. Rowell, K.C., turned to an investigation of the Labatt Brewing Company, also of London.

Mr. Hitchins, accountant of this company, stated that sales tax had not been paid by the Labatt Company no export sales since the summer of 1926. Pending the result of litigation on an overcharge of sales tax which the commission's counsel said was unintentional, and caused by an error in the books of the company. The amount due was a hundred thousand dollars. Hitchins denied there were any secret funds in connection with the business.

Boys' Prank At School Causes Blaze In Chemicals

WOOLER, April 6.—In the village high school rooms, the boys thought they would April fool their teacher by hiding her rubbers behind a cupboard of chemicals. In their planning they had the misfortune to turn over the cupboard, consequently it caused the ignition of the chemicals and great excitement followed, but no damage to the building, as through the presence of mind of the teachers the fire was put out.

LIQUOR ON WAY SAYS CHAIRMAN

Substantial Supplies Coming For Ontario's New Stores.

COMMISSION MEETS.

TORONTO, April 6. Canadian Press. — Substantial supplies of liquor are now on the way to Ontario, and there is little likelihood of a shortage when the government's venders open. This was the assurance of D. B. Hanna, chairman of the liquor control commission, following the inaugural meeting of the commission to-day.

Hon R. J. Manion and J. Stewart McGlenaghan, besides Mr. Hanna, were sworn in as members. The methods of issuing permits were discussed during the meeting.

THIRTEEN DIE IN EXPLOSION

Four Men Missing Believed To Have Died in Oil Plant.

AT PARCO, WYOMING.

PARCO, Wyoming, April 6. — (Canadian Press).—At least thirteen were killed to-day by an explosion in the producers and refiners oil refining plant here. Four men were missing shortly before noon, and were believed to have died in the blast and subsequent fire which caused damage of half a million dollars in the refinery.

The coroner is investigating.

The first two units of high pressure exploded, due, it was said, to either too high or too low pressure in one of the chambers. Five of the stills and two large oil tanks took fire. The force of the explosion was felt in Rawlins, seven miles away.

Judge Rules Wife Must Pay Husband $750 Alimony

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., April 6 (United Press).—Eight years ago Judge Thomas F. Graham ruled that when a man beats his wife, and the wife sues for divorce, the husband must pay $50 in alimony for every blow struck. Turn about is fair play, Judge Graham believes, and so when J. Mulready testified that his wife, who weighs 210 pounds, had struck him fifteen times, the court ordered Mrs. Mulready to produce $750 in alimony for her husband.

TWO RIVERS ONE SYSTEM

Development of Ottawa Would Affect St. Lawrence, Says Sifton.

POWER SUBSIDIARY.

OTTAWA, April 6 (Canadian Press).—W. B. Sifton, Vice-President of the Georgian Bay Canal Company, resumed his evidence before the Railway and Canals Committee this morning. He argued that the Ottawa River could not be developed without injuring the water levels of the lower St. Lawrence unless that development was done under single unified control with power subsidiary and auxiliary to the canal scheme, as was required in the company charter.

Under the charter renewal asked for, compensation was strictly limited in the event of the Government's taking over the project, he said. Only the actual property and expenses incurred could be claimed. At the moment, if the Dominion decided to take over the scheme it might do so merely for reimbursment of out-of-pocket expenditures.

"We feel that there can be no objection to that in the public interests," said Mr. Sifton.

A running fire of questions were put to Mr. Sifton by the committee.

Among the statements made by Mr. Sifton were: (1) The estimated cost is over $282,000,000. (2) The estimated power to be created is 761,880 horse-power. (3) The canal would save 37 hours in grain shipments between Fort William and Montreal. (4) The company estimated a saving of three cents per bushel on grain rates from the lake head to Montreal as compared with the lake and St. Lawrence route. (5) If the bill was killed claim would be made only for actual property and expenses incurred.

CHICAGO, April 6. — (Canadian Press.)—The ousting of the superintendent of Chicago schools, William McAndrew, will be one of the first acts of William Hale Thompson, elected Mayor of Chicago yesterday with a plurality of eighty-three thousand votes. Nationalists Trying To Have Council Called To Restore Carol.

VIENNA, April 6. — (Canadian Press.)—A Bucharest despatch to a local newspaper says that King Ferdinand of Rumania has received the last rites of the church and his death is expected hourly. The Nationalist party is believed trying to have the King summon a council at his bedside and revoke the banishment of Crown Prince Carol. Nervousness prevails throughout the country.

Mother Of Five Dies On Way To New Home

HALIFAX, N.S., April 6 (Canadian Press). — Tragedy marred the hopes and saddened the hearts of a Swiss family which landed here Monday, en route to British Columbia, seeking a new home and happiness in the Fraser Valley. When the Cunard liner Ascania, from Southampton, Queenstown and Cherbourg was two hours out from the latter port, Mrs. Jean Joun died suddenly of heart failure and was buried at sea. She left her husband and five young children to continue the venture into the new world.

BEER FOR U.S. WAS SOLD ON CANADIAN SIDE

Evidence Revealed Concerning Cosgrave Brewing Co. Before Customs Board.

HEAVY DEMAND.

Orders Billed For Buffalo Were Supplied To Toronto Hotels.

TORONTO, April 6 (Canadian Press). — The process whereby "thirsty people of Toronto," to quote Chief Commissioner J. T. Brown, are supplied with strong beer, was revealed to the Royal Commission on Customs yesterday afternoon. James Cosgrave, president and managing director of the Cosgrave Export Brewery Company, of Toronto, was the witness who shed most light on the matter. For at least two years, he said, strong beer, ostensibly shipped for export to the United States, had been supplied to "quite a number" of Toronto hotels by the Cosgrave Brewery.

With three of the Cosgrave order books in his hands, R. L. Calder, K.C., commission counsel, plied Mr. Cosgrave with questions about where orders originated, how they were filled, and the manner in which payment was made. It developed that orders which, according to the books, came from Charles S. Jacobs, Buffalo, were filled by supplying beer to Toronto hotels and that the hotels in question were looked to for payment. Counsel said that each of the order books covered approximately 100 delivery notes, and John J. Devine, accountant for the Cosgrave Company said that about two books a month were used up in orders. A number of Toronto hotels were mentioned specifically as having purchased strong beer from the Cosgrave Brewery.

Suffered Convictions

It was further brought out that the Cosgrave Export Brewery Company and its predecessors (the company has gone through certain changes and reorganizations since its inception, suffered a number of convictions for infractions of provincial law. Only one is registered against the company since it was last reorganized, but there were three or four against the former company, according to evidence adduced yesterday. A letter from the head of the Ontario License Board to the Customs Department at Ottawa, asking for cancellation of the license of the Cosgrave Company because of alleged infractions of provincial law, was read by Mr. Calder. This letter was written in 1922.

OTHER LAWS BECOME EFFECTIVE WITH CLOSE OF ONTARIO HOUSE

Raising of Speed Limit on Highways Immediately Operative,

SMALL ATTENDANCE.

Amendment Respecting Four Wheel Brakes Not Effective Till October.

TORONTO, April 6—With about one-third of the membership of the House present, Lieutenant-Governor W. D. Ross yesterday afternoon declared the first session of Ontario's seventeenth legislature at an end.

It was exactly 3.10 when royal assent was asked for the act for regulation and control of liquor in Ontario and a few moments later, with the finishing of the reading of about 150 bills passed this session, royal assent was given and the liquor, income tax, traffic, amuseemnt tax reduction and other legislation went immediately into effect.

Galleries were fairly well filled with spectators despite the weather. The opposition groups were represented in the front benches only by the whips, A. P. Mewhinney, Liberal, and J. W. Widdifield, Progressive. Opposition leaders were not present and in fact only three other Progressives and seven Liberals graced the opposition sections of the House for the usual prorogation ceremony which occupied only 22 minutes in all.

For clarification of the new highway traffic laws, which came into effect yesterday afternoon, Hon. G. S. Henry, minister of highways, issued the following statement:

"With royal assent being given the bills affecting the highway traffic act and public vehicles act, the raising of the speed limit on highways outside of cities, towns and villages from 25 to 35 miles an hour became immediately operative.

"The speed of motor trucks equipped with pneumatic tires and having a gross weight in excess of six tons is also automatically increased from 10 to 20 miles per hour, while the speed for similar vehicles having solid tires is increased to 15 miles per hour. The half-load regulation, exempting trucks with a carrying capacity up to three tons for pneumatic-tired vehicles also becomes immediately operative and will apply during the present month of April. Solid tired vehicles above half ton capacity are still restricted to the half load above that weight.

"In order to remove any misapprehension, I might also point out that the amendment respecting four-wheel brakes and lights on horse-drawn vehicles do not become effective until October 1st next."

POWERS REPAIR OLD DEFENCES IN CANTON AREA

Clear Out Trenches and Protect Concession With Wire Entanglements.

CONSULATE RAIDED.

SHANGHAI, April 6. Canadian Press. — Measures for the defence of the British and French concessions at Shameen, the foreign quarter of Canton, in case of trouble, have resulted in surrounding the island on three sides by wire entanglements. The bund is the only portion left open, this being for the passage of naval men.

The British gunboats "Moorsen" and "Tarantula," the United States gunboat "Helena, and two French river gunboats, are lying off the island. The French have cleared the old trenches.

CHANG SEIZES RUSSIANS.

PEKING, April 6. — Canadian Press. — Troops of Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, the Manchurian war lord, and armed police raided the Soviet embassy today. Six Russians and 15 Chinese were taken to the police station, and a machine gun, rifles and ammunition were removed from the embassy. The Russians and Chinese arrested are described as agitators. Chang Tso-Lin has been described as a determined foe to Bolshevism.

ANTI-AMERICAN AGITATION.

SHANGHAI, April 6. Canadian Press. — An anti-American agitation taking the form of a strike and boycott of American goods, has broken out at Changsa, the capital of the province of Hunan, in Southern China. The United States consul has gone on board the gunboat "Palos" on the Siang River, preparatory to leaving Changsa. The whole province of Hunan will be evacuated by foreigners shortly because of the labor and anti-foreign manifestations. Kiukiang, on the Yangtse River in Kiangsi province, reported a general strike against foreigners, due to begin at noon.

NOTHING SAID ABOUT CLAIMS

Sifton Said Section of Company Might Have Some Expenses.

NO COMPENSATION.

OTTAWA, April 6 (Canadian Press).—Nothing was said in the evidence of yesterday to warrant the presumption that the Sifton interests will claim three million dollars compensation if the Georgian Bay Canal bill is killed, said Harry Sifton today in an interview before the hearing opened. Mr. Sifton pointed out that in the course of yesterday's sitting of the committee it was stated that the English section of the company, who were holders of the charter originally, had a bill for expenses which might be a basis of claims, but nothing had been said respecting any compensation for the Canadian section of the Georgian Bay Canal Company.

Camembert Village To Dedicate Monument To Woman Whose Cheese Made Place Famous

PARIS, April 6.—Recognizing that honor is due not only to the heroic and glorious but to humble benefactors, the people of Normandy have finally taken action to erect a statue to the memory of Mme. Marie Harel, the farmer's wife, who in 1791 discovered the formula for Camembert cheese.

The latter is now one of the most popular cheeses in France, which boasts 247 distinct varieties and is the pride of the entire district of Normandy, which claims it for its own. Mme. Harel's cheeses, named for the little village of Camembert where she lived, made such a reputation that she shipped them as far as Rouen in the little round poplar wood boxes invented by her husband, which still characterize the packing of the delicacy.

She never, however, benfited from the great popularity of her invention, for it was due to the initiative of a family of merchants that the manufacture of Camemberts spread so widely and a market was developed to such an extent that all cheese-making countries now imitate the product. Many feuds, law suits and controversies resulted and the right to exploit the original Camembert is still disputed.

All this does not, however, affect the prestige of the housewife who originated the delicacy, and so the townsmen have chosen the moment of the annual fair at Vimoutiers, a nearby farming centre, on April 16 for dedication of the monument attesting their gratitude.

Powerful financial interests have secured control. The largest stone found so far weighs eighty-one carats and is valued at thirty-five thousand dollars.

LIMIT WARSHIPS BUT NOT MEN SAYS CECIL

League of Nations Discusses Limitation of Naval Armaments.

DELEGATES DIVIDED.

Take Up Discussion of System For Limiting Warships.

GENEVA, April 6.—Limitation of naval armaments came under discussion at yesterday's session of the League of Nations Preparatory Commission, which is drafting a general disarmament treaty.

The delegates immediately found themselves unable to agree for the present on whether both warships and naval personnel should be limited or only warships. Paul Boncour, France, firmly maintained both should be restricted, while Hugh Gibson, United States, Viscount Cecil, Great Britain, and Baron Minoru Saito, Japan, lined up in favor of restricting warships, but not personnel.

The Commission then took up a matter on which still greater divergence of views exists, namely, the system of limiting the warships themselves.

The French and Italians want only the total tonnage limited, with freedom to distribute the type of the ships to best safeguard national security. The British, Americans, and Japanese favor limitation of each category of warships., Viscount Cecil remarking that only the latter system furnished a fair picture of naval strength, the total tonnage system leaving the world in the dark as to the component parts of the fleet.

DEER LACK FOOD.

OLEAN, N.Y., April 5.—Hunger is driving deer from the mountains into civilization. They seem weak from lack of food and do not run at the approach of automobiles. One motorist actually ran into a group of three, one buck being bowled over several times before he regained his feet and fled into the woods.

Fishing Boat Founders One Dead, Eleven Safe

JUNEAU, Alaska, April 6 (Canadian Press Service).—One man was drowned and eleven others had a narrow escape from death when the Canadian halibut vessel Caltuish ran on the rocks in a snowstorm near Cape Fairweather, 150 miles northwest of here, and broke up, the U. S. collector of customs has been advised in a radio message from Yatatuk. Patrick Callahan was the man drowned.

CAR KILLS GIRL; DRIVER ON BAIL

Charge of Criminal Negligence Laid After Toronto Fatality.

SPEED QUESTIONED.

TORONTO, April 6. — Another victim was added to the increasing list of auto fatalities so far this year, when Antoinetta Capanico, aged 3, of 53 Walton street, w. fatally injured by a motor car driven by Geo. Milne, Walpole avenue, at Bay and Walton streets, yesterday afternoon. The child was found to be dead on her arrival at the general hospital, whither she had been rushed in an auto belonging to R. Ryrie, 18 Clarenson avenue. Milne was taken into custody on a charge of criminal negligence, but later released on bail of $2000.

This makes the sixth auto tragedy so far this year ,and two for this month.

Eye-witnesses of the mishap said that the child was in the act of crossing Bay street from the west to the east side, when the motor car northbound, struck her. Milne told Detective-Sergt. Johns that he did not see the child until he was upon her. The speed of the car being questioned, Milne was arrested by P. C. Delgarmo . When the little girl was examined at the hospital, she was found to have suffered a fractured skull.

Notified of the tragedy, the mother collapsed.

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

I'LL PROVIDE

I have always thought of life
As a hill in lots of ways:
First the labor, and the strife;
Then to have your easier days.
Yes, I hope the road to find
Easier down the other side;
But, at that, I'm not the kind
Asking that the Lord provide.

If the Lord will give me health;
Good enough to stand the test,
Then he needn't give me wealth—
I will try to do the rest.
Some folks make and some folks spend,
Some folks always want to ride,
Then get pious at the end,
Asking that the Lord provide.

If He'll give me half a chance,
Something I can put away,
All the night I will not dance,
Asking Him to help next day.
All I ask the Lord to do
Is to be my guard and guide;
Give me health, and courage, too—
If He will, then I'll provide.

MANIFESTO DENIES ANY SPLIT WITHIN RANKS OF KUOMINTANG

Cantonese Leaders Issue Appeal For Unity Within Nationalist Ranks.

SUFFER REVERSES.

Asserts Internal Friction Due To Activity of Counter Revolutionaries.

SHANGHAI, April 6 (A.P.).—An appeal for unity within the Cantonese ranks at "this crucial moment" was made yesterday in a manifesto issued by Cantonese leaders and signed by Wang Ching Wei, former chairman of the executive committee of the Nationalist organization, and Chen Tu Hsiu, local Communist leader.

The manifesto in veiled terms denies that there is a split within the Kuomintang, or Republican Revolutionary Party, asserting that the Communists within the party adhere to the main Kuomintang principles set forth by the late Dr. Sun Yat Sen, the manifesto asserts that reports of internal friction are due to the activities of counter revolutionaries who are attempting to wreck the Nationalist movement.

Accepts Will of Hankow

One paragraph of the manifesto implies that General Chiang Kai-Shek, the Cantonese generalissimo, who has been at odds for some time with the radical wing of the party, has accepted the will of Hankow, capital of the Cantonese government. This paragraph says:

"The military authorities at Shanghai are now willing to obey the instructions of the central government and it is not impossible that the differences and misunderstandings, if any, between them will eventually be adjusted to the satisfaction of all."

The manifesto is generally interpreted as an effort by Wang Ching Wei to prevent a split in the party by voicing hopes of reconciliation rather than that it is an actual accomplishment.

"Since the arrival of the Nationalist revolutionary forces at Shanghai, which is the main base of imperialism," the manifesto says, "counter-revolutionists inside and outside of China have been doing their utmost to sow dissension between the main party of the Kuomintang and the Communists."

"The Communists have endorsed the Kuomintang's resolution to refrain from the use of military force to effect the retrocessions of the settlements. The General Labor Union has issued a manifesto that laborers will not try to invade the settlements singly or independently of others."

Appealing for unity, the manifesto concludes: "Our political views may differ, but we should always present an united front."

Reports of the continuation of the Cantonese drive along the railway leading to Tientsin and Peking and of the further evacuation of British and American nationals from the north of China, were received here during the day.

Meet Resistance

Stiff resistance to the Cantonese drive was reported northwest of Nanking, where Northern forces captured Kwantien on Sunday after heavy fighting. The Cantonese are rushing reinforcements to that sector.

Foreigners are continuing to concentrate on Tientsin from various sections of North China while the American and British evacuation of Szechwan Province in the upper Yangtse Valley was virtually complete. Only a few veteran missionaries at Chengtu and Yachowfu are remaining in Szechwan, which has been one of the largest fields for missionary work.

The United States gunboat "Bee Monocacy," which is convoying the steamer Chinan, is en route to Ichang bearing the United States Consult and Vice-Consul from Chungking.

One of the Chinese wounded when bluejackets aboard the "Monocacy" fired at a group of coolies Monday when the latter attempted to make off with the Chinan has died. The Chinan incident is now being used by agitators at Ichang to stir up feeling against the Americans. All Americans at Ichang had boarded the ship and attempts by agitators to call out the native crews of United States ships thus far had failed yesterday.

The evacuation of the province of Hunan also will be completed shortly. The Palos, which is now at Changsha with the United States Consul aboard, is preparing to sail on Thursday, labor agitation in the city being reported as making this step imperative.

Push Toward Peking.

LONDON, April 6 (Associated Press).—The sporadic outbreaks of terrorist methods reported in widely separated points in China north of the Yangtse River is felt here to indicate that the Cantonese vanguard of "expert intimidators" is pushing on toward Peking in preparation for

PRISONERS FIGHT ONE FATALLY HURT

TORONTO, April 6.—Fearing a fatal termination to a fracas between prisoners at the Toronto Jail Farm, provincial and city police officers attended W. H. P. Thornhill at the Toronto General Hospital yesterday afternoon to secure an ante-mortem statement. Thornhill was stabbed in the heart in an altercation with a fellow prisoner at the Jail Farm, and slightest hopes are now being held out for his recovery. He was almost too weak yesterday to make the ante-mortem statement which was desired of him.

Magistrate Browne, Assistant Crown Attorney Frank Moore, Inspector Stringer of the Provincial Police and Detective-sergeant Tough of the City Police visited the hospital to secure the statement. They took with them Mike Vincenzo, who is alleged to have made the murderous assault upon his fellow prisoner.

The details of the case are that Thornhill and Vincenzo fell into an altercation at the Jail Farm, where they were both serving sentences, Thornhill inadvertently moved Vincenzo's coat from where it was lying, with the result that Vincenzo was provoked to rage at having his property touched. He rushed at Thornhill with a knife, which he had managed to keep about him and stabbed him in the heart. The dispute occurred on Monday of last week.

Vincenzo is being held at the Toronto Jail on the charge of wounding. Should Thornhill's injury prove fatal, the charge will be altered to murder.

Thornhill is a young Englishman, who had been in the country for some five years. He is about 19 years of age. His relatives still reside in the Old Country.

EVERY SAFE—FOR $1.

IRVING, Ill., April 6.—The town of Irving has sixteen business establishments. Thirteen of them were burglarized in one night. Every safe in town was opened during the crime wave, but the loot was small. The post office safe yielded 75 cents. The stamps were left untouched. The grain elevator company, garage, bank and several mercantile establishments were visited, but only about $1 was obtained.

OLD MASTERS

O little self, within whose smallness lies
All that man was, and is, and will become,
Atom unseen that comprehends the skies
And tells the tracks by which the planets roam;
That, without moving, knows the joys of wings,
The tiger's strength, the eagle's secrecy,
And in the hovel can consort with kings,
Or clothe a god with his own mystery;
O, with what darkness do we cloak thy light,
What dusty folly gather thee for food,
Thou who alone art knowledge and delight,
The heavenly bread, the beautiful, the good.
O living self, O god, O morning star,
Give us thy light, forgive us what we are.

Highest Average Age At Marriage Claimed

VICTORIA, B.C., April 6.—British Columbia claims the world's highest average age at marriage. Unofficial figures show the ages of the bridegrooms to average 32 and the brides 27. The same statistician figures that British Columbia has the world's lowest birth rate, with the exception of Sweden. Canada averages 26 children in every ten families, but British Columbia averages 19 to every ten. Preponderance of males in unsettled sections and the influx of unmarried persons for the coastal industries are blamed for the odd figures.

MAJORITY 70,000.

CHICAGO, April 6. — (Canadian Press.) — William Hale "Big Bill" Thompson, Republican mayor of Chicago from 1915 to 1923, yesterday was elected to that office for the third time.

Thompson, who conducted his campaign with a slogan of "America first," won over Mayor Wm. E. Dever, Democratic incumbent, in one of the bitterest and most closely contested elections in Chicago's history. Dr. John Dill Robertson, who ran as an independent, offered no serious opposition.

On the basis of returns from 2,000 of the city's 2,384 precincts Thompson was returned a winner by upward of 70,000 votes. With 384 precincts missing, the vote stood:

On the basis of the same figures, it was indicated that the vote was the heaviest ever cast in Chicago, upward of 1,000,000 of Chicago's 1,143,000 voters going to the polls.

MANITOBA IS NEXT FREIGHT RATES CASE

Two Heavy Arguments Are Heard on Behalf of Alberta and Saskatchewan.

OTTAWA, Ont., April 6 (Canadian Press) — Good progress was made in yesterday's sessions of the freight rates enquiry before the Board of Railway Commissioners and having heard two of the heaviest of the arguments to be submitted, viz., those in behalf of Alberta and Saskatchewan, the case for Manitoba is now being developed by H. J. Symington, K.C., of Winnipeg, who will probably take the whole of to-day also to complete his presentation.

Mr. Symington opened with an expression of the opinion that the present case was entirely different to any of the rates cases which had previously been before the Board. Earlier cases had always dealt with some distinct issue affecting a particular locality or class of traffic and with well-defined and natural territorial conditions and limitations, but the present case dealt with the entire Dominion and included the disposal of some sixty or seventy different complaints which, if granted to any great extent, would bring about, not an adjustment of rates but a complete revolution in all rate-making theories which have obtained in the past. It would wipe out natural boundaries by the magic bond of railway tariffs and produce a checker board tariff, a thing of rags and patches. It was interesting to note that in this case varying interests in the same locality appeared in opposition to one another, but counsel maintained that at this stage of the country's expansion — and all were agreed that there was an era of expansion developing—the sectional quarrels should be set aside and the greater question of national interests and benefits should prevail.

Surely, declared counsel, this is a bad time to go into a speculative tariff building scheme; the day of experimenting on how much of a rate a tariff would stand had passed and counsel said he feared the chaotic result of such experimental work more than he did the present rate structure.

LITTLE CHANGE AT BUCHAREST

Official Bulletin States King Ferdinand's Fever Takes Slight Decline.

UNITED IN GRIEF.

BUCHAREST, April 6 (AP)—The condition of King Ferdinand of Rumania, who is seriously ill, with grippe, showed little change during the day although it was stated that his fever has gone down.

An official bulletin issued at noon said that his majesty had passed a somewhat better night and that amelioration in his condition had been noted.

All classes in Rumania are watching with intense anxiety the monarch's struggle for life. The churches and mosques are filled with worshippers praying for his recovery.

In political circles it is felt that whether the king lives or dies, the situation will not be changed in any way and that at present Rumania is united in a common grief with the religious and political differences forgotten.

Prince at Neuilly

PARIS, April 6 (AP)—Improvement in the condition of King Ferdinand of Rumania was reported by his physicians in a bulletin issued at Bucharest yesterday. It was stated that his temperature was lower and unofficial reports said the attack of grippe from which he has been suffering for several days has become less acute.

Advices from other points, however, are somewhat less encouraging. A despatch from Vienna says it has been learned there that the king was not able to take nourishment yesterday, with the result that he is much weaker.

Prince Carol, the king's exiled son, remained last night at his home at Neuilly, near Paris. He received several members of the Rumanian colony during the day, but no authorization came for him to enter Rumanian and go to his father's bedside. The Rumanian legation professes complete ignorance of the prince's movements and intentions.

THE LIFE OF CHRIST : The Wisdom of the Master

The enemies of Jesus, seeking to ensnare Him, inquire regarding the rightfulness of paying tribute to Caesar, but Jesus, asking for a penny, with Caesar's superscription upon it, said: "Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and to God the things that are God's." (Matthew XXII : 15-21)

To a lawyer, questioning him, Jesus defines religion as consisting in loving God with all the heart, soul and mind, and in loving one's neighbor as one's self. (Matthew XXII : 35-40)

Jesus warns His disciples against the hypocrisy of those who love long robes, and salutations, and high office, but whose hearts are evil. (Luke XX : 45-47)

Jesus commended a widow who cast into the treasury of the temple two mites, all that she had, in contrast to the rich who, though giving much, had much left. (Mark XII : 41-44)

C.G.I.T. GROUP PRESENTS PLAY

Good Programme Given By Regent Street Church Girls.

WELL CARRIED OUT.

LAKEFIELD, April 6. — The C. G.I.T. group of the Regent Street church, gave its first entertainment on Tuesday evening last in the basement of the church, and the effort was greeted with a capacity house, which encouraged the girls very much and far surpassed their expectations, as one of the girls was heard to say: "It's too good to be true." The girls acted as doorkeepers and ushers and showed splendid executive ability in this regard.

The C. G. I. T. group has been organized for two years and numbers about 33 girls under the direction of Mrs. S. A. Kemp, who has given a great deal of time and energy to the work, and has received in turn the co-operation of the girls, who have given loyalty and enthusiasm. The group is creditable to the leader and the girls themselves.

Rev. S. A. Kemp was in the chair for the programme, which opened with a selection by the Regent St. orchestra, which consists of six pieces, with Mrs. H. E. Moore at the piano, Mr. W. Madill with the slide trombone, violins, Messrs. Ivan Madill and R. J. Knox, and the cornets, Messrs. Keneth and Ronald Kemp. The orchestra selections were all much appreciated and were well rendered. Rev. T. M. Wesley led in prayer, after which the chairman made a few remarks, thanking those present for their patronage and their encouragement.

Misses Mary Dever and Verna Payne gave a piano duet which was well rendered and much appreciated.

Miss Robinson gave a recitation, "The Farmer's Daughter," by Isabella Valency Crawford, in a most excellent manner.

Miss Edna Harrison sang very sweetly "The Word is waiting for the Sunrise," Mrs. Moore playing the accompaniment. Miss Oro Dunford gave a most amusing selection, "Reading the News," which was encored, and she responded with a short sketch, "How we Waked Ike," which brought down the house.

Misses Mildred Purdy and Marion Wagar gave a piano duet, a stirring march. Miss Robinson gave another reading, "My Financial Career,' by Stephen Leacock, which was encored.

Mrs. McMillen sang a solo "A Brown Bird Singing" in good voice, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Moore. An orchestra selection followed which brought the first half of the programme to a close.

The feature of the second half was a comedy in two acts entitled "'Neath the Sceptre of Su an," which was admirably acted by 12 of the girls. The scene was laid in the Meadowvale Female Seminary, and the time the late 80's or early 90's, as the costumes were of a bygone style and were in themselves an object lesson on how times have changed. The hairdressing was also of a decade ago, as were the rules, which were more strict than one finds in similar institutions to-day. The head mistress, Miss Serut. , was literally of the old school, whereas some of the girls were showing dangerous indications of the modern "up and coming" young miss, which the mistress strove to stamp out. The rivalry of Miss Seruten and her assistant, Miss Thompson, for the affections of the young minister, Mr. Leicester, who had many difficulties in proposing to Miss Thompson, and the antics of the children, Pansy and Peter, who were a scream in their "Kid" by-play, furnished the plot of the sketch, which included a midnight feast, without which no boarding school play is complete. The ingenuity of Susan in bribing the children, engaging Miss Seruten's attention with a clever simulation of an accident, and arranging the movements of the girls so as to give an opportunity for Mr. Leicester to propose to Miss Thompson, was the climax, and all the efforts were successful, although seriously menaced by Mary Anne Simpkins, who was the school tell tale, and enjoyed the popularity usually accorded to such characters. Every part was well taken and each girl seemed to live her part so naturally that there was an absence of the affectations which too often mar amateur productions. Miss Merle Crawford, as the young minister, had an especially difficult part, but she carried it through admirably. All the others were worthy of special mention, as each part was well played.

Miss Seruten, the head mistress: Miss Elva Hendren.

Miss Thompson, her assistant: Miss Olive Northey.

Susan, Virginia Jones, a leader among the girls: Miss Ione Sanderson.

Mr. Leicester, the young minister: Miss Merle Crawford.

Clarissa Peabody, Louisa, Elsie (or Eliza) Caroline Fairbanks, Jane Tilbury Chew, girls of the school: Miss Margaret Richardson, Miss Mildred Purdy, Miss Grace Darling, and Miss Thelma Carveth.

Pansy and Peter, a pair of live wires, Miss Eileen Brown and Miss Madeline Junkin.

The orchestra played selections between the acts and also after the last act.

Miss Frances Fairbairn gave a solo "Love is like a Game of Cards," which ws sung at the close of the play with the entire cast grouped on the platform. Miss Fairbairn possesses a sweet clear voice, which was heard to good advantage in the selection.

The closing number was a flag drill by 13 girls wearing the trim and becoming uniform of the C.G.I.T., (white middies and blue skirts, who with their flags of black and yellow and red, spelled out the words, "We are the Regent street Canadian Girls in training," directed by Mrs. Kemp and accompanied by Miss I. Sanderson. This number was a novelty and received hearty applause.

The proceeds reached the gratifying sum of a little over $75.

the next big military phase of the ever changing Chinese war situation.

Authoritative advices received in London indicate that the coming conflict between the victorious Cantonese and the well-disciplined troops of the Manchurian war lord, Marshal Chang Tso Lin, will be a supreme test of the Cantonese propaganda methods which have attracted much attention.

The Cantonese already have swept over half of China and have captured Shanghai without fighting a single big battle, and Marshal Chang's troops are the only serious barrier between them and the northern capital, Peking.

British officials believe that the Cantonese have patterned their propaganda methods after the Russians and have even bettered them in preparing the path for the peaceful advance of the Cantonese army.

Spread Propaganda.

The advance guards of small groups of spies, secret service men and plainclothes men is reported filtering through the northern lines to organize small bodies of Cantonese sympathizers and to gain control of the various labor unions. The presses wherever the Nationalists have gained a foothold are reported to be pouring out Nationalist handbills and manifestos just as it occurred in Russia in 1917.

Agitators addressing crowds, stir up huge demonstrations. Reports received here say that wherever opposition develops, the "expert intimidators" work upon their fellow-countrymen's fear of personal injury. If necessary, gunmen institute campaigns of terrorism, picking off men marked as "foreign running dogs."

Was Perfect Sample.

The fall of Shanghai is regarded here as a perfect example of Chinese warfare. The original defender, Sun Chuan Fang, who once was pictured as an Oriental stone wall, left his army an easy prey to the Cantonese, while Sun's successor, General Chang Tsung Chang, hastily retreated northward without any real fighting.

British officials expressed doubt as to whether the Cantonese propaganda will have such speedy success against Marshal Chang Tso Lin, whose troops are advancing toward the south, with Hankow, the headquarters of the Cantonese, as their far distant objective. Already, however, there are rumors here of a secret agreement with the Cantonese.

It is emphatically stated in official circles that there is not the slightest possibility of Great Britain supporting Chang Tso Lin or otherwise aiding any of the Chinese leaders in the civil strife.

BEER FOR U. S.

There were one or two amusing spots in the examination of Mr. Cosgrave.

"May I ask whether you sold any beer to the Prince of Wales?" asked Mr. Calder, referring to one of the orders in the book he was looking into. He explained his question by saying that the order in question was market P. of Wales.

This the witness explained by saying that a hotel in Toronto was called the Prince of Wales and that "ye look for payment to this hotel."

"Another very illustrious name," said Mr. Calder, when he discovered an order signed "Gladstone." This, the witness explained, signified the Gladstone Hotel.

Thought Shipments Genuine

The shipper of the Cosgrave Brewery, John Kelly, declared that he thought the export shipments of this company were genuine.

"Do you mean to say that you did not know that strong beer was being shipped to almost every hotel in Toronto?" asked Mr. Calder.

The reply was in the negative.

Examine Breweries

Yesterday afternoon was devoted entirely to examination of Ontario breweries. Investigation of the Dominion Brewery Company, Ltd., of Toronto, proved very brief, and James Low, manager of this company, was on the stand for only a few minutes. Henry C. Weidman, managing director of Reinhardt's Brewery, was also asked comparatively few questions. In the case of both these companies, the commission auditors reported that certain sales tax arrears existed, assuming that it was determined that the tax was payable on export business.

When the Commission rose, Hon. N. W. Rowell, K.C., was conducting further investigation into the Carling Brewing Company of London. This will be continued today. When the Carling Company is finished, it is the intention to look into the business of the John Labatt Company, also of London.

CHEESE MAKERS HEAR ADDRESSES ABOUT INDUSTRY

Improvement of Standing of Northumberland County Considered.

GRADING VALUABLE.

Speaker Says First Grades Have Increased 10 Per Cent. in Three Years.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 6.—In spite of the inclement weather, a large crowd of cheesemakers and dairymen gathered in the Public Library yesterday afternoon and listened to instructive addresses delivered by G. B. Publow, chief dairy inspector for Eastern Ontario; J. L. Irwin, Dominion grader, and George H. Barr, director of dairying for Ontario.

Others who spoke briefly were John Murray, inspector for Northumberland County; Charles Lynn, Hastings County; Inspector C. F. Wessels, president Belleville Cheese Board; Mr. Spragg, Mr. Johnston, and W. R. McCreary of Belleville.

Alex. Hume occupied the chair.

Inspector Murray, the first speaker, said good milk was the first essential of good cheese. Undergrade cheese was the big drawback to the dairy industry in Eastern Ontario. He advised his hearers to watch their cans and milking machines closely and keep them clean. The new legislation should help the cheesemaker in getting good milk and he had hopes of Northumberland County rising above its present standing.

Machines Give Trouble.

Inspector Lynn of Hastings, whose county stands third with a grade of 94.7 per cent., said he found the biggest trouble with milking machines. He said they should be washed every day, not every week.

J. L. Irwin quoted a few figures relative to the cheese industry in Canada. Eighty-eight per cent. of all the cheese graded is Canada was first grade. Ontrio's first grade cheese was 92 per cent., and Quebec 78 per cent. Prince Edward County was the highest in Ontario with 95.3 per cent., first grade.

Mr. Irwin, without mentioning any name, paid a glowing tribute to the veteran maker, James Shillinglaw, whose Kimberley Factory averaged 99 per cent., first grade, the highest in the district. The average price per pound received last year was 17c. The first grade cheese had increased 10 per cent. since the inauguration of grading in 1923.

Finish Important.

Mr. Irwin outlined the constitution of the different grades and laid special stress on the finish. He said the finish on a cheese was the evidence of the maker's skill as a mechanic. Some makers used too large a bandage, and advised a bandage half an inch smaller than the hoops, and surplus bandage should be trimmed off. The box should fit the cheese. The big end of the cheese should be at the top of the box and the box lid should rest on top of the cheese. The ranges should be clean and the cheese turned on them every day.

The next speaker George H. Barr spoke of regulations in the cheese industry, of which the average farmer says there are too many, but on the other hand at present Canadian cheese has the best standing in the Old Country market and must keep it. For that reason regulations are necessary and he asked for the co-operation of all engaged in the dairying industry to make Canadian cheese better.

Testing milk, the speaker said, was one of the duties of a first class cheesemaker and was one of the essentials required for a first class certificate. Other requirements were an average of 93 per cent first grade cheese, a clean factory, and the maker himself clean and tidy; second class certificates would be issued to makers turning out 88 per cent first grade cheese with factory and self clean and tidy.

Makers not qualified for a first or second class certificate will be given a permit this year.

Cancellation Penalty

Cheesemakers taking in milk overripe, tainted, or in unclean cans, will have their certificates cancelled and a maker taking milk from a patron rejected at another factory will have his certificate cancelled. The speaker emphasized the fact that Canadian cheese had the preference over the New Zealand product in the British market because of its firmness and full body, and given good clean pure milk and efficient makers it would continue to merit that preference.

G. B. Publow, speaking from the viewpoint of the maker, said it was not the duty of the maker to make the best cheese better, but to lessen the number of second grade cheese.

All changes in milk and milk products, the speaker said, were due to fermentation due to unclean conditions somewhere either on the farm or at the factory, and it was the privilege and duty of the maker to reject any milk not suitable to make first class cheese. The new regulations were in the best interests of the best farmers, the best makers, and the best factories. Every weigh stand will have a copy of the regulations posted in a conspicuous place.

In conclusion Mr. Publow intimated that might be his last year in his present position, and appealed to [illegible] standard of the grade in this district.

. . . MIRROR OF THE PUBLIC MIND . . . INTERPRETER OF THE PUBLIC INTENT . . . TROUBLER OF THE PUBLIC CONSCIENCE.

NO DANGER HERE.

Fears expressed by some of the Aldermen as to the legality of any steps that might be taken to supply an emergency bus service while the contract with the Hydro Commission remains valid are surely not well founded.

The Hydro's contract for the use of Peterborough streets to operate a street railway does not interfere in the slightest with the operation of buses on the same streets any more than it could be used to prevent taxi cabs from being operated.

Ninety days must elapse before the contract with the Hydro expires, and to argue that the citizens of Peterborough should be left without adequate transportation for three months because of a fancied danger of legal entanglements is an attitude that is not easy to justify.

So far as the legality of that action is concerned there is nothing to prevent the city fathers from arranging a bus service immediately if other difficulties more real than this anxiety about the Hydro contract could be surmounted.

THE GARDEN OF THE GULF.

The "Garden of the Gulf" is the name generally given to Prince Edward Island, Canada's smallest Province, as almost the entire area of 1,397,990 acres is good arable land, most of it under cultivation. The whole island is gently undulating; there are no mountains, no barren lands, and no stretches of desolate road; from end to end it is dotted with comfortable farm houses, churches and quiet villages. The Province is the home of the certified seed potato and the silver fox industries. Its co-operative poultry industry is rapidly expanding, while the whole Province is now a restricted area—that is, free from bovine tuberculosis.

But not all of Prince Edward Island's attractions are of an agricultural nature. It is a summer playground par excellence. Surrounded by the sea, its summer climate is all that can be desired; its exquisite pastoral and marine scenery is enjoyable and restful; its skies are clear and sunny blue; it possesses many miles of splendid beaches; fishing is good; while the gently undulating stretches of bright red roads, skirting the shores or winding past fields of beautiful green or through natural avenues of shady trees, appeal to the motorist. The Island is reached by means of a good ferry service and tourist traffic is rapidly growing.

The above is gathered from a perusal of the material in an interesting report, "Prince Edward Island: Its Resources and Opportunities," just issued by the Natural Resources Intelligence Service, Department of the Interior, Ottawa, Canada. This report, copies of which may be obtained free on application to the Director of the Service, is incidentally one of the first official publications ever issued dealing in a general way with the resources of this interesting part of Canada and what it can offer to those who wish to seek its shores for purposes either of permanent residence or holidaying.

THE NEW LIQUOR ACT.

All good citizens, regardless of their personal views in regard to prohibition, should echo the hope expressed in the Speech from the Throne read by His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor yesterday in proroguing the Legislature, "that the new liquor law will promote better conditions throughout the Province."

The introduction of Government sale of liquor is looked upon by some people as a decidedly retrograde step, and by others as the restoration of an opportunity to satisfy their desire for liquor as a beverage, but between these two classes are thousands of Ontario citizens whose chief interest in the law lies in the hope that it will do away with some of the abuses that existed under the O.T.A., and prove a successful solution of the liquor problem.

Evidence offered during the past few days before the Royal Customs Commission shows that violation of the Ontario Temperance Act was even more widespread than was generally believed.

When brewers admit that more than half of the strong beer they manufactured was consumed in the Province, and when it is realized that the large quantities of liquor sold under doctors' prescriptions was augmented by the short-circuiting back into the Province of huge supplies ostensibly exported, the amount of drinking in Ontario under a prohibitory law must have been decidedly extensive, even without allowing for the quantity of home-brew beer, native wine and "moonshine" consumed each year.

The success of the Liquor Act depends largely upon how it is treated by the people themselves.

The Act is an improvement over any other Government control measure in existence, the weaknesses of other systems has been eliminated, and its administration has been entrusted to a commission in which the public has every confidence.

A majority of the people of Ontario voted for this method of dealing with the liquor question, and even opponents of the plan admit that the Government has done everything possible to carry out the wishes of the electors in a manner most likely to prove effective as a control over the use of liquor.

It is up to the people to make the law a success, for abuse of the privileges now accorded will cause a reaction that will cause another era of prohibitory legislation.

DEVELOPING THE NORTH.

One of the most important announcements made during the session of the Ontario Legislature that has just closed was Mr. Ferguson's intimation that the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway is to be extended thirty miles into the Rouyn gold mining district of Quebec.

Discussions, he explained, are under way with Quebec to ensure that there will be no friction over the matter.

In deciding upon this extension the Ontario Government regards the railway not as entirely a Provincial affair, but to be used for the development of the whole mining area of Ontario and Quebec.

Such a policy not only means much to Northern Ontario and Quebec, but also to the railway itself, which should find its revenues considerably increased as a result of tapping the Rouyn district.

Other very important developments in the North were announced during the session.

In connection with a bill granting an additional $5,000,000 under the Northern and North-Western Ontario Development Act, Hon. Wm. Finlayson outlined the extensive road work to be undertaken this year.

Regarding the trunk road from North Bay to Cochrane, the Minister said:

"We spent last year over a million dollars. There is a section of 25 miles from Swastika that has not been touched, and we are advertising for tenders next week. Fort William and Port Arthur have peculiar claims that have been neglected, and we are going to spend large sums improving the highway to the south. We hope to bring in an immense flow of tourists from Minnesota, etc. West of that we propose to extend the road from Kenora as far as Webbwood, so they can get out to Wabigoon. At Fort Frances we have let contracts to build a road leading to the Lake of the Woods."

This programme of railway extensions and road building will materially help in the development of Northern Ontario, and equally helpful will be the establishment by the Government of a custom smelter to take care, particularly, of the ore got out by the smaller producers in the great mineral area about Sudbury.

Northern Ontario in mineral production added $85,000,000 to our wealth last year—the Government's progressive policy in connection with this part of the Province is thus amply justified.

MR. GUTHRIE'S AMENDMENT.

Parliament has witnessed some topsy-turvy spectacles. We doubt, however, whether it has ever staged a more curious one than that which was seen on Tuesday, with Mr. Mackenzie King insisting that the Imperial Conference really did nothing and changed nothing worth mentioning, and Mr. Hugh Guthrie, Conservative Leader, insisting that it did. That, coming after Mr. King's resounding talk of last autumn about a "Magna Charta" and a "larger freedom" is enough (to use an expressive phrase once used by Mr. Pugsley) to make a horse laugh.

We feel bound to say that on this occasion Mr. Guthrie is less right than Mr. King. The Journal has insisted all along (in so insisting it has been in the company of the most distinguished constitutionalists) that the resolutions of the Imperial Conference changed nothing and created nothing, that they were little more than a rhetorical exercise upon the British Empire that might have been penned just as appropriately in 1920 as in 1926. Mr. Guthrie, no doubt, is sincere in what he feels. But with Mr. King feasting upon crow in regard to his "Magna Charta" (he even admitted yesterday that in so far as Canada was concerned there was practically no change in respect of the Governor-General) and refusing to submit the Conference resolutions to Parliament for ratification, and with the resolutions themselves in black and white before him, we cannot for the life of us see wherein Mr. Guthrie discerns danger.

Mr. Guthrie's fears, if we have correctly understood him, are not derived from any single concrete thing in the Conference's pronouncements, but rather from the fact that he believes their general tone will give encouragement to the separatists in our midst. But we are convinced that he is unnecessarily disturbed. There are in Canada a certain number of people who would sever all connection with the British Empire. But though this number has one or two able leaders and a few vociferous lieutenants, they are, after all, but a drop in the bucket compared with the vast number of Canadians who value British connection and want to see it maintained. Not that the Canadian people are Imperialistic. The majority of the people of this country are just as impatient of Jingo Imperialists and of the Colonial minded as they are of ultra-Nationalists and loose-lipped separatists. They do not want to co-operate with, and they never will co-operate with, an Empire that seeks to menace or to over-awe the world. But they do want to co-operate with and to be partners with an Empire that does justly and loves mercy and strives to keep the peace. The British Commonwealth today stands for those things.

Nor can The Journal detect ground for Mr. Guthrie's fears regarding the rights of minorities. For with the Imperial Conference absolutely impotent to dot an "i" or cross a "t" in Canada's constitution, with its decisions shorn of all executive, or legislative or legal power, and with the Parliament of Canada not even asked to sanction the Conference's decisions, it is impossible to admit that the rights of minorities have been changed or even menaced in the slightest degree. The time may come when the majority of the people of Canada may be foolish enough or ungenerous enough to deprive minorities of rights which they now enjoy under the constitution. But if that time should come (and we trust it never will come, then anything that has been said or done or written by any Imperial Conference will weigh but slightly in the balance. Canadian minorities, we fancy, understand that.

Mr. Guthrie's amendment, of course, does no harm. On the contrary, it affords opportunity for discussion of important imperial questions, and, to that extent, does good. If it were not for that, it might have been a great deal better to treat what the Conference did precisely as Mr. King himself is now treating it—by recognizing that it was much ado about nothing and altered nothing at all.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

If the transportation crises were to last only as long as the new market bylaw there would be little cause to worry.

One would think, remarks The Globe, the parties to the Peterborough trolley strike would have thought twice in this day of so many rivals for a trolley service.

Boys' Week looms up as one of the most unique and interesting affairs of its kind ever held in Peterborough. With the event over a month away, interest is steadily increasing.

Montreal has over 1,800 cases of typhoid fever, yet an Alderman speaking for the City Council declares there is no epidemic there. No wonder Montreal finds itself facing a crisis that should never be possible in any modern community.

Ottawa and Boston will play off for the national hockey championship, which will decide the important question as to whether the title is to be held by Canadians playing for Ottawa and another squad of Canadians wearing Boston uniforms.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Que., April 6 (Canadian Press). — There was an improved demand from the United Kingdom for wheat and more inquiry from the Continent for rye in the Montreal market yesterday, and as sables generally were better, exporters in some cases accomplished a moderate amount of business for nearby and opening of navigation shipment.

The domestic market for cash grain was quiet yesterday, there being little demand from local or export buyers, but the undertone was firm and prices were unchanged.

Business in Spring wheat grades of flour was quiet, but values were steady. A small trade was done in Winter wheat grades and prices were firm.

The tone of the market for millfeed remained firm under a continued good demand. There was no change in the condition of the market for rolled oats, the demand being still limited.

The trade in eggs continued active, but the undertone was easy and indications are that values will be further reduced in the near future. The receipts were 3,727 cases.

Owing to the increased supplies of fresh made butter and further arrivals from New Zealand, the local market displayed further weakness, and prices scored another decline of 1-2 to 1c per pound. The market was moderately active. Sales of New Zealand finest creamery butter were made at 46 1-2c per pound, and fresh made Eastern Townships No. 1 pasteurized at 46c per pound. The receipts were 927 packages.

The cheese trade continued inactive, but there was no change in prices. The receipts were 92 boxes.

Sterling demand—$4.84 11-16.

Sterling cables—$4.85 1-4.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, April 6 (Canadian Press). — Somewhat less favorable crop news yesterday had a tendency to tilt wheat upward. Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled, 1-8 to 5-8c net higher; corn 1-8 to 3-8c up; oats unchanged to 1-8c advance, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 12 cents.

Corn and oats were responsive to the upward trend of wheat. Receipts of corn here yesterday proved scanty, just 28 cars. Vessel room was chartered for 65,000 bushels of corn to go to Cardinal, Ont.

Provisions developed firmness owing to an upturn in hog values.

VOICE OF PEOPLE

Letters to be printed in the Voice of the People column must be received at The Examiner office on the day before it is desired to have them published.

A WORD OF APPRECIATION.

The Editor of The Examiner:

Dear sir:

I have felt that I should speak through The Examiner in expression of my thankfulness to Cooney & Jopling on finding them to be a friend indeed in their bus line service.

On the evening of the 15th of May, 1926, on returning home from city enroute to Crawford's Grove and getting off at corner of Monaghan and Romaine, in stepping off bus, though carefully, something caused my heel to slip. I fell, causing a fracture of left arm above elbow, without any fault of the bus whatever. Mr. Cooney in a very gentlemanly spirit insisted on seeing that my arm was attended to, having lifted a great cloud in such time, and so with attention of the surgeon I have been able, to great extent, to perform again the duties of home.

Thanking you for space, and all kind friends,

MRS. NELSON SAGE.

THE STREET RAILWAY.

To the Editor:

Sir:

The sudden demise of the Hydro Street Railway of Peterboro will be found to be after all really a step in that process of evolution by which municipal development takes place. It reminds us of the evolution of the local fire-system by which, from an antique and crude beginning, it has so developed that it could, if necessary, knock over pedestrians and other people's cars without delay and land the whole business in English's creek or the hospitals. Many years ago fire-alarms were given in this instance: A fire, we will say, started in a small shed near the corner of Albert and Park streets. Actuated by an enthusiasm and public spirit which we rarely see nowadays a number of those privileged to see the first fierce glare would start for the market bell, at that time the only official way of alarming the brigade, and the citizens generally, except where the original discoverers of the blaze stood still and yelled for all they were worth, "Fire! Fire!" with the result that other citizens would ask, 'Where is the fire brigade?' and so on. If, however, the o.d. ran the full distance to the market they would be so exhausted that they could not ring the bell and if to recoup their exhausted energies they went into a saloon they would, on returning to seize the bell-rope, find that they were in danger of being arrested for being drunk in a public place, according to the statute made and provided in that behalf. At last, however, the brigade would get under way and the noble and brave volunteers who had run for miles from their various dwelling-places would continue the record return run to the fire, which by this time would have burned all that it could burn and had gone "out."

This system of fire suppression was at no time considered satisfactory, but the incident which brought it to a crisis was the death of a dear young man who constantly leaving his window open to catch the first notes of the bell caught cold instead and died of inflammation of the lungs.

It was manifest that such a system must be improved upon, especially as original discoverers of fires would no longer run miles to the bell and then back again to the fire with the result that many wives in waiting the return of their husbands from the fire-bell got nervous prostration from waiting often an unexplained length of time, to the great detriment of the public health and domestic peace and good government. The first step in the further evolution of the system was then taken after the T. Council had met fourteen times to consider the matter. The new system was that of relays. At certain corners through out the town platforms were built upon which gallows like erections were constructed upon which was suspended a bell with the usual rope dangling therefrom. An alarmist would then ring his bell if it didn't get stuck, say at Allison's Grocery in the north end. Some citizen who couldn't sleep would hear it. He would rush out and ring the bell at his corner further south and so on until at last some loiterers in the street would ring the market-bell. In this way the whole body of firemen and citizens was promptly aroused and if the fire would wait long enough it would be put out, that is, if the cisterns in the vicinity were not dry and the hose hadn't burst.

This system served its time until the physical exhaustion of the firemen told on their health and citizens declined to acquiesce in the use of their cisterns which would not be filled again probably for months by copious rains to the detriment of the family washing and well-being of the family. At last insurance companies demanded improvement and thus we see how necessity gradually causes development and this development being called evolution sets the seal of science upon it and appears as such from time to time over the signatures of men of science in the newspapers whenever the said papers feel it advisable to saw off another foot or two for that purpose. The street railway has served its time. It has gone its way to dusty death and from its grave will arise a system, we are confident, which will reflect further credit on government ownership and the extreme gullibility of the average citizen, who having possession of good water-powers kindly gives them up to rival towns and then buys them back again at a high price while the government refuses redress because "the people" asked that all hope of redress should be taken out of the hands of the Government and left to a commission which indignantly repulses all suggestions as political interference and does just as it d—m pleases while the citizens wonder what's the matter.

It will be understood that we do not refer to the Chamber of Commerce, which we are informed does not interfere in local affairs.

OLD-TIMER.

The Children Will Catch Cold

Mothers should never neglect the first sign of a cold or cough where their children are concerned, for if they do some serious lung trouble is liable to follow.

Mrs. E. T. Hubby, 1022 Barrington St., Halifax, N.S. writes:—"The children are continually getting colds, but I have no trouble with them, for just as soon as they begin to cough I give them a dose of which breaks up the cold within a day or so. I get great results out of it and would not be without it for anything. I can highly recommend it to any one."

A Thought For To-day

Sorrow makes men sincere.—Beecher.

GAS PLANTS.

LAKE FOREST, Ill., April 5. — Every morning for several weeks, I. C. Schiele went out to his greenhouse and found that hundreds of chrysanthemums and carnations had died from some mysterious malady. On the verg of ruin he finally discovered that a gas main had been leaking into the greenhouse and asphyxiating the flowers.

The cucumber usually has a temperature one degree lower than the surrounding atmosphere. Hence the expression, "Cool as a cucumber."

Readers frequently write me asking for advice about the treatment of children who are troubled with bed-wetting. Improper diet is an important factor in producing this disagreeable trouble.

When babies are living on an exclusive milk diet, they use such a large quantity of liquid food that the bladder is really over-worked all the time, and, until the baby learns the habit of urinating on the chamber, he does not try to control the flow of urine. Babies have very little to think about and, until they have learned how to sequest the urine, they wet themselves as easily as they laugh and breathe.

A baby, only a few weeks old, can be taught to urinate only at certain times. The way to do this is to place the baby on a chamber several times daily without waiting for him to cry. Put some warm water in the vessel so he will have an agreeable feeling of warmth when placed on it. In a few days he will look forward to this procedure and will urinate only at these times. If you will turn on the water-faucet in the bath-room, at the same time you are holding him on the toilet, the sound of running water will give him a suggestion which will start the flow of urine. A few days of this treatment will bring about the desired results.

The most difficult problem is to control the bed-wetting at night when the child is asleep. He wets the bed, either because the bladder is too full of liquid, or because he has, so far, not learned to control the bladder in the unconscious condition of sleep.

There is no disorder of children which responds so quickly to suggestion. After a child has fallen asleep at night, the mother should sit by the side of the bed and talk to her child in this manner: "When you wake up tomorrow morning the bed will be perfectly dry. You are going to surprise Mother in the morning when she finds the bed-sheets dry. Mother is going to be so pleased with her Baby to find that he has controlled himself and kept the bed perfectly dry."

The child's unconscious mind will hear these suggestions, given during sleep; and will follow them better than if they were given to him while awake.

The word "dry" must be used over and over again, and the one giving the treatment must never, under any circumstance, use the word "wet."

While suggestion and auto-suggestion is valuable in the treatment of every disease, it is a peculiar thing that it will work so effectively in this trouble. Children are always sensitive to suggestion, and will respond the first or second night when this mental treatment is given.

This sounds almost too simple to be true, but I urge you to try it at once and see what quick results you will get. It will work more quickly with babies than with those who are older, but can be used with children of any age with good results.

After the child is on a regular diet, be sure to have him stop using all liquids after three o'clock in the afternoon. This will reduce the amount of water in the bladder and assist in control during the night.

DR. FRANK CRANE'S DAILY EDITORIAL.

THE FOREIGNER

One of the most powerful and one of the most disgraceful methods of arousing popular resentment and thus fostering war is to appeal to the people's hostility to foreigners.

To many people the virtue of loving their own country is worthy only when it is measured by the virtue of hating other countries. The more you hate outsiders, therefore, the better American you are supposed to be.

A man in Texas advertised himself as a 200 per cent American. Some one asked him why he published such an advertisement, as 100 per cent was supposed to be perfect.

He said he was a 200 per cent American because he hated everybody.

Two half-drunken navvies were walking along the wharf in London, and one of them said, "Who is that man comin'?"

"I dunno," said the other. "'E looks like a foreigner to me. 'Eave a 'arf brick at 'im."

These stories illustrate the common hatred of a foreigner. It is prevalent in all countries. "America for Americans" has its counterpart in every nation. Every one thinks its inhabitants are better than the others, and that the others are inferior. We must protect ourselves against them. The vaster and profounder the ignorance of the people the more they hate foreigners.

The Chinese are indulging in a debauch of the lowest form of nationalism. They find that their most uniiying cry is "down with the foreigners." This sentiment easily turns into blood lust and all manner of cruelty.

It is an essential in wars and it is part of the stuff from which wars are made. It is fed upon the silliest stories. Reports are abroad in China of how missionaries kill babies. As a matter of fact the missionaries exert their efforts to save the lives of babies. The most of them are in China to do nothing but good. Their medical missions are centers of sanitation, and almost all popular reforms for the benefit of the common people originate with the missionaries.

It is the instinct of the herd to trample upon anybody who will not keep step. This instinct is about as common toward those in advance as to those who are behind. The first impulse of a people is to stay as they are and not be changed in any way.

There was a large attendance at the regular meeting of the Queen Alexandra Home and School Association, held on Monday evening. The president, Mrs. R. Parnall, was in the chair.

Mr. H. B. Cowan was the special speaker of the evening and gave a very interesting address on "Character Reading," which was thoroughly enjoyed by an appreciative audience.

Routine business was attended to during the business session. The paper collection held in March was extremely successful, netting the society the sum of over $21.00. For delicate and growing children

Many mothers cannot understand why a child is backward or delicate. They do not realize that the cause is very likely under-nourishment. The little body is not getting the concentrated food values necessary to build it straight and strong.

Make delicious "Ovaltine" the children's daily beverage. "Ovaltine" is super-nourishment in delicious and easily-digested form. It is made from ripe barley malt, creamy milk and fresh eggs, flavoured with cocoa, and contains all the health and strength-giving elements of these natural tonic foods.

One cupful contains more nerve and body-building nourishment than 12 cups of beef tea or 3 eggs.

MRS. H. FALLIS CHIEF SPEAKER

Will Lead Discussion in One Section of Conservative Meeting.

WOMEN'S PART.

TORONTO, April 6.—Mrs. Howard Fallis of Peterborough will be among the speakers at the sixth annual meeting of the Liberal-Conservative Association of Ontario. She will speak on "Women's Part in the National Convention."

The agenda directs attention to the fact that Ontario Conservatives are greatly in earnest that the Conservative National Convention, to meet at Winnipeg October 11, shall be a success. One of the first items to be taken up at the Ontario meeting at the King Edward Hotel, Toronto, April 22, will be the appointment of a committee to select the twenty delegates-at-large that are to be sent by Ontario as part of the province's delegation to the National Convention. A second item will be the motion to request all the Conservative associations that have to do with party conventions to proceed with the election of delegates to represent the 82 Ontario ridings. Then there will be the following five subjects up for discussion:

1—Why Conservative National Convention should be held. The speakers on this are Hon. H. H. Stevens, M.P., Vancouver, and Messrs. L. B. Spencer, Welland, and J. E. Lawson, Toronto.

2.—Women's part in the National Convention. Speakers: Mrs. H. Fallis, Peterboro; Miss F. Barker, Hamilton, and Mrs. Eva Moran, Toronto.

3—Why Ontario should send full quota of delegates. Speakers: Arthur Ford, London; Col. T. H. Kidd, M.P.P., Kingston, and H. E. Honeywell, Ottawa.

4—Stirring up interest in Convention. Speakers: T. H. Stinson, K.C., M.P., Lindsay; A. A. Ingram, St. Thomas, and M. J. Maloney, M.P., Eganville.

5—Propriety of choice of Winnipeg as Convention city. Speakers: Hon. Robert Rogers, Winnipeg; Hon. Dr. R. D. Morand, Windsor, and Dr. T. E. Kaiser, M.P., Oshawa.

The first speaker on each subject will speak 15 minutes, and the two following in each case 5 minutes each. There will be time for participation by the delegates.

This is also the year for election of officers.

While the death toll in London from consumption and bronchitis is decreasing, fatalities due to heart disease and cancer are on the increase.

While Greater London's population goes on increasing steadily, the city itself now has a population of only 13,250, compared to 128,129 in 1801.

The attractive booklet descriptive of the delightful tour from Toronto to the Pacific Coast via Canadian National Railways to be operated by the Order of the Eastern Star of the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec is now ready and copies may be had on application to Passenger Traffic Department, Canadian National Railways, Toronto, or any Agent of the Company.

This booklet describes the routing in detail, outlining the many points of special interest which the tour will include, chief among which are Jasper National Park, Banff, and Lake Louise in the Canadian Rockies, and the wonderful steamer sail through the inside passage of the North Pacific Coast from Prince Rupert to Vancouver.

While this tour has been organized primarily for the benefit of the members of the Order of the Eastern Star, their families and friends, it is felt that the opportunity to make such a trip in pleasant and mutually congenial company will undoubtedly appeal to members of the various Masonic bodies in the Province, and a cordial invitation to join the party has therefore been extended to such members, together also with their families and friends.

AT THE CAPITOL.

SIR HARRY LAUDER

There is no more popular star in the world than Sir Harry Lauder, and the announcement of his appearance at the Grand Opera House next Wednesday has aroused a preliminary interest that is unusual, even in this amusement-loving city. The present tour registers Sir Harry's eighteenth visit to Canada, and it is a notable fact that, instead of wearing out his welcome the popularity of the little singing Scot constantly grows with the years.

Lauder began his career as a mere performer—what is known in England as a "comic"; but he has long ceased to be that. With the years, and his varied experience there has come to him the emotional as well as the fun-creating development of a great artist; and never in his career, it is said, has he held such powerful sway over the great audiences that throng the theatres to see and hear him.

Every recurring budget brings a budget of new songs, while the revivals are always such as the audiences would select if left to a popular vote. This year's new songs have had the advantage of a try-out in London, as well as during the latter part of his three years' tour of the world. Those that are said to have an especially lively appeal are: "I'm Lookin' for a Bonnie Lass Tae Love Me", "Th' Boss o' th' Hoose", "When I Meet Mackay" and "Susie Maclean." They are credited with being the kind of songs that first attracted world-wide attention to the comedian.

As in other years Sir Harry will have asosciated with him a company of clever imported and American entertainers. Also an orchestra of ten pieces to augument the local orchestra.

SIR HARRY LAUDER, at Grand Opera House on Wednesday, April 13.

"OVERLAND STAGE" SHOWS HISTORICAL EVENTS OF WEST

KATHLEEN COLLINS AIDS

One of the screen's great gifts to the public is the history lessons contained in such pictures as "The Overland Stage," the Ken Maynard starring feature for First National coming to-morrow to the Regent.

This impressive production shows one of the really great events in the conquest of America; the linking of the stagecoach lines from East to West. The celebration of this historic event was recently reproduced on a massive scale at the site of its occurrence, Deadwood, S.D., and the Maynard company, directed by Albert Dogell, journeyed there to film it as part of their epic.

Although this picture is the first to deal in any large way with the epic of the transcontinental stagecoach, the picture which deals romantically with historical events is frequently seen, and, when well done, is always among the most popular screen offerings. It happens that one of Ken Maynard's first screen parts was that of Paul Revere in a great Revolutionary War film. This way of bringing historic events and personages into view, and injecting into them the very breath of life, is destined to be the educational method of the future, according to the psychologic experts.

"The Overland Stage," which is destined to give great impetus to this method of teaching history of the Early West is from an original story by Marion Jackson and is interpreted by a brilliant cast including Kathleen Collins, Tom Santschi, Sheldon Lewis, Dot Farley, Florence Turner, Jay Hunt, Wm. Malan, Paul Hurst, and Fred Burns. Production management was by Harry J. Brown.

Buried cities being uncovered in India prove that a mighty empire existed there 2,500 years ago. These cities were built on top of one another.

The derrick is one of the oldest of builders' inventions. Originally called "cranes," they acquired the other name from that of a seventeenth century hangman who made his own gibbets.

Next Winter's Fuel Problem Can be Solved Now—

JUST so you will better appreciate the statements we make about Hamilton By-Product Coke being the ideal fuel, we suggest you make this test now. Order a trial ton, test it, and you will then readily admit that it fully measures up to our claims as to quality, heat value, and all round satisfaction.

One of the chief features of Hamilton By-Product Coke is that it can be burned to give any amount of heat required. It is particularly suited for "in-between season" weather, as it gives a steadier, more continuous heat than anthracite or soft coal. Without doubt there is no cleaner or more economical fuel known.

ENDORSED BY DOMINION FUEL BOARD.

Hamilton By-Product Coke is endorsed by the Dominion Fuel Board. "Write" Dr. Camsell, Chairman of the Board, Ottawa, for results of official tests. The names HAMILTON BY-PRODUCT COKE and "The Positive Fuel" are our registered trade names and are for your protection.

Hamilton By-Product Coke is made-in-Canada in our great coking ovens at Hamilton. It is strictly a quality product, made from the highest grades of hand-picked coal obtainable. Its heat value, uniformity of size and hardness have been maintained season after season. And the price is in keeping with the best of other fuels. Write us for names of dealers handling it in your city.

We find an ever-increasing desire on the part of former coal users to follow our suggestion of testing Hamilton By-Product Coke at this season of the year. By making your test now, and convincing yourself of its value as an all-round fuel, you will then feel safe in ordering Hamilton By-Product Coke to fill your winter's fuel requirements.

207 PEOPLE GET MILLION YEARLY

Largest List of Million Dollar Incomes Yet Compiled.

IN UNITED STATES.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—All previous records for millionaires in the United States were broken when 207 individuals made net income returns in the net income class "$1,000,000 and over" for the calendar year 1925, this number nearly trebling the total for the previous year, 1924, when there were only 75 such individuals.

This was revealed in a preliminary report by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, made public by the Treasury Department, on statistics on income for 1925, the taxes for which were payable during the calendar year 1926. The nearest approach to the total ever before recorded was 206 individuals, for the calendar year 1916, which was nearly a year and a half after the outbreak of the Great War, and which was the year excess profits taxes were first applied.

Secretary Mills announced that during March, 1927, on the basis of the daily Treasury statement, income taxes to the amount of $516,534,789.55 were collected by the Treasury, as compared with $499,628,780.29 of income taxes collected on March 1, 1926, an increase of about $17,000,000.

The income taxes collected for the first nine months of the fiscal year which expires June 30, 1927, aggregate $1,649,971,888.58.

SCHOLARS HOLD BASKET SOCIAL

Realize Large Sum For Red Cross Outposts Hospital.

APSLEY NEWS.

APSLEY, April 6.—The scholars of Hale's school East road, gave a concert and basket social in aid of the Red Cross Outpost a short time ago which proved a great success, swelling the funds of the association materially, the proceeds amounting to $66. Although the attendance was affected by the bad condition of the road, the baskets fetched good prices, the two highest being sold for $5.75 each, Mr. Hall proving a very able auctioneer. Great credit is due Miss Ballard, the teacher, whose earnest efforts were repaid by the excellent rendering of the programme and a pleasing feature of the affair was that the idea was solely the children's. The programme consisted of recitations by Leola Nesbitt, Vivian Whitmore, Kenneth Hall, Everett Whitmore, Clarence James, Roy Hall, Allan Hall, Doris and Violet Whitmore; mouth-organ solos by Owen James and Gordon Earnshaw, with organ accompaniments by Mrs. O. James and Miss Ella Brown, who also sang "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere"; a dialogue, "April Fools," by Fred Whitmore and his four "wives," Mrs. Nesbitt, and Misses Ballard, Maggie Whitmore, and Ena Hall was the hit of the evening. Other dialogues were participated in by Ivan Nesbitt, and Alice and Carmen Whitmore, while appropriate to the Red Cross cause was a scene in "Shadowgraph." "The Broken Arm," acted by Carmen Whitmore (doctor), Margaret Whitmore (nurse), and Leonard McCauley (patient), and other items made up a very pleasing programme.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen Montgomery very kindly lent their home in Clydesdale for the occasion of an address on the Red Cross Outpost by Rev. C. Spence. There was a good attendance, and it is expected that, as a result of the address, a number of subscriptions will be received from this outlying part of the district.

At a meeting of the committee on Saturday evening it was decided to make arrangements for the formal opening of the hospital on May 24.

Mr. Duncan Brown has purchased a seven-passenger touring car, which will be used for passenger service between Apsley and Peterborough.

PLAY PRESENTED AT WESLEYVILLE

Young People Give Entertainment Based on Dickens Book.

WELCOME, April 5.—On Wednesday evening, a very interesting play was given in the Wesleyville church by local talent. It was entitled, "A Breach of Promise Case—Pickwick vs. Bardell," by Dickens.

The play was prepared by Mr Hayden, who is a member of the Dickens club, of Toronto. This club kindly lent the costumes for the evening.

The impersonations of the different characters was exceptionally well given and the English characters, so well-known to the readers of Pickwick papers, seemed very real.

The sympathy of the audience was with Pickwick, who, while endeavoring to tell his landlady that he had hired a valet, was misunderstood by that lady, who jumped to the conclusion that it was a proposal. The evidence is all against Pickwick, who loses the case.

PICKEREL SEASON ENDED LAST WEEK

Fish May Not Be Caught During April, While They Spawn.

HARWOOD, April 6.—Fishing for pickerel stopped on Thursday. During the last of February and 1st of March, many nice samples of the finny tribe were taken from the bay just in front of Harwood through holes in the ice.

Men and boys from Alderville, Hiawatha, and this village have enjoyed the fun of hooking the pickerel. Sometimes a bass happens to be hungry and rises to fel the chilly breezes of winter, but the game laws say that bass and lung are forbidden fruit, and so they escape the be hungry and rises to feel the chilly

Sad to relate, Captain Carson did catch one fisherman near Hiawatha with a bass this past winter, and when the fine was paid, it was a dear fish.

One day the correspondent visited the fishermen at their cool work.

The bay was covered with scattered holes in the ice. It was difficult for an observer to pick out each man's territory, and when asked how it was done, one tall man from Alderville jokingly said: "Olly, there, spits his tobacco juice into the hole, while I spit outside, and it's easy."

The holes were so small that a person's foot might get wet but could not get into the lake, as the ice was two feet thick.

Perch and pork were used as bait. Only eight feet of line with a heavy sinker was needed.

The pickerel have a long open season, as only the month of April is closed while they spawn.

The girl or woman who bobs her hair forfeits her membership in the Christian Catholic Apostolic Church of Zion, Ill.

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

95,000 Gallons of Marvelube Needed to Supply the Immediate Requirements of the Prairie Provinces

On Tuesday, March 29th, the largest single shipment of Motor Oil that Canada ever saw left our Sarnia Refinery for delivery to points in Southern Saskatchewan—twenty-eight cars, the whole shipment totalling 95,000 gallons.

Trainload shipments are rare in the oil business, and when you stop to think that this trainload carried nothing but Marvelube—a product that came on the market exactly a year ago—you can form some idea of the extremely high quality that must have gone into this oil to make it so quickly the most popular oil in Canada.

Success such as Marvelube has attained is perhaps the most striking proof that can be offered of the truth of our big claims for its superiority as a lubricant. To understand why we are shipping Marvelube by the trainload and to appreciate the common-sense which has led 200,000 motorists across Canada to adopt Marvelube, you need to try it in your own crank-case. Do that today—and see for yourself what a wonderful oil it is. Note the improved operation, the smoother, cooler running of your motor, the splendid condition of the oil when it comes out of your car at the end of a 500 mile run.

Another great advantage that you cannot immediately check—but which will show itself as you continue using Marvelube—is the protection it affords the working parts of your engine, resulting in lower upkeep costs and longer life for your car.

Lady Cynthia Mosley, wife of Oswald Mosley, Laborite member of parliament, at a Laborite meeting in England, suggested the pensioning of workers more than sixty-five years of age to make room for England's young able-bodied unemployed. The early adoption of motor vessels for the Canadian Government Merchant Marine for West Indies trade, brings this class of modern sea-going craft to particular attention in Canada at this time. The rocket ship on which Max Valier, astronomer and ex-airman, is now working is visualized by an artist as it might appear while being propelled through the air by the discharge of gases from the two shells attached to the sides of the torpedo body of the air cruise. The inventor claims that such a rocket ship could cover the 3,600-odd miles from Saint John, N.B., to Prince Rupert, B.C., in 93 minutes. Also shown is the largest seaplane ever constructed in Germany, making its recent trial flight over Friedrichshafen. The big Dornier-Superwal is of an entirely new type and carries 54 passengers with ease.

Conley Dabney, Kentucky mountaineer, was sentenced to life imprisonment in 1925 on a charge of having slain little Mary Vickery. His supposed victim, however, has just returned to her home and the state has attempted to rectify the miscarriage of justice by granting an immediate pardon to Dabney. The two principals in the case are shown above. Law officers are now trying to show that the bones which were originally identified as those of Miss Vikery were in reality those of Mrs. Lea Hicks Cole who disappeared in December, 1921.

BRAND SUCCEEDS TO COMMAND OF ATLANTIC FLEET

ACTIVE CAREER.

Was Chief of War Staff During Most of War.

LONDON, April 6 (Canadian Press)—Vice-Admiral Sir Hubert Brand will take over the command of the Atlantic Fleet this summer. He succeeds Admiral Sir Henry F. Oliver, commander-in-chief of the Atlantic Fleet since 1924.

Sir Henry Oliver in August will have completed the full tenure of three years as Commander-in-chief of the Atlantic Fleet. He has been in continuous employment for many years, and has probably had a more varied experience of administrative posts, staff service, and executive commands than any other admiral on the active list. As a captain, he was head of the Navigation School, Naval Assistant to the First Sea Lord, and (when war broke out) Director of Naval Intelligence. From November, 1914, to the beginning of 1918, he was Chief of the War Staff, and Mr. Churchill, Lord Fisher, and others have borne testimony to his services in this post. Sir Henry commanded a Battle-Cruiser Squadron in the Grand Fleet in 1918-19, with his flag in the Repulse, and in 1919-20 was Vice-Admiral Commanding the Reserve Fleet. Then for four years, from 1920 to 1924, he was Second Sea Lord charged with responsibility for naval personnel during a difficult time of retrenchment. It is expected that Admiral Oliver, who was 62 years of age in January, will return to the Admiralty later in the year as First Sea Lord, when the resignation of Lord Beatty, now deferred at the request of the First Lord, may be accepted.

Sir Hubert Brand has been at the Admiralty since March, 1925, and was appointed Second Sea Lord from the post of Naval Secretary to Mr. Bridgeman on the death of Vice-Admiral Culme-Seymour. When the war broke out he was at Tokyo as Naval Attache, and in 1915-16 he was Naval Assistant to the Second Sea Lord. On Admiral Beatty being appointed Commander-in-in-Chief of the Grand Fleet, Commodore Brand, as he then was, took up the duty of Captain of the Fleet on the Admiral's Staff in the Queen Elizabeth. For about four years after the war he was in command of his Majesty's yachts, and he is now an Extra Naval Equerry to the King. In 1922-24 he was in command of the First Cruiser Squadron, and made the voyage round the world. Vice-Admiral Brand will be 57 on May 20. His appointment to the Atlantic Fleet will almost coincide with the entry into service with the Fleet of some of the first post-war vessels, among them the battleships Nelson and Rodney.

FEW JOURNALISTS SEEK SCHOLARSHIPS

British Institute of Journalists Gets Two Replies.

LONDON, April 6 (Canadian Press). The Institute of Journalists has received only two applications for a scholarship which entitles a woman of between 20 and 30 to go to Canada for a year's training as a school teacher with a job worth at least £250 a year at the end of it.

Not a single application has been received for an Australian scholarship entitling a son of a journalist to a free passage to Australia and two years' farm training.

These scholarships were placed at the disposal of the Institute of Journalists by the Fellowship of the British Empire Exhibition in recognition of the help given by the Press to its work.

PLEASANT SOCIAL HELD ON BIRTHDAY

Miss Marjorie and Mr. Walter Sayles Honored By Many Friends.

MILLBROOK, April 6.—A very pleasant social event took place on Tuesday evening at the home of Councillor and Mrs. G. W. Sayles, when a number of young people were entertained in honor of the eighteenth birthday of their daughter, Miss Marjorie, and in honor, also, of the seventeenth birthday of their eldest son, Mr. Walter Sayles.

Shortly after all the guests had gathered, Miss Marjorie Sayles was presented with a handsome leather handbag by her girl friends, Miss Jean Burnham offering the gift, while a host of good wishes were showered upon the recipient. A number of individual gifts were bestowed upon both the son and daughter of the home who were celebrating their birthday anniversaries, a genuine popularity and warm friendship being evidenced by the heartiness with which hopes for "many happy returns of the day" were expressed.

Music and contests provided pleasant entertainment for all during the first part of the evening, the "treasure hunt," for which the company was arranged in groups of six, being particularly enjoyed. The group, led by Dr. L. J. Stuart, finally located the "treasure"—the prizes being dainty flower holders for the girls, and pearl-handled pocket knives for the men.

The second contest, "Flowers to Arrange," the names of each being jumbled in a most confusing manner, was won by Miss Marjorie Sayles and Mr. Maurice Williamson.

A handsome birthday cake, with eighteen golden candles, and seventeen pink ones, centred the prettily decorated table from which the supper was served, the 'guests of honor' lighting the number which signified their respective ages. The traditional thimbles, nickels, needles and thread, buttons, rings, etc., were hidden in the cake and occasioned plenty of merriment when someone's teeth closed on one or other of the objects, and the usual prophecy was uttered as the various 'trophies' were disclosed.

Dancing entertained the guests happily following the supper hour, and it was past midnight when final goodnights were spoken, and a delightful evening was brought to a close.

Among those present were: Misses Betty Montgomery, Ella Elson, May Byam, Etta Peel, Phyllis Brown, Elsie Spence, Marie Kenyon (Peterborough), Beryl Wood, Kathleen Fowler, Elizabeth Russell, Margaret Howard, Luella Shaw (Peterborough), Myrtle Russell, Jean Burnham, and Phyllis Richards; Messrs. Douglas Fennel (Norwood), Lynden Russell, Dr. L. J. Stuart, H. J. Anderson, J. Larmer, Rob Larmer, H. Jordan, A. Armstrong, Nelles Rowland, M. Williamson, R. Shaw, Ernest Burnham, L. Ingram, G. Elson, E. Catton (Peterborough), L. Charlebois (Peterborough).

LADIES' AID HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING

Millbrook United Society Has Done Much Work During Year.

MILLBROOK, April 6.—The end of the church year brings a number of annual meetings at this time, the Ladies' Aid Society of the United church holding its gathering on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. S. Burnham, Main street.

The president, Miss M. E. Needham, who has been making an extended stay in Toronto, and who came home specially for the annual meeting, occupied the chair for the opening period.

The report presented by the secretary, Mrs. Ross Edmunds, showed nine regular meetings, with an average attendance of sixteen, and two special gatherings. A busy and successful year was evident from the facts narrated in the secretary's outline of the activities of the past twelve months.

Miss M. Duncan gave the treasurer's report showing a total of $1,382.37 raised during the year. Of this amount $1,300.00 was paid on the repair fund when decided alterations were made in the auditorium of the church. A fair-sized balance is still in the bank when beginning the new year.

Rev. F. H. Howard took charge of the election of officers. Miss Needham first reading her resignation form the office of president which she had filled very capably for the past thirteen years. Thanking her officers for their faithful services, and the members for the co-operation which had marked every undertaking of the society, Miss Needham stated that, owing to frequent absences from home for business reasons, she felt the interests of the society would best be served by electing another to the chief office. The resignation, however, was not accepted, and the list for the ensuing year is:

President, Miss M. E. Needham; Vice-President, Mrs. J. McKnight; 2nd Vice-Pres., Mrs. H. W. Johnston; Secretary, Mrs. F. W. Emith; Treasurer, Miss May Duncan; Pianist, Mrs. F. P. Stinson.

The "sunshine bags" were distributed, the idea being to put in a copper every day, during the month of April, on which the sun shines. Last year a "human calendar" added considerably to the Aid funds, and the year before the "silver tree" was used for the same purpose.

A special vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. A. J. Brown, who carried on most efficiently in her office of vice-president last year in the lengthy absence of the president; and also to the retiring secretary, Mrs. Ross Edmunds, who insisted upon being relieved of her office for the ensuing year.

The committee in charge, Mrs. F. W. Smith, convener; Mrs. T. H. Aiken, Mrs. C. C. Garside, and Mrs. J. McKnight served tea at the conclusion of the business period, and a pleasant social hour was enjoyed when the twenty or more guests were seated about the tea tables.

The March meeting being held so late in the month, there will be no meeting, except of the executive, in April, the May gathering being either at the president's home, or that of Mrs. George Locke.

The Aid has now seventy names on the roll, and added one new member, Mrs. A. J. Henderson, on Tuesday. One faithful worker the late Miss Agnes Hampton, was removed by death during the past twelve months.

WOODMEN FORCED TO LEAVE SCOTLAND

Competition From Baltic Countries Ruins Wood Business.

LONDON, April 6 (Canadian Press).—Emigration is at present taking a heavy toll of forestry workers in Scotland, as it is no longer possible to earn a living wage in the industry.

Once upon a time the timber trade was one of the staple industries of the country. A large proportion of the pit-props used in Scottish, English and Welsh mines came from the Highlands, and the export trade was not to be despised. But nowadays timber can actually be shipped from the Baltic ports and delivered at Scottish and English pitheads for less money than it can be sent by rail from the North of Scotland.

The price of Highland pit-prop wood delivered at the colliery to-day is 30s. per ton. Out of this sum the railway companies take 17s. 6d. per ton for carriage, leaving the timber merchant only 12s. 6d. per ton to cover his working costs, and the purchase price paid to the landlord for the standing timber.

Skilled woodmen in many cases at the present time are earning only £2 for a week of 50 hours and over less than a laborer's wage in the majority of other trades.

LONDON, April 6 (Canadian Press).—Emil Russ, lately residing at Herne Bay, paid ten rupees (13s. 4d.) for a ticket in the Calcutta Sweep, and won £15,800.

The other day he appeared for his examination in bankruptcy, eight years after he made his big win. He owes £2,700 and admits that he had since lived at the rate of nearly £2,000 a year.

NEW GREAT SEAL IS NECESSARY

Royal Titles Bill Necessitates Provision of New One.

FOR DOCUMENTS.

LONDON, April 6 (Canadian Press). The passing of the Royal Titles Bill, whereunder the titles of His Majesty and of Parliament are changed to conform with views presented by the Imperial Conference, necessitates the provision of a new Great Seal, the specific emblem of royal authority. Any document to which the Great Seal is attached is the instrument by which the will of the Sovereign is declared, such as Proclamations summoning Parliament, charters to towns, treaties with Foreign Powers, credentials to Ambassadors, patents of nobility, and appointments of Colonial governors.

Green sealing-wax is used in the instrument is of a permanent character, red or yellow in the case of documents of limited duration. The Seal is not impressed on the document itself but attached to it by a silken cord, and is formed in a case composed of two heavy silver discs hinged together so as to form a mould. In size it is nearly three inches across and a quarter-inch thick.

The Lord Chancellor is responsible for the safety of the Great Seal, or rather of the moulds, and keeps them in a secret safe whose whereabouts is supposed to be known only to himself, though history records the fact that during the reign of George III. burglars carried it off from the premises of Lord Thurlow, then Lord Chancellor. This is the only occasion on which a Great Seal is known to have been permanently lost.

The King himself may leave Great Britain without imperiling the Constitution, but if the Lord Chancellor wants to go abroad elaborate arrangements have to be made for appointing a Commission of responsible people to look after the Seal.

When a new Great Seal is made the old undergoes a process called "damasking." The King in the presence of the Privy Council, gives the old one a blow with a hammer and it then becomes the property of the Lord Chancellor.

SALE OF WORK.

Ladies of St. Thomas', Millbrook, Held Successful Affair.

MILLBROOK, April 5.—The ladies of St. Thomas' church held a successful sale of homemade baking, candy, etc., with afternoon tea served, in W. J. E. Gillott's store on Saturday afternoon, practically all of the tempting wares being disposed of by early evening.

From the hour of opening there was apparently no lack of customers, the attractively arranged tables being replenished and emptied again and again.

At the table where homemade bread, buns, tea biscuits, cakes, pies, etc., were on sale Mrs. H. J. Grassett, Mrs. T. H. Bradley, Mrs. T. Harkness, Miss M. B. Turner, and Miss M. Christie were in charge; Mrs. J. A. Vance and Miss R. Macnamara looked after the stock of maple cream, fudge, and other sweetmeats, while Mrs. G. F. Harrington waited upon the customers who wished to purchase the dainty fancy work displayed upon her table.

The afternoon tea was a popular feature, Mrs J. E. Allen, Mrs. (Dr.) H. Young, Miss Anna Kells, and Miss Muriel Smith giving careful attention to this part of the sale.

The financial results were quite satisfactory, and will go into the church funds.

Mrs. John Allen was the convenor in charge, and had a general oversight for the entire event.

Rev. C. D. Daniels gave a very interesting sermon on Sunday evening at the Zion church on "The Respectable Sins that Crucify Christ."

"In the days when Christ lived it was the eminently respectable people who plotted against Him, and caused His death, so now those who are supposedly Christians often crucify Christ afresh by their small sins of carelessness, neglect, cruelty and many others, such as these."

The annual meeting of the Zion United congregation will be held on Thursday evening, April 14, as decided by congregational vote, when a summary of the year's work will be given.

PULP MILL NOT SOLD BY HYDRO

Campbellford Industry Well Supplied With Raw Material.

ON THE MARKET.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, April 6.—The local pulp mill, which is owned by the Ontario government, and managed by the Hydro-Electric Commission, h not been sold, but it is in the market.

Mayor Kingston told the Examiner he had met Hon. J. R. Cooke, the Ontario Government's representative on the Hydro-Electric Commission a few days ago, and had learned directly from him that the mill had not yet been sold.

Mr. Cookes' address in the Legislature on Tuesday, March 29, was chiefly devoted to a review of the Commission's affairs, including the Central Ontario system. The Toronto Star quoted him as follows in regard to the pulp mill: "In answer to a question from Mr. Raney he (Mr. Cooke) said that on April 1st, a notice would be published putting up the pulp mill and timber limits for sale, as the Hydro did not propose to carry them any longer."

The Toronto Telegram, however, reported the Minister in this paragraph: "Mr. Cooke announced that the Campbellford pulp mill, once part of the system, has been sold."

This latter report seems to have gained the wider circulatoin. At any rate the fact is that the Commission is preparing to sell the Campbellford mill. It is situated close to the Canada Paper Board Company's plant, on the Trent, south of the town, and as it formerly was owned by that company, some citizens believe that it may return to them. They fully expect at least that the company will make a bid for the property.

Incidentally the pulp mill has a supply of raw material on hand that would keep it busy probably for months. The pile of logs at the plant is one of the biggest ever seen there.

A Pioneer Passes.

The life of Mrs. Robert Cock, who died at her home here on Tuesday, March 29th, spanned nearly one hundred years of the history of Seymour Township, in which she was born in July, 1833. An amazing century of human progress was witnessed by Mrs. Cock, whose interests and intelligence were bright and keen to the very last. There was little thought or experience of luxury in her girlhood, as one of the pioneers of Seymour township, when life was virtually a personal struggle with nature to win a livelihood, and even to exist. As invention lessened labor and broadened the outlook of the people, Mrs. Cock shared in the comforts of the new generation. Her husband predeceased her in 1888. She is survived by two sons, five daughters and two sisters.

SERVICE LATER IN UNITED CHURCH

Will Commence at 7.30 During Summer—Hiawatha News.

HIAWATHA, April 6.—Service in the United Church started at 7.30 p.m., owing to the lengthening days, on Sunday, April 3. From now until autumn the sexton will ring the bell one-half hour later than he did during the winter months.

Mr. Clarence Olding, of Millbrook, motored to spend Sunday with friends in this vicinity.

At the different sawing bees around Hiawatha several accidents happened. Rev. Mr. Garrett, while preparing for the machine, allowed a beech log to slip on his foot. He crushed one of his toes. Eddie Greer scratched his right hand on a knotty piece of timber. Mark Manley, who with his son, Harvey, of Drummond's Station, is operating the outfit, had his thumb badly jammed.

Mrs. Egerton Loukes helped Mrs. R. Garrett on Friday prepare for the sawyers.

Mr. Percy McWilliams, of Peterborough, was in the village on Sunday.

Mr. George Edwards visited friends in Bensfort on Sunday.

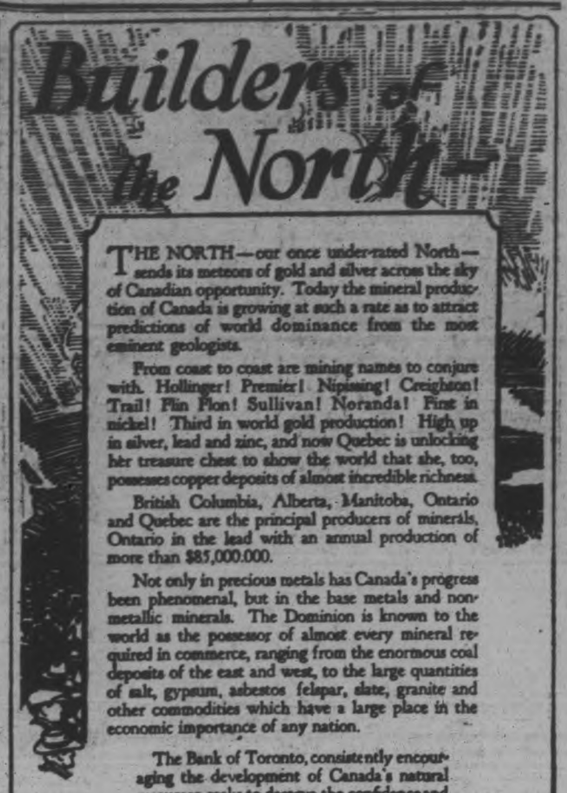
Builders of the North—



THE NORTH—our once under-rated North—sends its meteors of gold and silver across the sky of Canadian opportunity. Today the mineral production of Canada is growing at such a rate as to attract predictions of world dominance from the most eminent geologists.

From coast to coast are mining names to conjure with. Hollinger! Premier! Nipissing! Creighton! Trail! Flin Flon! Sullivan! Noranda! First in nickel! Third in world gold production! High up in silver, lead and zinc, and now Quebec is unlocking her treasure chest to show the world that she, too, possesses copper deposits of almost incredible richness.

British Columbia, Alberta, Manitoba, Ontario and Quebec are the principal producers of minerals, Ontario in the lead with an annual production of more than $85,000,000.

Not only in precious metals has Canada's progress been phenomenal, but in the base metals and non-metallic minerals. The Dominion is known to the world as the possessor of almost every mineral required in commerce, ranging from the enormous coal deposits of the east and west, to the large quantities of salt, gypsum, asbestos felspar, slate, granite and other commodities which have a large place in the economic importance of any nation.

The Bank of Toronto, consistently encouraging the development of Canada's natural resources, seeks to deserve the confidence and patronage of the Canadian people on a basis of helpful, friendly co-operation.

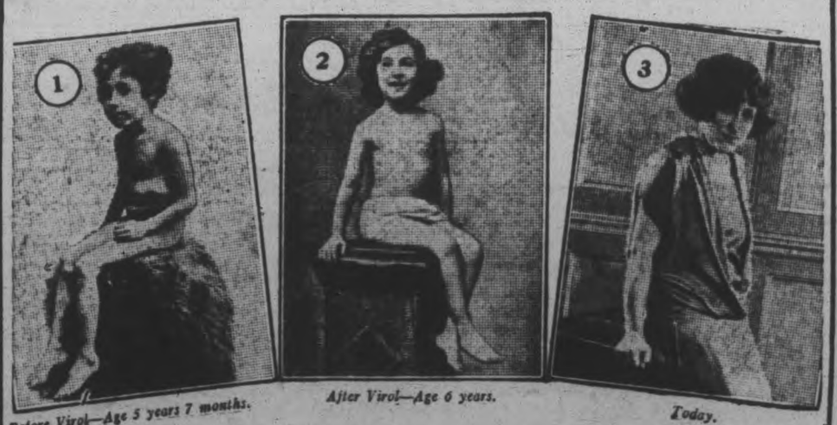
How VIROL builds children for life



Before Virol—Age 5 years 7 months. After Virol—Age 6 years. Today.

Only Virol will do it

Fourteen years ago Mrs. Baker's mother wrote:—"She was reduced to a mere skeleton (1st photo). The doctor said the only thing that would pull her up was Virol. In five months she more than doubled her weight. Her illness left her so weak that she could not keep a particle of food down but the Virol—that seemed to feed her and strengthen her chest. She is now a picture of health." (2nd photo.)

Give your children Virol now, while epidemics are about and the worst of the winter is upon us.

TUNEFUL OPERETTA WILL BE GIVEN HERE

Ashburnham Women's Patriotic League Raising Funds For Memorial Park.

If you have never seen the charming operetta "Cinderella" you will soon be given an opportunity to do so, as this fanciful production, directed by Ms. A. A. Perrin, is to be put on under the auspices of the Women's Patriotic Association of Ashburnham, in their endeavors to carry on their work of changing Armour's Hill into an everlasting memorial to commemorate the valor of Peterborough's sons.

They are putting on this play to raise the necessary funds to continue their work, in which the citizens of Peterborough are so vitally interested. The play itself, with a cast of at least fifty persons comprising the best talent in Peterborough, will be something it will be well worth one's while to attend, simply for the evening's amusement and enjoyment which can be had, but when added to that is the thought that the money you spend not only secures you an evening's enjoyment, but also goes to aid the Ladies' Patriotic Association in their praiseworthy work, you will feel doubly benefitted.

The catchy music of the operetta will set you unconsciously to beating time with your foot, while the charming costumes of the ladies, together with the elaborate scenery and stage settings make a picture you will not soon forget. It will be an evening's entertainment long to be remembered and the people of Peterborough are indeed fortunate to be so favored.

SURROUNDED BY WOLVES

HUNTSVILLE, Ont., April 6.—While making his way to a lumber camp near Algonquin Park, Elwood Bloss was pursued by a pack of wolves. He fled onto the open ice, where the animals, sixteen of them, surrounded him. Their howling attracted the attention of a game warden, who arrived before they closed on their victim. He shot seven before the pack fled.

SAINT and SINNER

By ANNE AUSTIN

Mary Kearney's story, frequently interrupted by District Attorney Banning, was substantially the same as she had told at the inquest, except for one important addition.

"When you were listening at the closed door of Mr. Cluny's bedroom while the defendant, Mrs. Wiley, was talking with Mr. Cluny, just what conversation did you overhear?" Banning asked.

"Well, sir, I heard Miss Cherry say first, 'I'm going to marry Chris and you can't stop me! I won't marry you, I won't, I say! You can't force me to! I'll kill you if you do!'"

For the first time that long, terrible day Cherry showed emotion. Color flooded her pale, delicate face, her golden eyes shot forth lightning. Before Faith or Churchill could restrain her, she had half-risen in her seat, screaming out, "That's a lie! A lie!"

Pandemonium broke loose in the courtroom, even as the judge pounded with his gavel. Jim Lane rocked back and forth, groaning aloud, "My God! My God!" Faith put her arms about Cherry, held the hysterically sobbing girl against her breast.

"I don't care what they say as long as it's the truth," Cherry moaned over and over. "But that's a lie, a lie!"

"Mr. Churchill, you will instruct your client to restrain herself," the judge thundered. "And if the audience cannot control itself, I will clear this courtroom and proceed with the trial. Bailiff, remove that woman who screamed."

When order had been restored, Banning turned again to Mary Kearney, who was cowering, in a frightened heap in the big witness chair.

"Now, Mary, you have testified that Miss Cherry cried out, 'You can't force me to! I'll kill you if you do!' Are you sure that you heard these words?"

"Yes, sir," Mary Kearney whispered. "Did you so testify at the meeting of the grand jury by which the prisoner was indicted?"

"You know I did, Mr. Banning," Mary retorted.

"We must get it into the record here, Mary," Banning smiled. "Now, Mary, tell the court and the jury why you did not give a complete report on Miss Cherry's conversation before the coroner's inquest. That is, tell why you did not at that time testify that Miss Cherry said, 'I'll kill you if you do!'"

Mary Kearney clasped and unclasped her black-gloved hands in her lap. "Why, sir, it was like this: I was always mighty fond of little Miss Cherry. I remembered she had said the words, but I didn't want to do her no more harm than I could help, and so I didn't mention it 'til I got to the grand jury room, and knowed I was swearing a Bible oath to tell the truth and nothing but the truth—"

"Until Banning refreshed your memory," Churchill growled audibly.

"I demand an apology before this case proceeds. Your honor, I demand an apology from—from this man who calls himself an attorney."

"And I," Churchill shouted, "demand an apology from the honorable district attorney for those last insulting words of his!"

"And I," Judge Grimshaw said sternly, "adjourn court until tomorrow morning."

When Mary Kearney again took the stand on Thursday morning, Banning kept her until almost twelve o'clock before he permitted Churchill to begin his cross-examination of the state's star witness.

Banning's last line of questioning returned to the subject of Cherry's appearance when she had entered the downstairs hall of the Cluny mansion, admitted by Mary.

"Now, Mary, tell me as nearly as you can remember how Miss Cherry was dressed," Banning directed her.

"Well, sir, she was wearing a brown coatsuit, and a little brown hat. Velours, us girls call it," and Mary simpered as she smiled toward Cherry, who was regarding her with wide, grave, golden eyes.

"It was snowing, you have said, Mary. Didn't Miss Cherry wear a cloak over the coatsuit?"

"No, sir, just a coatsuit. She stepped right out of the closed coupe into the house, you know, and didn't have time to get cold."

"Don't draw conclusions, Mary. Just answer the questions as they are asked. Now, Mary, did you notice whether Miss Cherry was wearing gloves?" Banning sprung his question with a meaning smile at the jury.

"Yes, sir, she was wearing gloves. Brown kid gloves, the gauntlet kind, with stitched cuffs. I noticed them particular because I've always wanted some just like that."

"Now, Mary, think hard," Banning admonished the Irish girl. "You have testified that you saw Miss Cherry in the grasp of Mr. Cluny, beating at his breast with her hands. Did you notice whether her hands were gloved, or bare?"

Cherry leaned toward Churchill, whispered excitedly: "I had taken my gloves off! I took them off to give him back my engagement ring!"

Faith heard her words, and when Mary Kearney's answer to Banning's question came, she leaned back limply, closing her eyes as if she were about to faint, for Mary Kearney said:

"She was still wearing her gloves, sir."

When at last Churchill had his chance at the witness, he went at her with head down, eyebrows beetling over his keen, frowning eyes, like an angry bull charging.

"Mary Kearney, you have testified here that you recognized Mr. Chris Wiley as he sat in the car. Now, it was dark outside, wasn't it? It was snowing pretty hard, wasn't it?"

"How far was that car from the doorway, Mary?"

"It was parked just outside the porte cochere, about tweuty-five feet from the front door. Parked sideways, and I looked out the door to see how Miss Cherry had come and I seen the coupe parked there. The window of the car was down and I seen Mr. Chris Wiley sitting there by the wheel."

"In the dark?" Churchill snapped, as Judge Grimshaw picked up his gavel to declare the mid-day recess.

"There—there was a light on in the car. The dash-board light, I guess it was," Mary answered belligerantly, obviously relieved that luncheon interrupted Churchill's searching cross-examination.

Women's Old-Time Hygiene

Disappearing—New way discards like tissue

By ELLEN J. BUCKLAND
Registered Nurse

THE worries and fear of the uncertain hygienic ways of yesterday are rapidly passing. 8 in 10 better class women employ a new way called Kotex.

Being 5 times as absorbent as ordinary cotton "pads," it permits lightest gowns and frocks without danger. Dance, motor, go about for hours without a moment's doubt.

Deodorizes, too, thus ending all fear of offense. Doctors urge this way.

Many stores have Kotex already wrapped on counters, ready for you to pick up without even asking for it.

Try today and you'll never again risk uncertain old ways. Box of 12 costs only a few cents. Be sure you get the genuine. Only Kotex itself is "like" Kotex.

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, but do not Compel.

FOR WEDNESDAY, APRIL 6, 1927

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

Astrologers read this as rather an uncertain day, although early in the morning a benefic aspect dominates.

There is a good sign for those who seek employment, especially for women is there fair promise.

The stars smile on all who wed today, which makes for progress financially and an enviable station in life.

Romance, flowers under this direction of the stars, which appears to presage for the summer a time of general interest in love affairs.

Men and women of all ages are to be susceptible to sentiment, it is foretold, and many foolish marriages may be recorded.

Again an increase in the birthrate is forecast with boys more numerous than girls.

This is not an advantageous day for any sort of mercantile enterprise and new ventures should be delayed.

Commercial affairs are to be subject to sudden and unexpected changes, which will bring added wealth to the United States, the seers prophesy.

Banks and stock exchanges may experience uncertainty regarding the financial world this month when foreign news may be of extraordinary interest.

This is not a favorable rule for writers who may be inclined to take a pessimistic view of world affairs.

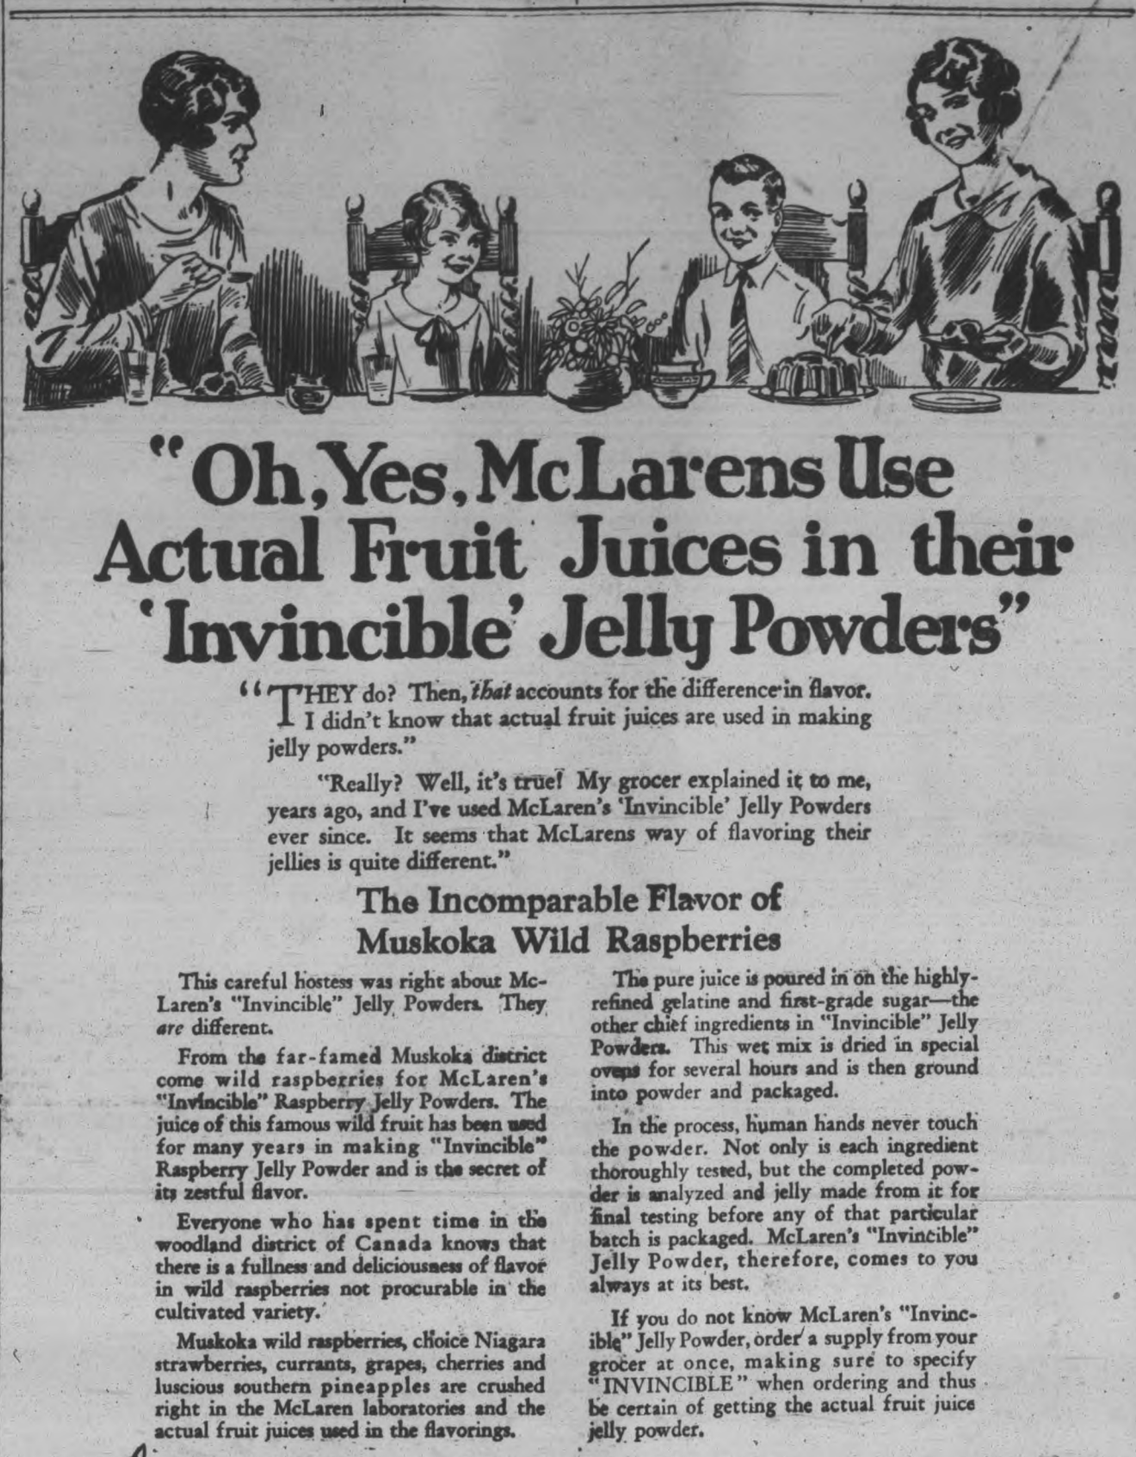
Many disturbing conditions now prevalent in the world are believed by astrologers to be due to the January eclipse when extraordinary aspects ruled.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of success in business, but speculation will be unlucky.

Children born on this day probably will have unusual charm of personality. They are likely to be too popular and too fond of social contacts for their own good.



"Oh, Yes, McLarens Use Actual Fruit Juices in their 'Invincible' Jelly Powders"

"THEY do? Then, that accounts for the difference in flavor. I didn't know that actual fruit juices are used in making jelly powders."

"Really? Well, it's true! My grocer explained it to me, years ago, and I've used McLaren's 'Invincible' Jelly Powders ever since. It seems that McLarens way of flavoring their jellies is quite different."

The Incomparable Flavor of Muskoka Wild Raspberries

From the far-famed Muskoka district come wild raspberries for McLaren's "Invincible" Raspberry Jelly Powders. The juice of this famous wild fruit has been used for many years in making "Invincible" Raspberry Jelly Powder and is the secret of its zestful flavor.

Everyone who has spent time in the woodland district of Canada knows that there is a fullness and deliciousness of flavor in wild raspberries not procurable in the cultivated variety.

Muskoka wild raspberries, choice Niagara strawberries, currants, grapes, cherries and luscious southern pineapples are crushed right in the McLaren laboratories and the actual fruit juices used in the flavorings.

The pure juice is poured in on the highly-refined gelatine and first-grade sugar—the other chief ingredients in "Invincible" Jelly Powders. This wet mix is dried in special ovens for several hours and is then ground into powder and packaged.

In the process, human hands never touch the powder. Not only is each ingredient thoroughly tested, but the completed powder is analyzed and jelly made from it for final testing before any of that particular batch is packaged. McLaren's "Invincible" Jelly Powder, therefore, comes to you always at its best.

If you do not know McLaren's "Invincible" Jelly Powder, order a supply from your grocer at once, making sure to specify "INVINCIBLE" when ordering and thus be certain of getting the actual fruit juice jelly powder.

SPLENDID PLAY AT PETHERICK'S

ATTENDANCE GOOD.

PETHERICK'S CORNERS, April 6.—Another Ladies' Aid pie social has passed into history, and never before was the event more successful. Sentinel hall was packed to the doors on Friday evening, April 1, when the curtain was drawn for the first act of the play, "Dust of the Earth," which was the main item of entertainment on the programme. The proceeds amounted to $103, the largest sum ever taken in at one of these socials. The Godden string orchestra provided excellent music between acts and during the supper hour. A vocal solo by Rev. C. D. Daniel, and a quartette, "We'll Have to Mortgage the Farm," by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Barnum, and Misses Ruth Lawrence and Alma Simpson, completed the programme.

Rev. Mr. Daniel acted as chairman, and before drawing the curtain announced the characters in the play as follows:

David Moore, a farmer—Lindsay Anderson.
Susan Moore, his wife—Verna Barnum.
Elizabeth Moore, their daughter — Jennie Fry.
Jerry Moore, their son — Gerald Barnum.
Rev. Dr. Templeton—Earl Fairman.
Miss Arabella, the village newspaper—Nellie Bennett.
Wandering Tom—Stewart Nelson.
Old Mose, a darky—Aylmer Petherick.
John Ryder, master of the Maples—Roy Fry.
Nell, "Dust of the Earth," Gladys Simpson.

Act 1.—An outdoor scene on the lawn and porch of the Moore home. Jerry is going fishing. The minister calls and asks Mr. Moore for the hand of his daughter, Elizabeth. David consents and the conversation drifts to the subject of the disappearance of Thomas Osbourne, former owner of the "Maples" estate, who was supposed to have been killed in Europe some seventeen years before, but whose body was never found. They also discuss David's niece, Nellie, the daughter of his sister, Eleanor, who disappeared about the same time as Thomas Osbourne, and who returned two years later to die, leaving Nellie in care of her brother. Susan and Elizabeth both hate Nellie and treat her very badly. They show this plainly as the act progresses. Elizabeth listens to the minister's proposal, but holds him off until Christmas, because she has secret hopes of landing John Ryder. Mr. Ryder, however, shows more attention to Nellie when he calls, and goes with her on a walk with "Mr. Tom" and Mose, who have been ordered off the place by Elizabeth. Miss Arabella shows her propensity for dispensing gossip when she calls on Susan and, using the names of various local characters, provoked the audience to gales of laughter. Susan and Elizabeth, in their hatred of Nell, place Elizabeth's ring in her apron pocket and accuse her of theft, but David will not believe them.

Act 2.—Christmas day. David and Dr. Templeton are called away to visit a sick friend. Jerry hits the minister with a snowball as he is leaving, "just to initiate him into the family," but Elizabeth has not decided yet; "John Ryder comes to-day." Nellie has made an early afternoon visit to Mr. Tom's cabin to leave some turkey which she hooked out of the ice-box, telling them Aunt Sue sent it. Jerry gives Nellie a blue ribbon which she has wanted for Christmas, and then shows her his presents, which include a pair of roller-skates from the minister. With these on he collides with Miss Arabella and knocks her down. He refuses to apologize and is ordered out. Miss Arabella warns Susan against Nell's evil influence. Ryder comes with presents for the family, is left alone with Elizabeth, but instead of proposing asks for Nell, who has been ordered to stay upstairs. She appears, however, and, left alone, Ryder gives her a Christmas remembrance, and asks her to marry him as she is so lonely and unhappy there. Susan finds Nell in Ryder's arms and accuses her of following in th footsteps of her mother who had disgraced the Moore family. Nell puts on her mother's old wedding gown, takes her few possessions and goes out into the storm. "I don't know where I am going, and I don't care," she sobs as the door closes.

Act 3.—In Tom's cabin in the woods. Tom and Mose in a Christmas night reverie. Tom feels his memory is coming back to him. If he only could recall what the ring and lock of hair in the little box meant he would know all. "From Tom to Eleanor," on the ring, with the word, "Mispah"—"Dat's de word what caused all the trouble," says old Mose. "Dat heathen word, Mispah." Mose agrees that Tom is more rational because now he can not steal a chicken without Tom wanting to know all its "personal history," whereas, a few years ago they could have chicken every meal. A knock and a cry is heard without, and Nell enters from the storm. Tom and Mose will keep her all night. As she rises to go to her bed, Tom stares at her and repeats the name "Eleanor." "It was my mother's name," says Nell. The following moments are intensely dramatic as Tom discovers his memory returning, and finds a daughter the living image of the wife whom he left in New York long years ago, when he took his mother to Europe.

Act 4.—David and Jerry, nearly frantic, out searching for Nell. Susan supposes she will have to take her back, even though Arabella advised against it. "You haven't a husband," says Susan. "No, thank heaven, I haven't," replies Arabella. Jerry returns in haste. "I've found her." With Mr. Ryder he visited Tom's cabin, and found her warm and happy. Ryder comes in and explains the situation, and many are the exclamations of surprise as the story of Nell's parentage is unfolded. Tom Osbourne and Nell return, and a happy reunion takes place, with forgiveness all around. Nell and Ryder are left alone as the others go in to partake of a belated breakfast. Ryder will not complete his proposal of the day before because he is longer rich and Nell is heiress to the estate which he formerly owned. He feels he is not worthy of her, but Nell asks him to marry her anyway, for what is she but "The Dust of the Earth."

After a brief interlude, during which the orchestra played, the organist struck up the bridal march, and Rev. Dr. Templeton, with Elizabeth on his arm, and John Ryder, with Nell Osbourne as his bride-to-be, took their places at the front of the platform, with the rest of the cast supporting them, where all stood until the singing of the National Anthem.

Previous to the last scene, Rev. Mr. Daniel, on behalf of the Ladies' Aid, thanked the young people of the Dramatic club for their assistance. Lindsay Anderson replied on behalf of the young people, expressing their pleasure at being able to help in the work. The ladies of the Aid then served sandwiches, coffee, and pie, which repast was thoroughly enjoyed, and everyone departed feeling well repaid for the effort made in coming. Several of the audience came long distances, a number being present from Hastings, as well as Campbellford, Hoards, Burnbrae and Rylstone.

Those who put on the play feel deeply gratified at the interest shown in this performance and, as they intend to give other presentations of the same play in the near future, they hope that his support will continue in the other centres as well as at Petherick's Corners.

Matinee Ladies

BY William B. Courtney

Copyright 1927, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

"MATINEE LADIES," with May McAvoy, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Bob Ward, working his way through college, is informed by his chums, Freddy and Arch, that they have found an easy and profitable way to earn money—working as dancing partners, of afternoons, for rich women in a fashionable New Jersey roadhouse. Bob thinks it isn't a fit way to make a living; but, faced with eviction for unpaid rent, reluctantly agrees to go to the roadhouse. There he sees the prettiest girl he has ever laid eyes on. She is Sally, the cigarette girl. Mazie Revere, a gold-digger, is jealous.

Mazie Revere was a pretty jaded jane. Deprived of a dance, she languidly turned to seek fun in the tormenting of Sally Smith, the little cigarette girl, who stood dreamily beside her there, staring out upon Bob Ward. Staring out upon a shining, dappled sea that traced a joyous path to Isles of romance, of untroubled content!

It got under Mazie's sophisticated skin to see such unashamed and unalloyed and wholly innocent love at first sight. Such wistful trust in the sunny side of things; such reverence for the innate beauty and truth of life to which Mazie had long since shut her eyes.

For Sally Smith's illusions were still buoyantly around her head; while Mazie Revere's were in tatters under her expensive French heels.

So Mazie, the taste of sour grapes strong within her carmined lips, sneered:

"See the way that old cluck necks our football hero!" Then, more cattily, adding: "He seems to like it, too!"

"He does not!" Sally Smith's feet were tiny, but they could stamp upon a floor with a most emphatic show of indignation. There were battle flags glinting in the eyes she turned upon Mazie.

Mazie took shrewd refuge in jeering:

"Say, kid, you're awfully interested in Big Boy, out there."

Sally Smith tossed her head, without deying it. What business, anyhow, was this of Mazie Revere's?

Mazie leaned toward Sally in a not unfriendly — only misguided and warped—way and said:

"I do believe you're simp enough to fall for a sap like that. That's all he is. A poverty-stricken sap. Not worth a second look from any girl—who's got chances!"

Sally Smith's eyes filled with the quick, hot tears of maidenly defence. She hugged her cigarette tray tightly, and fought off an impulse to crack it over Mazie's dyed head.

Mazie grew confidential. Talked in the boudoir manner of an ex-chorus girl. In the frank intimacy of one girl of the world to another.

"Listen, Sally Smith, I like you. You're a nice kid. And I'm going to get the pip if you start making a horse's rosette of yourself over any good-looking college kid, who ain't long enough out of diapers to have enough money in the bank to interest any sensible girl. You know, honey, I was once a cigarette girl myself. I know the ropes. Follow up your chances with those old codgers. Like that one over there now, who's making goo-goo eyes at you. And leave the empty pocket kids alone. Honest, honey, when I sold coffin nails I was nice to the right kind of gentlemen friends. I improved my chances. And look at me now!"

But Sally Smith, who did not share Mazie's own smug and complacent estimate of her own grandeur, walked off with her head in the air, and a laughing white lie on her lips for all the beetling men buyers of cigarettes.

And a song in her young heart. And a tender, prideful serenceness in her eyes as she watched a tall, broad boy dance around the room. Watched him, and glowed with amused joy at his awkwardness. Laughed gleefully to herself at his greenness. And nurtured a Vision in her eyes.

Which was most important and interesting.

CHAPTER VI

The afternoon wore on as afternoons have a way of doing, even in New Jersey roadhouses. Even in exclusive and doggy roadhouses such as Palisado Inn, where the hours are high-priced—bought, as they are, in costly three-minute dance intervals.

The hours of this particular afternoon were lent especially swift and airy wings for two youngsters, for whom all Time—the oppressive tyranny of hours, minutes, seconds—had stopped. The pulses and hearts of Sally Smith and Bob Ward were throbbing and leaping with not a regard in creation for clocks or dials or rules.

Bob, with his strong hands clasping the flabby shoulders of perfumed play-wives, could dance the better for feasting his eyes—and his soul!—upon little Sally Smith, wending her quaint vendor's erratic path among the tables.

That was his other self dancing—his physical, rent-earning self. This was his real self looking at Sally—his ambitious, idealizing, Degree-seeking self.

Sally, with her slim little hands balancing her tray close in front of her childishly fluttering breast, could banter and bargain over her wares the more gaily for feasting her eyes upon Bob Ward. It was within the scope of the miracle of innocence and guile combined in ittle Sally Smith to permit at once this detachment and absorption.

At first Bob had eought her after each dance. Had followed her around, wondering and worshiping in his shy, inarticulate way. Discreetly, and not too obviously, of course.

Yet Mazie, who saw and knew all things, warned him:

"Better lay off mooning after the cigarette girl, Mr. Bob Football Hero Ward, or your first afternoon here will be your last. Madame Leonine ain't runnin' a mash bureau for her employees. Only for her customers. A word to the wise is a sock in the eyes, eh, Big Boy?"

Bob flushed—chagrined to know that his castling dreams must be so plainly mirrored in his face.

He hurried away to joint Freddy and Arch, who, at a side stall table, were idling betwen dances, waiting to be signified by some fair-forty-and-fat ladies as partners for the next dance.

"Well," greeted Arch, "how do you like it, old Graveyard? Still feel that it's a great sin, no fit way for a he-man to make a living, and all that sort of rot?"

"Oh, it's all right, I guess. Hardly a thing to be proud of, though!"

"And why not, Mr. Morality? After all, we're giving value for pay received, which is the fundamental principle of honest work. We're providing many of these women with the only joy and fun they have in life. Don't be too ready to condemn them or even to sneer at them. How do we know what kind of home lives they have—what drives them out to play here? What kind of miserly, grouchy husbands? Let them have their fun—and we sure earn our fifty bucks by providing it for them."

"Yes," laughed Bob, "maybe you're right. Only we're underpaid. It's worth fifty dollars a day to dance with some of these women. Honest, when that floor gets crowded, and they're all clutching and straining and bumping to the whang of the music, I can just close my eyes and it doesn't take any stretch of the imagination at all to make me think I'm playing football. In a scrimmage, after a fumble. And say, some of the partners I've drawn have mangled my feet more than any Fordham or Rutgers line buckers ever did!"

Freddy cast a critical eye around. "Yeh," he agreed, "the clucks here this afternon are a little passe. But it's early yet. And there are some real swell janes who come in here sometimes. Young and pretty, too. There's one in particular—Mrs. Hammond. Boy, she's a knockout: Tons of money, tons of class, tons of good looks, tons of black hair, tons of everything! Wait until you see HER!"

Bob smiled. "Even if the 'tons' turn out to be only pounds, I'd say from your description that this marvelous Mrs. Hammond person would be well werth looking at!"

"She is!" enthused Freddy and Arch in chorus.

"Who is she?" asked Bob, feeling interested in spite of himself, by reason of the uncommon description given by his chums, whom, he knew, were rather blase young college men, to say the least, and not easily carried out of their campus affectation of sangfroid.

"We don't know," explained Freddy. "Nobody knows! She's a real lady of mystery."

BRIDGE WORKER NEARLY DROWNED

Toronto Man Falls Into the Swift Flowing Moira River.

BELLEVILLE, Ont., April 6. — John Esson, of Toronto, a member of the bridge and building gang of the Canadian National Railway, yesterday narrowly escaped drowning while he was assisting in laying new sleepers on the C.N.R. bridge which spans the River Moira in this city.

A plank upon which he was standing broke and he was dropped into the icy water, falling eighteen feet. The current at this point is swift, and Esson was carried down stream a distance of a quarter of a mile before he was rescued. He was taken to the bunk house, where he was provided with dry clothing and given attention.

To the troubadour of old, we are indebted for most of our knowledge of the customs and thought of Medieval Europe. His songs, 2500 of them, have been preserved. They deal with drama, romance and fable.

HIAWATHA HALL NAME CHANGED

Council Decides To Honor Memory of Robert Anderson, Killed Overseas.

SPLENDID BUILDING.

HIAWATHA, April 6.—At a special council meeting last week, among other matters, the local Community hall was given a new name, "Memorial Hall."

The resolution was as follows: "That from this time forward, we call this building Memorial Hall, instead of Community Hall, in honor of Robert Anderson, who was killed in action during the Great War."

It was moved by Councillor Henry Muskratte, and seconded by Councillor Henry Cowie.

Chief George Paudash was in the chair. The resolution was carried unanimously.

The building, which is a credit to th is summer resort, is forty-five feet long and thirty feet wide.

All money required in the work was raised locally. The timber was taken from public lands.

The lovely building is a very fitting and useful memorial to one who gave his life for King and country.

The late Mr. Anderson was a son of Mrs. James Jarvis of this village.

The council plans to procure an enlarged photograph of the fallen soldier, to be placed in the Memorial Hall.

Royal Air Force Will Attempt New Record For Non-Stop Flight

LONDON, April 6 (Canadian Press).—A British attempt to set up a new "record" for a non-stop flight is to be made by the Royal Air Force some time in May, and a standard day bomber is now being prepared for the task. The object is to fly 4,000 miles without a stop. No official statement has been made upon the subject, nor has the route officially been disclosed, but the present air route of the British Empire is to the East, and all the long non-stop flights have been made in this direction. The last, and so far the "record" non-stop flight was that of Lieutenant Costes and Captain Rignot, two French airmen who, last October, flew from Paris to Jask, in Persia, a distance of 3,390 miles, in 32 hours. It is obvious, therefore, that to beat that flight a distance of at least 4,000 miles must be aimed at, and in fact, another 600 miles on from Jask would bring an airman to Karachi and India.

It is generally understood that Flight-Lieutenant C. R. Carr, D.F.C., at present on the staff of the air defences of Great Britain, and stationed at Uxbridge, is to be the pilot, while Flight-Lieutenant L. E. M. Gillman, also on the same staff for air navigation duties, will be the navigator.

SARNIA BOY DIES IN SOUTH AMERICA

Stanley Crompton Fatally Hurt By Automobile at Barrancas.

SARNIA, April 6 — Stanley Crompton, aged 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Crompton, 180 Alfred street, was killed in an automobile accident in Barrancas, Colombia, South America, on Saturday, according to word received by his parents here. Details were lacking in the message received.

The young man, who went South under contract with the International Petroleum Company in January of this year, was well and widely known in this city and in interscholastic circles. "Pat" Crompton, as he was generally known, was a former well-known athlete of the collegiate institute. He was a member of the football and basketball teams, also track teams of the school until the year before he left for South America. He was a member of the office staff of the International Petroleum Company at Cartagena, Colombia, and it is believed he had been transferred to Barrancas, where he was killed.

FRENCH FAVOR TONNAGE LIMIT

Compromise Proposal Given Privately—Italy Opposes Publicity.

GERMAN SUGGESTION.

GENEVA, April 6 (Canadian Press) — Paul Boncour of France to-day privately communicated to Lord Cecil, Britain, and Hugh Gibson, United States, the text of his compromise proposal concerning the limitation of naval tonnage. It is that limitation be by tonnage and not classes, but that the full programmes of construction be furnished in the treaty.

Meanwhile Signor Marinis officially deposited the Italian proposal that publicity be restricted and that types and details of warships, including armament, be divulged merely when their keels were laid. Lord Cecil strongly objected to this.

Germany created somewhat of a sensation at this afternoon's session of the preparatory disarmament commission by introducing an additional treaty clause whereby the signatories would agree to limit the armaments of their land forces, including rifles, machine guns, howitzers, mortars, tanks, and armored cars.

The commission of business men appointed to investigate details of the purchase for $25,000 by the commission of lease hold rights of William Monroe, a member, to a site for the new filtration plant, reported and received a vote of confidence from the Council.

Mining Market Active With Movement Irregular

TORONTO, April 6 (Canadian Press).—Irregular price movements were in evidence on the Standard Mining Exchange today. The market was broad and moderately active. A seventeen point advance by Mining Corporation was the biggest gain when it sold up to 3.47. McIntyre sold up 20 cents to 25.10, Lake Shore five cents to 18.55, and Teck Hughes showed strength selling up to 6.90, a gain of ten. Dome Mines was a weak feature, declining 15 cents to 8.40. Wheat Prices Firmer On News From Europe

CHICAGO, April 6. Canadian Press. — Unexpected strength of quotations at Liverpool helped to bring about an early fresh upturn here today in wheat. Indications of new export buying of domestic red winter wheat for Europe counted also as a bullish factor. Opening at 1-4 to 3-4 cent. advance, wheat soon scored a slight further gain. Corn and oats were also firmer, corn starting at 1-8 to 5-8c upturn and subsequently holding near to the initial range. Provisions were weak.

Opening prices were: Wheat, May 134 7-8, July 139 3-4, corn May 73 2-8 July 77 3-4, oats May 44 3-8; July 44 5-8.

Walker Features Trading On Toronto Stock Market

TORONTO, April 6 (Canadian Press).—Spectacular trading featured the proceedings on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. The volume of business was the largest in some time, with Walker, traded in to the extent of 6,655 shares, holding the spotlight. This issue was in keen demand from the outset and gained steadily to close at 43, up 2 1-8 points. Gooderham and Worts was prominent with a gain of 3 1-8 to 63 1-4. Seagram sold up 1-4 to 24 3-4. Industrial Alcohol was off 1-8 to 26 1-4. Massey-Harris stocks were active and the Common advanced two points to 137.

Enthusiasm In Wall Street Centres On Railway Shares

NEW YORK, April 6 (Canadian Press).—Bullish enthusiasm ran rampant again in today's stock market, with the chief demand centering in the rails and high grade industrials. United States Steel Common touched another new high record for all time at 172 3-8, and General Motors at 184. Trading was again in rather heavy volume. In the rail group new high prices were established by "Katy" Common, Kansas City Southern, Western Maryland Second Preferred, and a few others. General Railway Signal, Western Union, and Woolworth all touched new peak prices for the year.

EMIGRANT SHIP RUNS AGROUND

British Warship Takes Off Many Chinese From Stranded Vessel.

LONDON, April 6. — (Canadian Press.)—A Hong Kong despatch to the Evening News reports that the Dutch liner Tjilingboet,' bound for Java, with 1,500 Chinese emigrants, is stranded off Lingting, fifteen miles south of Hong Kong, in heavy weather.

Distress signals brought the British cruiser 'Probisher,' which at the time the despatch was filed, had taken off 500 of the emigrants and was still standing by. Other ships were rushing to the assistance of the liner, which was said to be partly waterlogged.

AMATEUR BURGLARS HAVE LITTLE LUCK

GUELPH, April 6—Inexperienced and unequipped burglars made a total haul of $31 in a series of eight "breaks" in different parts of the city Monday night. In only two of the eight places entered was money secured—$30 in the office of the Ingot Iron Company, in the north end of the city, and $2 in the office of the Spotton Engineering Company, on Yarmouth street.

In their "tour" the thieves confined their attentions to offices. Other places entered were four offices in the Douglas Building, on Douglas Street; the Wellington Acceptance Corporation; Dr. F. R. Bennetto; Sun Life, managed by W. H. Hamilton; Mutual Life, managed by George Chapman; Conger Coal, Duke Street; and Geulph Lumber Company, Duke Street. So far, no arrests have been made.

SPORTSMEN GATHER FOR SALE OF RIGHTS

FREDERICTON, N.B., April 6.—(Canadian Press.)—Wealthy sportsmen, including some of the most noted fishermen in America, are gathered here to-day for the auction sale to-morrow of exclusive salmon angling rights on the Restigouche, Kedgewick and Patapedia rivers.

President Henry W. Deforest, secretary Guy Gary, and other members of the Restigouche Salmon Club, whose thirty members are estimated to represent more than six hundred millions of wealth, arrived by private car to-day from New York and there are others here from New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago, Montreal and Toronto.

Gas in the Stomach Is Truly Dangerous

Gas, Pain, Bloating and a feeling of fulness after eating are almost certain evidence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach.

Too much acid irritates the delicate stomach lining, frequently causing chronic Gastritis and dangerous Ulcers. Food ferments and sours, forming a gas that distends the stomach and often seriously affects the Heart.

It is genuine folly to neglect such a condition or to treat with artificial digestive acids that cannot neutralize the stomach acid. A better way is to get from your druggist a few tiny tablets of Bisurated Magnesia and take three or four of them after each meal. This famous but simple and inexpensive stomach sweetner and anti-acid can be depended upon to prove its value in less than five minutes. In most instances, relief comes instantly! Pleasant and perfectly harmless to use—Bisurated Magnesia tablets do give wonderful relief in nine out of ten cases. Ask your Doctor or Druggist.

POWERS REPAIR

While the state of affairs south of the Yangtse caused by the anti-foreign agitation appears to be growing worse, the civil war situation north of the river becomes more precarious as the Cantonese armies progress further toward the northern capital, Peking.

At present the Cantonese objectives are Tsinanfu, the capital of Shantung, and Tientsin, the strategical railway centre of the north. If Tientsin is captured the Northerners will be cut from their Manchurian base.

FRICTION AMONG CANTONESE

LONDON, April 6. — Canadian Press. — Reuter's Shanghai correspondent says friction has been increased between General Chiang Kai Shek and the Communist element among the Cantonese by his action in suppressing the provisional administration which the Communists recently established to control the Shanghai area.

The Communists, according to the despatch, sent a delegation to Hankow to take up the matter with the Cantonese centre executive committee ,while Chiang sent a report to the same quarter urging that the provisional administration in Shanghai be suppressed by one constitutionally elected.

COMMUNISTS PLAN ACTION.

MOSCOW, April 6. United Press. —The Chinese revolution so far has been bourgeois and democratic, the Communist party concluded to-day, after discussion of the situation, but the opinion was expressed that the revolution was becoming Socialisic.

After speeches by M. Bukharin, a member of the political bureau which controls the Communist, and C. B. Radek, the Communists endorsed a programme of boring from within the Kuomintang (Chinese National party) rather than attempting to stand

Missionaries Must Leave

NEW YORK, April 6 (Canadian Press). — An "imperative general withdrawal" of missionaries from their posts in North China to coast cities "on account of the revolution causing great danger to life" is reported by Bishop Laurie J. Birney, of Shanghai, in a cable to the Methodist Board of Foreign Missions.

MacDonald Attacks Policy

LONDON, April 6 (Canadian Press).—J. Ramsay MacDonald, former Prime Minister and leader of the Opposition, opened the debate in the House of Commons today on the Chinese question. It had been agreed to postpone other business for the debate. To the cheers of his Laborite supporters, Mr. MacDonald declared that the sending of troops to Shanghai had considerably increased Great Britain's difficulties in negotiating with the Chinese and had not increased the secuurity of British lives outside Shanghai.

Mr. MacDonald advocated calling on the League of Nations to smooth out the difficulties in China. He declared that the Chinese distrusted Great Britain, and the only way to remove their suspicions was to go "straight ahead with our recognition of the independence of China as a self-governing country."

Northerners Bomb Nanking

SHANGHAI, April 6 (Canadian Press).—An aeroplane of the Northern Chinese forces, says a wireless message from Nanking, dropped three bombs today on Nanking and two on Puchow, across the Yangtze River from Nanking.

Anti-foreign feeling was reported to be still in evidence in Nanking, with looting of foreign residents continuing.

Customs Strike Ends

AMOY, China, April 6 (Canadian Press).—The strike of Chinese Customs workers has been settled and the Port of Amoy, recently closed on orders from Peking, is to re-open tomorrow.

Strikes of other workers are continuing and the situation remains turbulent.

Cleveland Given Third Place Rating in the 1927 Race

SPEAKER WILL PROVE LOSS TO INDIAN CLUB

Success of Team Will Depend Upon Showing of Outfield.

BATTERY FAIR.

Cleveland Has Lost Considerable in Way of Playing Talent.

NEW YORK, April 6—When the 1926 pennant race ended in the American League, with the Yankees staggering in to victory and the Cleveland Indians all but on their backs, fandom in general believed that Tris Speaker's club would be out in front if the race had another week to go. The Yankees had stored some reserve victories away in two earlier winning streaks and this extra store beat the Indians.

For a time Cleveland was regarded as the probable pennant winner of 1927, or at least the favorite at that time to succeed in another year. Since then a lot has happened in baseball. Cleveland has lost considerable in the way of playing talent and other clubs have gained.

The Indians of 1927 shape up as an interesting aggregation, carrying some very good pitching talent and strong enough to be an afternoon's work for any ball club. At the same time the club does not impress as the Indians of 1926 impressed. If Jack McCallister finishes as high as third next October his rule must be considered as highly successful.

McCallister has plenty of outfielders, but to date he has not been able to satisfy himself in regard to Tris Speaker's successor. He did not expect to find a Speaker, but he had hoped for a more satisfactory arrangement of his fly chasers than he has been able to make.

Jamieson Good

Jamieson in left field and Summa in right are quite satisfactory. Jamieson, one of the great ball hawks and outfielders of recent years, roams far and wide in left field, and will probably have to do more roaming in the centre field sector with Speaker gone. Summa, not so capable as Jamieson on defense, fits well in right field at Cleveland, where right fielders have to be more adept in taking bounds off the fence than in ground covering.

McCallister moved Summa over to centre field and alternated with McNulty and Eichrodt, extra outfielders last year, in right field, but the arrangement did not satisfy. Summa did not cover the patrol as desired, so he went back to right field, and George Gerkin, a recruit from the Three-Eye League, was sent to centre. He fields well, but what he can do with major league pitching is yet to be seen. If he fails, Summa may have to go to centre again, and Lew Fonseca, a weak thrower and an infielder, may go to the spot vacated by Summa.

Lose in Offense

Speaker is the only loss, but a big one, not alone on defense but on the attack as well. Spoke hit below his usual figure last season, but he had about seventy hits for extra bases in his collection of 164 hits, and that meant a lot when coupled with the sort of pitching which Cleveland got.

Uhle, the most successful pitcher in the majors last year, tops the mound force, with Levsen and Shaute as very capable assistants, and the veteran Sherry Smith at an age where he is a doubtful quantity. Miller, Karr, Buckeye and Hudgin form the secondary squad of pitchers, but it is on Uhle, Levsen and Shaute that the real burden of the club's success must rest.

Behind the bat are capable catchers who are younger than the average, and all weak hitters. Luke Sewell will do most of the catching with Myatt as assistant and Autry for the third place.

Burns Powerful

The infield remains unchanged. Burns, not the best fielder among first basemen, is a competent workman and a powerful hitter. Joe Sewell at short is one of the bright all around stars of the league. Spurgeon, the youngster at second, should be even better than in 1926 when he fielded well and hit well. Lutzke at third, is a flashy fielder who lacks the hitting ability of his mates. Hodapp, Padgett and Usatt are the reserves.

Jack McAllister should make a winning manager as he knows his baseball, and is dealing with players whose capabilities he fully understands. But his club can hardly expect to finish above third place, more likely below that position.

You'd Be SURPRISED!

BY BILLY EVANS

Ty Cobb, even by his enemies, is admitted to be the greatest ball player of all time.

Therefore, to write about the many extraordinary feats he has performed in the field, at the bat and on the bases, would be nothing new.

Fandom is familiar with how he led the American League for nine consecutive years in hitting, stole 96 bases in 1915, and during three years of his career, batted over .400.

Therefore, to be different, this story deals with one of the very few failures that dot Cobb's record. It is the story of the only time in Cobb's diamond experience he was removed from the game for a pinch hitter. It was in this game he struck out on his four trips to the plate.

Detroit was playing Chicago. "Doc" White, one of the smartest southpaws that ever wrapped his hand around a ball, was the White Sox pitcher We have gone back practically 20 years for this setting.

Noting Cobb's stance, White decided a low curve outside would troubl Ty. I happened to be the umpire in that game. White's deductions prove correct. On four successive trips to the plate, Cobb's best effort was a long foul; he struck out each time.

"Payne now batting for Cobb," yelled the announcer when it was Ty's turn at bat in the ninth. It was the first and last time he was ever removed from the game for a pinch hitter.

Believe me, Cobb made "Doc" White suffer for those four strikeouts before the wily southpaw retired from the majors.

HOME-BRED TEAM TO REPRESENT U. S.

Select Players Born in Country To Meet British Stars.

CHICAGO, April 6.—"A home-bred" golf team will represent this country against British professionals in the second renewal of the Ryder Cup matches at Worcester, Mass., June 10 and 11.

The committee that selected the United States stars who will be captained by Walter Hagen, was of the opinion that the team should be composed entirely of professionals born and reared in the United States.

This qualification, while eliminating a number of prominent United States golf shooters, permitted the inclusion of such names as Leo Diegel, Johnny Farrell, Johnny Golden, Bill Melhorn, Gene Sarazen, Joe Turnesa and Al. Watrous.

Link experts, excluded by the foreign birth, include Jock Hutchison, Bob MacDonald, Harry Cooper of Hamilton, Ont., MacDonald Smith.

The British team will be captained by Abe Mitchell, and will include Geo. Duncan, Ted Ray, Fred Robson, C. A. Whitcombe, Aubrey Boomer, Archie Compston, George Gadd and Arthur C. Havers.

MR. WHAT'S-HIS-NAME.

Despite the suspension, Risko will be permitted to meet Romero Rojas in Wilkesbarre, Pa., on April 19, since the contract for the fight was drawn up before the Risko-Slattery bout took place.

EAGER TO TRAIN.

JOHN McGRAW RIGHT) AND ROGERS HORNSBY

Here are Rogers Hornsby, in his New York uniform, and John McGraw, boss of the great Rajah, looking over the rookies at the Sarasota (Fla.) training camp of the Giants. Hornsby, who piloted the St. Louis world's champs last season, is proving quite an aid to McGraw at Sarasota. He also is showing Giants' boss that he will slam the old apple with much more gusto this season than he did last while acting as player-manager of the Cardinals.

VOIGHT WINS IN QUALIFYING ROUND

Scores 135 in North and South Amateur Tournament.

PINEHURST, N.C., April 6 (Canadian Press)—George Voight, of Washington, D.C., played the kind of golf that duffers dream bout and scored a snooty 135 for the 36-hole qualifying round of the north and south amateur tournament. He had a margin of 15 strokes over W. C. Fownes, Jr., of Pittsburgh, who was second with 147. His qualifying total was two strokes over the record established by Bobby Jones at Sunningdale, England, 133.

Eric Thompson, of Saint John, N.B., was the solitary Canadian to make the sacred sixteen who will start match play to-morrow. Thompson was in sixth position with 39-39—78—155.

CAMPAIGN STARTED FOR ANIMAL HOME

The Peterborough Humane Society Is Endeavouring To Make This Possible.

The Peterborough Humane Society is realizing the need of an Animal Home, similar to other cities, in order to take care of work among the animals of the city and county, which is rapidly increasing.

At a meeting held on Monday night this problem was thoroughly discussed and decided that it was advisable to start a fund for the purpose of building a small, yet up-to-date home, where stray, sick and uncared for animals may be taken and given humane treatment and attention. Two departments are needed—one for small animals and one for horses. The Humane Society feels that there are a number of animal-loving people who would be glad to donate cash, lumber or possibly a lot in the city, where this home might be built. It may not be generally known that all property purchased by Humane Societies throughout the provinces is exempt from taxes, according to the Provincial Act, which eliminates a certain amount of expense towards the up-keep of animal homes.

Another good feature of having a home of this kind in the city, which will appeal to animal lovers, is, that there will be a department for caring for pets of owners, desirous of holidaying, which could be boarded and well cared for, for a small fee.

Through the courtesy of the Examiner a fund is being opened to enable those who are in sympathy with this phase of the work, to contribute. All contributions will be acknowledged through this paper.

Last night an automobile caught fire at the rear of 163 Antrim Street. The top had been taken off the carburetter while the car was being repaired and the gasoline became ignited.

Pontiac Engine Adopted For Marine Use

A decided tribute has been paid the Pontiac Six engine in its conversion to marine use by the Gray Marine Motor Company, Detroit, Mich.

Specially converted Pontiac motors are being sold under the trade name "Gray Six Forty." The engines are sold to the Gray Marine Motor Company less manifold, transmission, carburetor, distributor and clutch, as these parts must be replaced by specially designed parts essential to marine usage.

The Pontiac Six engine was selected because it made a particularly efficient power plant for motor boat use. Marine engines must be heavily constructed throughout—capable of running a top speed for long periods of time. Oiling systems must be full force feed, bearings, crankshafts and cylinder parts must be of heavy, durable construction so as to withstand the intense heat and terrific vibration encountered in such use. It is because the Pontiac Six engine fulfilled these requirements that it was adopted for marine use. 1d-82-699.

THE WEATHER

By way of variation, we had a hail storm at the noon hour to-day. While not severe, it was the first of the season. To many, the falling hailstones are a mystery, as to where they are formed and how they are supported. Hailstones usually fall when a few rain-clouds are passing overhead in a partially clear sky — generally when there is considerable winds. The moisture in the cloud condenses into drops of water, which in the ordinary course of events would fall to the earth as rain; but at times miniature cyclones or whirlwinds prevail in the upper stratas. These suck and carry up the drops of water to higher levels, where they freeze, retaining their original shape. When out of the power of the whirlwind they fall to the earth as pellets of ice. At times these hailstones may be caught a second and third times and carried upwards, which accounts for their irregularity and great size in some cases. Above five miles in height zero weather prevails during the warmest summer weather. —W. P.

GREAT BRITAIN HAS NO INTENTION OF BEING DRIVEN OUT OF CHINA CHAMBERLAIN TELLS COMMONS

Would Pursue Policy of Conciliation as Events Progressed.

CITES DETAILS.

Ramsay Macdonald Says Sending of Troops Increased Negotiation Difficulties.

LONDON, April 7 (A.P.).—Great Britain has no intention of being driven out of China, Sir Austen Chamberlain, Foreign Minister, made it clear yesterday during a debate in the House of Commons on the Chinese situation, in reiterating the government's policy.

He declared that Great Britain would pursue a policy of conciliation and adjustment of its old position in China to meet the new aspirations of the Chinese people and the conditions of the country as events progressed.

Then, after a pause, he said slowly and solemnly: "Great Britain is not prepared to be hustled out of China." His statement drew cheers from the Conservative benches, after which he continued: "Nor are we prepared to withdraw our nationals from Shanghai and other up-country places or be treated as though they had no right to that which is theirs by treaty and as though the lives of Britishers were of no account to the British Government."

Regarding British policy, which he said was unchanged, Sir Austen asserted that it was essential that before this policy could be carried further Great Britain must know what is to be the attitude of the responsible authorities in China regarding the Nanking outbreak of two weeks ago.

Believe Powers Will Agree

Referring to a statement by the Laborite, John Wheatley, that the Foreign Office had estranged the other Powers, Sir Austen said:

"I believe that all the Powers concerned will be in substantial agreement that it is necessary to require redress for our subjects and are also agreed as to the terms wherein this redress shall be demanded. The United States, Japan and Great Britain will probably agree, not merely to ask for reparations but as to the amount which should be asked for."

He gave details and further instances of reported looting and outrages upon hospitals and other buildings, and said it would be a mistake to suppose that these attacks were confined to the British, as the forces which Chinese agitators had aroused were directed against foreigners indiscriminately.

Increased Difficulties

Debate on the Chinese situation was opened by Ramsay MacDonald, the Labor leader and former Premier, who declared that the sending of troops to Shanghai had considerably increased Great Britain's difficulties in negotiating with the Chinese and had not increased the security of British lives outside of Shanghai.

Mr. MacDonald asserted that no one could say that exactly what had happened at Nanking without making an investigation, and strongly urged that the Nanking situation be approached by the inquiry method.

Advocating calling on the League of Nations to smooth out the difficulties in China, he declared that the only way to remove Chinese distrust of Great Britain was to go straight ahead with the recognition of the independence of China as a self-governing country.

Declaring that not only China but the whole of the East was awakening and that it would be necessary for the West to adapt itself to the changed conditions, he added: "It is a problem of political adjustment . . . the less we have to do with soldiers the better for us."

Opposition Views

After Sir Austen had made his reply, various Laborites expressed their views in opposition to the government's policy. Then former Premier David Lloyd George, the Liberal leader, arose and remarked that Sir Austen's task was difficult, and that he and his friends had no desire to embarrass the Foreign Secretary with further discussions in view of the pending note or negotiations on the Nanking incident.

In view of the gravity of the chinese situation the Easter holidays of the Cabinet Ministers appear extremely doubtful. The Cabinet has agreed to remain within easy reach of the War Office for consultation at any time.

New Aspects Arise

PEKING, April 7 (A.P.).—A raid by Northern soldiers on buildings attached to the Soviet Embassy here and the detention at a hotel of two United States journalists, one a woman, who are known to have incurred the displeasure of the northern command by contributions to hostile publications, yesterday introduced new international aspects to the Chinese civil war imbroglio.

Pinedo's World Tour Comes To Sudden End

APACHE LODGE, Roosevelt Dam, Ariz., April 7—The inter-continental flight of Commander Francesco de Pinedo came to a disastrous end at 12.05 yesterday when the Santa Maria caught fire as the plane was being put under way preparatory to taking off for San Diego from Roosevelt Dam.

Shortly before the plane took fire it had been announced at Washington that the four-continent flight of the Italian aviator had been extended to include Vancouver, B.C., and Quebec City. Previously it had been announced that he would fly only to Montreal.

TALK ON CANADA BY MRS. FALLIS

Members of Otonabee Chapter, IO.D.E. Hear Interesting Address.

LARGE ATTENDANCE.

A splendid address on "Canada," speaking of the Dominion as a whole, and of the responsibility of each province, was given by Mrs. Howard E. Fallis, to a large attendance of the members of the Otonabee Chapter, I.O.D.E., at their regular monthly meeting held yesterday afternoon in the green room of the Y.W.C.A.

The regent, Miss S. A. Tomkins, presided over the meeting and introduced to the Chapter six new members, Mesdames Sherwood, Blewett, Barton, Burrell, Hancock and Clayton.

Mrs. Fallis' address was exceptionally interesting and was listened to with keen attention by her audience. A pleasing voice, an evident thorough knowledge of her subject, and a manner of presentation marked by clarity and comprehensiveness, made her discourse on the varying needs and problems of the different units of the Dominion of Canada, entertaining and thought-provoking.

"Canada's most important problems at the present day have to do with her own domestic affairs," said Mrs. Fallis, referring to the discord and unrest in various sections which threaten to disrupt the national life of the Dominion, and to the difficulty of formulating a policy which will meet the needs of each province without vitally encroaching on the rights of others. Differences in geographical location, in race and in the industrial life of her people are unavoidable difficulties confronting those who seek a remedy for varying needs and problems. The lesson of cohesion and unity taught the Dominion by the Fenian raids, which led to Confederation of the provinces, has had time to be lost in the unrest of modern times.

Western Problems.

Referring to the wonderful great country comprised in the provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba,—whose combined areas are greater than the total area of Germany, France, Belgium, Spain and Portugal combined, Mrs. Fallis referred to their problems, in their lack of waterway transport to the sea, to the marketing problems of the western farmers, and the climatic conditions, which impose a seasonal occupation upon him.

Speaking of immigration, she said, "It has been the policy of succeeding governments in Canada to bring immigrants to our land and then forget all about them. We can only hope that our governments will some time make a change in this regard."

"We must not think that we have everything to give, and nothing to learn, from these new settlers in our land. They have differing ideals and traditions from ours, but they can teach us much, if we will adopt an attitude of tolerance and goodwill towards them."

Mrs. Fallis also spoke of the hope of a time when "Canadian power will be used in Canadian mills to grind Canadian grain."

Orientals along Coast.

To British Columbia and the isolated position which it occupied for so many years, the speaker turned next, referring first to the geographical position of the Western coast, which gives it a wider horizon in many ways. "Their social life is not hide-bound like ours, they are not partisan in their politics or over-fervent in their religion.' The peculiar problem of British Columbia, said Mrs. Fallis, is the Oriental difficulty. Quoting figures, she said that the birth ratio 11 years ago was one

SUPERIOR, Wis., April 7 (United Press). — Forty-two teachers continue to hold the fort although less than 100 students remain to man it. The rest of Central High School, about 1,000 pupils strong, has been on strike for four days because Miss Lulu Dickinson, an instructor of English at the school for 23 years, has been dismissed. Superintendent of Schools, Paul R. Spencer, announced yesterday that classes would continue if only one pupil attended. The indignant students, backed by their parents, have demanded the resignation of Spencer and the Rev. A. T. Ekblad, President of the School Board.

The strike has spread to East High School, where sixty students refused to attend classes yesterday after Central students had distributed circulars and urged their fellows to join in the sympathy strike.

ACTION OF CHANG'S SOLDIERS DEEPLY RESENTED BY SOVIET

May, However, Be Taken as Act of Irresponsible Persons.

KOO RESIGNS.

Gives Up Office of Premier at Peking—Warships Come Down River.

MOSCOW, April 7. Canadian Press. — Great indignation exists in official quarters at the raid yesterday of the Russian embassy in Peking. A bitter feeling exists in Moscow toward Marshal Chang Tso Lin, the northern commander, whose troops are understood to have carried out the raid, and with whom the Soviet government has clashed frequently. Even more resentment is expressed toward the foreign legations in Peking who are reported to to have permitted the entry of the raiders.

MAY MOVE EMBASSY.

SHANGHAI, April 7. Canadian Press. — William Linde, the Soviet consul, said he believed the raid on the Russian embassy at Peking might be regarded as an act by irresponsible Chinese militarists, and that hence there would be no reprisal. All the foreign diplomatic missions were entitled to possess such weapons as were seized in the embassy, he said, and do possess them. He hinted that the embassy might be removed from Peking to Hankow, the present seat of the Nationalist government.

PROTEST IN MOSCOW.

PEKING, April 7. — (Canadian Press.)—Severance of relations between Peking and Moscow was regarded as probable in many quarters today, as a consequence of yesterday's raid on several buildings near the Soviet Embassy in Peking. The authorities of the Northern Chinese alliance stated that the raid produced overwhelming evidence that the Soviet Union was deeply involved in plots to overthrow law and order in North China. It is learned that Dr. Wellington Koo, foreign minister of the Northern Government, has drafted a protest to the Soviet charge d'affaires charging the embassy with sheltering criminal plotters.

SOVIET ISSUES WARNING.

SHANGHAI, April 7.— (Canadian Press.)— The Soviet consul general, William Linde, to-day called on the Norwegian consul as Dean of the Consular Corps here, and announced that if the Soviet embassy in Shanghai was raided as were the buildings attached to the Peking embassy, he would hold the consular body responsible.

Movie Fan Sues Theatre For Beating By Neighbor

NEW YORK, April 7.—(Canadian Press.)—Henry Fisher, a movie patron, who was beaten and stabbed for objecting to another fan reading the sub titles aloud, has brought suit for $25,000 damages against a vaudeville corporation. The man hit him on the head and stabbed him three times with a knife, Fisher said. Replying to the suit, the theatre corporation said it was Fisher's own fault.

N.B. LIQUOR BILL HOTLY DEBATED

Opposition Opposes Change of System Without Referendum.

ONTARIO ACT COPIED.

FREDERICTON, N.B., April 7. — (Canadian Press.)—New Brunswick's new liquor control legislation is scheduled for second reading in the Provincial Legislature this afternoon, and it is likely the battle over the measure will be resumed.

Hon. A. A. Dysart, leader of the opposition, will move an amendment which, it is believed, will question the right of the Government to make the change without a mandate from the people, but this will probably not precipitate as long a discussion as that of last night, when fifteen speeches were made. The present expectation is that the bill will have passed third reading by to-morrow night.

The bill follows fairly closely the provisions of Ontario's legislation, even to the appointment of a commission.

SAYS COMPANY HAD PAID MONEY TO THE POLICE

Major A. E. Nash Testifies Labatt Manager Admitted Money Paid Over.

CUSTOMS ENQUIRY.

Was Given in Explanation of Certain Entries on Books.

TORONTO, Ont., April 7 (Canadian Press)—For the first time in the history of the Royal Customs Commission came an intimation yesterday that money had been paid to the provincial police by a brewing company. In the witness-box, A. E. Nash, auditor for the Commission, asserted that Edmund Burke, manager of the Labatt Brewing Company, London, Ont., explained certain entries standing on the books to him by saying that they were payments made to the provincial police. Other small payments, Mr. Nash stated Mr. Burke had told him, were made to customs officials.

Just a short time previous to the evidence of Mr. Nash, Mr. Burke, from the same witness-box, had denied that the Labatt Company had ever paid money to police officers or to customs officials.

"Did you make any payments to government officials?" asked Mr. Rowell of the Labatt manager.

"No, positively, not to my knowledge," was the reply.

"Did you pay any money to the police?"

"No," was the answer accompanied by a laugh.

"Did you neevr pay money to the police to let goods through?"

"Never."

Asked for Explanation

Charles Wise, the auditor who actually found the entries in the books which aroused suspicion; substantiated the statements of Mr. Nash as to the explanations given by Mr. Burke. On going through the books of the Labatt company, he stated, he came across the entries and asked for an explanation of them. Mr. Burke, he said, had told him that they were for small payments to Customs officials. "He did not tell me that they were made for things which it was improper for a customs officer to do," Mr. Wise stated. He said that he had later been present at the conversation between Mr. Nash and Mr. Burke in regard to the entries, and that Mr. Nash's evidence in regard to that conversation was correct.

At the conclusion of Mr. Wise's testimony, Mr. Burke was asked if he had any further evidence to offer. His counsel, J. M. McAvoy, of London, explained that Mr. Burke had not been able to hear the evidence of Messrs. Nash and Wise. He would read it in the official report to-night, and, if necessary, would make a statement to the

Turkish Women Demand Equality For Their Sex

Veteran I.C.R. Engineer Dies In His 96th Year

JAMAICA, N.Y., April 7 (United Press).—James McDermott, 95, who ran a locomotive for 61 years on the Intercolonial Railroad, now part of the Canadian National Railways, and retired 12 years ago with a medal from King George V. for long and conscientious service, will be buried here tomorrow. He died on Tuesday. McDermott was born in Quebec. He is survived by four daughters, four sons, sixteen grandchildren, and one great-grandchild. He moved here about eight years ago.

KING FERDINAND SEEMS BETTER

Improvement Noted in Condition of Rumanian Monarch.

SLEEPS WELL.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, April 7 (Canadian Press).—The condition of King Ferdinand, who is suffering from influenza, continued to improve overnight. It was stated today that he seemed stronger and had slept well.

Improvement Temporary?

PARIS, April 7 (Canadian Press) —Information received here today was that the improvement in the condition of King Ferdinand was only temporary and that death was a question of hours. Optimistic reports, however, appeared confirmed in the fact that Crown Prince Carol was still at Neuilly, not yet having received a summons to his father's bedside.

IMPORT FIRMS UNDER ENQUIRY

Customs Commission Turns To Transactions of Toronto People.

HEARS COMPLAINTS.

TORONTO, April 7. — (Canadian Press.)—Investigations into Western Ontario Brewing Companies gave way to an enquiry into certain Toronto importing firms before the Royal Commission on Customs to-day. This was preceded by some complaints by customs brokers of Toronto of delay in getting goods through customs here.

Matters taken up in connection with Toronto firms importing goods were of minor importance. Certain instances in which the Kalton Rubber Company had failed to produce invoices for duty purposes were found to be due to clerical errors in the office. Full duty was paid when errors were discovered. There was a brief investigation into certain transactions of the Continental Import Company, the Ari Wall Paper Company, and the Majestic Dress Co.

Police Payments Not Recent.

When the Commission resumed this morning, A. E. Nash, Commission auditor, said that, in fairness to Edmund Burke, manager of the Labatt Brewing Company, he should make a further statement in regard to alleged payments to the Provincial police and Customs officers by the Labatt Company. Mr. Burke, he said, had told him that the Labatt Company was not making any of these payments at present, nor had any been made since 4.4 beer came in.

Mrs. Russell Hill Sold Liquor Adams Drank Witness Tells Jury

Tom Newell Declares He Got Two Bottles at Hill's — Drank Some Hootch as Adams, But Was Only Dizzy Next Morning.

INQUEST POSTPONED BECAUSE REPORT OF STOMACH ANALYSIS WAS DELAYED

Newell Says Adams Told Him He Also Had Few Drinks With Hugh Drain—Three Bottles Mentioned in Evidence.

(By an Examiner Reporter.)

NORWOOD, April 7.—The inquest here yesterday into the death of Hugh Adams early Monday morning, March 28, was postponed by Dr. H. G. Carleton of town until April 13th, because the report of the analysis of the contents of the stomach had not been received from the Attorney-General's department.

Adams died in his sleep presumably from the poisonous effects of liquor which he had drunk during the previous afternoon and evening with Thomas Newell. And Newell swore yesterday he had bought that Sunday two bottles of liquor from Mrs. Russell Hill, whose home is on the north side of the village and across the road from the Adams house.

Newell seemed to be making a clean breast of it, of telling everything he knew, and his evidence rang true. Crown Attorney Hatton thanked him publicly as he concluded his evidence.

Another interesting statement was that made by Mrs. Margaret McCarthy, Newell's sister, that Mrs. Russell Hill had called at her house on Tuesday or Wednesday and asked for any liquor Newell had. Mrs. McCarthy told her there was none left and Mrs. Hill went away saying "That's all right."

Mrs. McCarthy had substituted an empty bottle for the partly empty one Adams and her brother were drinking from, and they were too befuddled to recognize her simple strategm. She gave the liquor to Provincial Constable Maker.

Nine Witnesses heard

Nine witnesses were heard yesterday. Dr. H. G. Carleton, coroner of Norwood, presided, with the following jury: G. A. Brethen, foreman; I. N. Ackerman, J. A. Stevens, Walter R. Rogers, W. H. Montgomery, John McConnell, and Thomas Patterson.

Crown Attorney Hatton examined the witnesses. Provincial Constable Maker, Dr. T. W. H. Young and License Inspector Stewart of Peterborough were present.

The town hall was crowded. Town and townships were represented in that capacity audience which began to assemble at 12.30 o'clock, an hour and one half before the inquest was announced to be opened.

The Widow's Story.

Mrs. Hugh Adams, in a new black dress and hat, mournful signs of her recent bereavement, was the first witness. Her appearance was neat and pleasant, and there was about her and her children, Howard and Viola, as they sat together, in front seats, a suggestion of wholesome family unity and sympathy. The children seemed to be about 18 and 16 years, and there are two other sons, James and Hugh.

Mrs. Adams said her husband died between 3.30 and 5 a.m., Monday, March 28. He had never been ill before.

Retracing the movements of her husband on Sunday, March 27, Mrs. Adams recalled that he got up early, had breakfast, and left the house at 9 a.m., and returned at 8 o'clock in the evening. When he came back he was "pretty well intoxicated." She had thought in the morning he was going to his aunt's.

"I was throwing out the dish water when he came. He made a playful grab at me. He could walk fairly straight, and was in good humour. He sat on the edge of the table talking to us for a while, and then dosed off to sleep. He slept until Thomas Newell came in about 8.20 o'clock, and woke him up. I left them talking and went into another room. I heard the sound of a cork coming out of a bottle. I went in and tried to persuade Mr. Newell not to give my husband any more liquor, and not to take any himself. I tried to get the bottle, but I could not get it. Newell was there about 20 or 30 minutes.

Mr. Hatton: Do you know if they drank out of the bottle?

'I heard a sound of a bottle and went into the room. I saw Mr. Adams bending over and putting a cork into a bottle.

My husband sat a while talking. He blamed me for making a fuss

New Rules Too Rigid One Broadcaster Quits

WAHINGTON, April 7.—(A.P.) —One station of the 733 whose operations are congesting radio arteries has decided to quit. The notice was received gratefully by the Radio Commission now struggling to take chaos out of the ether.

The broadcaster, W. J. Romanouski, operating station WNBI at Peru, Ill., decided to close up rather than meet the commission's new regulation requiring him to employ a commercially licensed expert for his sending instead of the amateur.

FAVOR PERMITS FOR TOURISTS

Would Prove Safeguard Against Fires in Northern Ontario Woodlands.

HOLD CONVENTION.

SUDBURY, Ont., April 7.—(Canadian Press.) — Enforcement of a travel permit system to apply to tourist campers in Northern Ontario woods was strongly favored at the fourth annual Ontario Forestry Convention held here yesterday and attended by 51 district foresters, chief rangers and various other officials of the Ontario Forestry branch. The proposal was sanctioned by E. J. Zavitz, Deputy Minister of Forestry, although he was not in a position to predict he stated, what legislative steps shoud be taken to bring the scheme into existence.

It was pointed out during the day's discussion that since a majority of bush fires are attributed to thoughtless campers and settlers, the plan of bringing tourists under official supervision would aid greatly in tracing the origin of conflagrations. Forestry officials would be informed of the whereabouts of tourists and act accordingly. In this connection, it was urged that tourists should be barred from the woods during any particularly hazardous period.

C. R. Mills, assistant to the Deputy Minister of Forestry, announced that the fire prevention service would be further equipped this year with nine new steel towers and 350 miles of telephone line. Among reports submitted was that to the effect that lumber operators were displaying good co-operation to officials of the fire fighting branch.

SCHOOL TRUSTEE IS FOUND GUILTY

Samuel J. Thomas Fined $100 or Two Months' Imprisonment.

TAKING BRIBE.

TORONTO, April 7. — Samuel Thomas, a school trustee for Ward 2, was yesterday afternoon found guilty by Magistrate Browne on the charge that he had corruptly accepted, as an agent of the Board of Education, a sum of $450, contrary to the Secret Commission Act.

Thomas was fined $100, or two months' imprisonment.

Very few were in court when the decision was announced, those present being mostly members of officials of the Board of Education.

Counsel for Thomas at once moved that sentence be imposed.

The trial took place a week ago. Thomas, it was alleged, solicited and accepted $450 from Thomas Adams in return for his promise to see that Moyer & Co. were awarded a $10,000 contract for cadet uniforms. Thomas denied the charge and said that Adams' story was "manufactured."

The Crown last week laid another charge, based on the same evidence, under the Criminal Code, and hearing of this was adjourned until today. It is not likely now to be proceeded with.

Under the Secret Commissions Act, persons convicted under indictment are liable to two years imprisonment or to a fine not exceeding $2,500 or both or summary upon conviction, as in this case, to imprisonment for six months, or to a fine not exceeding $100, or both.

One of the largest firms of pearl dealers in Japan has built in the Grand Imperial Shrine of Ise a miniature pagoda in which more than 10,000 pearls are used. This monument was dedicated to the "souls" of pearly oysters, which, the Japanese believe, must be honored when they are robbed of their pearls.

Radio Plays Death Dance While Manufacturer Dies

GUELPH, Ont., April 7.—(Canadian Press.)—E. Bareiman, president of the Gilson Manufacturing Company, this city, was found dead in his apartments yesterday at 9 o'clock. When entrance was effected the rooms were filled with gas and the body found reclining on a couch. He had been dead for some hours. Mr. Bareiman left a letter saying that his work was ended and why wait longer. He also mentioned that he was listening to the Dance of Death on the radio. He came here from Milwaukee, Wisconsin. Coroner Orton was called and decided that no inquest was necessary.

CHICKEN THIEVES MAKE GOOD HAUL

Take Thirty Hens From Barn Owned By William Rea.

OMEMEE, April 7. — Chicken thieves are again being heard from in this district. Mr. William Rea had about 30 hens stolen from his barn recently. The fowl were kept on a farm which Mr. Rea had rented a short distance from his home and as a result the loss was not found out at once. A short time had elapsed before the theft was reported to the Lindsay police and as yet no trace has been found of them.

DEATH IN CHAIR FACING RADICALS

Vacco and Vanzetti Lose Their Long Fight in Law Courts.

MURDER CHARGE.

BOSTON, Mass., April 7.—Death in the electric chair face Nikola Vacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, admitted radicals, convicted of murder in the first degree, whose long fight for a new trial has echoed through several continents. The full bench of the Massachusetts supreme court in a decision written by Judge William C. Wait Tuesday denied them another opportunity to face a jury.

The two men were convicted of the murder of Frederick A. Parmenter, paymaster at the shoe factory of the Slater & Morrill company, in South Braintree, and Alexander Berardelli, his guard, on April 15, 1920.

The main contention of the defence throughout the long history of the case has been that Vacco and Vanzetti were convicted, not because the jury believed them guilty of the murders, but because they had admitted that they were radicals at a time when a wave of sentiment against radicals was sweeping the country.

CONTINUE EXODUS FROM THE INTERIOR

Anti-Foreeign Manifestations Result in General Evacuation From Honan.

SHANGHAI, April 7 (AP)—Foreigners yesterday continued their exodus from the Cantonese controlled sections of China and from the Northern districts into which the Cantonese are threatening to extend their power.

Labor and anti-foreign manifestations in Changsha have resulted in the general evacuation of foreigners from Hunan which will be completed shortly.

Hankow, Kiukiang and Canton were the scenes of further preparation by foreigners against disorders, Hankow and Kiukiang being steadily evacuated by the last of the foreigners still remaining in them. At Canton the defence of the British and French concession at Shameen, an island, was further strengthened. Two British, two French and one United States war vessels are lying off the island ready to land men should the necessity arise.

Stage Bomb Attack

While the Cantonese are continuing their drive northward with Peking as their ultimate goal, the northerners staged an air bomb attack at Nanking, only recently lost by them to the Cantonese after the capture of Shanghai.

Radio despatches from Nanking said three bomb were dropped on Nanking and two on Pukow, across the Yangtse river. Anti-foreign feeling was reported still in evidence at Nanking, the scene of the bombing of Socony Hill by American and British warships two weeks ago to protect beleaguered foreigners

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

CANADA SHORT IN POPULATION

Emigration To U. S. Has Exceeded Immigration Says C.P.R. Official.

WILL VISIT CONTINENT.

LONDON, April 7.— At a C.P.R. luncheon yesterday to Col. Dennis, the guest of honor stated that Canada must depend on the continent of Europe more than on Great Britain on account of the lack of agricultural emigrants here. He deplored the leakage to United States which, since 1915, even with immigration and natural accretion left Canada with a million people less than she ought to have. He declared that on account of contiguity Canada received American capital for speculative investments, and British capital only for banking and insurance.

Hon. H. Greenfield declared that he was much impressed since his arrival at the interest people who count in England had shown in Canada, and he believed that a great reservoir of British, one generation removed from the land existed here available for emigration to Canada. He is going over to Denmark, Norway and Sweden to examine prospects there. Other speakers were W. C. Noxon, Bruce Walker and Hon. J. A. Murray, ex-Premier of New Brunswick. Sir George McLaren Brown was in the chair.

The world production of artificial silk for 1926 is estimated at 330,000,000 pounds. The United States leads in the manufacture, with an output of 80,000,000 pounds.

Though the origin of sleeves is unknown and their history obscure, they are known to have been worn by the ancient Greeks and Romans.

MRS. RUSSELL HILL SOLD LIQUOR, ETC.

while Newell was there, for interfering.

Held Adams on Floor.

What time did he go to bed? He never went to bed that night.

Where did he stay On the floor. He kept getting worse, and we had to hold him. He was yelling what he would do to us. He was threatening to do terrible things. My son Howard and daughter were with me at first, and my son James came in later."

Was he in the habit of being in that condition? Not lately.

Had he been threatening you lately No.

Mrs. Adams told of sending for Dr. Sutton about 10.30 p.m. on Sunday. The doctor gave Mr. Adams a hypodermic. It did not take any effect; nor did a second hypodermic 15 minutes later. Dr. Sutton went down town for some medicine, and on returning gave Mr. Adams a third injection. These three hypodermics were given within about three quarters of an hour.

"Dr. Sutton left about 11 o'clock," witness continued. "He told us it was the worst case of poisoning of that kind he had ever seen. He thought my husband would be better in the morning. The doctor said that blindness occurred in some cases of that kind."

Didn't Wake Again.

Mr. Hatton: How did Mr. Adams act after that? He didn't wake up again. He was breathing normally and snoring.

Was the doctor there when he died? No; we sent for Dr. Sutton about 5.30 a.m.

How was your husband then? We thought he was dead. He was still, and was not breathing.

What became of the bottle you mentioned? Mr. Newell took it.

Did you have any conversation with your husband as to where he was? Yes; but he would not tell us; he wasn't cross about it.

Mrs. Adams said she went downstairs about 3 a.m. Her husband had been vomiting. She remained with him about an hour, and went upstairs again.

"He seemed to be sleeping naturally. I couldn't waken him. I thought he was perfectly well."

Newell went to Hill's.

G. A. Brethen, a juror, asked: Did you see Mr. Adams anywhere between 9 a.m., and 8 p.m., on Sunday? Yes; I saw him go to Newell's house about 2 o'clock. He went to the barn.

Did you see Newell go to the barn? Yes, a short time before that.

Did you see Newell any other time? Yes, I saw him go up to Hills', and saw him come back a little while later.

Were you looking for your husband then? No, I thought he was at his aunt's; I was looking for a friend who was coming down the road.

To Dr. Carleton, witness said her husband vomited blood about eleven p.m., and "black stuff" later. His color was purplish red and there was a strong odor unlike any liquor Mrs. Adams had ever smelled.

Answering Mr. Hatton, she said her husband was in Newell's house when Newell went to Hill's. After he returned Newell went down to his barn, and Mr. Adams followed a few minutes later.

Do you live near Hills'? Just opposite.

What time did you see Mr. Adams? About five in the evening.

Were you looking for him? No, I was looking for a friend we expected. I thought Mr. Adams was at his aunt's; he usually went there on Sundays.

Who was the friend? Ruby Blake.

Had you any knowledge before this that your husband went to Newell's and Hills'? He said he went to play cards, about half a dozen Sundays in the cold weather.

Daughter's Evidence.

Viola Adams, daughter of the previous witness, said she was looking out of a window at home on the Sunday about 4.30 to see if Miss Blake was coming. "I saw Mr. Newell coming up road from his home. and I saw him go in Hill's gate. That was about twenty minutes to five."

Did you see him go it? I saw him going down the road about twenty minutes later. I did not watch where he went.

Witness told of returning home about 8.30 after church. Newell was with her father in the kitchen.

Did you see a bottle?—No.

How long did Newell stay? — About ten minutes after I got home.

Was your father ill?—He was talking as if raving, about trees and things. After a while he got worse and started to holler. He was shouting if he got loose we'd never see the sun rise.

What did he mean by 'got loose?' —We had to tie him up. We tied his hands behind his back.

Who tied them?—My brother.

Was your mother there?—Yes.

How long was he tied?—Until after the doctor gave him the hypodermics.

Did you ever see him in that condition before?—No.

Was he kind to you?—Yes.

Hugh Drain.

Hugh Drain, a farmer, said: "Adams came to my place for dinner on that Sunday and left about 2 o'clock, looking as well as ever I saw him.

Mr. Hatton—Have you had any dealings with Russell Hill?—I never bought a drop of whiskey from him in my life.

I didn't ask you that. I said, did you have any dealings with him?—No.

Did you ever sell him empty bottles?—Oh, yes. I told him I was going to have a sale and I had some empty bottles he might as well come and get.

That was several weeks ago.

What did Russell Hill give you for the bottles?—Nothing.

Mr. Drain said he first told Mrs. Hill about the bottles. He swore he received nothing for them from Russell Hill or his wife.

Mr. Hatton: You are on your oath. This is a serious matter, and we want any help you can give us.

Mr. Drain: I'll give you all I can about those bootleggers.

Mr. Hatton: Never mind about those bootleggers. What kind of bottles were they? — Just common whiskey bottles. I had them before the O.T.A. went in.

Thomas Newell.

Thomas Newell of Norwood admitted to Mr. Hatton that he had pleaded guilty in Peterboro a few days ago to having had liquor in his possession in a place other than his residence, and had been fined.

Mr. Hatton: Where did you get that liquor?—I got it from Mrs. Hill.

What time did you get it?—About four o'clock Sunday afternoon.

That was Sunday, March 27, was it?—Yes.

At her house?—Yes. She was at home.

Who were there?—When I went in there was Mrs. Russell Hill, Davis Hill and another fellow and woman.

What happened?—They all went out except Mrs. Hill. I asked her if she had anything to drink. She got a bottle and set it on the table. I paid her two dollars.

Was there anyone there when you asked for the liquor?—No, the rest went out.

Was Russell Hill there? — I couldn't say positively.

You wouldn't say he was not there?—No, he might have been there.

Well, you took the bottle away?—Yes.

Where did you take it?—To my sister's place.

Was Hugh Adams there?—Yes.

Did he have a drink?—Yes.

How long was Adams there? — Till about 7.30. We drank half a bottle before that one, and I went for the one I got at Hill's. We'd sip at it and talk awhile.

Newell said that after a time he asked his sister if there was a drink in the bottle. She said there wasn't. Last Saturday she told him she had taken the bottle from the sink where he had put it and substituted an empty one for it.

Mr. Hatton—Did you drink as much as Adams that Sunday? — I think I did.

Did it have any effect on you?—It made me pretty dizzy but not sick.

Went Back to Hill's.

What did you do next that evening?—I went to Hill's again. Adams went home.

Did you get any more liquor?—Yes. I got a bottle. I took it to Adams' house. I promised him if I got any liquor I'd bring it to his place.

How long were you at Hill's that time? — About fifteen or twenty minutes.

Then you went to Adams'?—Yes.

Have you been in the habit of drinking lately?—No.

Newell turned back in his story to the first appearance of Adams that Sunday.

"Adams came to our place after 2 o'clock. He had about half a bottle of liquor with him. I asked him where he got it. He said, 'Me and Hugh Drain had a couple of drinks out of it.'"

Coroner Carleton: Did Adams drink with you when you went to his place Sunday evening?—I think he had a drink or two.

You and Adams drank the same liquor that day?—Yes.

Newell said he remembered going to Adams' house. Mrs. Adams first said her husband was not at home. On leaving there he did not remember anything until he got home and was tumbling around against the table and chairs.

How were you in the morning?—I felt dizzy, half drunk. My eyes were all right.

Question by Thomas Patterson, a juror: I understand you had half a bottle of liquor when Adams came to your place?—Yes.

Was it the same liquor?—I can't say. I drink liquor if it's good or bad.

J. A. Stevens, a juror, asked: Who paid for it?—Adams gave me a dollar toward it. I wanted him to go for the bottle, but he said his folks would see him going to Hill's.

Dr. N. F. Sutton.

Dr. Nelson F. Sutton of Norwood attended Hugh Adams at 10.30 on Sunday evening.

"He was unconscious and raving when I saw him. He couldn't understand anything I'd say. There was a strong odor of alcohol on his breath. I considered him to be in a poisoned condition from the effects of alcohol."

Describing his treatment, Dr. Sutton said he first tried to get Adams quiet because of the congested condition of his whole system from vomiting. There was blood from his throat, mucous membrane and also from the stomach, I thought.

As a sedative, two half grains of morphine given hypodermically, about fifteen minutes apart, failed of effect, and Dr. Sutton went home for a more potent drug (hyocene-morphine-cactine).

"I didn't stay. His pulse was full and strong and he was breathing normally. There was nothing more I could do.

Mr. Hatton: Owing to the condition you found him in, did you expect he'd go out?—You can't always say. Sometimes serious cases recover and mild cases prove fatal.

You said he might be?—I thought he might be. I never saw a case before from modern liquor. I had attended a few in the old days.

Dr. Sutton said he considered the alcohol poisoning caused death.

Performed Autopsy.

Dr. E. A. Carleton of Stirling made a post mortem examination except the stomach, which was removed with its contents and sent to Toronto for analysis.

Mr. Hatton: What did you conclude was the cause of death?—I couldn't definitely say what it was.

Dr. Carleton read his detailed report. The abnormal conditions he observed were enlarged kidneys, reddish color of the stomach, inflamation caused by irritation, perhaps vomiting.

Would the condition you found be compatible with the effects of poison alcohol?—Yes.

Substituted Bottle.

Mrs. Margaret McCarthy, sister of Thomas Newell, said Adams and her brother were drinking together at her place on Sunday afternoon. Newell went out and came back in a short time with a bottle.

Witness said she saw them drinking. "I saw an empty bottle outside behind a pail. It was just like the bottle the whiskey was in. It was in the sink. When I went to put some water in the kettle I took the liquor bottle away and left the empty bottle in the sink. I put the liquor bottle behind the pail outside. They didn't know I took it. They asked me at tea time for a drink but I told them the bottle was empty. My brother didn't know until Saturday that I took it."

Witness said May Hill (Mrs. Russell Hill) called on her a day or two after Hugh Adams' death.

"She rapped at the door and came in but didn't sit down. She asked me for the liquor in the bottle my brother had, but I told her there was nothing in it. She said, 'That's all right.'"

Constable Puffer of Norwood testified that he had identified the body, Howard Adams corroborated the statements of his mother and sister, and William Patterson told of having seen Hugh Adams about 2.30 p.m. Sunday.

Adams said he had been to Drains and appeared to be all right.

ANNUAL MEETING OF NORHAM CIRCUIT

Lorne Evans Was Elected Recording Steward For Ensuing Year.

NORHAM, April 7. — The annual meeting of the Official Board of Norham circuit was held in the League room on Tuesday afternoon with fourteen members present. Lorne Evans was elected recording steward for the ensuing year. Robert Ryckman was elected delegate to the meeting of Presbytery and Samuel Gummer alternate. The following were elected members of the finance committee: Robert I. Mitchell, Norma Gummer, Lorne Evans, Joseph N. Bertrand, W. Jacob Clarke, Aubrey Woof, Harper Piester, John W. Kemp and Alvidious Vlanblaricom. It was decided to elect elders by ballot in the congregations; two to be chosen by each congregation.

The circuit finances were found in a healthy condition. The subscriptions to the Maintenance and Extension Fund have all been handed in excepting twelve dollars. Meyersburg has reached its objective and Norham expects to reach its allotment. The minister's stipend and all other liabilities have been met and there is a neat balance in the treasury at each of the appointments.

The People's League was well attended on Monday evening. The programme which was in charge of Mrs. Stanley Brenton included a paper by Mrs. Oney Isaac. A reading by Edith Brenton and a paper by Mrs. Charles Lee.

COMMONS TO SPEED UP ON PRIVATE BILLS

Senate Piles Up House of Commons With Divorce Bills.

DISCUSS PARLEY.

Veniot Says Misunderstanding Arisen in Regard Amputation Veterans.

OTTAWA, April 7.—Further action to facilitate the business of the House of Commons was taken at yesterday morning's session when on a motion of Premier King the House agreed that for the remainder of the session, all private bills from the Senate should be read a first and second time when received, and referred to committee. This was to facilitate the clearing away of the accumulation of divorce bills. Previous to the adoption of the motion the House had given third reading to 75 divorce bills.

Bilingualism.

Dr. Edwards queried the Postmaster-General as to whether there is to be a bilingual postage stamp for the Confederation jubilee.

Hon. P. J. Veniot answered that a resolution on the subject had been received from the Confederation Committee and was under consideration.

"Is it intended to design a Bilingual flag?" queried Dr. Edwards.

Misunderstanding.

Hon. P. J. Veniot answering J. E. White explained that while he would make fuller statement later, a misunderstanding had arisen in regard to the employment of amputation veterans. This was due to the fact that certain positions for which amputation cases would not be eligible had been advertised. This did not mean exclusion of this class from the postal service.

The bill to amend the special war revenue act was passed through committee without amendment, and was read a third time and sent to the senate.

Hon. J. A. Robb, Minister of Finance, told the house that none of the decisions arrived at by the "Interprovincial Conference, said to have been held in Ottawa last June," had been submitted to the Dominion government. His reply came in answer to a question by N. M. Young (Conservative, Toronto Northeast) as to what the government was going to do with regard to the following resolution passed by that conference:

"This conference is of the opinion that the Dominion should repeal its legislation regulating contracts of insurance and the business of insurance as ultra-vires the legislative competence of the Parliament of Canada, or in the alternative take immediate steps to appeal the decision of the Ontario courts through the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council." Mr. Cobb also said that no steps with regard to this appeal had been taken.

The world over, there is one motor car for ever 71 persons. The ration in the United States is 1 to 6, while in Afghanistan there is but one motor car to each 1,200,000 inhabitants.

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

MANY A DREAM

Many a dream seems dead at last,
The last word spoken, last look passed,
The last thing done that can be done,
One carries in the heart of one
Many a dream of happier hours
As sweet and futile as faded flow'rs.

So many a field seems brown and bare
When wintry winds are sighing there,
But, if we only wait a while,
Many a field again will smile,
Many a field that knew the snows
Time gladdens with a Springtime rose.

Many a dream seems dreamed in vain;
But in the heart the roots remain
That many a rose will blossom from
When Winters pass, when Springtimes come.
Many a sweetness that we know
Is born of dreams of long ago.

THE LIFE OF CHRIST : Parables of Warning

Jesus, warning his disciples, said "Watch therefore: for ye know not on what day your Lord cometh." (Matthew XXIV : 40-42)

Jesus likens the Kingdom of Heaven to ten virgins going to meet the bridegroom, five of whom were wise, and five foolish. (Matthew XXV : 1-2)

The wise took oil in their lamps, but the foolish were ill-provided, and their lamps went out as the bridegroom came. (Matthew XXV : 3-13)

Jesus in the parable of the talents commended those who made good use of what was entrusted to them, but condemned the man who hid his one talent in a napkin. (Matthew XXV : 14-29)

HE GOT IN HOT WATER

CHRISTCHURCH, Eng., April 6—An old law which makes it an offence to ask for hot water resulted in the arrest of William Murray, a tramp. The law was passed on the theory that cold water is available in any house, but that a householder must prepare hot water and thus perhaps give a tramp a chance to steal something.

YOUNG ORATORS IN COMPETITION

Good Showing Made at the Millbrook Continuation School.

PRIZES AWARDED.

MILLBROOK, April 7.—The assembly room of the Continuation School was filled to overflowing on Monday evening for the oratorical contest, in which both senior and junior pupils were competing.

The event was under the auspices of the literary society, the president, Kenneth Fallis, taking the chair for the first section of the programme; the vice-president, Margaret McCarthy, presiding for the concluding half.

An opening chorus, "Dear Old High," preceded the oratorical competition for the junior pupils, those taking part, with their subjects, being:

Audrey Larmer, "Sir John A. Macdonald."

Laird Bothwell, "Early Pioneers and Their Struggles."

Flossie McMahon, "Confederation of Canada, and a Few of Her Achievements."

George Gray, "Resources of Canada."

Ruth Thorndyke, "Japan."

A piano duet by the Misses Martha and Marguerite Lang, and some English folk dances, with over forty of the pupils taking part, were musical numbers interspersing the speeches in this section of the programme; the dances were quaint, pretty, and gracefully executed, the pianists being Misses Marguerite Lang, Bertha Lang, and Gladys Williamson.

The competitors under the heading of senior pupils included:

Jean Fairbairn, "Achievements of Canada since Confederation."

Donald Rutherford, "Canada's Diamond Jubilee."

Bertha Lang, "The Confederation of Canada, and Some of Her Achievements."

Dickson Hutchison, "The Reasons for Canada's Progress."

A cornet duet, by Messrs. G. E. and Ernest L. Burnham, was introduced at this point, Miss Ella Elson presiding at the piano.

The pupils in the final list of competitors, Wilma Fallis, George McKnight, Lildred Bothwell, and Kenneth Fallis, all chose the one subject, appropriate to the Diamond Jubilee Year, "Canada, and Her Achievements Since Confederation." Jack Byam being the one exception, his talk on "Radio" attracting much interest. A blackboard diagram, and an explanation of the symbols used in the study of radio, added to the instructiveness of the material presented.

All of the contestants acquitted themselves creditably, the one unfortunate feature being that with 15 pupils competing, and several speaking at considerable length, the hour grew so late that a number of the listeners had to leave, and it was about midnight before the judges could announce their decisions.

Even then one pupil, Kenneth Fallis, decided to withdraw from the contest, to prevent a further extension of time being necessary.

The winners in the junior section were: 1 Flossie McMahon; 2 Laird Bothwell. The judges for this part were Miss M. B. Turner, B.A., Miss Pearl Burnham, and B. Dawson, principal of the Public school.

Winners in the Senior section were: 1 Jean Fairbairn; 2 George McKnight, and the judges were: Messrs. A. A. Smith, secretary-treas. of the school board, Dr. L. J. Stuart and J. Anderson.

The prizes in both cases were books, the school board donating those for the juniors, and Miss S. Muir, principal of the Continuation school, and H. Jordan, assistant principal, those for the seniors. G. E. Burnham, chairman of the School board, presented the awards to the Junior winners, and Miss Muir those won by the Senior pupils.

A "Hoe Drill" by ten of the boys, with Miss Bertha Lang at the piano, was a popular number, and immediately following the National Anthem was sung and the gathering dismissed.

It is hoped that this oratorical contest may be made an annual feature of the activities of the Continuation School.

"At night I could not sleep restfully, but walked the floor for hours. During the day I was too nervous and irritable to sit still. Ten years of that life wore me to 130 lbs. of skin and bone.

"My druggist advised Tanlac and from the first it built me up. I took six bottles in all and that is six years ago. Since then I've enjoyed robust health, sleep soundly, eat heartily and weigh 180 lbs. I'm strong and alert all the time. Tanlac is wonderful."

CARING FOR ANIMALS.

The campaign of the Peterborough Humane Society to establish an animal home where attention can be given to sick and injured animals and where family pets may be taken care of at a small fee during the absence on vacation of the owners, indicates that the work of the Society in Peterborough is increasing.

The latter feature will particularly commend itself as meeting a long-felt want.

It is not always possible to carry the family cat or dog on a vacation trip, and hitherto the only alternatives have been to impose upon the good nature of some friendly neighbor or else turn the household pet loose to live on his own while the family is away.

Many citizens would be glad to have a chance to have their dogs or cats properly cared for in vacation time in such an institution as the Society proposes to establish, and in that department alone the animal home would do useful service.

The lack of such a home is, of course, a drawback to the general work of the Society, and the campaign deserves to succeed.

THE PROGRESSIVE STAND.

Concessions to the Maritime Provinces as recommended by the Duncan Commission and as supported in the House by the two old parties are being opposed by practically all the Western Progressive members.

The latter are not adding very much to their prestige throughout Canada by their stand on this question.

In fact, the charge that their chief interest in politics is to be found in what they can obtain for their own constituents, and that they are indifferent to what happens to the rest of the country, is given emphatic endorsation by the effort they have been making to block the carrying out of the provisions of the Duncan report.

The Progressives have never shown the least reluctance in pressing for legislation in their own interests, and the display of selfishness they are making now does not help to endear them in the eyes of Canadians.

So far as the people of Ontario are concerned, they are satisfied to see justice done to the Maritimes, and have no patience with members who try to interfere because they see nothing in the proposals to benefit their own particular section of Canada.

THIRTY-FIVE MILES AN HOUR.

With Royal assent given the bill amending the Highways Act, the legal speed limit on Ontario's highways is now thirty-five miles per hour, an increase of ten miles per hour.

By the majority of motorists the new speed limit will be received with satisfaction.

The old limit was disregarded by nearly every driver at some time or other, the general feeling being that on good roads where traffic conditions warranted a quicker pace a rate of twenty-five miles per hour was needlessly slow.

It is to be hoped, however, that the authorization of faster driving will not cause the new limit to be violated as freely as was the former maximum speed.

Thirty-five miles an hour should satisfy the majority of motorists, and those who find that speed too slow should receive little consideration.

The time may come, it is true, when speed limits will be abolished and the drivers allowed to use their own judgment, being held strictly to account, however, for accidents in which they may be involved.

Such a system has given satisfaction where tried out, the penalties for reckless driving being severe enough to prove even more effective as a safeguard against accidents than is a speed limit.

SOME OF THE LEAKS.

The visit of the Royal Customs Commission to Toronto is bringing out a large quantity of evidence that tends to show why the Ontario Temperance Act failed to stop a very large consumption of liquor and beer in this Province.

Officials of various breweries have admitted "short-circuiting" on a large scale by which beer supposed to be exported found its way to Ontario customers.

The president of one Toronto brewery informed the Commission that for at least two years "quite a number" of hotels in the Queen City had been supplied with strong beer, ostensibly shipped for export.

The Ontario officials charged with enforcement of the Ontario Temperance Act cannot at the least be said to have had much success in dealing with traffic of this nature, nor did they receive much assistance from the Dominion Government under whose licenses the breweries operate.

In the case of this particular brewery there was evidence to show that as far back as 1922 James Hales, Chairman of the Ontario License Board, had reported this concern to the Customs Department at Ottawa for alleged violations of the Provincial law, and had urged that the license of the concern should be cancelled, but the request was not acted upon and the brewery was allowed to operate.

BRITAIN'S TARIFF.

There are hints in cable dispatches from Britain of increased duties on importations of tobacco, wines, cotton and a few other things from foreign countries. The proposals arise from the anticipated large deficit which Chancellor of the Exchequer Churchill is expected to disclose in the budget. American, Cuban, Macedonian and other foreign tobaccos, French wines, the consumption of which has largely increased, and the United States cotton would be hit. In respect to the latter it is claimed that the Egyptian production, which is almost entirely in the hands of British capitalists, and cotton from British Nigeria and other African colonies and dependencies, are beginning to reach considerable proportions.

There are many British authorities in the cotton trade, however, who are agitated over this proposal more than any other, arguing that the country is still absolutely dependent upon the American product for the bulk of its supplies. They claim that anything which would raise difficulties in the getting of them would be a disaster to the huge cotton goods trade of the country. In time they agree that Britain can be made independent of United States cotton, but that time is a considerable distance away.

As to the tobaccos it is proposed that there should be no interference with the preference on importations from the overseas Dominions or any other part of the Empire. Canada is now an exporter of tobacco to the Old Land on a large scale. Ontario in particular is a benefitter since this Province has become an outstanding tobacco growing area. Wines, too, from Australia and Canada would still enjoy the preference.

For the moment these suggestions are tentative. The budget will disclose whether they are accepted by the Government. The interesting point is that they indicate a belief that the British taxpayer is carrying about all he can stagger under in the way of direct taxation, and that the tariff may be envoked to afford a greater increase in revenue. The suggestions also carry an indication that Britain no longer regards with indignant horror the idea that free trade is not the one and only economic policy. Inter-Imperial trade is being brought about by force of circumstances to the mutual benefit of the Empire, where it might have resulted in disaster in any compulsory form.—Brantford Expositor.

THE BRITISH FINANCES.

The sympathy of the Empire must be with the Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, the Government of which he is a member and the people whom it governs. In spite of Mr. Churchill's best efforts and in spite of additional taxation which it was necessary for him to introduce a year ago, he now finds it unavoidable to announce to the people a deficit of nearly £37,000,000 in place of the surplus of £4,000,000 which was confidently anticipated when the budget of 1926 was adopted. This means that the people of Great Britain, instead of gaining a measure of relief from the excessive taxation which they must bear, will be obliged to bear even more, and that fresh avenues of taxation will be entered. It is also intimated that a raid may be made upon the sinking fund to repair the damage of the year.

It is thus that the people of the United Kingdom are to pay for the folly of the general strike and of the prolonged coal strike with consequent stoppage of industry and shrinkage of revenues. When these and other factors are considered, there will be general agreement that Mr. Churchill has done exceedingly well to hold the deficit to the total that is indicated, alarming though it is.

If, as it seems, Britain, already very heavily burdened, will have to meet even greater demands upon its purse to enable its affairs to be conducted, it will meet them cheerfully. No people pay higher taxes and pay them more readily than the people of the Kingdom. And the wonder grows that, considering the drain which has been made upon their resources and the damage to their trade and industry which has resulted from internal disturbances and foreign competition, they are able to stand the strain.

Yet the outlook for Great Britain is bright enough to warrant a spirit of optimism. It is extremely unlikely that ever again will a general strike be attempted, or will the coal miners undertake a general walk-out. Since the close of the latter upheaval industry has made a rapid recovery. During the week of Feb. 15, the last reported by the Canadian Trade Commissioner in London, the output of coal reached over 5,300,000 tons, almost exactly the same as during the corresponding week of 1926, and in iron and steel the pre-strike production has been exceeded. Both imports and exports have almost reached their normal figure and are constantly upon the increase. British shipbuilders have shown that they are able to compete successfully with foreign yards, and there is a greater amount of tonnage under construction on the Clyde than for years. Employment is greater and conditions, generally, are much more settled and give greater hope for the future than has prevailed for a number of years. The economic structure of Great Britain is still sound, although the strain to which it has been subjected has given it a severe test. That it still has the capacity to meet the enormous demands which are made upon it is the greatest proof of its stability. —Brockville Recorder and Times.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

To use a sporting phrase, Mr. Nazimok has knocked out the City Council in the first round.

If the Georgian Bay bill is turned down and the Sifton interests ask for millions in compensation, the answer, if it is left to the man on the street, will be, "Try and get it."

Major Segrave says a speed of 150 miles an hour may be general in a short time. And after watching some drivers on George street north we're inclined to believe the Major is right.

Added to the usual troubles incidental to the life of a policeman is the flock of inquiries the local bobbies have to answer these days as to "Where do I get a bus for, etc."

An American stunt man proposes to go over Niagara Falls in a beer barrel. Isn't that a drop too much, even under the Liquor Control Act, Mr. Ferguson?

Some people argue that Peterborough can do without a transportation system. Quite true. We could do without a lot of other things, too, but surely nobody wants to.

In the light of evidence before the Royal Commission, it is difficult to understand all the clamor for the sale of beer in Toronto hotels. It looks as if the sale has been going on anyway.

So far Mr. Ferguson has not given a definite answer to the question, "When do they open?"

DR FRANK CRANE'S DAILY EDITORIAL

WIVES' WAGES

By Dr Frank Crane

Mr. Henry Ford came out some time ago in favor of wages for wives.

He said that somehow or other we shall have to work out some scheme for a wage value for woman's work at home.

When asked to commit himself exactly as to what woman's work was worth Mr. Ford declined to do so, saying that with changing conditions that values changed.

A woman when she marries merges her personality into that of her husband. She becomes literally "the half part of a blessed man," therefore a woman is entitled on the face of it to at least half the man makes. If she is to give up her activities, except those of housewife, and concentrate her abilities upon her wifely duties and the bearing of children, she ought to share in whatever prosperity the man has. She should be credited with the making of at least half of what he makes.

The old idea of a woman being a man's chattel is out of date. It has gone the way of all other forms of slavery.

She is a man's partner and companion.

Every single woman ought to have some kind of business in which she supports herself, and every woman who is married, and especially the mother of children, has a right to consider her wifely position worth fair wages.

Many homes are disrupted because of financial disputes. Probably money matters lie at the bottom of most disrupted marriages.

Let the woman be independent, and have her own means.

Let her not be compelled to live with a man because she is economically dependent upon him.

Let her stand squarely upon her own feet and she will be a better companion and a more loyal helpmate.

Put confidence in women, give them their legal rights, treat them fairly and they will respond to the trust imposed upon them.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Que., April 7 (Canadian Press)—A fair trade was accomplished by some Montreal exporters yesterday in Manitoba spring wheat and rye with the United Kingdom and the continent. The demand from United States exporters for ocean grain room here was steady and further engagements were made to Antwerp and Rotterdam at 16c to 16 1-2c per hundred pounds, and to Hamburg at 17c per hundred pounds for May loading.

On account of the renewed strength in the Chicago market for corn futures, local prices for cash corn were marked up two cents per bushel. American No. 3 yellow in car lots was quoted at 88 1-2c, No. yellow at 83c, sample corn at 80c. Canadian Western Oats were also marked one cent per bushel.

The export trade in spring wheat flour continued dull. The demand from local and country buyers was also limited, but the undertone remained steady. The trade in winter wheat flour was also slow, but prices were unchanged.

The demand for all lines of millfeed continued good and the tone of the market was firm. The trade in standard grades of rolled oats was quiet but steady.

A fairly active business was done in eggs and values were unchanged. The receipts were 2,511 cases.

The trade in potatoes was slow and the undertone was easy, but prices showed no further change. Sales of odd cars of Quebec varieties were made at $1.10 to $1.15 per bag of ninety pounds in bulk, ex-track. Some business was done in New Brunswick selected Cobblers for seed at $1.90 per bag of ninety pounds, ex-track, but shippers today were asking that price f.o.b. shipping points.

The feature of the butter trade was the further weakness that developed and prices were again reduced another 1-2c to 1c per pound. This was attributed to the more liberal supplies coming forward. The demand for all grades was limited.

The cheese market was without any feature to note, the demand being still of a very limited character from all sources. Prices were unchanged. The receipts weer 53 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, April 7 (Canadian Press)—Big export business from North America together with unexpected upturns in quotations at Liverpool led to higher prices yesterday for wheat. The market closed firm at quarter to 1-8 cent net gain, corn 1-8 to 5-8c up, oats showing 3-8 to 1-2c rise and provisions varying from 5 cents decline to an equal advance.

Corn and oats tended upward with wheat. The light movement of corn from rural sources attracted special notice.

In the provision market weakness of hog values was about offset by strength of grain.

STAMMERING IS A BAD HABIT

Every disorder of the body has its physical and also its mental causes. Those who have the unpleasant habit of stammering are not physically well. Their trouble may be caused by bad teeth or poor eye-sight, but it is more than likely that they have suffered from childhood with various kinds of digestive disturbances.

Those who stammer are always nervous, and this nervousness always has some physical basis. Irritation or distress will be found in some part of the body of one who can be called nervous. If, then, in addition to any irritating physical trouble, the nervous person does not learn to control himself so as to regulate his speech, the habit of stammering may develop. After this habit is well started, it becomes rapidly worse, due to the development of the fear of stammering.

More boys are bothered with this trouble than girls, as it has been discovered that four out of five who stammer are of the male sex.

The first thing to do to effect a cure of this troublesome complaint is to get rid of any physical irritation which may exist. Defective eye-sight must be corrected with glasses. Abscessed teeth must be removed and any disorder of the alimentary canal cured by proper dieting. If you are sure that all physical irritation has been eliminated, it is then important to commence the mental training which is necessary.

The patient, whether a child or an adult, should be taught to relax several times during the day, lying flat on the back on either floor or bed and completely relaxing every muscle in the body. After a few minutes of this complete relaxation the breathing exercises should then be taken, while still lying on the back.

The patient should inhale and exhale slowly, learning to control the diaphragm with a steady motion. The breath should not be held, but allowed to flow evenly in and out.

The patient should also train himself with speaking exercises each day. It is a good plan to read sentences from a book, reading the same sentence over and over again, gradually increasing the speed each time. If any stammering occurs, the patient should start over again, reading more slowly and gradually working up a speed until the stammering difficulty in that sentence is overcome.

Another good exercise is to sing the words of a song, which is usually easy for the patient, then immediately afterwards repeat the words of the same song. Speaking the words will be found more difficult, but should be persisted in as I have explained in the other speaking exercise.

The one who stammers should carry a small note-book and put down a record of every stammering mistake, then, in private, the same sentences should be gone over again until control is established.

A competent psychologist or psycho-analyst will be able to help a great deal in assisting the stammerer to overcome this distressingly bad habit.

Allan Cup Winners Receive Great Reception in Toronto.

BIG PARADE.

TORONTO, April 7 (Canadian Press)—A rousing reception was accorded the University of Toronto graduates, holders of the Allan Cup and Canadian amateur hockey championship, when they returned to Toronto today from Vancouver. Civic officials, university authorities, and representatives of Toronto sporting organizations were on hand at the station. The team was then taken on a triumphant parade through the heart of the city to the University, several bands taking part in the procession. Gay decorations and long floating streamers marked the route. Sir Robert Falconer, President of the University, welcomed the hockeyists as they arrived at Hart House.

EASTERN TEAMS NEED LEAGUES

Difficulty of Filling Circuits Faces Teams in This District.

SOME DROP OUT.

OSHAWA, April 7.—With the 1927 annual meeting of the Ontario Baseball Amateur Association recorded as history this summer diamond pastime for the senior division in Eastern Ontario is still in the uncertain stage, with team in Kingston, Belleville, Peterborough, Port Hope and Oshawa being all dressed up and no place to go. The Central Ontario League, which operated as a three-team circuit last season with Kingston, Belleville and Peterborough as the entries, held its meeting in the Bay of Quinte city on the last Saturday in March and decided if a fourth entry was not forthcoming by April ninth, the league would disband for this year, and with two days to go word from a reliable source is that there is no fourth team in sight.

The Lake Shore League, comprising Oakville, Goodyears and Anacondas of New Toronto, Mimico and Oshawa Motors, which operated a senior franchise for the first time last season, held a meeting two weeks ago and adjourned without any organization being completed, as Oakville has decided to drop back into the intermediate ranks, while Anacondas, which were sponsored by the Anaconda Brass Co. Athletic Society, and led by Billy Rowell, are withdrawing owing to pressure of business. 'Shiner' Johnston's Peterborough team and J. J. Callaghan's Oshawa Red Sox both made applications to the Lake Shore League for franchises, but received little or no consideration, and up to this evening no definite word has been handed out as to what teams will be grouped in the league for the coming season.

Motors To Play Oslers.

In an interview with Billy Benson, the new pilot of the Oshawa Motors, he stated that he expected his spark plugs to be connected up, ignition set and his machine ready to go into high speed by Victoria Day, May 24, and with favorable weather conditions he is figuring a test at Alexandra Park here on Good Friday afternoon with Freddie Hamilton's Pacific Coast and Japan tourists, the Toronto Oslers.

The new organization composed of Peterborough, Belleville, Port Hope and Oshawa Red Sox, which was practically assured last week, was held up by the Ontario body at its annual meeting on Saturday last owing to the objections of the Oshawa Motors that of having a second team securing a senior franchise for the Motor City. The O.B.A.A. committee asked for the same to be left over until after Saturday, April 9th, when it will be definitely known whether the Central Ontario League will operate in Kingston, Belleville and Peterborough.

The Bay of Quinte Intermediate League, with teams from Deloro, Point Anne and Picton, are angling for a fourth entry and are trying to induce Belleville to dip in, and whether the Gerow-Mills-Hagerman lads from the Bay of Quinte City will drop back into the lower series after one winning the senior Ontario championship is yet to be seen.

"LONE WOLF RETURNS" FINE MYSTERY PLAY

The Columbia Pictures adaptation of "The Lone Wolf Returns," the famous Louis Joseph Vance adventure story, now playing at the Capitol Theatre, is a monument to the masterful direction of Ralph Ince and to the ingenuity of scenarist J. Grubb Alexander, as well as to the efforts of a capable cast headed by Bert Lytell and Billie Dove.

Bert Lytell, one of the most popular of screen men, gives a truly marvelous performance. He has thrown himself so completely into the spirit of the character he plays that under his mastery Michael Lanyard, international adventurer, suddenly confronted with a desire to go straight, becomes a pulsating bit of life, a tensely emotional, romantic lover—the sort of character that feminine audience will come to see over and over.

The character of the story of "The Lone Wolf Returns" admits of variety in the arrangement and designs of settings. Lavish furnishings skilfully photographed in tones appropriate to the particular moods of the story serve as fitting backgrounds for the action, and help to bear out the author's idea of combined picturesqueness and sensationalism beloved to the average theatregoer.

"The Lone Wolf Returns" should prove one of the season's best entertainments. It has the ear-marks of efficient production. The crook element, against which much criticism has been directed in connection with production of the mystery adventure type, has been reduced to a minimum in this picture, providing entertainment of a character beyond the reach of censure, and containing in addition to its unquestioned box office qualities, a definite moral to be applied in welfare work. This latter quality is accentuated by carefully worded sub-titles.

One of the outstanding performances of the picture is that of Gustav con Seyffertitz, as Morphew, keeper of a Bohemian resort and gaming house. As Morphew, working in conjunction with his carefully selected crew, fleecing social victims through his skilfull manipulations of the roulette wheel, gives a masterful performance. Not less satisfactory is the portrayal of Detective Crane by Aphonz Ethier, or that of Gwen Lee as Liane Delorme, the pretty vamp and associate of Morphew; or Freeman Wood's outline of the character of Mallison, also a disciple of Morphew.

The beauty spot of the picture is, of course, Billie Dove, whose gentle, wholesome personality fits perfectly the role of Marcia Mayfair, destined to convert Michael Lanyard from a toy of circumstance into a man with a longing for a life of respectability such as he had never known. Miss Dove's performance in this production is one of which she and her director may well be proud. She is a ravishing type of beauty, and in "The Lone Wolf Returns" wears clothes of extreme elegance from a lavishly equipped wardrobe.

The direction of Ralph Ince is superb. He shows a remarkable sense of dramatic values in his ability to create suspense and an atmosphere of tenseness.

AT THE REGENT.

NO DRUG STORE COWBOYS OR FAKE INDIANS IN KEN'S NEW PICTURE OF EARLY WEST.

The "drugstore cowboy" may be found in any town or small city, but the "Hollywood Indian" is to be found in only one place — Hollywood, of course.

He is a male person, so eager for work "in the movies" that he even jumps at the chance to take off his clothes, dab 95 per cent. of his body surface with an unpleasant red compound that is disagreeable to wear, and laborious to wash off — besides temporarily ruining the bathtub — and run about the Hollywood environs with a thousand of his kind, wearing only a few feathers, in blazing sun or shivering cold.

This is just by way of an informative prelude to the flat statement that in "The Overland Stage," the Ken Maynard starring vehicle which comes to the Regent to-day, you will see no "Hollywood Indians." Most of the thousand noble red men in the picture have never been to Hollywood, except on the screen at a reservation entertainment.

Real Indians Cast.

To obtain this stirring and authentic cast of real Sioux, arrangements were made through the Mayor of Deadwood and the Indian agent at the Pine Ridge reservation whereby the entire body of chiefs and braves should encamp for a week near the "set," which the Chas. R. Rogers company built between Deadwood and Lead, S.D., for the picture. Not only the Sioux, but a troop of cavalry from a nearby fort kindly consented to add to the realism of the pictorial presentation of the early Western wars with the Indians.

OUTLINE OF SCIENCE CXLVIII—How Fast Does Light Travel? by MAX HAHN

WHEN TWO NEW YORK MEN CIRCLED THE WORLD IN 28 DAYS, 14 HOURS AND 36 MINUTES, THEIR RECORD WAS FIRST PAGE NEWS THE WORLD OVER. COMPARE THEIR FEAT, HOWEVER, WITH THE SPEED OF LIGHT AND IT SEEMS AS THOUGH THEY STOOD STILL. LIGHT COULD FLY AROUND THE EARTH MORE THAN SEVEN TIMES IN ONE SECOND.

GALILEO SUSPECTED THAT LIGHT DOES NOT TRAVEL INSTANTANEOUSLY BUT HIS EFFORTS TO MEASURE ITS SPEED FAILED. IN 1676 ROMER, A DANISH ASTRONOMER, WAS SUCCESSFUL AND LEARNED THAT WAVES OF LIGHT TRAVEL 186,000 MILES IN A SECOND.

Investment Demand Imparts Strength To Market

NEW YORK, April 7 (Canadian Press).—Continuation of a heavy investment demand imparted strength to the high grade rails and industrials in today's stock market, which was featured by the establishment of the highest prices in over twenty years by New York Central and American Telephone. The rest of the list presented considerable irregularity, with weak spots cropping out in a number of motion picture, electrical refrigeration, sugar, and tobacco shares. New York Central assumed the leadership of the rail group by moving up above $150 a share on a large volume of trading. General Motors and United States Steel Common held fairly steady around 183 and 172 respectively.

Wheat Prices Sag Again On Good Weather Reports

CHICAGO, April 7. — (Canadian Press.)—Improved weather conditions in some sections of the southwest led early to-day to lower prices for wheat. Rains were reported at various Kansas points, where moisture was needed. After opening unchanged to 1-4 cent higher, wheat receded all around. Corn, oats and provisions were also easy, corn starting at 1-8 cent, to 3-8 cent up and subsequently undergoing a general sag. Opening prices were: Wheat, May 135 1-2, July 129 5-8. Corn, May 74 1-4, July 78 1-2. Oats, May 44 3-8, July 44 5-8.

EXECUTIVE MEETING OF HUMANE SOCIETY

Arrangements Are Being Made For Violet Day Easter Saturday.

An executive meeting of the Peterborough Humane Society was held in the Bank of Montreal Chambers, Monday evening, with the new president, Dr. Thomas Johnston, presiding.

Extensive arrangements were made for Violet Day, being held as made for Violet Day, being held as Tag Day on Easter Saturday, with Mrs. George Helson assistant. A committee composed of J. Skinner and F. H. Dawson was appointed to secure store as headquarters for that day.

On account of the work which has to be done through the County, it was decided that the County should do its part to help maintain the society. Dr. Johnston, Thomas Brown, and F. Dawson were the committee appointed to interview the County Council for the purpose of asking for a grant. The members of the local executive, who were appointed as members of the Ontario executive were Mrs. J. S. Chandler, Dr. Thomas Johnston, and F. Dawson.

The society's solicitor for this year is Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C.

The matter of building an animal home was discussed and it was decided that temporary quarters would have to be obtained until such time as necessary funds are provided for a permanent animal home.

The Animal Home Subscription List Started

The public is reminded of the subscription list that has been opened up by the Peterboro Humane Society in an endeavor to secure funds to build an animal home.

In addition to the different purposes mentioned yesterday, to which the home will be used, when erected, it might also be added that it would also provide an electric or gas lethal chamber, which is badly needed in a place the size of Peterboro, so that animals of any kind that have to be put out of the way, can be taken care of in the most humane possible manner.

The first subscription to reach the Examiner office, which is taking funds for the Society, was from Mrs. J. S. Chandler, 544 Aylmer Street, $5.00.

All contributions left in the Examiner office will be thankfully received, acknowledged and turned over to the Society.

WOMAN LOVES HOUSEWORK, HAS GOOD TIME

"I had stomach gas so bad that work was a burden and I was always drowsy. Adlerika is the best medicine I ever took. Since taking it, I feel like doing my work and enjoy life again."—Mrs. W. H. Clinstman.

Adlerika gives the system a REAL cleasing and brings out old poisons which may have caused trouble for a long time. Unlike most medicines, it acts upon BOTH upper and lower bowel. Just one spoonful relieves GAS and takes away that full, bloated feeling so that you can eat better and sleep better. Even if bowels move daily. Adlerika brings out much additional poison which you never thought was in your system and which caused sour, gassy stomach, nervousness, sleeplessness, headache. No matter what you have tried for your stomach and bowels, Adlerika will surprise you. McDermid & Jury, E. L. Payne and other druggists.

OTTAWA, April 7 (Canadian Press). — The promoters of the Georgian Bay Canal Bill concluded their case before the railway committee to-day, and officials of the Railway Department told the story of the Carillon power contracts.

Major Graham Bell, Deputy Minister, and Col. A. E. Dubuc, chief engineer of the Department, told the committee of the "totally inadequate plans" which the Canal Company had submitted for approval. Colonel Dubuc in 1925 had given the Minister of Railways eight technical objections to the plans put in. They were, he said, merely route plans, of an indefinite nature, which could not be considered. The company, moreover, had not objected to refusal of approval.

J. A. Ritchie, K.C., counsel for the Canal Company, emphasized the potential value of the canal to the Maritime Provinces for coal and steel shipments to Central Canada. The return cargoes would be available in the form of grain, and the Maritimes would become the great flour milling and grain export areas of the world.

The broad, metropolitan sweep of the foreign settlements of Shanghai, powder-keg of the east, is pictured splendidly here. The foreign districts are shown as they front on the Bund, Shanghai's most famous thoroughfare, and the Whangpoo River. The Bund traverses the river front from the French settlement at the extreme left to the Garden Bridge across the mouth of Soochow creek, marked by the number 14. Stately buildings crowd its entire length. Canton road, Foochow road, Hankow road, Peking road and others intersect it at intervals. Within the foreign settlements thousands of refugees from the interior of China have sought safety from riot, pillage and murder.

PROSPECTS GOOD FOR SPRING WORK

Many Building Contracts Are Awarded in First Quarter.

Altogether, reports relative to proposed construction in Canada issued during the first three months of this year, have told of $208,132,800 worth of work to be undertaken during 1927. This total is exceptionally large and tops that for the corresponding months of 1926 by $93,000,000. Indeed, a very active season for construction is already started and will continue.

The demand for construction of commercial premises is bound to continue in volume corresponding to the tendency of general business, which has been on the up-grade for some months. This tendency will also stimulate the construction of residential premises and industrial expansions. Public works and utilities are usually undertaken as governments or municipalities are able to finance them.

According to MacLean Building Reports, Ltd., there were no really large individual contracts awarded during March. A factory extension at Three Rivers, Que., $1,000,000, railroad replacement in British Columbia $900,000, and a collegiate in Belleville, Ont., $550,000, were the only contracts exceeding half a million dollars. There were many smaller jobs, however, running from one hundred thousand to four hundred thousand, each of which were reported as being under way.

In all Canada during the month of March contracts were awarded to the value of $17,465,900, a moderate decline from the previous month and from the corresponding figure of a year ago. The total was just above the average for the past five years. Of this amount, $6,949,800, or 39.8% was included in the residential classification, while 31.2%, or $5,444,300 came under the heading of business buildings. Public work and utilities contracts were let to the value of $3,333,400, which was 19.1%. Industrial construction totalled $1,738,400, or 9.9%.

Forty-seven decimal six (47.6) per cent of the estimated value of construction during the present month was undertaken in the Province of Ontario, which recorded a total of $8,309,100. In Quebec work to the value of $5,185,300 was started, or 29.7%. In the Province of British Columbia awards to the value of $2,667,500 were let, or 15.3%, while in the Prairie Provinces 6.5%, or $1,147,500 worth of new work was started and in the Maritime Provinces, $156,500, or .9%.

Ontario is well ahead of the other divisions for contracts awarded during the first quarter of the year. In that province 41.7% of all contracts have been awarded, totalling $22,391,000. Quebec follows with $16,077,200 worth of awards, or 29.9%. In the Prairie Provinces 16.3%, or contracts totalling $8,757,100 have been awarded. In British Columbia 10.9%, or $5,849,400, and in the Maritime Provinces $679,700, or 1.2%.

The apportionment of the value of construction for the first three months period by classifications shows that for business buildings at a high level, 40% of all construction appears in that classification, the contracts having an estimated value of $21,493,200. Residential work has been maintained at practically its usual level. In that classification, awards were made to the value of $15,133,600, or 28.2% of all construction. Contracts for new factories and additions have accounted for 16.6%, or $8,923,500, while public works and utilities have been let to the value of $8,204,100, or 15.2%.

Singapore, located as it is in the center of a region which is producing half the world's tin and 70 per cent of the crude rubber, is fast becoming one of the greatest cities of the far east.

FORGERS CAUGHT IN DETROIT HOTEL

Two Men Wanted in Every State of Union Are Arrested.

DETROIT, April 7—Two forgers wanted in every state in the Union, the police say, and whose operations since the first of the year have netted them in excess of $30,000, were arrested yesterday at their room in the Wolverine Hotel.

The men, Earl Collins, 41, and his nephew, Howard Collins, 24, both formerly of Ann Arbor, are being held on the specific charge of uttering and publishing a cheque for $6,000 on the Dime Savings Bank of Detroit, April 22, 1926. Since their arrival in Detroit last Wednesday, when they registered at the Wolverine Hotel, the Collins' have obtained $850 from different hotels and shops.

In their room at the hotel the detectives found 74 bank books and a like number of cheque books, on institutions in every state. There also was a cheque protector, used to further their schemes, and a rubber date stamp such as is used by banks to date deposits and withdrawals. Hundreds of false references were found that had been presented to stores or hotels where they wished to cash cheques.

Women in high English provincial society rent jewelery for festive occasion from their jewelers.

Seventeen-year locusts are due here in the summer of 1927. On their 1910 visit they did little damage. Scientists say they live underground during their 17-year disappearance.

SOMETHING TO DO

By Mrs. A. F. Calder,
Peterborough, Ontario.

When you've toiled from grey dawn, until set of sun,
And many a task remains yet undone,
By toils unremitting, monotonous grind,
You are tired, and jaded, in body and mind,
Looking then at your lot, through lens darkly blue
You think 'twould be bliss, to have nothing to do.

You see some around you, like butterflies gay,
Wasting life's golden moments, in pleasure and play,
Who toil not, who spin not, and live but for these Self frivolous pastimes, and soft selfish ease,
Be assured, not our envy but pity is due,
To those wretched ones, who have nothing to do.

Though it may not be yours by necessity lead
By the sweating of brow, to earn daily bread,
There will still be, for kindred, or neighbor or friend,
Ever some chance afforded, assistance to lend,
And in blessing others you'll be blessed too,
For 'tis glorious and good to have something to do.

There is high inspiration, and pure unmixed joy
And the uplift of soul in all honest employ
Blessed are the busy ones, happy are they,
To discontent, loneliness, never a prey,
What though mighty achievements, are but for the few
Heaven grant us, though menial task, something to do.

It is said whom the gods would in anger destroy
They robbed them of every soul-saving employ,
Well they knew that stern sentence, though harsh, was most just.
The soul of the idle, shall canker and rust,
If you, would the wiles of the tempter eschew
And be safe from all danger, have something to do.

Work is the best blessing kind Heaven ere gave
From ourselves, and our grouching and grumbling 'twill save
An antidote sure, for youth's troubles 'twill prove
For dreams rudely shattered, and unreturned love,
There'd be fewer idlers if folks only knew,
How pleasant it is to have something to do.

Some say, when our work is all finished below;
Aloft to an unending rest, we will go,
In a place where the weary, supinely may lie,
At ease, while long ages roll peacefully by,
Just an idlers' resort, but we hope, 'tis not true,
For the time would seem long, without something to do.

HUMBLE RABBIT BECOMES ASSET

WASHINGTON, April 7 (Canadian Press).—The humble rabbit, once a pest in agricultural New England, has become a commercial asset. Once hunted for a bounty he is now trapped for his fur.

Announcing that the United States now uses more than 100,000,000 rabbit skins annually, a U.S. government official goes on to say: "Aided by modern processes, American fur dressers and dyers have become so expert in changing the colors and appearance of furs in many instances the pelt of the rabbit, under a variety of trade names, is replacing other skins that are more costly and attractive, as ermine, seal, beaver and leopard." Methods of preparing rabbit skins for the fur trade, and a list of the trade names by which they may be described, are included in the announcement, which adds that 98 per cent. of the hundred million rabbit skins used in the U.S. annually are imported.

Not Elaborateness, but Perfection in Detail marks the Successful Hostess

By NELLIE LYLE PATTINSON
Domestic Scientist
Author of The Canadian Cook Book

Is it not true that success comes to the hostess through her perfection in detail rather than the elaborateness of her furnishings and her menu?

With the simplest of furnishings and with simple food, entertainment may reach a point of perfection in the hands of the expert housekeeper. In cake-baking, for instance, there is afforded the greatest opportunity for the display of the homemaker's skill.

Quaker Cake Flour assures delicious cakes. Friends exclaim about the lightness, the delicacy, the fineness of texture. There need be no thought of failure in baking, for in the hands of even the beginner Quaker Cake Flour does not fail. Its makers guarantee satisfactory results.

And so the baking of cakes becomes a pleasure. The cakes themselves are a joy to the hostess and a delight to her friends. They will keep fresh for days. The high-grade potato flour in Quaker Cake Flour retains the moisture long after cakes made with other flour go stale and dry.

If you will try Quaker Cake Flour you will become just as enthusiastic about it as I am.

Quaker Cake Flour is economical, too. Let us calculate:

WHITE CAKE
(Recipe on Package)

½ c. butter—42c. per lb.	.07c
½ c. sugar—7c. per lb.	.023
½ c. milk—14c. per qt.	.035
1¼ c. Quaker Flour sifted —4c. per cup	.05
½ tsp. vanilla	.025
2 egg whites—48c. per doz.	.04
2 teaspoons baking powder.
To this add 7c. for a boiled frosting.

Result—a cake, eight inches square, light as a feather, delicate in texture, delicious to the taste—perfect.

Bring Out the Cat

(By W. J. Cottrell.)

Jerry Giles, the village cobbler, went to his work as usual on the initial day of the month of April. From an humble beginning, Jerry had seen his trade increase until now two extra benches were required in his shop to cope with present demands. A storm on this particular morning was responsible for two minor events. Silas Parker, one of Jerry's assistants, was absent from his bench, rumor having it that he was under the weather. Joshua Tiffin and Archibald Grundy, being temporarily unemployed through the atmospheric conditions, decided to drop in upon the shoemaker for a chat. Nance, the latter's bull terrier, extended them a friendly greeting as they entered the door. "Top of the morning to you, Jerry," exclaimed Joshua, adding, "Fine dog you have there." "Yes sir," responded the other, 'and what is more, if he had his way, this 'ere dog of mine would kil all the cats agoing." Joshua nudged Archibald and gave him a significant glance as he replied, "Is that so? I'm going to tell you something. I've got a cat that will lick any dog in this village." "It can't be done," said Jerry. "I'll bet you an even dollar that it can," replied the other. "I'll take you,' 'said Jerry,' 'and Steve here can hold the money if it suits you." "Suits me O.K.," said Joshua. "I'll watch Steve for you, Josh," ventured Archie as the money having been deposited with Jerry's assistant, Joshua made for the door. "Alright,' 'he answered. "I won't be long." "Guess I'm making an easy dollar this time," remarked Jerry as he started on a fresh pair of shoes. "Maybe you are," was the sole comment of Archie, who had scented mischief.

Ten minutes passed, and Joshua's footstep was heard without. He entred the shop, carrying a sack which suggested that its occupant was somewhat agitated. "Take hold of your dog," ordered Joshua, 'and I'll produce the sparring cat." "Alright," said Jerry, clutching Nance by the collar, and then in defiant tones, "Bring out the cat." No sooner said than done. Thomas saw daylight once more and he also saw Nance, and noting that she had no uncertain attitude, made a bound over the vacant bench. What a mess he made. The floor was strewn with pegs, nails, wax ends and what not. Nance too, seemed to have lost all respect for tidiness by the way she tore around. Steve got up from his bench to straighten things up a bit, only to give the over-rated feline the further opportunity of upsetting the major portion of his equipment. Disorder reigned supreme. The two gentlemen of leisure were by this time without the portal and as the various objects were scattered hither and thither, Joshua queried of the cobbler, "What's this about to-day being All Fool's Day?" "Out goes your cat and outside you'll stay in future," said Jerry, who was wondering to himself how it was that it had not dawned upon him before that it was worth a dollar to the other fellow to get such a pantomime staked there without rehearsal.

REGULAR MEETING STIRLING COUNCIL

Considerable Business Discussed and Several Deputations Heard By Councillors.

STIRLING, April 7.—At the regular meeting of the Village Council on Monday night when all the members were present, considerable important business was discussed and several deputations heard.

A communication was read re the Georgian Bay Canal bill and Councillors Meiklejohn and Halton moved that the Council concur in this matter. The motion carried.

Several accounts were ordered paid. Tax Collector Sine reported regarding balance of 1926 taxes and was ordered to collect the same forthwith. An action will be taken in division court to get some of this.

A committee from the newly organized band composed of Messrs. Geo. Green, R. H. Buckingham and Early Lowery asked the Council for aid in the purchase of some instruments. Councillor Meiklejohn voiced the Council in stating that it was a bad year, on account of other needed expenditure, to ask the Council for a grant and he thought a house to house canvas would be more successful. Councillor Thompson was in favor of a grant, but the decision was to make a canvas of the citizens before the Council took any action in the matter.

A bill was presented from Warner Wood of Foxboro, claiming damages for injury to his car while driving on Church street near the High School. Moved by Meiklejohn-Thompson that no action be taken.

Mr. J. B. Belshaw as president of the Horticultural Society addressed the Council regarding the work of this Society in beautifying the village and asked for the usual grant of $25 to the Society, which on motion of Councillors Hatton and Thompson, was agreed upon.

Dr. Potts, Medical Officer of Health for the village addressed the Council regarding enforcing the by-law regulating the sale of milk in the village. This important matter will be attended to at once and and all milk vendors wil be licensed and their premises inspected as the by-law provides for.

The street commitee was authorized to engage Mr. Hiram Dafoe, County Road foreman for this district, to grade all the streets where necessary.

Clerk Lowery was instructed to write Hon. Robt. Cooke re progress in matter of building new village hall, also regarding change in license for using the present building when present license expires.

The Council have traversed the village from nearly one end to the other trying to settle on a suitable site for the new hall, but no definite conclusion has been reached yet, they are to have a special meeting Tuesday night to discuss the matter.

The summer water system was turned on last week and the streets and drains cleaned.

Fire Inspections.

At a recent visit of an inspector of the Underwriters Association, who made a thorough test of the equipment of the fire department and the system the village has for fighting fires, he was so well satisfied with conditions that he was followed by another inspector who took a survey of all the premises in the business part of the town and insurance rates are to be lowered as a result.

Improves Property.

Mr. W. S. Martin is improving his property on Wright street by removing the extension kitchen to the adjoining lot and constructing a residence for rental out of it.

As an evidence that motor cars are to be used to a greater extent and in greater numbers this year, our local dealers have been very busy lately placing new cars in this vicinity.

The county road men have begun their season's work, they have been very busy filling bad spots with gravel and operating the grader to level the roads. Their work this spring is no easy task as the roads were never so bad.

A few of the farmers have begun plowing, but the weather is too cold for general spring work to begin.

At a congregational meeting of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church held last week a unanimous call was extended to Rev. A. N. Reid of Toronto, formerly of Grand Valley. The Kingston Presbytery will hold a special meeting in Belleville to ratify the action of the congregations of Stirling and West Huntingdon.

Rev. W. S. McTavish of Belleville occupied the pulpits of Stirling and West Huntingdon Presbyterian churches last Sunday and gave excellent sermons in each case.

The Reverends Crossley and Leonard, evangelists, who have recently completed a series of meetings in Belleville are to begin their services here on April 24th in St. Paul's United church. The choir of Holloway Street United Church, Belleville, will assist at the opening services.

Rev. Rural Dean Byers accompanied by Mrs. Byers and Mrs. George Bailey motored to Campbellford on Friday afternoon and were tea guests of Mrs. Hatfield, and in the evening Mr. Byers conducted Lenten services in Christ church.

Regret is expressed on every hand at the loss sustained by Mr. and Mrs. Adam Corrigal of Dodsland, Sask., in the destruction of their buildings and contents by fire on March 23rd. As they were conducting a general store the loss is great. Mr. and Mrs. Corrigal were highly respected residents of Stirling for a number of years, going from here to the west a few years ago.

Personals.

Mrs. Nancy Drewry spent a few days last week at the home of her son, Mr. Will Drewry, 4th Concession, Rawdon.

Mrs. Joseph Reid is visiting her sister, Mrs. Elliott, in Toronto.

Mr. J. B. Johnston of Toronto who has been visiting his friends, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Anderson, for some time, has decided to make his home in Stirling, and has engaged rooms with Col. and Mrs. Darius Green.

Mrs. Bisonnette, who has been residing with her son, Dr. Hume Bisonnette, in Hartford, Connecticut, since last September returned to her home last week.

Mr. and Mrs. James Christie of Belleville spent Monday here with Mr. Robert Christie and his sister.

Miss Mary Haggerty of West Huntingdon was a week end visitor of Miss Helen Bailey, Front Street East.

Mrs. George Luery had the misfortune to trip on a mat and in falling fractured her left arm at the wrist.

GREAT BRITAIN HAS NO INTENTION, ETC.

Both the raid, which resulted in the removal of twenty-two Russians and about fifty Chinese, described as agitators, from the Embassy compound, and the detention of the Americans, were conducted by representatives of Marshal Chang Tso Lin, the Manchurian war load, who is commander of the northern forces defending Peking.

Continue Search

Peking was still agog with excitement last evening over the raid which began yesterday morning, and was still in progress last night with the search of various buildings within the Embassy compound. The Soviet Embassy proper had not been entered last night, but it was stated that the Soviet authorities regard the premises raided as part of the Embassy. Consequently the keenest speculation existed regarding the repercussion at Moscow and the Manchurian frontier.

The raid on the Soviet buildings was carried out by troops attached to the army of Marshal Chang Tso Lin, assisted by local police. The buildings raided, were the Dahlbank (Soviet Bank), the Eastern Railway Buildings, and a building formerly used by the Russian legation guards in Czarist times.

The raiders rushed the compound yesterday morning. One shot was heard and soon after a Russian was dragged from the compound fighting and kicking. He was tied up and carried off in an automobile. The raiders searched the buildings and by noon a large crowd of foreigners and some Chinese had gathered at the gateways of the Embassy to watch the prisoners being dragged out. Some went quietly and others struggled violently.

Torpnto M.P.P. Objects—Can't Hear—Can't Speak

TORONTO, April 6. — There are times when a fellow needs a friend. One of those times has arrived for George Shields, Woodbine's favorite MP.P.

During the recent session of the Legislature George bobbed about the Legislative Chamber like a fisher boy's cork. Every one wondered why. George now says it was due to the fact that from where he sits one cannot hear the Leaders speaking.

"Mutter 'n' mumble," says George. That's all."

And then—he says—when he moved about so as to hear better, he couldn't speak. That is, he was prevented by rules of procedure from speaking except when occuping his own little pew.

"Beastly business," says George. "There I was. Couldn't hear, and couldn't speak. Beastly situation to be in. I tell you it's got to be changed. Take it from me, things will be different next year."

Sold to Friends

The evidence in regard to the alleged payments to police and customs officers, came near the close of the afternoon sitting which was devoted entirely to investigating the Labatt Brewing Company. Mr. Burke was on the stand for some time. At first Mr. Howell asked him a series of questions in order to ascertain whether or not this company sells strong beer in Ontario. Counsel based his questions on entries in the books marked "city strong sales" and "country strong sales." Mr. Burke could shed very little light on these entries because, he explained, he had never seen the book before. Later however, John D. Aiken, shipping clerk in Labatts, said that he sold strong beer to his friends in London and the vicinity. He explained the "city strong" sales in this way.

"You appear to have a host of friends in London judging by the number of the entries," commented Mr. Howell.

Mr. Aikens said that he sold strong beer only to persons whom he knew.

"One of the essentials of the modern way of exporting is that you must not know too much or ask too much," declared Mr. Burke when counsel was pressing him for some explanation about certain features of the export business. He stated quite frankly that beer runners had sometimes to be "fixed" before they would undertake the task of getting the goods across to the United States, even though their payment was supposed to come from the other side. This was one of the purposes of the "snake fund" which was carried. The name snake fund had been given as a joke, Mr. Burke said. He told of money from this fund having been paid to a customs broker in Windsor, Ont., a relative of a customs officer, for securing necessary export entries in connection with shipments. He could not remember the broker's name.

Another officer of the Labatt Brewing Company, J. H. Hitchens, accountant, was also examined briefly. He could shed little light on the entries in the books. Mr. Rowell and the Chief Commissioner expressed some surprise during the afternoon at the lack of knowledge of the affairs of the company manifested by witnesses.

"Who is the man who runs your business?" asked Chief Commissioner Brown of Manager Burke, at one point. "Who knows something about it. Everybody seems to know nothing about it. If that's the way you run a business, you'd better stop running it."

"The office appears to be thoroughly organized so that no one will know what is going on," remarked Mr. Rowell at another point.

Matinee Ladies

BY William B. Courtney

Copyright 1927, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.
"MATINEE LADIES," with May McAvoy, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Bob Ward, working his way through college, is informed by his chums, Freddy and Arch, that they have found an easy and profitable way to earn money—working as dancing partners, of afternoons, for rich women in a fashionable New Jersey roadhouse. Bob thinks it isn't a fit way to make a living; but, faced with eviction for unpaid rent, reluctantly agrees to go to the roadhouse. There he sees the prettiest, sweetest girl he has ever laid eyes on. She is Sally, the cigarette girl. He hears, too, of a mysterious Mrs. Hammond, who frequents the Inn.

CHAPTER VI—Continued

"Even Madame Leonine doesn't know who Mrs. Hammond really is. When she comes, Mrs. Hammond generally shows up around three o'clock—matinee time, you see. But she doesn't come every day, so Arch and I have figured out that she probably has a wise guy for a husband, to whom she gives a stall, no oftener than she can reasonably get away with it, that she goes to the theatre matinees. She's a swell dresser, comes in a classy foreign limousine, with a liveried chauffeur and all the trimmings!"

"Well, wouldn't it be easy to trace down in the Social Register, or the City Directory, who Mrs. Hammond is?"

"Bob, you are green!" Freddy chuckled. "You mustn't imagine for one moment that a hoity-toity lady like her is going to play around in a joint like this under her own name! Even Madame Leonine doesn't know what her real name is."

"And believe me," laughed Arch, "if you can hide anything from Madame Leonine, or her side kick, that brassy-cheeked Mazie Revere with the cat eyes, it's hidden so that NOBODY can find it out. Because those two hawks can see around corners!"

"The Madame," continued Freddy, "even got her carriage boy to try and pump Mrs. Hammond's chauffeur. But no use. He's a foreigner. A Rumanian or something. And makes believe he can't understand or speak English. He doesn't wait outside, but calls back for the lady at five o'clock. After theatre time, you know!"

Bob was exceedingly interested, to say nothing of mystified, by the details of this furtive Mrs. Hammond's afternoons of play—and by the elaborate precautions taken by the lady to guard her secret.

"But," he thought aloud, "it seems to me that it would be possible to find out the lady's identity if one really wanted to do so. One could trace down the name through the registration of ownership of her car's license number, for instance, in the State Motor Vehicle Bureau."

"Madame Leonine was three jumps ahead of you," declared Arch impressively. "She tried to have that done. Of course, I'm not supposed to know it. But Maizie's tongue was a bit too loose one afternoon, as the result of a hangover, and she babbled it to me while we were dancing. All that the Madame found out for her trouble was that the car is registered in the name of the New York agency of the Italian automobile company that makes the car. She hires it from them. Probably pays a hundred bucks a day for it. And they know her as Mrs. Hammond. If they do know her real name, they're not telling! She's too good a customer. She's rich enough to be able to use that stunt."

"Couldn't Madame Leonine have her tracked?" asked Bob. His engineering mind, used to boring to the bottom of things, was unsatisfied.

"Yes, she had her followed. To a fine apartment on Park Avenue—leased in the name of Mrs. Hammond, a wealthy Widow. Another little trick that's easy—if you're the wife of one of the ten richest men in New York. Say, she hands ten and twenty dollar tips around here like we give nickels and dimes to the cross-eyed waitress in the Greek restaurant on University Avenue!"

"Vulgar display of wealth!" scoffed Bob, disgustedly. "She's probably a bootlegger's wife."

"Not at all. She's the real berries, I tell you. Wait until you see her!"

"Heck, fellows, I'm not craving for a look at Mrs. Croesus!" Bob's eyes, soft with the splendid idealism of youth and clean manhood, sought and found and builded day dreams upon the living example of his expressed thoughts.

Sally Smith! — whose demure glances of shyly pleased interest in him rang in his heart with a jingle that could never be displaced by the silver coins of all the world's mints; whose honey-gold hair glowed as riches untold, whose lips beckoned like a tantalizing treasure hunt.

Mrs. Hammond and others like her—for the rest of mankind! He wanted Sally Smith, whose youth and innocence outweighed any fortune.

The whole trouble was that Bob Ward was a poor actor, in so far as concealing his ardent and tumbling thoughts were concerned. Freddy and Arch, with a worldly cynicism, nudged one another to note the Dream in his eyes.

"Oh, see what's up with old Sackcloth and Ashes!" taunted Arch. "Figuring out for himself, just like in fairy stories, that the poor little cigarette girl's blonde curls are just as good on pay day as Mrs. Hammond's yellowbacks!"

"Ain't it just like the sap, though?" Freddy appealed to Arch in particular and the world in general to bear witness to the verity of his observation. "Here we've been priming him for a chance to make a play for the cat's meow of afternoon widows, and he makes a play for a dumb Dora!"

Bob whirled upon his chums in an avenging flash. "Don't carry this kidding too far! She's not a dumb Dora!"

"If she wasn't she wouldn't peddle cigarettes!" sneered Freddy.

"What the deuce has decency got to do with intelligence? Maybe you fellows think you're smart, wise-cracking about a girl just because she's better than the rest of the truck here? Well, I think you're just a couple of ignorant tramps—and I mean that just as I say it!"

"Oh, keep your shirt on, Mr. Protector of the Virtuous," said Freddy, flushing. "Sally's a nice enough kid. We're not saying anything against her. Only——"

"—only you're just generalizing!"

"Not exactly, Bob," broke in Arch, dryly. "We're just trying to set you right, because you're as green as the grass in my Dad's cow pasture, and we don't want to see a rabid idealist like you get started on the wrong trail about the sort of janes who work in, and play in, these kind of joints. They're all cheaters—"

"She's not!" thundered Bob.

"How do you know? You saw her for the first time less than an hour ago, and you're setting yourself up as her Knight Champion without ever having spoken more than ten words to her. Wake up, Bob. Don't be a sap. What do you know about her?"

Bob's eyes were sparkling dangerous red glints. Oblivious of his surroundings, heedless of his angrily raised voice, his menacing manner, he stepped close to his chums—thrust his square jaw toward them, clenched his fists.

"I know this much. That no girl with her eyes, with her face, and the kind of look she has on her face, is bad. And I'll sock anyone who says otherwise!"

Madame Leonine, greatly agitated, hurried up, unseen by the bristling boys, and thrust herself between them, saying sharply:

"What's the matter with you gamecocks? Do you want me to fire the three of you instantly? Lucky the music for the next dance just started, or everyone in the place would have heard you, and been looking at you!"

"There isn't a thing the matter, Madame Leonine," grinned Bob, in complete self-possession again and feeling ashamed of his display of bad temper toward his two eldest and best sworn friends. "It's just a friendly debate—over a problem that came up in our classes at college this morning."

"An argument on—the assaying of gold!" broke in Freddy, who, with Arch, was deeply hurt and angered by Bob's savage attitude—but not so hurt and angered as to be able to resist the chance for a wise-crack. "You see," he felt it necessary to explain further to the rather bewildered Madame, "Bob's studying engineering. He's studying to be an authority on—gold digging!"

Freddy and Arch were promptly restored to great good humor by the satisfaction of seeing Bob squirm under this sly poke.

Nujol treatment now recognized method of relieving constipation say medical men

Copyright 1927 Standard Oil Co. (N. J.)

WE recently asked representative doctors all over the country under what conditions they recommended the use of the Nujol type of treatment. The list of special cases was astounding. Almost uniformly they recommended it for both occasional and chronic constipation, as well as an aid to regularity. Nujol, as one doctor put it, "Acts with nature, instead of against it." Another said, "A lubricant is better than a laxative in both chronic and temporary cases."

Doctors Advise Nujol

Eight doctors out of every ten told us they were advising the Nujol type of treatment for their patients in place of laxatives—and for these reasons:

1. Nujol is not habit-forming.
2. A more natural method.
3. A lubricant is better than a laxative.
4. Does not gripe.
5. Is not irritating.
6. Nujol gives lasting relief.

Laxatives and cathartics act by irritating the intestinal tract. They cause the bowels to frantically expel the contents of the intestines and thus rid the system of the drugs that pills and potions contain.

Nujol acts entirely differently. It contains no drugs, no medicine. Its action is mechanical. It merely softens the dried waste matter in the intestines and lubricates the passage so that the muscles of the bowels can expel the waste matter regularly, naturally and thoroughly.

Nature-given remedy

Nujol appeals to the medical man because it is a simple, scientific and safe remedy for constipation, no matter how severe the case may be. It is gentle in its action and pleasant to take. Children love it! Get a bottle of Nujol from your druggist today. Doctors advise it for constipation, whether chronic or temporary. Avoid substitutes.

France Protests To China Slaying Of Missionaries

PARIS, April 7 (A.P.).—The French Government has instructed its Minister at Peking to protest to the Chinese Government against the murder of two French missionaries at Nanking and to demand reparations.

The French Consul at Shanghai has been instructed to make a similar protest to the Commander of the Nationalist troops.

Although a majority of the Paris press approves the Government's stand toward the Chinese imbroglio, there were some expressions of fear that France is isolating herself from the other Powers at a moment when solidarity is essential.

The Avnir thinks Foreign Minister Briand has "put all his eggs in one basket," counting upon the Cantonese winning over the Northerners. His policy in dissociating France from her allies, the paper adds, may have a serious repercussion in Europe, as well as in the Far East.

THIS CANADA OF OURS

Q. What is Canada's trade under Confederation?

A. The year after Confederation, Canada's export trade was $52,701,720. For 35 years that figure was never doubled but, at the turn of the century, it had grown more than three-fold. In 1900 Canada's export trade was $183,237,555. The figure to-day, $1,328,537,137, is approximately eight times as large as that of 1900 and twenty-five times as large as at Confederation. In 1868 the imports of Canada amounted to $67,090,159. In 1900 they had risen to $172,631,676, not quite a three-fold increase. In 1926 ou rimports amounted to $927,402,733 ,or nearly six times as large as 1900.

Fellowship of Prayer

Daily Lenten Devotion

Prepared by Rev. Charles Emerson Burton, D.D., for Commission on Evangelism of Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America.

Topic for the Week:
"THE SPIRITUAL STRUGGLE"
"There are Evil Forces About Us"

SCRIPTURE: Read — Ephesians 6:10-20.

"For our wrestling is not against flesh and blood, but against the principalities, against the powers . . . against the spiritual hosts of wickedness in the heavenly places" (Eph. 6:12). "And the woman said, The serpent beguiled me, and I did eat" (Gen. 3:13). "Each man is tempted when he is drawn away by his own lust, and enticed" (Jas. 1:14). Put on the whole armor of God, that ye may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil (Eph. 6:11).

See—John 6:70; John 13:2; 1. Peter 5:8; Colossians 1:13.

MEDITATION: Jesus spoke of devils, of Satan, of Beelzebub. True, He often spoke in parables. But we need not dogmatize about the mystery of iniquity. I am sure there are wicked men and that there are evil impulses in me, and that vicious influences beat upon me as adverse winds against the sail. Like fire the breath of evil withers and burns the careless soul. My safety is in the living armor of God; that is His spirit possessing me.

"There are two fires to which the soul is subject—the fire of sin and the fire of God; the one consumes the soul, the other consumes everything that impedes the soul."

HYMN:

Beneath the cross of Jesus
I fain would take my stand,—
The shadow of a mighty rock
Within a weary land,
A home within the wilderness,
A rest upon the way,
From the burning of the noontide heat,
And the burden of the day.

I take, O cross, thy shadow
For my abiding place;
I ask no other sunshine than
The sunshine of His face—
Content to let the world go by,
To know no gain nor loss,
My sinful self my only shame,
My glory all the cross.
—Elizabeth C. Clephane (1830-1869).

PRAYER: Pray for—spirit of long-suffering; slaves of habit, true enjoyments; servants.

Collect—Heavenly Father, whose tender mercies compel our love, we thank Thee for the gift of Christ our Savior. In Him our shortcomings are filled up; our sicknesses of soul are healed; our rebellions of spirit are quelled. For salvation full and free we bless Thee. In the presence of Thy outpouring of love our selfishness stands revealed. Breathe into us of Thy spirit that we may be strong to forsake sin, to overcome temptation and to live in the light which Christ supplies. O our Father, grant us to know something of Thy passion of love. Help us to proclaim the gospel to all mankind. Record our pledge before Thee that we will exalt the things of the spirit. Amen.

It seems incredible how fast IRONIZED YEAST adds pounds of good firm flesh—on women and men, children and old people. Doctors know the value of vegetable iron and yeast in building up and improving the body. IRONIZED YEAST, in a highly concentrated form, contains all the blood building properties of vegetable iron with yeast.

IRONIZED YEAST gives you all the weight building benefits contained in cod liver oil.

New Complexion for You

People ask—what is the magic in IRONIZED YEAST that transforms sallow, lifeless, faded complexions into the fresh, smooth, lovely skin of early girlhood? Wrinkles disappear. Hollows fill out. No wonder thousands of women pour in letters to us in praise of the marvelous, youthifying effects of IRONIZED YEAST!

SAINT and SINNER

By ANNE AUSTIN

After the luncheon recess, Churchill bombarded Mary Kearney with questions concerning Cherry's costume:

"Describe Miss Cherry's hat, Mary. What kind of ornament did it have on it?"

"It was brown velours, like I said. It—it didn't have no ornament on it. Yes, it did; a—a rhinestone buckle, seems like," Mary Kearney asserted defiantly but uncertainly.

"You're sure of that—a rhinestone buckle?" Churchill persisted.

Faith could have laughed aloud with relief, for the little velour hat was trimmed only with a saucy little lancy of pheasant feathers.

"All right, now, Mary," Churchill grinned maddeningly into the face of the witness. "You're a very keen observer, aren't you, Mary? Just describe those gloves that Miss Cherry was wearing. You got two good looks at them, you say; first when Miss Cherry entered the downstairs hall, and later when you saw her pounding Mr. Cluny on the chest, trying to get out of his clutches."

"They was brown kid gloves, with brown and tan cuffs, long cuffs, stitched with brown," Mary answered defiantly.

"You're sure of that, Mary?" Churchill grinned, for one of the defense's exhibits would be those same gloves, short, cuffless, brown kid gloves, stitched with darker brown across the knuckles.

After a few more questions which showed with great clearness that Mary really remembered very little about Cherry's costume, Churchill switched suddenly to a new line of cross-examination:

"You have testified that you went back to Mr. Cluny's bedroom after Mr. Hathaway had rushed out of the house, after he had discovered the body. Why did you do that, Mary? Not scared of being alone with a dead man, were you?"

"Yes, sir, I was scared," Mary whimpered, "but Mr. Hathaway had left the door open and the cold air was blowing in from the open window in Mr. Cluny's bedroom. I was afraid the snow would drift in on the rug and Mr. Cluny was always terribly particular about his rugs and things."

"So you closed the window, Mary?" Churchill shot the words at her swiftly.

"Yes, sir," Mary nodded.

"Did you leave the room immediately, Mary?" Churchill thrust his face almost against her as he shot the question at her.

"Yes, sir," Mary stammered, but her eyes widened with fright.

"You didn't stop at the dresser and pick up a diamond engagement ring lying there, did you?" Churchill's voice thundered on over the roar of objections which Banning was shouting frantically.

Suddenly through the clamor of legal bickering, Mary Kearney burst into loud weeping, fumbled in her handbag, drew out some thing and flung it upon the floor.

"There's the old ring," she sobbed, while Banning's face, turned toward her a moment too late, froze into a mask of horror. "I—I never did have a diamond ring and—and I was engaged and I wanted my girl friends to think my boy friend had give it to me, but I didn't dass to wear it, I didn't dass. Oh, I wish I'd never been born!"

"That's all, Mary," Churchill shouted gleefully, as pandemonium broke out in the courtroom.

Reporters signalled frantically for Western Union boys, Cherry's sister, father and brother reached out their arms toward her, and Bob Hathaway shamelessly embraced Faith before the entire courtroom.

Stephen Churchill, strutting vainglorious between Faith and Bob, as the two made their way toward the parking station across the street from the courthouse, interrupted his conversation with them only to pose for news photographers.

"Of course we mustn't be too optimistic about this little incident," Churchill reminded them, but his eyes were shining. "We have managed to discredit, in a measure, the testimony of the state's star witness, but we must remember that Cherry admits all the facts to which Mary testified except two—"

"That she was wearing gloves after she entered Uncle Ralph's bedroom and that she threatened to kill him if he did not let her go," Bob Hathaway interrupted. "And those two points are mighty important, Churchill. You're a wonder. I didn't think you had a chance to score with Mary Kearney, but of course we weren't expecting her to perjure herself."

"When Cherry takes the stand, she will testify that she removed her gloves to give Cluny back the engagement ring, and that she did not put them on again until she had entered Chris' car," Churchill commented with satisfaction. "But of course we have only her word against Mary's—and Mary is now a partially discredited witness—that she did not threaten to kill him. Just wait until I get you on the stand, young fellow," he added jovially, "I'll get those footprints into the record. I want the jury to be thinking of foot prints in connection with that open window. And I want to hammer it in, by every witness I can lay hands on, that that vase on the bookcase was within easy reach of anyone crouching in the window. Found your cripple yet, Miss Faith?" he added jocularly, turning to the glowing-eyed girl on his other side.

"No, Mr. Churchill. We ran into a blind alley," Faith answered in a low voice.

"Thought so. Well, don't worry. We'll pull a few more stunts like this one and Cherry won't need a cripple to lean on," he chuckled. "So long."

As Bob maneuvered his car out of the parking station, a limousine, also worming out of a tight place, almost locked fenders with his humbler sedan.

"That's Mrs. Allbright," Faith whispered. "And Muriel beside her on the back seat. Did you see? Bob, I have a hunch that Banning is going to call your Aunt Alice to testify to that Marlboro Country Club affair.

"Bob," she went on fearfully, "there is something that has been worrying me dreadfully since I saw how this trial was going, since it's been clear that Banning intends to blacken Cherry's character so that she can never hold her head up again, even if she's acquitted—"

"What, dear?" Bob asked sympathetically, reaching for her hand.

"That envelope of papers that you got from Alexander Cluny—you know, the blackmail letters and Pete Gonzales' report to Alexander on his shadowing of Cherry. Cherry says she didn't destroy it; it was in her dresser, and it's missing now, since the detectives went through her room. They ransacked it the night of the murder, you know, before I got home."

"If they try to use that," Bob said grimly, "they may find it's a boomerang. I hope to God they do! Churchill can twist all that so it will discredit everything Aunt Alice and Alexander testify to, show them up as plotting to prevent Cherry's marriage to Uncle Ralph."

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, but do not Compel.

For Thursday April 7 1927

(Copyright, 1927, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

This is one of the days when the early riser is certain to profit, according to astrology, which finds that benefic aspect rule in the morning, while later adverse stars have power.

Good luck should attend those who begin ocean voyages under this rule of the stars, which indicates unprecedented travel in Europe and South America.

Africa now comes under a direction of the stars making for intense interest in its resources and much immigration.

This is read as rather a sinister sway for all who would influence the public mind, which will be inclined to accept critically all that newspapers or lecturers offer.

There is likely to be confusion regarding national problems and much misunderstanding, due to inimical propaganda.

Women should postpone important matters while this configuration prevails. They will meet with determined opposition in many of their most serious campaigns for reform.

According to a London astrologer, the map of Washington, D. C., shows extraordinary national activities.

Friction between the United States and France appears to be indicated, and President Coolidge is to gain new fame as a diplomatist.

Saturn is in an aspect that increases the avidity with which Americans seek wealth.

Crime is to increase in the summer months in a manner that may cause public demand for better methods of dealing with unfavorable conditions.

Persia and Mesopotamia are to attain interest in the United States, owing to oil resources that may cause international misunderstanding.

France continues under a sinister commercial sway that may even cause America to become the arbiter of fashion.

Persons whose birthdate it is should have a prosperous year, but they must avoid all aggressive policies.

Children born on this day probably will have lives marked with many adventures. They are likely to be strongly individual in their characters.

FOR FRIDAY, APRIL 8, 1927

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

Astrologers read this as an unimportant day in planetary direction. It is a time for systematizing one's affairs and relaxing effort.

Under this sway intrigue is supposed to be encouraged and secret diplomacy will be prevalent among the nations of the world.

There is a sign giving promise of a revival of spiritual interest among the people and new cults will flourish.

India will send many teachers to America, it is foretold, to aid those already here.

Churches will disagree seriously and there will be schisms, the seers prophesy, and yet unity will gradually be attained among many denominations.

Women now come under an influence supposed to encourage all the housewifely virtues. Nursing will be studied with new interest.

Food values will be of unusual interest, because prices are to rise appreciably.

Again famine is to stalk in certain parts of the world and the United States will supply bread to the starving in foreign lands, it is prognosticated.

Young folk are subject to the best direction of the stars at this time when many leaders of the future are in training.

Within the decade most of the men and women who have enjoyed fame in this century will pass on, and their places will be taken by those now preparing for great responsibilities.

Women who have been proving their ability to take the places of men in the world's work are to turn again to their own field, if the stars are rightly interpreted, for there will be tasks for them which men can not assume.

Beauty is to become a commonplace in this country, where the supreme flowering of the Caucasian race is to be achieved before the darker races gain power, astrologers foretell.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a quiet year in which much may be accomplished.

Children born on this day are likely to be home-loving and affectionate. They should be sturdy of character and alert of brain.

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

This spring frock is made of silk printed in effective design consisting of circles of glass-headed pins in different colors.

Once when a dressmaker spoke of a "print" you took it for granted that she meant some sort of cotton material—some sort of muslin or organdie or voile. If by chance the print was silk then you probably assumed that it was foulard.

Now it would be hard to find a fabric of wool, cotton, silk or linen that is not printed. There are printed linens and printed velvets, printed taffetas and printed nets, printed jerseys and printed wool voile. But though the printing of materials has certainly been brought to a high level dressmakers show no disposition to use any more of these figured materials than ever. There are times and occasions for the printed frock—and just because your eye is taken by a certain figured fabric is not of itself sufficient reason to assume that you would look well in a dress cut from it.

Print figures are less startling than they were a season ago. Flowers are usually small—rather compact. The enormous pink and red roses that sprawled over georgettes and silk crepes a year or so ago are no more. There are intricate pictorial designs that show ships a-sailing upon seas of any color you choose and maps and landscapes have been worked into designs that seem suitable to dress goods, but these large patterns are perhaps exhibitions rather than the rule.

There is something perennially pleasing about the fabric that shows a more or less regular arrangement of dots. The dots do not have to be of the conventional polka sort. One of the new silks shows a regular arrangement of poker chips, the exact likeness of which has been reproduced by means of photography. A design showing a life-like image of a tack repeated at intervals is to be seen on another of the new silks.

The georgette that was used for the frock shown to-day was printed with a design taken from glass-headed pins in different colors, placed in circles.

Any chance of a passing of the high heel for street wear seems to have been sidetracked at least for the present, for many of the shoes worn at present have a heel even higher than that to which we have been accustomed.

THE SOUNDS I LOVE TO HEAR
By W. D. Packwood.

These are the sounds I love to hear,
That echo sweet music within my ear,
The wind as it whistles o'er the plain,
Brings me back to myself again.
The beat of the waves towards the shore,
Fills my soul with wonder and awe,
The silence amid the woods and hills,
Peace to my restless heart instills,
The ringing of chimes, across the vale,
'Ere sounds like a well remembered tale,
The murmuring brook as it babbles along, Is ever to me so soothing a song,
The cawing of crows from tree tops high,
Echoes, within me an answering cry,
The skylark's song as it soars above
Fills me with ecstasy and love,
The bark of a dog as it runs by the sea,
Brings memories of childhood back to me,
The crow of the cock 'twixt darkness and dawn,
Sounds full of hope for a day yet unborn,
And as oft as I hear these wonderous sounds,
My heart within me ever abounds.

What Mrs. Fred. Sullivan, of Peterborough, says:

"My grocer got me to try Rinso, and when I saw how much work it saved by soaking clothes clean, I knew why so many women were talking about it. It makes the wash snowy white, without any hard rubbing whatever. Even boiling is unnecessary and that saves gas bills. One of my friends uses it in her washing machine. You should hear her praise Rinso."

MRS. FRED. SULLIVAN,

Clothes snowy, dazzling white
~ just by soaking

It's really amazing. Millions of women are getting new, glorious results on washday . . . . in half the time, with half the work . . . . merely by soaking the clothes clean in Rinso. They are loud in their praises, and write the makers thousands of letters of appreciation like the one above.

Rinso soaks white clothes whiter, colored clothes brighter, everything cleaner, than you could get them by rubbing, scrubbing and boiling . . . . the old-fashioned methods.

Rinso contains nothing to hurt clothes or hands . . . no acids, bleach or harsh chemicals.

The makers of the eleven leading washing machines, after thoroughly testing it, highly recommend Rinso. Try Rinso just once . . . and you'll see why so many women write to tell how pleased they are.

MANY COMMITTEES FORMED FOR JUBILEE CELEBRATION

Various Phases of Dominion Day Activities in Charge of Energetic Bodies.

FULL PROGRAMME.

Pageants, Sports, Music, Sermons, All Combined in Observance.

(By F. Dobbin.)

The selection of the several memberships for the committees to carry on the work of organization and prosecuting the duties connected with the Dominion Day celebration has been concluded, for the time being. It is expected that these memberships will be altered as others come forward and offer to assist in details. All representatives from the local organizations to the preliminary meetings have been allotted to places on the committees and others added to bring the numbers up to working strength. Of the sixty-one organizations asked to send representatives, only thirty-four complied. But in all about one hundred and ten have been enrolled, all of whom it is hoped will give the service asked for.

In addition, the local Ministerial Association of the Protestant churches in the city and the Catholic church and organizations have been asked to consider some patriotic public service on Sunday, July 3. These societies will hold meetings next week and reach some conclusion as to joint or separate action, if at all possible. At this time it is not assured that those concerned in the military activities will be in the city to take part. They will make arrangements if not ordered to attend the instructional camps, which are held the end of June and running into the first week of July next. It is hoped that each branch of the military units may take part as a parade would lack much of interest were the military not represented.

Some information has been asked for as to what has been already accomplished in getting the preliminary work on foot, so the general secretary writes, supplying details so far as completed. This chiefly concerns the preparatory work in getting a committee together, assigning one person to act as convenor, the committee to, at its first meeting, elect a chairman who will act throughout the campaign. The chairmen of all committees will be grouped as the executive committee for the celebration. Until this is effected the pushing of and arranging details will necessarily hang fire. Following are noted of committees and observations as to the special duties assigned.

Many enquiries have been made as to the possibility of putting on a pageant, such as would depict scenes in Canadian life and in line with the settlement of the country and also of the district in and about Peterborough. Other suggestions that such an event should be made one of a truly national character. The Women's Council of the city has taken up the suggestion and will hold a meeting on the sixth instant, to discuss the possibilities that are put out in connection with a Canadian pageant which has been written and grouped by Miss Burkeholder, of Hamilton, who is well qualified to undertake the writing. This, it is understood, is under the auspices of the Provincial Cabinet. The libretto will be placed at the use of any place desiring to make use of such a feature.

So soon as the celebration finance committee can begin to function, it will be met by ladies and the probable cost of the pageant discussed. Mrs. Arthur Stevenson is active in this venture and has received a copy of the writings and plans. Then, again, if put on, where will it be displayed. The logical place would seem to be at the exhibition grounds in front of the grand stand, but then the uncertainty of all being able to hear the songs and speeches incorporated in the plot would seem a hindrance. And it is hoped that at least ten thousand persons would be of the audience. A report from the Women's Council will be awaited with interest.

Following is the layout of committees, with observations as to the scope of each, so far as outlined:

Parade and Procession Committee.

Reg. Turner, Thomas Barrie, Gordon Matthews, J. H. Seels, W. R. Breyfogle, Mrs. Frank Lynch, Mrs. J. A. Aylmer, D. J. Holland, G. A. Gillespie, Fred Hills, A. Throop, M. J. Maher, Jas. Abraham, S. T. Medd, W. D. Campbell, William Lytle, Dr. J. C. Greene, Dr. J. J. Craig, Harry Cressman, Charles Cook, W. E. Lech.

This committee was called together for Thursday night, of last week, and Dr. J. J. Craig was elected chairman, and has already been in touch with the members. Presently other meetings will be held and suggestions and propositions worked into shape. Of the members, as above, several are expected to organize the military end of the parade. It is possible that several of the local military branches may be ordered to camp about the end of June and might not be able to participate.

Finance Committee.

As the logical overseer for this committee would be the chairman of the finance committee of the city council, Ald. Phelan was asked to take charge, protem, and if elected as chairman of the committee to assume the duties. Following are the selections for this committee:

Mayor W. T. Holloway, Ald. Phelan, John J. Turner, Charles Cummer, E. J. H. Vanstone, Mrs. Arthur Stevenson, Mrs. F. L. Robertson, Mrs. J. A. Aylmer, with a few additional names as selected.

Music Committee

On calling this committee together, Ald. J. M. Greene was at once selected as chairman, an excellent choice. Following are those associated in this committee, to be supplemented, if advisable, with others interested:

J. M. Greene, M. B. Chenhall, W. H. Peryer (57th Band), Stanley Richardson (Salvation Army Band), G. S. Parlour (secretary of committee), E. Abraham (57th Band), Robert French (Caledonian Pipe Band), Frank Robinson (leader of Salvation Army Band), Wesley Boorman (for the Orange Band), Rupert Gliddon (of the Conservatory of Music), A. E. Patterson (President of Rangers' Band), Fred. Gandy (President Male Voice Choir), Mrs. Forbes Allen (President of the Art Association), Miss H. R. Ranney.

All of the above-named are interested in music, some of them fairly saturated in it, and will be most helpful. While the Salvation Army Band has been expected to lend a most helpful band, it is doubtful if the band will be in the city for the celebration, having made an engagement, tentatively, during January last, to go outside the city and supply services over the week-end. However, a decision will be reached presently.

This committee has had two meetings and discussed things in an ambitious way. The committee is full of ideas, and if the finances can be managed will make things hum. Old-time music and melodies will prevail, making selections from the scores of fifty years or more, backwards. The Male Voice Choir is asked to come forward and suggest how that band of fine singers may be useful. As a feature, it is planned to bring in the bands from Curve Lake, Hiawatha, and Alderville reservations, arrayed in real Indian style and garb.

If it can be managed, the entire population of the reserves will be induced to come and put on the war-paint (not cosmetics), feathers, furbelows, all distinctive of the tribes, and make a day of it. Transportation would have to be arranged that these be able to attend, as guests of the celebration.

If the executive committee approves, and other propositions do not interfere, the music committee plans to make the evening of July 1 (Friday) a notable good music occasion, taking charge of the entertainment, on the grounds, with the bands, Male Voice Choir, Masonic Octette, and a real effort in community singing. In furtherance of this latter, a screen would be erected, and a lantern used to throw the words from a lantern in order that no excuses be offered for not knowing the words. It is not intended that the whole time be monopolized, but brought in between other features offered, the whole closing off with abundance of fireworks. All of this offers a rough outline of what is proposed.

Water Sports Committee.

These contests it is proposed to put on during the morning hours (previous to the coming on of the parade). The committee will select a position along the river, where all can view the efforts. A decision as to the spot will be made after looking over the places available. From 9 o'clock to 11:30 will be consumed in this feature. A band will be in attendance. A liberal prize-list will be constructed, offering inducements to all ages and sexes to participate. Along the crescent, leading around the bend of the lake, has been suggested, as affording standing room and sufficient spread of water for the more ambitious efforts. Several George Youngs are to get into training as soon as the water is favorable. Details will be arranged by the committee, which consists of the following:

Claude Rogers (convenor of committee), A. L. Killaly, Harold Rye, Chief of Police Newhall, D. A. Loomis, Miss Littlefield (of the Y. W. C. A.), and Miss Hamilton.

Evening Sports Committee.

As the time of the year is near midsummer, daylight will prevail up to nearly nine o'clock. Advantage will be taken of this to put on an evening of sports, other than those allotted to be given at the exhibition grounds. All folks will not expect to gather in one place all the time. It is expected that there will be about one thousand young people willing and ready to participate in the day's contests of all kinds. The cool of the evening is a most favorable time for physical exertion. Just where these additional sports will be held has not been determined, but anyway at some place easily accessible. Those in charge of this feature are Charles Brewer, B. D. Hall, John Corkery, Joe Johns, E. F. Reid, D. A. Costello, Doug. Carlisle, and Joseph Wearing. The committee will be called together by E. F. Reid, who can be found about the Hydro office, for consultation. Presently, we shall have a report.

Bonfire Committee.

A lot of people have been throwing cold water on this warm proposition. Fears are entertained that the new and small trees that the ladies of the Ashburnham League have had set out will be trodden under foot, that the thick grass on the east side of the hill might take fire, that some one in the days that are gone set out a fire on the hill and that a spark fired a building near Peck's brewery, thus inciting a second conflagration, and that, anyway, a whole lot of perfectly good firewood would be wasted.

Mrs. R. H. Parsons and her friends of the league had handed the bonfire as a special stunt, and one in accordance with the suggestion that ten thousand bonfires should light up the canopy of the Dominion, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, on the evening of July 1. Being perfectly willing to undertake the feature, the ladies of the league went over and interviewed Fire Chief Gimblet, who declined to take any responsibility in the matter. The chief is professionally against fire, and particularly with fires that are set out, even on such occasions, unless carefully placed and guarded. He said that if the evening was perfectly calm, and all things propitious, the stunt could be worked off. If the night were wet, why, of course, safety would be assured. But who can tell in advance that such would be the case. Better be careful.

It may be added that those of the inhabitants who devised and set off the bonfire on the hill, on the evening of July 1, 1867, if they had any misgivings, left them at home, and the blaze was a whale of a success. We have to take some chances, if we want a decent demonstration. And from the viewpoint of civic economy, slab-wood could be had in profusion for the asking. Truly, the times have changed.

Community Dancing Committee.

Here's a feature that should meet with unanimous approval. With the pavement cleaned and roped off, those who wish to indulge can enjoy themselves. No tickets to purchase, no elaborate costumes, free-for-all, and partners all along the sidewalk. Just catch hold and spin. The electrics will shine especially bright, the music attractive, the dancers unanimous. Those who tire can repair to the exhibition grounds and rest on the seats of the grand stand. The committee has been named and it is expected will, in due time, meet and discuss and arrange. Those on this committee are experienced in such pastimes and expert in making arrangements.

General Sports Committee.

Sports are ever attractive. Young people are growing up who have ambitions to excel in the sport field. The city is full of grown men who at one time indulged in violent exercise in all walks of sport. The vital spark still glows in all such and they encourage the boys and girls to indulge. As an instance, at the Rotary luncheon on Monday, a real live Senator, who was speaking, and who spent some years of his young manhood in Peterborough, traced his advancement to the interest he had taken in hockey and lacrosse. Who knows that other Senators will come from the contests of July 1, 1927?

The committee selected are all sportsmen (except the ladies who approve of sport), and include G. H. Roper and D. Loomis, of the Y. M. C. A., Roland Denne, Chris. Graham (who is invaluable,) John Deannard, D. A. Costello, Thomas McMurray, Fred. Hills, Mrs. Edwards (President of the Women's Council), Mrs. R. H. Parsons, with others to be added.

It is assumed that this committee (with Chris. Graham as convenor), will lay out a series of contests that will afford scope to the most energetic. Running races, bike races, jumping contests, with other events not here mentioned, may be held.

Fireworks Committee

If the finance committee be in a liberal mood, this closing feature of the first day (Friday, July 1), should end in a blaze of glory. The display is expensive, and doesn't last long, but forms a fitting and expected conclusion to any public event. T. O. Donaldson has been named as convenor of this committee and will call the members together and reach some conclusion as to what would be required. The names follow: E. Howson, Thomas Brown, T. O. Donaldson, J. R. Corkery, Frank Millard, and Chief Gimblett.

Decorations Committee

Surely the city must put on a festive appearance. Just what amount this committee will ask for is conjectural. A lot of private effort should be on view, but the city needs to show evidences of a loyal and patriotic spirit, at least more than will be shown in Port Hope or Cobourg.

A most effective feature would show up if four arches were constructed, to be placed at the crossing of Brock street, and at Charlotte street opposite St. John's church, and at the crossing of Charlotte and Aylmer streets. Nothing more impressive and spectacular could be devised. Each arch would be constructed (a different style for each) of eight stout spruce poles, standing at the sidewalks, let into holes in the street or pavement, covered with rough siding and the boards in turn covered with evergreens nailed on. Decorated with flags and bunting, the whole would form a striking picture.

Those who remember the fine arches built in 1860, on the occasion of a public greeting to the Prince of Wales, of that year, will agree that the arches were a distinctively gracious feature, and a most satisfactory decoration on the streets. Of the several erected, possibly the most striking was the one at the crossing of Charlotte and George streets, built of sawn lumber, by the skilful pilers at the mills. There was not a nail or bolt in the whole arch, just the boards deftly placed in a symmetrical order to a height of forty feet. Crowned on top with canoes, implements used in lumbering, flags and gay colors and evergreens. These arches remained on view for several weeks after the event for which erected.

The decorations committee includes Ald. R. S. Cotton, Ald. George A. Macdonald, Fred. Gandy, W. S. Merrill, Robert J. Kidd, E. P. Mason, B. D. Hall, Jack Primeau (convenor), Mrs. J. Johnston, and Miss Laura Davidson.

Committee on Publicity

The celebration needs publicity—plenty of it—of the kind that will allure, convince, and inveigle everyone to stay at home and view the sights and participate. The hope is that the home city will put up just as good a show, if not better, than can be seen by taking the car and riding abroad. Besides, the local enterprise needs your money from the gates and grand stand to finance the celebration. All should be loyal to the Old Home Town and conspire to make a violent success, one that will be remembered for years to come.

Just what shape the publicity will take is left to the committee to devise. Between what will be done for nothing, and there should be plenty of such, and what will be paid for as a matter of work and business, every man, woman, and child in the West Riding and city should be here. Nearly one hundred men and women will be at work planning and contriving in all ways to make a day of it and one creditable and enjoyable. Peterborough has been a trifle apathetic for many years in the matter of public celebrations. It is hoped that this time enterprise, energy, and helpfulness will come forward and work for a success. It can be accomplished if those who have offered to work and all inclined will catch hold and lift. The business of the publicity committee is to proclaim the day as an attractive one to view in Peterborough, no matter what inducements are held out to go and see what others are presenting. The committee includes R. M. Glover, Charles Cooke I. P. McNabb, Gerald McClelland, Chris. Hughes, F. L. Roy, Harry Dicken, and Arthur Blade.

Grounds Booths and Parking Committee

At the preliminary meeting for organization it was suggested that a committee be named to take up the duties as noted. This committee was appointed, those selected being: T. McIndoo (Cavan), Thomas Brown, John Gillespie, Walter Fisher, Ald. Walter Stocker, Ald. Hancock, W. H. Buller, and Webber Turner, who was named as convenor of the committee. At a subsequent meeting, Ald. Denne, for the Exhibition board, offered to look after the grounds, letting of booth spaces, etc. If the committee functions it will have the assistance of Ald. Denne, who is experienced in such matters. Others as named have had much experience, and, in fact, function each year for the Exhibition board most successfully.

SAFEGUARDING MILK

BY PASTEURIZATION

This Space Authorized by

(Report of M.H.O. Toronto, Continued from Thursday)

There is little doubt in my mind that if every developing child could be guaranteed a quart of milk a day, without any other change in this routine diet, that 90 per cent. at least of this under-nutrition would be overcome.

Until recently, our biological chemists and food experts were under the impression that all food products could be divided into four classes or substances, namely: proteins, carbo-hydrates, fats and salts or mineral substances. In 1906 Professor Hopkins of Cambridge University, England, made the first original experiments on vitamins or accessory food factors, by feeding the first of two sets of rats of the same age and weight, the proteins, fats, sugar and salts, and the second lot on the same substance, plus a small quantity of fresh milk. The first set lost weight and became sick, while the second set remained well and steadily gained in weight. In eighteen days, Professor Hopkins reversed the diet, with the result that the first set then gained in weight and recovered from their disease, while the second set lost in weight. The only difference in the diet of these two groups of rats was the addition of milk.

In 1912 Professor Hopkins published the results of his experiments, extending over several years, confirming the foregoing observations. These experiments constitute the pioneer work in revealing the value of these accessory food factors or vitamins, in our diet.

In 1914, Funk, of London, (to whom is credited the coining of the word "vitamin"), together with outstanding authorities on this continent, found this growth promoting substance which Hopkins had found in milk, to be present in many animal fats, such as butter, cod-liver oil and beef fat, but that this substance was absent from oils of vegetable origin. Since that time several other of these vitamins have been discovered and food experts are agreed that they are essential for the properly balanced diet.

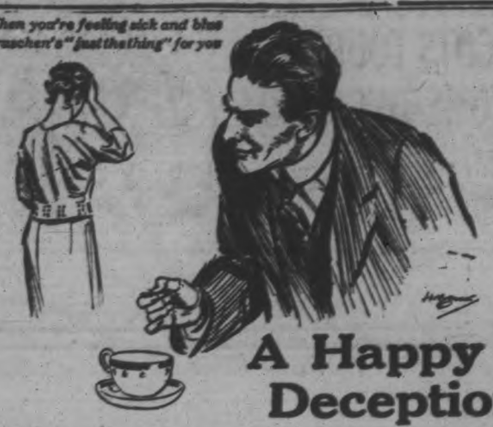
When you're feeling sick and blue Kruschen's "just the thing" for you



A Happy Deception

This is a True Story

A husband saw his wife suffering from frequent headaches and little fits of depression. She wasn't ill, but still she wasn't as well as she ought to have been; she got tired easily, hadn't her usual good spirits, and sometimes there was a touch of rheumatism.

"Why don't you try Kruschen Salts, my dear?" he asked her. But she couldn't, she said. "They taste so horrid." Being a wise husband he didn't press the matter then. But next morning he got to the breakfast table before her and put just a little pinch of Kruschen Salts into her coffee cup along with the sugar and cream. She filled up her cup and her husband watched her while she drank the coffee.

She Said Not a Word

She didn't know the Kruschen was there. Then her husband smilingly told her, and, convinced by actual test, the pinch of Kruschen Salts was continued for a month.

What a difference! The headaches disappeared, the rheumatism vanished; colour came back to her cheeks. She felt better, was more cheerful, took up her own keen interest in her home and children.

Her case is common enough. Worry, anxiety and lack of open-air exercise cause men and women alike to become a little run down. The system gets sluggish, liver and kidneys do not do their work as actively as Nature intended; and impurities creep into the blood. Headaches, depression, constipation follow.

Kruschen Salts put all this right. They restore the internal system to vigorous activity. Every impurity is cleansed from the system, and clean refreshed blood circulates all over the body, restoring tingling health to every fibre of the system.

Every druggist sells Kruschen Salts — a 75c bottle lasts nearly six months — less than half a cent a day for keen, active health!

Tasteless in Coffee or Tea

Put as much in your breakfast cup as will lie on a 10 cent piece. It's the little daily dimeful that does it.

Kruschen Salts

Good Health for Half a Cent a Day

The dose of a "dimeful" taken every morning is found in practice just the right amount for a most invigorating daily tonic. The medicinal dose to persons suffering from pains of rheumatism, gout, lumbago or sciatica, or habitual constipation, with inactive liver, etc., is half to one teaspoonful in a tumbler of hot water before breakfast. Every druggist sells Kruschen. A 75c bottle contains 160 doses—nearly enough for six months. This works out at a half a cent a day for health and happiness. Get a bottle at your druggist's today and start tomorrow. It's the little daily dose that does it.

DR. WITHDROW SENT FOR TRIAL

Committed On Two Charges Arising From Death of Girl.

FIANCE REMANDED.

TORONTO, April 7.—Despite the emphatic declaration of Defence Counsel A. W. Roebuck that the Crown evidence had established his client's innocent rather than his guilt, Dr. O. J. C. Withrow was yesterday committed for trial on a charge of manslaughter and a charge of attempting to perform an illegal operation, both of which arose in connection with the death of Miss Ruth Dembner at the Gravenhurst Sanitarium on February 19 last. Unless a "No bill" is returned by the Grand Jury, the accused will be placed on trial in the Assizes this Spring.

Dr. Withrow's bail of $15,000 was renewed by Magistrate Jones on the conclusion of the hearing. Bartlett J. Brooks, fiance of the deceased girl, who also faces a serious charge arising out of the case, was remanded until April 14, his bail of $10,000 being renewed by the court.

The evidence taken yesterday dealt largely with the medical aspect of the case. Mrs. Nellie Kirkness, lady superintendent of the Strathcona Hospital, told of the treatment Miss Dembner had received while a patient there, and Dr. William J. Deadman, pathologist, of the Hamilton General Hospital, testified as to his microscopic examination of the deceased's organs. Inspector John Millar, F. Watson, proprietor of the Windsor Hotel, at Stratford, and Mrs. Elizabeth Dembner, mother of the deceased, also gave evidence.

CHILDREN GET SQUARE DEAL

Kiwanis Clubs Aid Underprivileged Children in Many Ways.

A REAL WORK.

Kiwanis has accomplished much for the underprivileged child during the past several years. "A Square Deal for the Underprivileged Child—a Future Citizen" has been adopted as a slogan for the service organization's program of aiding the unfortunate, no matter what handicap the child may be suffering. The work is done through the underprivileged child committee, and J. Herbert Gilgour is local chairman.

The work of aiding and assisting the underprivileged child has been divide into four major groups: the physically, the mentally, the morally, and the economically underprivileged. Divided this way the helping hand of Kiwanis may begin work on a basis where efforts will be so utilized that the individual groups will get specialized attention. As the handicapped child is given classification, plans for help may be immediately started, and in this way each group receives the maximum attention and aid.

What Help is Given.

One might ask, what kind of general assistance has really been given? The question covers so large a range that it is almost impossible to answer it sufficiently without remembering the numerous phases of work connected with the underprivileged child activity. During a recent period of twelve months over 300 clubs administered general welfare work. This service rendered concerned sponsoring milk and ice funds, financing day nurseries, members adopting fatherless boys and keeping check on their progress, sending undernourished children to mountain camps, supplying needy school children with clothing, sending girls to summer camps for vacations, giving free memberships in the Y. M. C. A., establishing Kiwanis camps for children, giving 280 orphans birthday presents, sending clothing to suffering German children, aiding immigrant children, pledging thousands of dollars for children's homes, building fresh air camps, and engaging "Kiwanis Happiness Cars" to take inmates of hospitals and institutions to recreation centers.

The Physically Handicapped.

Work with the physically handicapped child is being engaged in by hundreds of clubs. Clinical examinations under the supervision of specialists, followed by hospitalization, is the major work with the children of this group.

Usually a club commences with holding a survey of its city or county to find all the children suffering from paralysis, deformities and general diseases. Kiwanians will then arrange for a clinic to be held and bring the children for expert examination. Following this the children will be taken to hospitals where medical and surgical treatment is started. During the survey, clinic and hospitalization, members are constantly in charge of the children. Often, too, they aid a destitute family where no financial aid can be given to the child while receiving treatment.

From taking children to boys, Kiwanians conceived the idea of furnishing children's rooms in institutions. Later, this developed into the establishment of wards, where a large number of children could be cared for at one time. And to further this work some clubs have sponsored a Kiwanis Fellowship for Research Work as Applied to Crippled Children.

The fight waged against tuberculosis amongst children is battled by Kiwanis with fresh air camps. These camps have hundreds of undernourished and tubercular children, who are under care of trained attendants and specialists. Clinics for eye, ear, nose and throat operations are also held repeatedly.

"Better Babies" conferences are proving popular. Hundreds of mothers take the advantage of receiving at these conferences the expert advice of physicians. The assuming of guardianship of orphans, the building of convalescent homes of destitute children, and the paying of surgeons' fees for children's operations and care are also a constant Kiwanian activity.

The Mentally Gifted.

Because Kiwanis recognizes the youth of to-day as the citizen of to-morrow, no obstacle is allowed to stand that might dwarf the education of the child. To the mentally gifted are given opportunities to make the most of their talents; to those whose advancement might be hindered because of lack of money, Kiwanians finance their way.

Nothing is too good for the child who in later years, through his education, will become valuable to society. So Kiwanis is eager in aiding the underprivileged child who shows the ability of making a good citizen.

The purchase of clothing and school supplies helps to keep hundreds of children in the schools of the country. The paying of tuitions for those who can advance no further because lack of funds enables many to keep on with their education.

In nurseries, where only physical attention was formerly given, Kiwanians engaged instructors of expert child training to teach reading, writing, and the fundamentals of right living. Schools in large factory districts were visited and children given the necessities to be able to attend regular classes.

Moral Delinquents.

Juvenile delinquency is attacked by Kiwanis with the same pressure as the physically and economically handicapped child problems. Kiwanians go into the courts and offer themselves as guides for the youthful offenders, thus keeping them out of reformatories and jails. When members, investigating conditions, find need of strenuous enforcement, they personally help probation officers, judges, and health authorities in the interest of child welfare.

Boys arrested for minor offences, which would have sent them to reform school, have been paroled and placed under the guidance of Kiwanians. Clubs have formed "Boys' Work Committees" to co-operate with police authorities to care for runaways. Through club vigilantes bad influences on the streets of cities were destroyed, and children were introduced to play-ground activities.

Sponges may be cut up again and again, like potatoes, and will grow when planted in the water. Although the sponge is an animal, it is one of the lowest forms, and can grow again and again with all but a few cells destroyed.

KIWANIS SEEKS MORE SYMPATHY FARM AND CITY

Development of Closer Relations and Understanding Is Objective.

WORTHWHILE WORK.

Splendid Achievements Attained Through Groups Working Together.

The development of closer relations and understanding between the farmer and the city man is an International objective of Kiwanis. One of the great aims of the present-day world, when as individuals we specialize in certain classes of work, is to bring together all the working forces for the benefit of everyone. The gulf that has for years separated the farmer and the city man has been bridged by Kiwanis; and it was accomplished primarily through the good fellowship spirit and co-operation of the city man and farmer in dealing with problems of the town and farm.

When Kiwanis International first stressed the closer friendship, the agricultural committees of the many clubs did not so much consider the problems of the rural and urban people as they did the vital need of better human relationships. It was known that an understanding between the two populations would soon bring about an exchange of ideas to combat the peculiar problems that for years had been causing friction.

So the farmer came to Kiwanis luncheons as a guest; in turn the Kiwanian city-man went to the farmer's home in a similar manner. The meetings brought about a mutual understanding, and as problems became apparent the two sides, one the farmer's viewpoint and the other the city-man's, were discussed. G. Carl. McLean is this year head of the Peterborough Club's Agricultural Committee.

The "We Build" motto of Kiwanis added another achievement, for it succeeded in establishing a worth-while relationship between two groups that were in the past widely divergent. Almost unconsciously the leavening work began in the groups, and the entwined network of existing conditions began to unravel as the city-man understood the farmer and his problems, and vice-versa.

But what has been accomplished? If Kiwanis International is a service organization and has a large membership of business and professional men, what part can the farmer take in its activities?

During the past year in over two hundred communities progressive farm extension work has been going on. The financing and aid in planting, hiring county agents, demonstrators and specialists, improving marketing and transportation conditions, sponsoring the buying of good grades of dairy cattle, relief to farmers who had suffered losses from cyclone, holding campaigns for greater tomato acreage, better potatoes, and the offering of prizes for boys' and girls' clubwork contests, are just a few [illegible] that were successful [illegible] soon brought about reports of conditions in many farming communities. This stimulated sentiment to have intensive farming campaigns, and many clubs aided in financing experts to interest farmers in getting better production results. Agricultural colleges, noting the interest of Kiwanis, are supplying speakers, representatives and specialists in bringing to the rural communities new programs and ideas for the promotion of farm welfare and advancement.

Meetings for the purpose of studying crops, transportation and rail rates, co-operative poultry and egg marketing associations, and farmers' institutes proved popular, and were attended by thousands. Throughout the west is the question of irrigation and the development of new land, which many clubs are actively interested in.

Some fifty or more clubs took boys' and girls' club-work as a major activity. The purchasing of pure-bred cattle and poultry, and having farm boys and girls care for these proved popular. Calf clubs, corn clubs, and pig clubs are now numerous throughout the United States and Canada. Oftentimes the members of the boys' clubs will accompany their fathers to Kiwanis meetings and luncheons, when prominent speakers are engaged. In the girls' club-work prizes are awarded for the best results in cooking, canning, sewing, etc.

Scores of clubs sponsored fairs, shows and demonstrations this season. Grain exhibits and modern farm machinery demonstrations at many of the shows and county fairs were attended by thousands of town and country people. Many clubs offered prizes for the best exhibits at the fairs, while others paid the expenses of building displays.

And so the work of Kiwanis goes on with ever-increasing results. The farmer finds through his Kiwanis club meetings that he becomes actively interested in all kinds of civic projects as well as his farm developments. His goodwill and help added with that of his fellow-members brings amazing results in the work of helping in many needed enterprises.

In his Kiwanis meetings the farmer has found an intelligent and worth-while group of men anxious to heed the problems both of their own businesses and the farm; and on this basis of the Kiwanis city-man and the agriculturist working together they have performed excellent work and will accomplish greater things in the future.

Uncle Wiggily

By Howard R. Garis

To-day's Bedtime Story.

UNCLE WIGGILY'S INSIDE OUTSIDE

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

"Have you a piece of string, my dear?" asked Uncle Wiggily of his wife one morning.

"What kind of string?" the rabbit lady wanted to know.

"Strong string," answered Mr. Longears. "Very strong string, if you please. I am going to tie something fast."

"You aren't going out in the woods and try to catch a fox or wolf to tie fast, I hope!" exclaimed Mrs. Longears.

"Oh, no, indeed!" chuckled the bunny rabbit. "I am not so silly as that! I am just going to tie my umbrella fast, for I think it is going to rain and I shall take my umbrella when, in a little while, I go adventuring."

"Tie your umbrella fast! I never heard of such a thing!" cried Mrs. Longears in surprise. "But, anyhow, I haven't a piece of string. You had better ask Nurse Jane."

So Uncle Wiggily hopped out to the kitchen where the muskrat lady was washing the dishes after all the forty-seven little bunny rabbits had eaten their breakfast and hopped to school.

"Have you a piece of string?" asked Mr. Longears.

"What do you want of a piece of string?" asked Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "Are you going to make a cat's cradle for Jackie Bow Wow to sleep in?"

"Ha! Ha! That would be funny—a puppy dog sleeping in a cat's cradle!" chuckled Uncle Wiggily. "No, I am not going to do anything like that. I am going to tie fast my umbrella!"

"I never heard of such a thing!" squeaked Nurse Jane.

"Well, you shall soon see it if you give me a piece of string," spoke Mr Longears.

Uncle Wiggily brought his umbrella out to the kitchen. Nurse Jane gave him a piece of string and then the rabbit gentleman tied the handle of his umbrella fast to his left paw with the cord the muskrat lady gave him.

"Why are you doing that?" asked Mrs. Longears, who hopped out into the kitchen to learn what all the noise was about, for the end of the umbrella was thumping on the floor.

"I am doing this so my umbrella will not blow away," answered Mr. Longears. "I must take my umbrella with me because I think rain will fall soon. And as it is March, the wind is blowing. I do not want my umbrella to blow away so I am tying it fast."

Mrs. Longears and Nurse Jane said that was very wise, and they wished Uncle Wiggily good luck as he hopped away from his hollow stump bungalow with his umbrella tied on his left paw.

He had not yet put the umbrella up for it was not yet raining.

Soon, however, after the bunny uncle had hopped over the fields and through the woods for a mile or two, the rain began to patter down.

"I must put up my umbrella!" said Mr. Longears and he raised it at the same time the wind began to blow so hard and strong that the rabbit gentleman thought he had better not stay out in the storm.

"I will hop to the kennel house of Jackie and Peetie Bow Wow," said Mr. Longears to himself. "I will stay and visit Mr. and Mrs. Bow Wow, for Jackie and Peetie are at school."

Suddenly the wind puffed and blew so hard that it turned Uncle Wiggily's umbrella inside out, and the rabbit gentleman was so surprised that he hopped very fast toward the dog house. The wind blew the door open, and Uncle Wiggily started to hop in, but he forgot about the umbrella being tied fast to his wrist. The umbrella caught on the side of the door frame and Mr. Longears had to stop.

"Oh, whatever is the matter?" barked Mrs. Bow Wow, running into her front hall. Oh, it's Uncle Wiggily!" she went on. "But what has hold of you?" she asked the rabbit, seeing that he could not get his paw loose.

"The inside outside has hold of me!" answered Mr. Longears. He meant his umbrella, which had blown inside outside. But the dog lady did not know this.

"Quick, Mr. Bow Wow!" she growled to her husband. "Come and help Uncle Wiggily. He is caught by a terrible inside outside animal!"

"Ha! I'll fix that inside outside!" barked the dog gentleman, rushing to the front door. But when he saw that it was only a wind blown umbrella tied to Uncle Wiggily's wrist the dog asked:

"Where is the bad inside outside that has you?"

"Here it is—my umbrella!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. And when Mr. Bow Wow had cut the string that fastened the inside outside umbrella to the bunny's paw, the dog and his wife also laughed. The bunny stayed in the kennel until the storm was over. Then he turned his umbrella outside in and hopped home.

And if the slice of bread doesn't try to go roller skating on the pound of butter, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's music box.

QUEBEC PREMIER RECEIVES ROSES

Birthday of Mr. Taschereau Observed By Both Parties.

IS CONGRATULATED.

QUEBEC, Que., April 7 (Canadian Press).—One of those incidents which sweeten and lessen the asperities of political life occurred here recently in the Legislature on the occasion of the 60th birthday of Hon. L. A. Taschereau, Premier of Quebec.

Arthur Sauve, leader of the Opposition, rose in his seat, to compliment the Premier, saying that the members of the Opposition wished to join with other members of the House in wishing long life and happiness to a distinguished compatriot of whom all Canadians might be proud. The Premier had reproached him so often that he was shy in paying him compliments, but he trusted that Mr. Taschereau would accept the testimony of a sincere heart in this matter, and he hoped that his health would long be spared to permit him to exercise his brilliant talents in the position which undoubtedly the future held for him.

The Premier said that he regretted that Mr. Sauve's birthday came in October when the House did not sit, but he would send him some roses next season, though he regretted that the number would be less, since Mr. Sauve was a younger man. He was convinced that he would find Mr. Sauve in the same place in the House next session, after the general election.

The Premier's desk was adorned with 60 brilliant red roses which had been presented to him at a dinner a short time before, the presentation being made by Hormisdas Pilon, Chief Liberal Whip.

TALK ON CANADA

Japanese to every 252 Whites, while to-day it was one Japanese to every 13 whites. The Japanese, whose increasing birth rate is so much larger than that of the Chinese, because they bring their women along with them, are agitating for social, commercial and political equality. They control the salmon fishing industry along the Fraser River, the berry-growing industry at Vancouver, and the hot-house trade at Victoria, besides controlling 50 per cent. of the grocery business in Vancouver.

The Maritimes, the provinces of Prince Edward Island, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, were spoken of next, and the many grievances which have been presented to the government recently in the Duncan report of a commission organized to learn of conditions in the Eastern provinces. A great complaint of the Maritimes is that the tide of immigration flows past their doors to the West, "but this has always been so," asserted the speaker. "It was to the waters of the Gulf of St. Lawrence, rather than to those of the Bay of Fundy, that even the earliest explorers of our land turned their keels."

Wealth in Maritimes.

The Maritimes abound in mineral wealth, they have abundance of fuel, great fishing grounds, fertile soil and wonderful educational opportunities. "An export duty on brain power" should be demanded by these Eastern portions of Dominion, said Mrs. Fallis, referring to the many great men that have come from the East to conquer other portions of the Dominion; also to the ever-present lure of the United States at their doors, which takes so many of their talented men from them.

"Separated by race and by language, Quebec stands alone in many respects. Quebec is not understood by those outside of the province. We must always remember, when thinking of Quebec, that every activity and every phase of its life is bound up with its religious system and faith. This was always so. The early explorers to Canada from France marked places with a cross. They took possession of the land, not only in the name of the King of France, but also in the name of a Heavenly King.

Quebec Holds People.

"The main object of Quebec is to keep her own people at home. Every bit of legislation is enacted with that end in view and she has been so successful in this regard that she has lost fewer people to the United States than any other province in the Dominion. Quebec is quite contented to sit back and watch the peoples of other lands passing by her gates and going through to the other parts of the Dominion. She does not lift a finger to stop them. She is determined to rear a Canadian citizenship of her own, realizing that one native Canadian is worth more than many European immigrants. Quebec is helped in building up her own citizenship for Canada by her Church, which is strong for the Biblical injunction that bids "be fruitful and multiply."

"We have one common basis with Quebec in our love for Canada. Quebec is not strong for England, nor even for France, but she has an intense and passionate love for the Dominion of Canada and is determined to build up a purely Canadian province and to keep her young people with her, if possible."

Speaking of Ontario last, "but not least," Mrs. Fallis said: "We are first in agricultural production, first in mineral output and first in manufacturing. From Ontario go men and women to the Atlantic and the Pacific who are doing to-day's work in the Dominion."

The speaker referred to the fascinating story of pioneer days in our own province and to the wonderful advantages gained for their children by the men and women who made countless sacrifices for coming generations.

Ontario's Great Asset.

One of the principal problems of Ontario was the reforestation question, the replenishing of depleted timber lands. Her greatest asset was in the wonderful portion of the province, New Ontario, four times the size of the older part, "with its fifty million acres of forest land stretching to James Bay." Here, "we are leading the world in the output of silver and leading Canada in output of gold and silver."

To help overcome the problems of the Dominion, the speaker advocated a fuller knowledge of its varying difficulties and a greater amount of travel through its many sections, also a spirit of compromise between each province and a willingness to learn from our neighbors.

"Men and women should realize that they are citizens of Canada first and of a province second. Provincial viewpoints should give way to a national outlook, and petty ideals be lost in the higher ideals of the greatest good for the greatest number."

A sincere vote of appreciation of Mrs. Fallis' address was voiced by Miss Archer and seconded by Mrs. J. H. Renwick.

ALL GROWING GIRLS

Require a Mother's Care and Constant Watchfulness.

In their early teens it is quite common for girls to outgrow their strength, and mothers should carefully watch the health of their daughters at this time, for it is when strength is sapped by too rapid growth that anaemia develops. The first signs may be noticed by peevishness, langour and headaches. The face grows pale, breathlessness and palpitation follow, with low spirits.

At the first symptoms of anaemia mothers should act at once. Neglected anaemia often leads to decline, but if you see that your daughter's blood is enriched there need be no cause for anxiety. The finest blood enricher ever discovered is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The pure, red blood created by these pills will quickly banish all signs of anaemia. DOCTORS ADVICE TO THE SICK

Wash Away All Poisons in Stomach, Liver, Kidney and Bowels Before Breakfast

To feel your best day in and day out, no more headaches, indigestion, gas on stomach, bilious attacks, rheumatism, kidney pains, bad breath, you must bathe your self inside. Start today by taking one Tanol Calomel tablet before meals or two at bedtime, then next morning drink a glass or two of hot water to wash from the stomach, liver, kidney and bowels all the previous day's waste, poison and toxins before more food is taken in. Get a few Tanol tablets from F. C. Weber, Charlotte street, Peterborough. They are harmless to take, do not nauseate, no bad after effects, no salts or seidlitz next morning, like ordinary calomel. Then you can eat better, sleep better, work better, think better and look better.

KOO RESIGNS OFFICE.

PEKING, April 7, Canadian Press.—Dr. V. K. Wellington Koo tendered his resignation as premier to-day to Marshal Chang Tso-Lin. It is reported that General Yang Yuting, Chang's chief advisor, will become Premier.

British Warships Withdraw.

LONDON, April 7 (United Press)—British warships have been withdrawn from the Yangtse River above Hankow, it was announced to-day in connection with the British decision to evacuate all up-river areas.

The Cabinet met in special session for the third time this week, and it was understood that all Ministers had been requested to remain within easy call of London during the Easter Parliamentary recess, commencing April 14th.

FRANCE AND ITALY JOIN.

LONDON, April 7. — United Press—The Ministers of France and Italy at Peking, have joined the negotiations in progress between the Japanese, British and United States ministers regarding the protest to be made to the Nationalists against last month's Nanking disorders, it was reliably indicated here to-day.

France apparently was supporting the Japanese view with respect to procedure, the United States was informed, and Italy was supporting Britain.

This left United States minister John Van A. MacMurray, holding the balance of power in the diplomatic discussions. The entrance of Italy and France into the negotiations was expected further to delay the delivery of a protest. These two countries, it was explained, had decided to participate when belated reports from Nanking said French and Italian lives had been lost.

Soviet Stand Discussed

LONDON, April 7 (Canadian Press).—Diplomatic circles in London were speculating today on the likely consequences of yesterday's raid on the Russian Embassy in Peking. It is rumored that strong action might be taken, including possibly the Soviet's treating the incident as an act of war and demanding reparation. The Westminster Gazette's correspondent says the raid was ordered because of the discovery of a plot against the Peking Government, which was to coincide with the expected Cantonese advance on Peking. The staff of an agitatist newspaper, bombs, red flags, propaganda leaflets, machine guns and other weapons are reported to have been seized by Chang Tso-Lin's men.

Worse at Hankow.

SHANGHAI, April 7 (Canadian Press).—"Situation growing worse steadily," was the wireless report received here today from Hankow, where riotous anti-foreign outbreaks occurred in the past few days. From all accounts, lawlessness in Hankow is increasing, with apparently no effort to check it. Japanese are leaving Hankow in large numbers; a hundred Germans are trying to get a steamer to take them away, and Russians are preparing to leave. At Ichang, further up the river, a hundred Japanese have been taken aboard gunboats because of threatening situation.

PAGEANT COSTUMES WELL UNDER WAY

Other Preparations For Y.W. C.A. Display Are Well Advanced.

The costumes for the big Pageant of the Young Women's Christian Association, which will be presented in the Grand Opera Hose on the 29th and 30th of this month are well under way. A corps of willing lady workers is busily engaged during daylight hours in the downstair room at the work of cutting, basting, stitching and finishing the various brightly-colored garments which will go toward making up the colorful ensemble of this year's show.

Although the programme contains much of interest in the way of physical exercises and promises to be of greater interest than usual this year in the extent of its demonstration of drills of many type, including difficult 'pyramid' Swedish gymnastics, club-swinging by seven lines of girls, rhythmic work for the Babies' Class, wand and reed drills and dumbell exercises, still the dances remain as one of the most enjoyable portions of the yearly programme. It is the costumes for these that engage so much attention, so many hundreds of yards of material and so much careful planning.

"The Secret of the Rose," one of the big interpretive numbers, has joyous frocks of rose and green, and there is plenty of quaint old-fashioned charm in the little blue flowered chints frocks of the tiny babies in the "Happy Dance," which sees them in high-waisted gowns with big flower-ed poke bonnets and frilled white pantalettes.

The "Russian Gypsy" number is dressed in orange and blue and red with bright headpieces and be-ribboned tambourines, and the Balloon dance which forms the grand finale is done in bright gold mull, with balloons of varied colors.

The "Pierrots" who portray the infatuation of the unhappy Pierrot for the hard-hearted Columbine, in love with Harlequin, wear black suits with huge white neck ruffs and white pompoms. A Grecian dance has a costuming of many-tinted voile, and the "Frolic" waltz is done in pastel combinations of mauve, green and yellow, while a character dance in comic mood is "The Sergeant-Major and the Cook," a pantomime of white-gowned cooks and blue and red soldiers.

The "Happy Dance" for the tiny babies is a blithesome affair in which the small things take great delight. From two to six years in age are the members of this class, and they go through their number with great enjoyment. It illustrates in funny style, with about seventy-five children taking part, some of the Mother Goose rhymes and the adventures of Milne's little child hero, "Christopher Robin."

Senators And Bruins Play In N.H.L. Finals At Boston

HUGE DEMAND FOR SEATS AT N.H.L. FINALS

More Than 30,000 Applications For Seats Received By Management.

9,000 CAPACITY.

Bruins Basing Their Hopes For Win on Physical Fitness.

BOSTON, Mass, April 7 (A.P.)—Boston was the world's hockey capital last night as followers of the ice game flocked to this city for the opening game of the five-game series for the Stanley Cup, emblematic of the world's profesional hockey championship. The Boston Bruins and the Ottawa Senators, who emerged finalists from a long and arduous elimination series, will meet at the Boston Arena tonight and Saturday. Then play will shift to the Senators home city.

More than 30,000 applications for seats were received by the Boston management for the games here. Less than one third of these can be satisfied by the Arena's seating capacity of 7,000, and room for 2,000 standees. Seats have been reserved for a Canadian cheering section which will arrive with the Ottawa team.

Both teams are made up of veterans, all but three of the Bruins having played in Stanley Cup series. Ottawa, with half a dozen of the players now on her roster, won the trophy in 1923. The cup, presented in 1893 by Lord Stanley of Preston, a former Governor-General of Canada, was won last year by the Montreal Maroons.

The Bruins, who escaped with only minor casualties from a fiercely fought semi-final series with the New York Rangers, expresed confidence of their ability to wear down the stubborn Ottawa defence and bring to Boston its first world's hockey championship. Followers of the game here give the Bruins an even chance to win the three games necessary for cup honors.

Appear Confident

BOSTON, Mass., April 7 (Canadian Press). — The Boston Bruins last night appeared confidently to put their sheer power against the cool skill of the Ottawa Senators in a world's championship hockey series. Basing their hopes on the physical fitness that enabled them to wear down the New York Rangers in one of the most rugged elimination series ever played on ice, the Bruins expressed belief that they could break down the tight defensive style of the Canadian division champions to win three contests in a five game series. Boston followers of the game conceded them at least an even chance for Stanley Cup honors.

Out of that last fierce struggle in New York Monday night when they defeated the Rangers in a game marked by twenty-seven penalties, by 6 to 1, the Bruins emerged with only minor injuries. Most of the players are plentifully covered with bruises as souvenirs of the battle, and Lionel Hitchman, defence man, has six stitches in his feet and legs as the result of skate cuts. Every man on the squad is ready for action, and will see it in the series.

Although this is the first time a Boston team has reached a Stanley Cup series, the Bruins are no novices in big money play. All but three men on the roster have played in a world's final. These three are Galbraith, a great defensive wing; Sailor Herberts, who joined the Bruins from amateur ranks, and Ernie Shore, the huskiest defence man on the squad. Sprague Cleghorn and Billy Boucher, formerly with the Canadiens, have played in five championship series. Frank Frederickson, the big Icelander whose work at centre turned the tide for the Bruins this year, played with the Victoria Cougars in two series. Winkler, the goalie; Hitchman, Oliver, and Stuart and the other bad their baptism in previous seasons.

More than 30,000 applications for reservations in the Arena where games will be played tonight and Saturday, have been received. Less than nine thousand can be accommodated at each game. Room has been kept, however, for several score Canadian rooters who will accompany the team from Ottawa. The Senators arrived here this morning.

"The Ottawa style" of conservative scoring and tight defence has always been a hard nut for the Bruins to crack. President Charles F. Adams of the Bruins said last night he hoped the Boston club now had the key to the mystery. "The Ottawa team," he said, "is a worthy foe and a dangerous one. Their advantage, if any, lies not in individual ability, but on their well-rounded-out defence team play. But if there is any team in the National Hockey League which is able to solve the Ottawa problem and beat the Senators, I believe that team is the Boston Bruins."

The Bruins will start the team that played against the Rangers.

Probable lineups:

Boston.—Winkler, goal; Shore and Hitchman, defence; Frederickson, centre; Oliver and Galbraith, wings.

Ottawa.—Connell, goal; Boucher and Clancy, defence; Nighbor, centre; Denneny and H. Smith, wings.

CARDS CONFIDENT OF WINNING RACE

All Players Have Firm Belief They Are Going To Win.

By BOB O'FARRELL
Manager of the St. Louis Cardinals.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 7.—"We are approaching the opening of the National League season, with the firm belief that we are going to win the pennant. That is not alone a personal conviction of mine."

"The players are all sure of it."

"We feel that we have a much stronger club than the one which won the pennant last year, and that no opposition club has been improved as much."

"We will be stronger in the outfield with Blades and Hafey back in condition, with Frisch at second base, with Alexander and Ring on the pitching staff and Snyder behind the bat."

"I am not taking any credit away from Hornsby's ability, but I feel that in Frisch we have no equal as a fielder, even though he is not as long a hitter."

"Alexander wasn't with us all season last year, and he will start this season, and the old fellow is in great shape.

"The spirit of the club is splendid, and I dont' know of one weakness there is to correct."

C. C. PYLE ON HOCKEY

Los Angeles Paper Says He Is Going To Import Players Wholesale.

POST SEASON SERIES.

TORONTO, April 7. — A Los Angeles paper of last Thursday says: "Completing plans for staging a high-powered series of big league hockey games here for the edification of local fans, Charles C. Pyle, whose latest enterprise is the Winter Garden ice rink, recently closed negotiations with Les Canadiens of Montreal, the Chicago Black Hawks and the New York American league ice hockey teams for a trip west to stage a post season series.

"These squads will be brought west and consolidated into two teams in the local league for next season. When the eastern play off for this year's championship has been concluded they will be consolidated into one squad to meet the winner of the title.

"The squads who will play off for the American league are the Rangers and Blackhawks. Ottawa and Les Canadiens are battling for the Canadian title, and the winners of the two leagues will tangle for the title.

"With these arrangements completed by Pyle the stage is set for a record ice hockey season. Local fans have been completely won over by the "world's fastest game," and the appearance of the big league squads will give it added impetus."

GEORGES WILLING TO FIGHT DELANEY

Says Stage Work Won't Keep Him From the Boxing Ring.

PARIS, April 7.—Georges Carpentier is willing to fight Jack Delaney.

"I certainly will accept a bout with Jack Delaney," said Georges to L'Auto, which inquired of him concerning a report that Floyd Fitzsimmons, of Detroit, had made him an offer to meet the light heavyweight champion.

"The fact that I am going to act in a music hall does not imply that I shall not box any more. Even if I succeed on the stage, I shall fight again. You may be certain of that. And my return to the ring will be in the United States next season."

The ex-champion recently has been rehearsing a song and dance act with Aileen Hamilton and Florence Walton in a new revue. He will make his debut next Saturday. He comports himself with the grace and ease of an old stager.

DECLARES TUNNEY IS ALREADY SIGNED

New York News Quotes an Insider on Fight Ballyhoo.

NEW YORK, April 7.—The New York Daily News quotes a "Broadway informant" as saying that Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney already have been signed by Tex Rickard for a return bout this summer, the fight having been "in the bag" ever since Tunney won the heavyweight championship at Philadelphia, last September.

"You can take that for what it's worth," says the newspaper, "but the fact remains that Tunney has been going out of his way to boost Dempsey.'

In regard to the elimination tournament, conducted by Rickard, the Daily News says that the promoters know Jim Maloney and Jack Sharkey "will draw plenty of money as long as the well-organized ballyhoo that the winner may meet Tunney is sustained."

Senators Are Confident They Will Come First in N.H.L. Finals.

OTTAWA, Ont., April 8.—Ottawa Senators, who meet Boston Bruins in Boston on Thursday and Saturday in the first games of the National Hockey League finals, left for the American city yesterday afternoon. Every member of the Senators team came through the international division finals with Canadiens without mishap, and while they expect a strenuous part games in Boston, are confident they will come back home for the third game at least on even terms with the Rossmen.

During the regular N.H.L. season Bruins and Senators played four games, of which Ottawa won three, one in Boston and two here.

Mrs. Reynolds of Bethany, who has been nursing Mrs. Goheen, Sr., who has been laid up with a broken leg had the misfortune to fall and break her own leg on Saturday and was taken to Peterborough for treatment.

Mr. Bruce Fiske left last week for the Northwest, where he is going to work during the summer months.

Mr. James Connell went to Collingwood on Sunday to attend the funeral of his sister, Mrs. Richard Baker, of that town.

Mr. Richard Staples is still in a serious condition and is not showing improvement.

Special services were held in the United church on Sunday, the Rev. Archer Wallace of Toronto being the speaker for the occasion. His text in the afternoon service was Prov. 29:18, and in the evening his topic was "An Ideal Christian." Both services were of an excellent character. Special music was rendered by the choir and the evening feature was a duet, "I Shall Not Want", taken by Mrs. Albert McMahon and Miss Iva Shaw.

Rev. A. J. Terrill motored to Colborne on Saturday and took the services there on Sunday.

Mrs. James Richardson is under the doctor's care.

By all appearance Pontypool will have team in football and baseball leagues and no doubt the girls will soon organize their softball team. These teams deserve the support of all good citizens, which goes a long way to make the teams better.

TALKS BY RADIO TO AUSTRALIA

Toronto University Engineering Student Exchanges Messages.

ON SHORT WAVES.

TORONTO, April 7.—Direct two-way communication with Melbourne, Australia, which is 10,366 miles distant from Toronto, has been attained by the short-wave transmitter of the Department of Electrical Engineering of the University of Toronto. The accomplishment was quite remarkable on account of the unusually long and untuned antenna used in the communication. The latter proved quite effective.

The messages were exchanged with F. J. Adams, who resides in Brighton, a suburb of Melbourne, Australia, by J. F. Hill, an engineering student, and were in the Morse code. A total of 170 words in all was received by the local station. The Australian station was using 95 watts and transmitting on a wave-length of about 33 metres, while the university station was using about 250 watts and a somewhat longer wave-length.

A peculiar feature of the performance was that, owing to the short antenna here, intended for use on short waves, being out of service temporarily, an antenna one thousand feet in length was used. The power used here was altered several times, and each time a report was received from Mr. Adams as to the effect on the strength of the signals.

The department is in charge of Dr. T. R. Rosebrugh, Professor of Electrical Engineering.

CHOIR CONCERT TO BE BEST YET

This Year's Presentation Promises To Eclipse All Former Programmes.

VARIED OFFERINGS.

Those who have purchased tickets for the Male Voice Choir concert tomorrow (Friday) evening are reminded that the tickets should be exchanged at the box office prior to the performance.

There are only a few tickets remaining unsold, and these, it is fairly certain, will all be disposed of before the doors are open.

Martin B. Chenhall, conductor, has written a lovely melody for "Lead, Kindly Light," which is based on the old tune, and this will be included in the programme.

Altogether the choir's annual concert to-morrow promises to eclipse all its predecessors in point of excellence and popularity. It will be a musical treat not to be missed.

The assisting artists, Madame Edith Holland, contralto, of Toronto, and Merlin Davies, Canadian-Welsh tenor, of Montreal, are sure of a warm welcome from a crowded house.

The programme has been arranged with an eye to variation and pleasing atmosphere. The Choir sings both massive and humorous numbers, with several enjoyable descriptive effects included in the programme. They open with "Strike the Lyre" and "Come to the Fair," the latter a popular number of the English folk song type. "Murmuring Zephyrs" and "Machushla" follow, with a heavy offering in "The Hebrew Captives" and a humorous trio in "But—They Didn't," "A Tragic Story," and "A Chilly Serenade," two reverent numbers in the "Hallelujah Chorus" and "Lead, Kindly Light," and a finale in an excerpt from "Lucia di Lammermoor."

Madame Holland's programme of contralto songs includes the lovely "Trees" song, Chaminade's "By the Shore" and del Riego's "Sink, Red Sun," also "O Don Fatale" from the opera, "Don Carlos." Merlin Davies, the visiting tenor, sings "I Shot an Arrow into the Air," "Danny Boy," "Sylvia," and two operatic selections, "Total Eclipse" from "Samson," and "In Native Worth" from "The Creation."

The Choir, assisted by Madame Holland, will give the "Volga Boat Song" and "The Beautiful Ship from Toyland."

CORSET DISPLAY WELL ATTENDED

Many Ladies Present To See Latest Modes at Hall Store.

A very interesting Revue of Gossard corsets and of the "Woods Lavender" line of underwear was given in the Richard Hall store yesterday afternoon, with a large attendance of ladies, all of whom appeared to be very much pleased with the showing of fine garments, given under personal direction of Mrs. E. Lillian Gibbons, of the Canadian H. W. Gossard Company, and displayed on three living models of the large, medium and small type, who modeled the various corsets and articles of lingerie in fine style. A little "Miss Lavender" in orchid frock and bonnet, distributed lavender sachets at the entrance.

The showing of corsets and their variations included the "wrap around," garment of lesser boning than the ordinary corset, the "step-in" which comes in slip over the head style or with side fastenings, and the "complete," a modern adaptation which gives extraordinary freedom to the figure and still has a bracing and confining effect. Brassieres were also shown, and there were several models for youthful figures which elicited much appreciative comment. These were combinations of light brassieres and step-in garments with very little boning, made of smooth, perfectly-fitting satin brocade. One attractive set was in "panty" effect, of lace with net reinforcement, carried out in the peach shade which alternated with pink in the various models.

The "completes," or combination garments were in light and heavy weight, with special attention to women of full figure, and were designed to give the greatest amount of comfort and ease while confining the flesh to graceful lines. The long lines of the mode were carried out in the various models, with variations in side and front fastenings, in "saddleback" styles and in hem-stitched elastic, for summer, which alternated with models of heavier weight materials. Abdominal belts were also shown.

The exhibit of lingerie included kimonas and negligees, dainty pyjama suits, and French hand-made things in step-ins, nightgowns, slips, bloomers and vests, in the colors of the moment, peach, orchid, gooseberry (a modification of dark and emerald green) and sugar-cane (dull apricot.' They were displayed to much advantage against a background of heavy black curtains with tall standards of artificial flowers to give a touch of brightness.

PAPERS RECEIVE CUT IN POSTAGE

House Gives Third Reading To Bill Reducing Rate To One Cent.

AID FOR MAGAZINES.

OTTAWA, April 7. — (Canadian Press.)—The bill which reduces postage on newspapers from 1 1-2 to one cent a pound was given third reading in the House of Commons early this afternoon following a lengthy discussion in committee. A request from smaller papers for a zoning system whereby publications carried long distances would pay heavier rates than those distributed within an area, was declared by the Postmaster-General not to be feasible in a country like Canada. He promised thorough consideration of the question.

The Post Office Department during the recess will go carefully into the question of giving Canadian magazines and periodicals some protection against the influx of United States' publications. Hon. P. J. Veniot, Postmaster-General, announced during the discussion. The officers of his department, he said, would endeavor to initiate some plan to submit to the next session to meet the demands of Canadian publishers.

MICHIGAN HOUSE FAVORS WHIPPING

Lash For Bank Robbers Opposed By Only Six Members.

LANSING, Mich., April 7.—The whipping post for bank robbers and other felons in Michigan, yesterday received the approval of the House of Representatives, by an almost unanimous vote. It is considered probable the Senate will concur.

The issue was brought to an unexpected vote when Representative Culver, of Detroit, proposed an amendment to the Watson bill, abolishing indeterminate sentences for bank robbers and forcing judges to sentence them to fixed terms. Culver's amendment asked that bank robbers be given "from 10 to 20 strokes of the lash, well laid on," every six months up to 300 strokes. The lash would be applied by the warden or deputy warden of the penitentiary. The amendment carried with only six dissenting votes.

MANY FEATURES TO BE INCLUDED IN PROCESSION

Jubilee Parade Will Combine Education and Amusement.

HISTORICAL FLOATS.

Episodes of History and Development of Canada To Be Portrayed.

Amusement and education, figures of history and representations of present day activities will be included in the parade which is to be an important part of Peterborough's celebration of Canada's Diamond Jubilee. The parade committee, under the chairmanship of Dr. J. J. Craig, met last night and, after considering many suggestions, fixed roughly what would be included in this item of the programme.

Floats will be depended on to provide the historical and educational part to a great extent. There will be pageants representing Indian life, and the arrival of early explorers and settlers. Canada's national resources and basic industries will be exemplified. The Dominion, the Empire, and the Provinces are to be represented.

On the side of amusement, it was suggested that characters from fairy tales, clowns, etc., would prove interesting to young and old. This part could be carried out to a great extent by the children.

Then, of course, there will be soldiers, boy scouts, cadets, girl guides, children from schools bearing their scholastic banners and colors, lodges, automobiles; in fact, all the rank and file of the city and the surrounding district is to have an opportunity to take part.

Ways and means of putting on the various historic floats were discussed and it was finally decided that various societies, factories, stores, etc., be approached and asked to look after one each. The heraldic ones for the nine provinces, will be awarded nine ladies' societies.

Canada's Resources.

Local firms whose products are derived from or used in the basic industries, such as agriculture, lumbering, mining, fishing and trapping will have a double opportunity; first to portray the greatness of Canada's resources, and secondly to set forth the industrial development of Canada which assists in making these resources more profitable and useful.

The presentation of historic scenes, from the arrival of Columbus to the Fathers of Confederation, will be left in the hands of various male organizations, the Knights of Columbus having started the ball rolling by suggesting that they look after the arrival of their illustrious namesake.

Apportionment of these floats among the different organizations which are to be asked to take charge of them will be done at a meeting of a sub-committee which will meet early next week, so that there will be nearly three months for preparation, which should enable those responsible to perfect their arrangements. The question of cost of these floats was raised by Mrs. Lynch. No definite figures could be given, R. H. Turner explaining that it would depend upon those in charge, as some people would get up elaborate and accurate portrayals of various scenes at very little cost, while others would wish to go to more expense.

The Comic Section.

A. J. Reynolds suggested that, while this will be the back bone of the parade, the funny bone should not be forgotten, and he suggested that Mr. Turner should head a subcommittee to take charge of the

COUNCIL SEEKS MARKET RULING

Property Committee To Take No Action in Amending By-law at Present.

At the meeting of the Property Committee last night the market by-law came up for discussion but the aldermen decided to take no action at present until the city solicitor got information as to the regulation of sale on the market of certain articles which the committee was of the opinion should not be sold there.

The Mayor and Alderman Green complained about the action of the ash collectors dumping ashes wherever people desired them to do so. They said that the city was paying these men to collect the ashes and that there was plenty of city property which required to be filled up.

The committee will recommend to the City Trust that the steam piping in part of the city buildings be repaired.

Doubts Prayer Value In Skirt Lengthening

MANCHESTER Eng., April 8 (AP)—A special prayer meeting to bring about a lengthening of women's skirts has been suggested in a letter received by the Rev. W. Russell Maltby, president of the Wesleyan Methodist Conference.

The Rev. Mr. Maltby made this known at the annual meeting yesterday of the Wesleyan Methodist Missionary Society, saying: "A correspondent has written me suggesting that I confer with the Archbishop of Canterbury to arrange for a special prayer meeting for lengthening women's skirts.

"But," he added, "I have no intention of complying with the request, because I am sure women know their own minds best."

TO LEVEL TRACK AT FAIR GROUND

Board Will Hold Bee on Monday, at Which All Will Be Welcome.

TO HELP JUBILEE.

Plans for a bigger and better exhibition than ever were advanced another step last night, when the committees reported that the prize list was in the hands of the printers and that proofs might be expected shortly.

A marked example of the spirit which brings together this body of farmers and city men to spend long hours in planning and managing the annual fair was shown when a call was made for volunteers. It is planned to hold a bee at the grounds on Monday and Tuesday of next week for the purpose of levelling off the track and taking out the sod along the edges, where it is encroaching too far. The use of two graders, one from the City and one from Smith Township, with possibly another from the Suburban Roads Commission, has been promised, and a number of those present were quick to offer the use of a team for one or both days. A tractor was also promised, while city men present expressed their willingness to go down and renew acquaintances with the handles of ploughs and scrapers. There is room for more, however, than the directors themselves, so that others who might be able to give a day's work with team and plough will be welcomed; in fact Jack Gillespie, whose phone number is 2035-M, is anxious to hear from a few. A promise of hot coffee at the noon hour was made by T. H. Hooper.

The board accepted responsibility for the selling and taking of tickets, etc., for the doings on Dominion Day which are held on the grounds. Members of the board are also supervising the placing of booths, putting the experience gained from managing the fair at the service of the Dominion Day Celebration Committee.

Membership in the World's Poultry Congress, which meets in Ottawa in July, was taken for the board at the suggestion of George Paxman.

Coupled with the murder charge is an additional charge of wounding three men on the same occasion.

GREAT BRITAIN WILL NOT SEVER RELATIONS WITH SOVIET RUSSIA

Indicated By Foreign Secretary Chamberlain in Speech at Birmingham.

HAS CLEAR RIGHT.

Reluctant To Introduce Disturbing Element in a World Needing Peace.

LONDON, April 8 (Associated Press).—That there is no present prospect of Great Britain breaking off diplomatic relations with Soviet Russia was indicated by Foreign Secretary Chamberlain in a speech at Birmingham yesterday.

Sir Austen declared that, with the provocation which Russia has given her, Great Britain would have a clear right before the world to sever diplomatic relations. "Such a rupture would cost us nothing as a nation," he asserted, "but we are reluctant to introduce any disturbing element in a world needing peace."

This reluctance to sever relations, added the Foreign Secretary, "is not a mark of weakness but of strength. Our position is such that we can afford to tolerate and disregard outrages which no government has a right to inflict upon another government with which it wishes to remain in diplomatic relations."

(Discords in Anglo-Russian relations have arisen over many matters from time to time. Great Britain recently protested against alleged Soviet propagandist activities within the Empire).

Refrain Official Action.

LONDON, April 8 (Canadian Press).—Pending verified accounts concerning the raid in Peking by northern soldiers on buildings attached to the Soviet Embassy there, the Soviet Government is refraining from taking official action, says a Reuter despatch from Moscow.

The despatch says that a semi-official communique was issued yesterday stating that full details of the incident were not yet available.

On the night of April 6, the communique says the Foreign Commissiar sought information from the Chinese Charge in Moscow and from the Foreign Minister in Peking, but that no information had been forthcoming last night. It was still unclear, the communique added, whether the raid was ordered by the Chinese Government, by the local authorities or by the North ern generals Relations Unchanged.

PEKING, April 8 (Associated Press).—The relations between the Northern Government here and Soviet Russia as a result of Wednesday's raid under direction of Northern soldiers and police on buildings attached to the Soviet Embassy, last night, apparently had undergone no official change.

The situation however, was further complicated by the resignation of Dr. V. K. Wellington Koo, as acting Premier to Marshal Chang Tso Lin. Reports were circulated that General Yang Yu Ting, chief adviser to the Manchurian war lord, would become Premier.

(Although no explanation for the resignation was received from Peking, it was believed in London that little change in the political situation in North China was to be expected. Dr. Koo, it was said, was known to be a sympathizer of General Wu Pei Fu, who is a bitter enemy of Chang Tso Lin, who is now considered to be the real power behind both the military and political affairs of the Peking Government).

Had Drafted Protest.

Before the resignation of Dr. Wellington Koo was announced it was learned that, acting at Chang Tso Lin's request, he had drafted a protest to the Soviet Charge d'Affaires, accusing the Soviet Embassy of sheltering criminal plotters who were seeking to undermine the authority of the Government.

Although no official action ap-

This Literary Mystery Lands "Book Lover" In Jail

DETROIT, April 8—Because Fred Kernosky, 30 years old, described a book of poetry by the English poet Shelley as a "good adventure story" he is held on a charge of simple larceny.

Detective Lieuts. Andrew Roche and George F. Wilson observed Kernosky leaving a downtown store with an unwrapped book under his arm. They asked: "What have you there?"

"A first-class adventure story, boys, try it some time. I think you will like it," Kernosky replied.

"Come with us," chimed the detectives. "We'll try it right now."

SITUATION OF FOREIGNERS EASIER EXCEPT IN AREA AROUND HANKOW

Twenty-one Warships of Many Powers Now at Hankow.

PRECAUTIONS TAKEN.

British Views On Action Of Russia Toward Chang Differ.

SHANGHAI, April 8.— (Canadian Press.)—With the exception of Hankow, the seat of Cantonese Nationalist activities in the Yangtze Valley, where conditions are reported increasingly worse, and a general exodus of missionaries from the interior, the situation in China, as regards foreigners, appears slightly eased.

Twenty-one foreign warships, eight Japanese, six British, four United States, two French and one Italian, are now at Hankow. The respective naval commanders have reported that every precaution is being taken to prevent an outbreak such as occurred at Nanking. The evacuation of missionaries is nearing completion.

SOVIET PRESTIGE LOWERED

LONDON, April 8. (Unite Press.)—The raid by the Chinese authorities on the Soviet embassy at Peking, has caused a heavy drop in Russian prestige in London, and the question as to what action the union of Soveit republics will take in the matter, is being constantly discussed.

In Tory circles there is a tendency to believe that the effect of the raid will be to knock out some of the Russian truculence, and make it possible for Great Britain to deal with the Soviets on a better basis, and there are traces of this view point in the speech of Foreign Secretary Sir Austen Chamberlain against Russia last night.

Liberal newspapers like the Manchester Guardian, however, are emphasizing the unprecedented character of the act, and are stressing reports from Scandinavian that troops are being sent to Mongolia, and that a large transport of munitions has been made along the Siberian railroad.

MINISTERS ACT TOGETHER

PARIS, April 8. Canadian Press.—Ministers of Great Britain, the United States, France, Italy and Japan, have been instructed by their governments, says the French Foreign Office, to hand a joint note of protest to the Peking government against mistreatment of Nationals of their countries.

The note, presumably in consequence of the recent outbreak at Nanking, will threaten penalties, but will not be specific as to the form they will take, it is stated. While this is the first instance of concerted action by the powers, the French say it does not necessarily mean that joint punitive action will be taken. The phraseology of the note has not been determined but the various ministers will draft the term along general lines laid down by the foreign affairs department of the powers.

CHILDREN'S AID INSPECTOR HELD

H. W. Elliott, of Oshawa, Arrested on Several Serious Charges.

WIDELY KNOWN.

OSHAWA, April 8. — Word was received here yesterday afternoon from Toronto, that H. W. Elliott, Inspector of the Children's Aid Society here for many years and a prominent Oshawa citizen and church worker, had been arrested on five serious charges. Inspector Boyd of the Provincial police with the local officers have been conducting an investigation here for some days following numerous complaints about Mr. Elliott, and his arrest followed. The arrest was made by Provincial inspectors Stringer and Ward.

It is stated that all the offences he is charged with are against children and come under sections 202 and 206 of the Criminal code. The report is that Mr. Elliott was attending a conference of Children's Aid Society officers in Toronto yesterday when he was arrested. He is widely known as a children's aid official throughout the province.

Alderman Would Bar Peaches From Stage

CHICAGO, Apr. 8.—'Peaches' Browning, erstwhile star of New York's outstanding matrimonial drama, faced threat of official interference yesterday as she prepared for a cabaret dancing act scheduled to open next week.

Under a resolution introduced in the City Council by Alderman Donald S. McKinlay, the police would be asked to seek an injunction preventing her appearance.

McKinlay's resolution asserts that "the protection of the American home and youth demands that some restraint be placed on the public exhibition of persons who have taken such a leading part in a scandal."

ONTARIO BEFORE RAILWAY BOARD

Counsel Begins Argument For Ontario in Freight Rates Case.

PROVINCE "MILKED."

OTTAWA, Ont., April 8.—(Canadian Press.)—J. R. L. Starr, K.C., counsel for Ontario in the freight rates investigation before the Board of Railway Commissioners, began his argument in behalf of that province yesterday afternoon. Mr. Starr contended that the central provinces, Ontario and Quebec, and always been the "milch kine" and had been persistently and consistently "milked" in the cost of building and operating the transportation systems of the country and then penalized in the matter of rates.

He claimed that Western Canada had lower rates now on the vast bulk of the tonnage carried on the railways, that Eastern Canada provided most of the high grade tonnage and in fact originated considerably more than fifty per cent. of all totals except agricultural.

Submits Figures.

Counsel submitted some interesting figures which showed how closely traffic was proportionate to population, averaging about ten tons per head and approximately the same throughout Canada. Therefore, argued Mr. Starr, the west cannot hope to catch up in the matter of traffic until she had caught up in population.

At considerable length, counsel analyzed the exhibits on file to show how, by his interpretation, the east had had the worst of it right along. Instead of the west suffering it should be rejoicing, concluded Mr. Starr.

Heard Evidence.

The Board up to the present has heard representatives from Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba who have spent considerable time in marshalling the voluminous evidence before the commissioners. The ultimate conclusion of the counsel of each province so far has been the same, in that the present freight rates were discriminatory against their different provinces and giving undue advantage to each and all of the sister provinces. On one point there was unanimity and that was, that Eastern Canada had lower rates on all classes of traffic and that the present rate structure permitted eastern shippers to enter the western markets on terms which placed a substantial handicap on local traders, crowding them in their own natural market.

Black Cat Bums "Lift" Rides 48 Hours On Rods

CHICAGO, April 8 (AP)—Riding the trucks of a crack Union Pacific passenger train the first transcontinental tramp cat arrived in Chicago yesterday. The animal boarded the train at Ogden, Utah, or some point west of there, and refused to leave its berth on the trucks, until the run was completed.

Its jet black coat was gray with dust when a porter took it in charge at the Union Pacific station. "Black cat, come home with me," he said, "you're no hoodoo."

First official notice of the cat's presence was taken when the conductor wired C. J. Collins, general passenger agent at Omaha, it was riding the car "Mesquite." "Although twice removed, it promptly crawls back to its berth," the conductor wired. "Having no religious scruples or superstition, am allowing it to remain there to its unknown destination."

The cat was fed enroute by passengers who took pictures of it on its precarious perch. The animal had been on the truck more than 48 hours.

CANAL MINISTER MAY BE INVITED TO VISIT TRENT

Unable To Meet Deputation From Central Ontario.

AN ALTERNATIVE.

Suggestion That Hon. Chas. Dunning Come In Summer.

HASTINGS, April 8. — Either a deputation from the Trent Waterways Development Association will go to Ottawa on April 20th, to urge the completion of the Trent Canal, or the Hon. Charles Dunning, Minister of Railways and Canals, will be invited to the Trent some time this summer.

Mr. Frank Stinson, of Peterboro, secretary of the Association, received word from Ottawa yesterday that Mr. Dunning would be unable to meet a deputation this session, but it was suggested that the Deputy-Minister would receive the Trent Valley delegation. This announcement did not arouse an encouragement among officer of the Association. Their trip to Ottawa was contemplated chiefly as a "missionary" effort, and not in the hope that the completion of the canal would be sanctioned or laid down this year.

Walter Fowlds, president of the Association, desired to enlist the interest of the Minister in the removal of the last barrier in the Trent Canal. It was Hon. Mr. Dunning, and not his Deputy, who was sought for an interview.

Late Thursday afternoon Mr. Stinson asked J. J. Duffus and G. N. Gordon for their opinions. Mr. Duffus proposed the abandonment of the trip to Ottawa, and said that Mr. Dunning might visit the Canal and make a trip from Peterboro or Lakefield to Oak Orchard or some other Kawartha resort, where the Minister could meet a thoroughly representative gathering of citizens from both the western and eastern sections of the canal.

Mr. Fowlds has not been entirely disposed to the Ottawa trip. He believed the Government should be approached this year, and to that end he has sounded members of the executive, and others.

It is unlikely that they would go to Ottawa merely to meet the Deputy Minister.

Mr. Fowlds and Mr. Stinson were to discuss to-day the reply from Ottawa, and it is probable that they will fall in with the plan of inviting Hon. Mr. Dunning to the Trent this summer. Such an occasion would enable the Minister to see part at least of one of the canals under his control, and would provide plenty of time for the Association to present their request, for the early completion of the canal.

Meanwhile Mr. Fowlds is eager to obtain from the Quaker Oats Company or other industries some assurance that they will use the canal if it is opened at the Georgian Bay end. The president of the Trent Association recognizes that promises of that kind would impress the Minister if the tourist traffic considerations are not in themselves sufficient.

Farmers at Work.

Among the first farmers at work on the land this week were W. H. Covert, Dan Smith, Jos. Trotter and Percy Parker.

Last year saw an exceptionally backward spring. A newspaper clipping in J. J. Collins' office, recording the beginning of farm work in Lambton County, shows that May 5 was the opening of agricultural operations. It was the latest start since 1893. The earliest was March 20th.

Mr. Grigg of Roseneath said the average for the district was about April 20th.

W. H. Covert has bought a horse from Gilbert Ireland.

Ontario Deputy Minister Resigns

TORONTO, April 8 (Canadian Press).—Resignation of Dr. Peter Bryce, Deputy Minister of Health for Ontario, was announced to-day by Premier Ferguson. Dr. Bryce has been in the service of the province for 30 years.

City Should Deal With Premier As Representing Real Owners; Has Good Case for Presentation

The City Council would be well advised to deal directly with Premier Ferguson, who represents the Ontario Government, the real owners of the street railway, gas plant and power developments, and not with the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, which is simply an autocratic manager and recently a very high-handed one at that.

Premier Ferguson must assume the full responsibility for its high-handed acts. It is his Government that appoints its members and can discharge them as well. If the members of this Commission are not dealing with this city on a satisfactory basis and acceding to our just demands, then the blame will, when the proper time arrives, be meted out to Premier Ferguson and his supporter, Mr. W. H. Bradburn, M.P.P.

Now at this stage it would be grossly unfair to cast any blame whatever on Premier Ferguson, for as a matter of fact, there is no public record, that I am aware of that shows that our City Council has made any representation to Premier Ferguson respecting the closing down of the street railway, the increasing prices charged for gas and the abnormal increase in the wholesale cost of electric power. The same cannot be said of Mr. W. H. Bradburn, M.P.P., because he is on the ground and knows all about it, but even he might justly say, that the City Council never asked him to intervene in the matter, nor even to introduce the Council as a deputation to wait on the Premier to make representations, of which the following is a summary:

Hon. G. H. Ferguson, Premier of the Province of Ontario:

1.—On March 10th, 1916, you, as Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines entered into an agreement with the Electric Power Company on behalf of the Ontario Government to purchase our street railway, gas plant, and power plants supplying this city with electric power. Later on you appointed the Hydro Commission as manager of these utilities, and a sorry mess your manager has made of every one of them.

2.—Your manager found the street railway paying its way under private ownership, but now it is claimed that it is losing $50,000.00 per year. The cost of power to the street railway under private ownership was about $20.00 per horse-power per annum, whereas it is now $56.48 per horse-power, an increase of $36.48 per horse-power, which your manager claims is "Power at cost." The railway is now closed down and thousands of those that voted for your candidate are forced to walk and eat cold meals from their dinner pails.

3.—Your manager found the gas plant selling gas to consumers at a reasonable price, but under its management, the price of gas has more than doubled with the result, that many supporters of your candidate have been forced to discontinue the use of gas or curtail its use, with consequent loss. The present price is $2.15 per 1,000 cubic feet less a discount of 25 cents. Toronto used to consider 80 cent gas highway robbery by the Toronto Consumers Gas Company. Your manager has lost the sale of nearly 10,000,000 cubic feet of gas in two years, has raised the rates, and is making it a losing proposition like the Cobourg gas works, and heading for a closed-down one, like Napanee.

4.—The wholesale cost of power has increase from $17.00 per h.p. to $28.12 per h.p. since your manager has taken charge. No sinking fund is provided otherwise the cost would be greater, but without a sinking fund this city can only look forward to your manager's promises being broken, increased prices, and regrets that your manager ever came to town.

5.—Now, what is the remedy? Let the ratepayers of this city be given the opportunity to take over the street railway at a scrap price, the gas plant at a price that will justify gas being sold under existing conditions at $1.00 per 1,000 cubic feet and the Auburn plant and northern dams so that the wholesale cost of power to this city will be $6.50 per horse-power less than is now being paid. No doubt better results may be accomplished after full investigation. If the City Council and the ratepayers do not accept, then a private syndicate will do better and give a 21-year contract for the wholesale cost of power and take all risks, at less cost, better street car service, and cheaper gas.

6.—Since your manager has been in charge our growth in population has been slow, but our assessments have increased and our tax bills have more than doubled.

7.—And finally, Mr. Premier Ferguson, we beg to assure you that after the dams to the north of this city have been developed by the city or its nominee and Auburn dam is purchased from your Government at cost, you will have available to sell to the cities, towns and hamlets on the lake front upwards of 5,000 surplus h.p., and we will still keep up a working and synchronizing arrangement to help each other in time of accident, and we will be to you and your supporter ever kind.

These hints are handed on to the City Council to show that this City has a good case, and has many strings to pull this city on to solid ground to attract new industries.

SCOTTISH FIRMS DEVISED PLAN FOR EVADING CANADIAN CUSTOMS

Royal Commission Given Light On Practice From Two Sources.

"COOK INVOICES."

Evidence Given Exporters, No Canadian Importers Profited Through Practice.

TORONTO, April 8 (Canadian Press).—Evidence presented to the Royal Customs Commission yesterday indicated that certain manufacturers of granite tombstones in the City of Aberdeen, Scotland, devised and practiced a plan for beating the Canadian Customs. The Commission was given light on the practice from two sources. First, Special Customs Preventive Officer Charles B. Alexander, described a number of "pro forma seizures which were made at the premises of Ontario monument manufacturing firms on the ground of undervaluation and false invoices for importations from Scotland. Second, the representatives of a number of the firms in question appeared during the afternoon and explained that it was the Aberdeen exporters who had profited through the practice, and not the Canadian importers.

William R. Edwards, of Edwards and Powell, Toronto monument manufacturers, informed the commissioners that he had been shown a letter from John Third and Son, of Aberdeen, to their agent here which stated that "pretty nearly all the Aberdeen firms are cooking their invoices. John Third and Son figured prominently in the testimony yesterday as one of the Scottish exporters who shipped granite tombstones into Ontario.

According to evidence, the process adopted for beating the customs involved the use of two invoices. One of these invoices stated the real value of the importation. This went to the importer in Canada who was required to remit to the Aberdeen firm for the importation. The other invoice was for submission to the Customs, and this invoice stated a lower valuation for duty purposes. As the agreement between the Canadian importers and the Aberdeen firm provided that the latter should pay the duty, the practice of undervaluing the tomb-stones for duty purposes, resulted in a saving to the Scottish firms. The amounts of undervaluation involved, over a period of years, were considerable.

Monument manufacturers who took the stand and explained that they had not profited in any way from the process of undervaluation were M. G. Wardell, of the Wardell Monument Works, Toronto; James Smith, of the Smith Monument Company, Toronto; Arthur Doan, of Doan and Panther, St. Thomas; Charles Wilcox, of the Wilcox Granite Company, Hamilton, and William R. Edwards, of the Toronto firm of Edwards and Powell. There will be further inquiry into the case today.

The Commission was given an opportunity yesterday to hear a United States Customs oficer when Harry W. Smith, Assistant Collector of Customs for Buffalo district, gave evidence in regard to ports of entry on Lake Ontario and Lake Erie. Mr. Smith stated to the Commission that ports of entry in the United States were designated as such, and that vessels could not enter ports which were not so designated. He was asked by Hon. N. W. Rowell, K.C., counsel for the Commission, whether a number of the ports for which liquor-running boats from Toronto clear with their cargoes, were ports of entry. He said that Wilson, N.Y., and Olcott, N.Y., were not ports of entry, and that Oswego, Youngstown and Erie were ports of entry. All of these places have been given as destinations by Canadian rum-runners.

"I think it is safe to assume that these vessels never went to the places for which they cleared," interjected Chief Commissioner Brown.

Just before adjournment, Mike Bernardo, a Toronto garage owner, was called to tell what he knew about the cruises of the yacht "Allen," the property of one Sullivan, in New York. This vessel was seized at Montreal some years ago with liquor from St. Pierre-Miquelon, which, according to counsel, had not paid duty. The yacht sometimes came to Toronto, and Mike Bernardo said that he looked after things for the owner when she was at this port. He knew nothing about the liquor business.

HOUSE DESTROYED.

Mr. Hewson Gibson, of Stanwood Suffers Heavy Loss From Fire.

CAMPBELLFORD, Apr. 8.—Fire destroyed the residence of Mr. Hewson Gibson, near Stanwood, last Monday evening about six o'clock. Mr. Gibson, who lives alone, had just gone to the barn to do the chores and did not see the fire until the whole building was in flames. Neighbors were soon on hand, but the fire had secured such rapid headway that the house could not be saved. Most of the contents, however, were recovered. The origin of the fire is not known. There was no insurance.

Mr. Gibson has commenced the erection of a new house and expects to soon be able to take possession.

WARSAW FACTORY PATRONS' MEETING

Report Shows Large Amount of Milk Handled During Season.

WARSAW, April 8.—The annual patrons' meeting of the Warsaw Cheese and Butter Company was held on Friday afternoon in the cheese factory.

After routine business, the following report was read: The total number of pounds of milk received during the season of 1926 was 2,302,403; total pounds of butter fat, 8,142,242; total pounds of cheese, 197,302; value of the produce, $34,060.48; value to patrons, $29,871.64.

It was agreed that the bylaw prohibiting the feeding of turnips should be rigidly enforced. The cheesemaker shall receive one pint of milk per day. Whey will be sold to the patrons at 15c a barrel.

The District Representative, F. C. McCrae, gave an interesting address in an effort to start a cow testing association among the Warsaw patrons.

GOOD SYRUP SEASON.

Large Quantity Made By People of Bethany District.

BETHANY, April 8.—This has been one of the best seasons for sap for some years. Quite a number who had maple trees grasped the opportunity so that a lot of syrup was made, which sold generally at $2.50 per gallon.

So far the fall grain and clover seed is looking fairly good. Some warm weather now will assure a fair crop.

Western Electric Executive Gives Up His Life In Vain Attempt To Rescue Dog From Express Train

MAPLEWOOD, N.J., April 8 (United Press).—Stuart I. Weill, general sales engineer of the Western Electric Company, gave his life yesterday to save a frightened dog from under the wheels of a train.

Weill was at the station with other commuters of the Maplewood colony waiting for a New York express. As it speeded into the station, those on the platform cried out in alarm as they saw a little airedale directly in its path unaware of the danger.

Weill, executive of a big corporation, war hero and man of action, wasted no time. He sprang to the tracks. The dog became aware of the excitement and sensed his peril, but was too frightened to move.

The train was on top of the dog. Weill could have sprung aside, but he bent down to scoop up the frightened animal in his arms, and then, several observers said, stumbled.

Weill was killed instantly. The dog he had tried to save was still alive, but was so badly hurt that police had to shoot it.

Weill would have been 37 next week. He lived with his wife and two children.

HONORS OF RANK FOR COL. BROWN

Canadian War Veteran Buried With Full Military Honors.

IN NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, April 9. (Canadian Press).—Lieut.-Colonel John Hector Innes Brown, D.S.O., late second in command of the 73rd Battalion Royal Highlanders of Canada, was buried in the St. George's plot at Cypress Hills yesterday, with full military honors by the British Great War Veterans' Association. He committeed suicide by inhaling gas last Saturday and his identity was not learned until the following day. He was sixty years old and had been night watchman for some months prior to his death.

Y.P.A. BOX SOCIAL IS GREAT SUCCESS

Large Attendance in Hall of Warkworth Presbyterian Church.

WARKWORTH, April 8.—The basement of the Presbyterian Church was filled to capacity when the Y.P.A. held a box social. The meeting opened by singing the hymn, "Stand Up for Jesus," after which Mr. Bamber led in prayer. The Scripture lesson taken from the Psalms was read alternately.

The Misses Hether and Mazie Grant sang two duets.

Mr. Fowler gave the entire programme, which consisted of reading of poems from some of the famous authors. In rendering the poems Mr. Fowler's delivery and sense of humor was greatly enjoyed by all.

After the programme the boxes were distributed and a social time spent together.

The meeting was brought to a close by singing the hymn, "Jesus Saves," and repeating the Mizpah benediction.

pears to have been taken as yet by Soviet Russia as a result of Wednesday's raid, the severance of relations between Peking and Moscow was regarded as probable in many quarters.

A report received several days ago that General Pi Shu Chan, Shantungese commander in Shanghai, at the time of its capture by the Cantonese had been executed, was confirmed in advices reaching her yesterday.

The messages indicated that though Chang Tsing Ching, the Cantonese Commander-in-Chief, was inclined to condone the loss of Shanghai on account of which Pi had been accused of treachery, Chu Yu Pu, military governor of Chihli Province, had insisted upon the death penalty.

GIRL HURT BY CAR.

Badly Injured When Knocked From Wheel at Owen Sound.

OWEN SOUND, Ont., April 8. — Wilda Holmes, 15-year-old daughter of Mrs. W. J. Holmes, was quite seriously injured on Tuesday night, when riding a bicycle, she collided with a car, driven by F. H. Showell of Leith. The girl was under the car when it was brought to a stop within a few feet of where the crash occurred. She was in a semi-conscious condition when picked up and she was found to have a broken collar-bone.

KILLS MUSKRAT IN HIS GARDEN

Warsaw Man More Successful Than Some Busy Trappers.

SAP RUN OVER.

WARSAW, April 8.—Some of the trappers are meeting with but indifferent success. One man has over eighty traps set, but has caught only one rat. A second, who has been at it for two weeks, has two rats. Another, who is not pretending to trap, was returning from the barn on Tuesday evening, carrying a lantern, and saw something jumping in the mud in his garden. The animal turned out to be a muskrat, which came towards the light, and he killed it with a small stick.

Some seem to think the sap run is about over. The season has been quite steady and the syrup of good quality.

Mr. Lees, Inspector of Public Schools, was in Warsaw School on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mrs. A. F. Choate is spending a few days in Toronto.

FEATURE WORK WOMEN'S FIELD

Editor Tells Journalistic Students To Stick To This Branch.

CAN'T COVER BEATS.

TORONTO, Ont., April 8. Canadian Press. — "When assigned to cover a train wreck an experienced woman reporter can count the bodies with the best of men reporters and can be counted upon by her city editor to turn in a story which is as accurate, well written, and as full of detail and color as can be rounded out by masculine fingers," asserted Miss MacPherson, editor of "The Business Woman," lecturing before the professional Journalistic Fraternity of Toronto University.

"But her field is limited," she continued, "in this respect. Assigned to a 'beat' such as the City Hall, she finds herself at a loss, because men will not confide in her, discuss stories with the same lack of restraint. She comes as a rather pleasing interlude in their day's work. That is all." Her advice to her undergraduate hearers was to confine themselves to that type of story in which women excelled—the feature story—where their greater care in choosing exactly the word to express the desired meaning, placed them above par.

more humorous section. This was unanimously agreed to. Among the suggestions for this part were the hobby horses used by the Exhibition Board, among others, for a mock musical ride; representations of fairytale characters, such as are included in the operetta, Cinderella, to be given shortly by the Women's Patriotic League of Ashburnham; and clowns and other fun makers.

Another division which it is thought will add greatly to the success, not only of the parade but of the whole celebration, is to be offered to the neighboring communities. An invitation to join in the parade with exhibits showing something of its history or activities will be sent to each of the surrounding municipalities, while the children from the rural and village schools will be urged to line up with their Peterborough friends in that section of the march.

Those present were Chairman Dr. Craig, secretary Fred Hills, Mrs. J. A. Aylmer, Mrs. G. Lynch, Miss A. Simmons, Messrs. F. L. Roy, J. Abraham, G. A. Gillespie, G. S. Matthews, R. H. Turner, A. J. Reynolds, and M. J. Maher.

WORLD'S EDUCATORS TO HOLD 1927 CONVENTION IN TORONTO

DECISION WITHHELD.

Campbellford Magistrate Will Decide About Trapping Rights.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 8.—In police court at Campbellford the case of Dunkley vs Williams, Magistrate Payne reserved judgment till Saturday. Dunkley is endeavoring to prohibit Williams from trapping muskrats on his marsh at Bradley Bay near Hoard's Station. Other trappers are awaiting the outcome of the action, with more than ordinary interest, for it is similar to numerous cases cropping up yearly on the waters of the Trent River.

SAPIRO CHARGES LOSS TO ARTICLES

Collapse of Potato Exchange Due To Ford's Paper, He Says.

DETROIT, Mich., April 8.—(Canadian Press.)—Aaron Sapiro, undergoing cross-examination for the ninth day in his $1,000,000 libel suit against Henry Ford, yesterday attributed the collapse of the main potato growers' exchange, which had paid him fees of $19,300, to alleged libellous articles printed in Ford's weekly, the Dearborn Independent. It was the third loss of income Sapiro had attributed directed to the Independent articles.

FIRE DESTROYS GRAIN ELEVATOR

Firemen Summoned Second Time To Fight Blaze at Fort William.

UNKNOWN ORIGIN.

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., April 8 (Canadian Press).—The Wiley-Low elevator, containing about 25,000 bushels of wheat, was destroyed by fire here early yesterday. During the night, firemen had subdued the blaze in the plant but were summoned about an hour later to find the elevator enveloped in flames.

Two firemen were injured slightly by an explosion of an unknown origin. The elevator and its contents were totally destroyed at a loss estimated at $100,000.

POLICE SURROUND SOVIET CONSULATE

Takes Action For Prevention Of Attempt To Raid Consulate.

SHANGHAI, April 8 (Canadian Press).—Police, assisted by white Russian volunteers, late yesterday surrounded the Soviet Consulate in the international settlement with orders to prevent anyone from entering or leaving the premises.

No reason for this action was given, but it was stated that there was no present intention to raid the Consulate.

Among the visitors whom the police held up was the Chinese Commissioner of Foreign Affairs, who was informed that he would not be allowed to enter unless he consented to be searched. The Commissioner refused to permit this, and left.

Five Thousand Delegates From Many Nations Coming in August.

MANY PROBLEMS.

Elimination of National Hatred One of Aims of Federation.

TORONTO, Ont., April 8.—(Canadian Press).—For a few days this summer, Toronto will be the educational centre of the world. Between August 7 and 12 the city will be host to an army of leaders in the world's educational activities, representing practically every country on the globe. These are representatives of the large number of national educational associations affiliated with the World Federation of Education Association. In addition, there will be representatives of education in countries whose teachers' unions are not yet members of the Federation. Officially it is the third general meeting and second biennial session of the World Federation of Education Association, and 5,000 or more delegates will attend the meeting.

One of the Federation's aims is to relieve through education the old tendency toward national jealousy and race hatred. The gathering will be truly international, and its cosmopolitan nature is evidenced in the assurance given by the executive, that "persons who have messages to give will not be seriously handicapped on account of language." Each may speak in his own language, and a number of interpreters are being secured.

World distinguished men and women who will bring messages of wide interest, will be on the general programmes, open to the public.

Discuss Many Questions.

Almost 30 discussion groups will be organized, and the questions taken up indicate the broad scope of the Federation's activities, including as they do such subjects as health, recreation, nursery, kindergarten, adolescents, older children, college education, library service, education in relation to understanding, illiteracy, administration, adult education, student and teacher exchange, international scholarship, moral education, modern language, teacher preparation, parent-teacher associations, education for peace, correspondence, periodicals, geography, history viewpoint, music and art as universal languages, country youth, educational co-operation and guidance and vocational education.

An important part of the Federation's programme will be the presentation of reports by several committees and commissions which have been at work on special investigations. These reports will cover such questions as international athletics, military training, text-books, co-operation for peace and peaceful means used to settle international difficulties.

The convention will centre at the University of Toronto, and delegates, besides being guests of the Canadian Teachers' Federation, will be entertained by the city authorities and Dominion Government. Visiting educationists will see the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, Niagara Falls, Ottawa and probably the Northern Ontario mining districts. All countries will be represented, and besides delegates there will be in attendance foreign governmental representatives and persons interested in educational activities.

A few of the prominent delegates who have already indicated that they will attend are: The President, Dr. Augustus O. Thomas, State Commissioner of Education, Maine; Dr. P. W. Kuo, President, South-eastern University, Shanghai, China, one of the foremost educators in the Orient; E. J. Sainsbury, O.B.E., B.A., Past President of the National Union of Teachers of England and Wales, and Miss Mary Tweedie, a Past President of the Educational Institute of Scotland.

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

LET'S DO

If we can say some word this morning
That starts the day in proper style,
That's just as needful as adorning
Ourselves with satins all the while—
And so let's smile.

Oh, I am sure there's many a neighbor
And many a stranger passing by
That we could hearten at their labor
And many a morning beautify—
And so let's try.

And our own task will seem the lighter,
The day be glad the whole day through,
And all of life seem fairer, brighter,
If you help me and I help you—
And so let's do!

(Copyright, 1927, Douglas Malloch.)

OLD MASTERS

The splendor falls on castle walls
And snowy summits old in story;
The long light shakes across the lakes,
And the wild cataract leaps in glory.
Blow, bugle, blow, set the wild echoes flying;
Blow, bugle; answer, echoes, dying, dying, dying.

O hark, O hear! how thin and clear,
And thinner, clearer, farther going!
O sweet and far from cliff and scar
The horns of Elfland faintly blowing!
Blow, let us hear the purple glens replying:
Blow, bugle; answer, echoes, dying, dying, dying.

O love, they die in yon rich sky,
They faint on hill or field or river;
Our echoes roll from soul to soul,
And grow forever and forever.
Blow, bugle, blow, set the wild echoes flying,
And answer, echoes, answer, dying, dying, dying.

—Alfred Tennyson: Bugle song from "The Princess."

THE LIFE OF CHRIST : The Last Supper

Synopsis Arranged by Dr. Wm. E. Gilroy, D.D., Sketches by Kroesen.

Jesus sends two of His disciples into Jerusalem to meet a man bearing a pitcher of water, who, He says, will show them a large upper room, prepared, where they may make ready the passover. (Mark XIV : 13-16)

Here Jesus instituted the "Lord's Supper," to be observed henceforth in remembrance of Him—a symbol of communion in the church. (I Corinthians XI : 23-26)

To the disciples, disputing which should be the greatest, Jesus teaches the lesson of humility by washing their feet. (Luke XXII : 24-26; John XIII : 3-16)

Jesus makes the sad announcement that one of those at the table will betray Him. Amazed, John asks, "Who is it?" Jesus answered, "He it is to whom I shall give a sop, when I have dipped it." He then hands the sop to Judas, who goes out into the night. (John XIII : 21-30)

CONVICTS SEEK BETTER FACES

As Assistance To Going Straight on Release From Custody.

LONG WAITING LIST.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 8. — Precipitated by the example of the remarkable facial rehabilitation of a fifty-five-year-old "plug ugly," who had pleaded that his looks were against him, a rush of convicts seeking "face lifting at the hands of the prison surgeons, as a means of aiding their personal redemption, was under way at San Quentin prison yesterday.

Three operations, it was admitted by Dr. L. L. Stanley, prison physician, have been successfully performed within a month. Twenty-two applications for similar "face lifting" are on file, and the convict capitulation to plastic surgery last night appeared complete.

Dr. Stanley announced that all applicants would be taken care of and admitted that the "making over" of faces might become a modern revolutionary step in criminal rehabilitation.

John Ryan, Los Angeles burglar, and a "two time loser," was the convict first seeking treatment. Possessed of a "cauliflower ear," squinting eyes, a mashed nose and scared face, Ryan, about to be released, pleaded with the authorities that his homely features precluded all possibility of his "going straight."

With cartilage removed from his ear Ayan's nose was built up. Then the usual scientific "face lifting" treatment was given. Ten days later the convict walked through the prison yard, unrecognized by his fellow prisoners.

News of the operation and the astonishing results spread through the prison, with the result that San Quentin's hospital has a long waiting list.

MOTHER OR OFFSPRING.

Language Expands and Develops Minds as It Conveys Ideas.

Do you know that the use of language is not limited to the mere communication of ideas? An equally important function is that of the instrumentality of thought. It is not only its vehicle, but its means of expansion. Hardly any of our intellectual operations could be carried on without the agency of words.

Then language is not only the offspring of thought, but it is also its mother. In every process of reasoning, words are an essential element. By means of them we fashion and embody our ideas.

The dictionary is therefore a necessity. It should be at your elbow at all times, whether at your place of business, in your home, or at school or shop. The New Universities Dictionary is within reach of every reader, as explained in the coupon printed elsewhere in this issue.

ANCIENT MANOR TO BE RESTORED

Historical Society Would Preserve Home of Early Heroine.

RECENTLY BURNED.

THREE RIVERS, Que., April 8.—(Canadian Press.)—The historic Manor de la Perade in the village of that name, at one time the residence of the early Canadian heroine Madeleine de Vercheres, may be restored. It was recently burned with only the walls left standing. The historical society of Three Rivers, however, have urged on the provincial commission on historic monuments that the relic of early French Canada should be preserved.

Some years after the 14-year-old Madeleine had made her name immortal in Canadian history by her defence of her father's chateau against Indians at Vercheres, on the St. Lawrence river, she married M. de la Perade and went to live at the village named after him. They occupied the old residence, which was practically intact until a few weeks ago. Many notables of the seignorial days were entertained by the couple, including Laval, first Bishop of Canada.

First Dominion Day Celebrated Modestly

TORONTO, Ont., April 8. (Canadian Press).—While preparations are going forward to make the celebration of Canada's 60th birthday, next July 1st, a memorable event, 81-year-old Charles Abbott, probably Toronto's oldest cab driver, recalls the doings of the first Dominion Day—1867.

On that momentous day Mr. Abbott's cab had been engaged by Alderman John Carr, chairman of the Toronto Fireworks Committee. Mr. Abbott still retains vivid recollections of the modest fireworks display in Queen's Park that closed Dominion Day.

A feature of Toronto's celebration of the first Dominion Day, Mr. Abbott recalls, was the military review of the Royal Artillery and Body Guard.

PAPERS BLAME ANTI-FASCISTS

For Destruction of Pinedo's Plane at Roosevelt Dam, Arizona.

NOT SURPRISED.

ROME, April 8. (Canadian Press.)—Some of the leading Rome newspapers today express the opinion that the destruction of Commander De Pinedo's aeroplane at Roosevelt Dam in Arizona yesterday was caused by anti-Fascist agents. Popola Di Roma says that while official Italian circles were pained and shocked at the news of the plane's destruction, they were not surprised "because official circles are fully informed of unmentionable anti-national activities carried on in America by a few expatriates."

Pinedo Doubts Suspicions

WOMAN SUICIDES IN DETROIT RIVER

Ford City Lady Despondent Because Refused Admission To U.S.A.

WINDSOR, April 8.—Despondent because United States immigration officers refused her permission to join her husband in Hamtramck, Mich., Mrs. Mary Sarichuck, 22 years old, of Ford City, ended her life at 10.30 o'clock last night by jumping into the Detroit River from the top deck of the Walkerville ferry Halcyon.

Mrs. Sarichuck, who had been working at Hotel Dieu, Windsor, since her husband left her to go to the United States two months ago, last night made a third attempt to pass immigration officers at the Detroit ferry dock. She was stopped and again deported. With her was Mrs. Kathleen Stobosia, who, it is said, also tried to jump from the boat.

The crew of the ferry launched a boat and put out grappling irons, but the body was not recovered. The ferry boat was in midstream when Mrs. Sarichuck made the death leap.

...DEFENDER OF CIVIL LIBERTY... STRENGTHENER OF LOYALTY ... PILLAR AND STAY OF DEMOCRATIC GOVERNMENT.

NOT EXCLUDED.

The Examiner called attention a few days ago to what it considered a grave injustice to amputation veterans in the report that the Postal Department had recommended that such returned men should be no longer considered eligible to participate in civil service examinations for the postal service.

That looked like a raw deal to men who had sacrificed much for this country, and The Examiner, as well as other Canadian papers, protested against any such discrimination toward amputation veterans.

It is a source of satisfaction to be able to announce, therefore, that a statement made by Hon. P. J. Veniot, the Postmaster General, to the House clear up the situation.

The Postmaster General's explanation was to the effect that certain positions for which amputation veterans could not qualify had been advertised, but that there was no intention of excluding such men from the postal service.

The protest that greeted the first report will do no harm, however; it served notice on public men generally that in the case of citizens who sacrificed a limb fighting for this country the public desires fair play and justice, especially in connection with public positions.

SHOULD BE CLEARED UP.

The statement made during Wednesday's session of the customs inquiry that money was paid by an Ontario brewery to Provincial Police and customs officials to facilitate the "short-circuiting" of beer supposed to have been shipped for export, will, it is hoped, be closely investigated.

So long as the charge is made in that indefinite form, the whole Provincial force comes under suspicion—a condition that is entirely unfair to the members of the force.

If money was paid to police to secure their compliance in violating the law, the brewery officials know to whom the bribes were made, and they should be compelled to reveal the identity of the guilty police officers and customs officials.

It is an injustice to the many fine officers in the Provincial force that they should have to suffer from a blanket charge of this nature.

The whole thing can be cleared up by the revelation of the officials who disregarded their oath of office—if there were such officials.

The matter cannot be left where it is—too much or too little has been said.

The public demands the whole story.

WHAT WE HAVE TO PAY.

The fact that the cost of governmental services looms large in the budget of the average Canadian family is effectively set forth in a bulletin just issued by the Citizens' Research Institute, one of its interesting series of stories on the cost of government in Canada.

This particular report deals with the combined Federal, Provincial and municipal cost, based on figures from Canadian cities, selected from all parts of Canada, and the figures quoted are surely enough to make most people come to a conclusion that the conduct of government on sound business lines is of more importance to the average citizen than the lack of interest shown in political affairs would seem to suggest.

The per capita cost of government—Federal, Provincial and municipal—in the 17 cities studied ranged in 1925 from a high of $130.45 to a low of $55.77, with an average per capita cost of $96.48.

On the average basis the cost of government to a family of five was about $482.36.

This is without including the losses on the Canadian National Railways and the Mercantile Marine.

If these were included the cost on an average to a family of five would be about $490.72.

These figures surely testify that more general attention to public affairs in all three arenas would be good business.

THE LETTER CARRIERS' GRIEVANCE.

Peterborough letter carriers, in common with similar employees all over the Dominion, are indignant over the wage increases announced by the Civil Service Commission.

Although the carriers had pressed for an increase of $340 a year, which would have brought the maximum wage to $1,680 a year, and had been assured that their request would receive every consideration, the increase in their case as given out by the Commission figures out at the rate of but 78 cents a week, according to the Federal Secretary of the letter carriers, who is leading the present protest.

To The Examiner local letter carriers declare that the increase announced, which at first seemed to be $120 a year, but now is seen to be much below that figure in the case of many civil servants, is utterly inadequate.

"Miserable" is the description applied to it by one official of the letter carriers, and the general feeling among those affected by the new schedule is that when the justice of their claim for more wages was admitted by granting an increase the Civil Service Commission might have made that increase one that would mean something, instead of merely giving them a few cents a week more, while temporary employees receive no increase at all.

OSHAWA'S OPINION.

Referring to the local transportation mix-up, The Oshawa Reformer remarks:

"Even an outsider may be permitted to observe that someone has blundered with regard to the street railway tangle in the Electric City. Having been notified two months ago that the Hydro-electric Power Commission would cease operating the cars on the last day of March, the City Council should surely have taken means to supply transportation for the people who needed it. Lest it be said that this mix-up is none of our business, let us remind readers of The Reformer, if any of them have forgotten, that Oshawa has been helping for some years to pay the deficits on the Peterborough street railway.

"When offered the system at a certain figure, the Peterborough City Council made an offer of less than one-third as much, and then rested on its oars or went to sleep or something, feeling sure that there would be no stoppage of the cars until further notice. The Council took too much for granted. As a Hydro official said, the Aldermen were not worrying so long as Oshawa, Belleville, Cobourg and other municipalities were helping to meet the losses.

"The Hydro acted promptly, properly, but not very thoughtfully or courteously. It would not have cost much to run advertisements in The Examiner a few times per week during the month of March, warning the people that the cars would stop on the last day of the month. Patrons were allowed to buy street car tickets on the very last day, and it was only on the afternoon of that very last day that a warning advertisement was inserted. Just a bit high-handed for a public commission, surely! Not so very diplomatic! Not calculated to promote affection for public ownership! Even if the City Council was asleep, would it not have been a friendly and a human gesture to warn the people in a gradual sort of way. 'Twas not so nominated in the bond. But what of that? 'Twere well you did so much for charity.'

"The Reformer has repeatedly urged that the Hydro get rid of its white elephants in this section of the Province. That is being done, and all credit is gladly given for the procedure. But why do things a la Mussolini? The Hydro-electric Power Commission might, in cases like the one under discussion, go just a little beyond the letter of its duty in order to show a human spirit."

THE JUBILEE CELEBRATION.

Whatever else may be done by the committees which will be empowered to proceed with arrangements for the celebration, it is to be hoped that they will take steps to ensure that it will be a real celebration. It is only too true that our national holidays, instead of being days of rejoicing, are regarded only as periods marked by freedom from labor. Members of certain fraternal orders enter with much more fervour into the celebration of days that they regard as their own than they do into the observance of Dominion Day. For all of the significance that most people usually attach to the First of July, it might just as well be a day set apart for sure-ease from effort and nothing more. The fact that upon that day Canada celebrates the anniversary of the attainment of Confederation, with all that it has meant to the Provinces that were formerly scattered and separate entities, escapes the attention and remembrance of the great mass of the population. Dominion Day should be the occasion for general thanksgiving and rejoicing that the dreams of the statesmen who conceived Confederation and carried it into effect have been more than realized, and that Canada, favored with peace, plenty, rich resources and an up-and-doing population, goes on from conquest to conquest each year.

There will be special reason for Canadians throwing their hats in the air and giving vent to their feelings upon Dominion Day this year, since it will complete sixty years of Confederation and the happiest relationships amongst the Provinces which were parties to the arrangement, one that has proved thoroughly satisfactory from every point of view. The eyes of the world will be upon Canada on July 1 next, and its praises will be rung wherever its history, its possessions and its people are known. Canadians will be sadly lacking in devotion to their country if they fail to appreciate its rise and progress and fail to make that appreciation known.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

DR FRANK CRANE'S DAILY EDITORIAL

SUSPENDERS

By Dr Frank Crane

The merchant tailors of America get together once a year and issue edicts about what kind of clothes we should wear.

There is very little change in men's clothes, but the merchant tailors try to keep their fingers upon the pulse of what change there is.

They are now declaring that suspenders are coming back.

They seem to think that trousers hang more gracefully and look better when they are held up by suspenders than by a belt.

After all the belt is a precarious institition and if a man wants to be on the safe side he must, although wearing a belt, have also suspenders.

These much maligned articles of apparel have reason in their favor. The shoulders are the place to support the weight of one's clothes.

One beauty of men's attire is that they have never compressed the body at the waist nor hung from the waist, making an undue weight thereon.

If women are discarding skirts and shirt waists and hang their dingfads from the shoulders, why shouldn't men?

A lot of men are so architecturally constructed that their pantaloons will not stay up without suspenders and then they don't like the gap this discloses between their nether garments and their vest.

This takes no reckoning at all of gentlemen who go in their shirt sleeves and are inclined to put their thumbs under their suspenders while they are issuing various opinions.

What the backwoods statesman would do without a place to loop his hands while coruscating is not said.

The vest is no substitute, for often he does not have a vest.

The emancipated male will rejoice in the suspender, for as much as he abhors the gallows he is in favor of the galluses.

Of course having six buttons to which to attach the suspenders is a good deal of bother, but they assist in the artistic draping of the pantaloons, and if we must have trousers, which are the despair of artists, let us have them look as well as possible.

Every young man knows that the hardest article of his apparel to keep in ship shape is his trousers. In order to preserve the nice crease down the front it costs a good deal to send them every week to the tailor, and it is a good deal of a nuisance at night to put them between the mattresses. For our part, a man who wears only a belt looks always like he is coming loose. We remember David Warfield's chorus about "He's Losin' 'Em" and it seems as though the man with the belt could appropriately be singing this anthem.

A Thought For To-day

Out of thine own mouth will I judge thee.—Luke xix: 22.

Forbear to judge, for we are sinners all.—Shakespeare.

VOICE OF PEOPLE

A NEW IDEA.

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Sir,—Now that the public and City Council are considering the street railway proposition, I would like to suggest in a small measure something for their earnest consideration.

We all know cities of under 30,000 stand to lose under any system of operating 'busses or street railways because of the fact that the percentage of people using the street railway is insufficient to give enough volume of trade to take care of operating cost, plus the wear and tear of the system.

Cities have generally to stand a loss of $10,000.00 or more a year to give proper transportation service to their people. Fully 50 per cent. of the people of Peterboro never use this service, because of their own motor or some other reason. But those people benefit by proper street transportation service indirectly through the increase of business or through property values.

My contention is this, that the city of Peterboro would be well advised to consider the advisability of giving a franchise of her streets to some local or independent motor 'bus company that could guarantee at least 12 modern motor 'busses, and to operate same under certain rules and regulations at a 5c fare, offering them at the same time a bonus of $10,000.00, which would cost every ratepayer a ¼ mill (or thereabouts) on his taxes, but in this way would assess the 50 per cent. now users, so that when they used the system once or twice a year on a rainy day or otherwise they would appreciate the service conducted as a benefit to all.

Of course the bonus and franchise would be only given under guarantee of adequate service.

Interested.

SOFT DIETS

Patients who have been forced to spend some time in hospitals have usually had the experience of being placed on what is called a "soft diet." This diet consists of a mixture of milk, mushes, gruels, custards and soups, and after an operation patients are usually put on this kind of diet.

The doctor apparently believes that these foods are more easily digested than the ordinary food served in the hospital. But, this assumption is a grave mistake.

If custards are properly made, without the addition of sugar and starches, they will be quite easily digested and will not produce any unpleasant disturbances in the alimentary canal. A long time is required for the digestion of milk and, unless it is taken exactly in the right way, more harm can result from the thick curds than if ordinary food is used. It takes five to six hours for a glass of milk to leave the stomach, even if it is used by itself and, if any other food is used at the same time, it will take even longer. Mushes of all kinds are inclined to cause digestive disturbances, due to the large amount of starch which they contain. Oat-meal mush or gruel, which is so commonly used, is irritating to the stomach and intestines and should be used with caution by only those who are in good health.

There is never any excuse for giving this highly starchy food to a patient who is confined to bed. One of the greatest difficulties, after an abdominal operation of any kind, is to keep down the excessive flatulence. For this reason, no starches or sugars of any kind should be used for a considerable period of time.

If there is any reason for using a "soft diet," it is far better to use a soft-cooked egg combined with some of the non-starchy vegetables, such as spinach, summer squash, string beans, etc. These vegetables should be cooked in a small amount of water and seasoned with cream if desired. In place of the egg, it is all right to substitute Salisbury Steak in a limited amount.

If there is a definite ulcer of the stomach or small intestine, it is then often necessary to use an exclusive milk diet, but only two to four ounces should be taken at a time and under a regular schedule to avoid having the milk form in too large curds. It is sometimes necessary to add a small amount of Milk of Magnesia to the cow's milk.

A "soft diet" is not, necessarily, a scientific diet, and if the foods used are the wrong kind or in improper combinations, the patient can expect as much trouble as if a regular meal of plain food were used.

Last evening the executive looked the field over and found that the frost was not out of the earth yet and prevented the erection of goal posts.

WONDERFUL AUTOMOBILE ROADS.

The most wonderful automobile road in America, the Banff-Windermere Highway 104 miles in length, is in danger of losing its well earned laurels by the opening of another, and if possible, more wonderful road, the Great Divide Highway between Field and Lake Louise, which was completed last summer. But Prof. Laird's tour "Across Canada and Back," which leaves Toronto by Canadian Pacific Railway July 25th, 1927, for a 21 day trip, includes both these drives in his itinerary, and they are only a small part of the wonders to be seen. There is Banff, the beautiful; Lake Louise, the Pearl of the Rockies; Emerald Lake, second only to Lake Louise in beauty; the Yoho Valley ,one of the most marvelous Valleys in the world, with Takakkaw Falls over 1,200 feet in height pouring into it, and all the magnificence and grandeur of 600 miles of Rocky Mountain scenery. Vancouver and Victoria, those marvelous Pacific Coast cities, as well as Winnipeg, Calgary and Edmonton, are only a few of the places to be visited, and three great bodies of water are also on the route, the Great Lakes, the Kootenay Lakes and the Strait of Georgia between Vancouver and Victoria.

Write for illustrated booklet of this marvelous trip to W. Fulton, District Passenger Agent, Canadian Pacific Railway, Toronto, or to Prof. Sinclair, Macdonald College P.O., Que.

More Children Killed In Street Accidents

NEW YORK, N.Y., April 8.—(United Press). — The number of children under 15 years of age who were killed in street accidents here during 1926 increased over the preceding year, the Health Commissioner has announced. The comparative figures were 422, against 408. A large majority of the victims were boys.

ART STUDY CLUB REGULAR MEETING

Mrs. H. E. Connolly Gives Interesting Paper on Constable.

At the meeting of the Art Study Club this week, a very interesting paper on John Constable was read by Mrs. H. E. Connolly. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. R. A. Brown, and the response to the roll call was a Nature Note.

Mrs. Connolly spoke of the early life of John Constable, a famous landscape painter, who was born on June 11th, 1776, at East Bergholt in Suffolk. Constable showed in youth a strong inclination toward painting, and was encouraged in this avocation by his friend, John Dunthorne, a plumber and glazier, who devoted his leisure time to painting. The elder Constable, who was an owner of water and wind mills, wished to make his son take Holy Orders, but as he had no vocation for the religious life, later decided to make him a miller. The year that he spent at this work was of great service to him in later painting years, as an observation of changes in the sky and weather is one of the most important duties of a wind-miller. The influence of this observation was noted in later paintings by Constable.

Some pen and ink copies of Raphael's engravings, made by the young Constable, attracted the attention of a neighboring connoisseur, Sir George Beaumont, who helped him to visit London in 1795, carrying with him a letter of introduction to Joseph Farrington, R.A., a pupil of Richard Wilson. Although Constable took no lessons from Farrington, the latter helped him in many ways and took much interest in his career.

Constable studied at the Royal Academy School and eked out a living by painting portraits, but his attention was drawn at all times toward landscape and marine art.

Mrs. Connolly went on to describe the progress of Constable in his art, and the growing popularity of his pictures of nature. He exhibited one hundred and four works at the Royal Academy. The National Gallery holds one wall composed entirely, with one exception, of pictures by Constable, and the Albert and Victoria Museum contains a hall devoted to his paintings. He died on March 31st, 1837.

DELORO BOY SCOUT NEWS.

DELORO, April 8. — Rain prevented the troop holding its first sham battle at its new headquarters but the signalling contest was held and the Bull Patrol were a little too fast for the Rams.

However, the Ram Patrol are on their mettle and the Bulls will need to peel their eyes next week to catch the messages signalled.

The Scoutmaster, Patrol leaders and seconds scoured the rocky district to the east over the week-end, and after six hours' tramping, found a suitable site for week-end camps, near a creek and fairly well sheltered from the prevailing winds. The next move is to build permanent shelters and then all will be ready for the first week-end camp of the year.

Three more boys were sworn in as Tenderfeet during the week, and quite a number passed their second-class fire-lighting and cooking tests.

The troop is now ready to admit four more recruits, and any boy in the district wishing to join up is asking to turn out either on Saturday at 1.00 p.m. at the hall, or next Tuesday night at 7.00 o'clock.

There will be no more vacancies till the first of May, so recruits who turn out next week will be considered first.

That's a common experience of housewives who have been tempted to try an inferior baking powder—just like the experience of Mrs. R. O. Stewart, of Whitecourt, Alta., who wrote us, saying:—

"I use Magic Baking Powder for all my baking. Have tried others but always go back to Magic. Wishing you all kinds of luck —"

There's only one Magic Baking Powder. Refuse all imitations and substitutes, for there is no other "just the same."

AT THE CAPITOL.

"THE LONE WOLF RETURNS."

There is plenty of interest in the feature picture, 'The Lone Wolf Returns," which forms the major attraction at the Capitol Theatre for this week-end, and a good deal of entertainment also in the episode in "The Collegian" series, which shows Ed Benson of Calford, winning a baseball game from the rival college. This is one of the best pictures of this series so far.

"The Lone Wolf Returns" features Bert Lytell and Billie Dove, both of whom are brilliant central figures, in the story of Michael Lanyard, the "Lone Wolf," who is a master thief, working alone, and captures the jewels and later the heart of the rich Marcia Mayfair. The picture opens with an episode which shows Lanyard eluding the clutches of officers of the law, after being trapped in a house which he has just burglarized. Then he enters the Mayfair home while a masked ball is in progress, and once again evades his would-be captors. He meets two society thieves, plying their trade under the guise of aristocratic connections, and is invited to join a party at the Clique Club on the following evening. The club is raided as a gambling joint, but Lanyard and Marcia get safely away.

Michael tell the girl of his love but later that night her jewels are stolen and she blames him for the theft. His skill and daring as a master criminal once more come to his aid and he outwits the real culprits, the trio composed of two men and a woman, and captures his lady love in the final moments of the picture.

AT THE REGENT.

MAYNARD THRILLS REGENT AUDIENCE.

Ken Maynard used to be a stunt rider for the greatest outfit of cowboys that ever was assembled under the Big Tent with Ringling Brothers.

There was no doubt in the minds of the audience who watched the premiere of "The Overland Stage" last night at the Regent that Maynard could have that job back with a raise to boot whenever he wanted it.

This tall, dark haired Don Juan from the West has Doug Fairbanks stopped for stunts and Barrymore envious of his love-making. How he happened to hang around Hollywood for several years without some producer starring him long ago is one of those mysteries of the movies. Elinore Glyn said she thought of "It" when she met Ken.

First National, however, has righted the situation and has made him one of their few stars in a series of Westerns, of which "The Overland Stage" is the third.

"The Overland Stage" tells a romance of the days when the Indians were still stirring themselves up to massacres with their tom-toms and war dances, and the stage coaches were the only means of transportation. It is truly an epic of the early West, and we take this occasion to advise school teachers to send their history students to it. Its authenticity of setting was attested by the fact that the company went into the heart of the Black Hills to make the picture.

Maynard, offering a brand new bunch of riding and roping thrills, is supported by a brilliant cast, headed by the ravishing blonde, Kathleen Collins, who appeared opposite him in "Senior Daredevil."

Al Rogell directed the picture, which Charles R. Rogers released through First National.

You'd do well to see it!

UNIQUE RECORD

LAKEFIELD, April 8. — Just eight years ago in 1847 a Post Office was established at the foot of the hill below Mrs. Atwood's house, "Ashelworth", and called "North Douro" with Mr. Robert Casement, the first postmaster. This was Lakefield's pioneer post office. After some time the post office was moved to the building on the east side of Queen street on th site of E. J. Millage's plumbing and tinsmith shop. Still later it was moved to the building on the west side of Queen Street on the site of known as "the old post office." When Lakefield was incorporated as a village on January 1st, 1875, the name of the post office was changed from North Douro to Lakefield and on January 18th of that year, Mr. Robert Casement died and his nephew, Mr. W. H. Casement was appointed in his place. In February 1915 the post office was moved to the present building on the corner of Queen and Bridge streets which was erected by the government.

Lakefield has had a post office for 80 years with just two post masters which is a unique record.

A framed picture of the late post master, Mr. Robert Casement, has been placed in the post office with an inscription giving the date of his being appointed and the date of his death and the date of the changing the name of the post office.

Effort To Post Letter Calls Out Fire Brigade

STRATFORD, April 8.—Mistaking one of the city's red fire alarm boxes for a postal box, a woman who is a stranger in the city, yesterday afternoon at 1.45 o'clock opened the door of the box at Huron Street and Huntingdon Avenue and pulled the little lever.

Not knowing that the instant the little lever came down it automatically carried a general alarm to the fire hall, she stood for a moment trying to figure out how the 'contraption' worked, finally departing in disgust at the apparent lack of facilities for posting a letter in the city of Stratford. The whole brigade responded to the call.

OUTLINE OF SCIENCE

CXLIX—Wonders of the Sky.

by MAX HAHN

HAVE YOU EVER TRIED TO COUNT THE STARS? IT IS TOO TEDIOUS A PASTIME FOR MOST OF US. SCIENTISTS, HOWEVER, TELL US THAT THERE ARE LESS THAN 2,500 STARS VISIBLE WITHOUT USING A TELESCOPE. WITH THE BEST TELESCOPE SO MANY STARS HAVE BEEN SEEN THAT IT IS BELIEVED THAT THERE ARE ABOUT AS MANY STARS AS PEOPLE.

ALTHOUGH SCIENCE IS NOT POSITIVE JUST HOW STARS ORIGINATE IT IS POSSIBLE THAT STARS DEVELOP OUT OF THOSE SMALL PATCHES OF LIGHT IN THE SKY WHICH ARE CALLED NEBULAE. HYDROGEN AND OTHER GASES PROBABLY MAKE UP THE NEBULAE.

WE FALL INTO THE ERROR OF THINKING THAT STARS ARE SMALL BECAUSE THE MOON LOOKS SO MUCH LARGER. THIS ILLUSION HAS BEEN CREATED BECAUSE THE MOON IS NEAR THE EARTH AND THE STARS ARE GREAT DISTANCES AWAY. THE STAR ALGOL IS NEARLY 150 TIMES THE SIZE OF THE EARTH, AND BETELGUESE IS SO LARGE THAT IT WOULD OCCUPY ALMOST HALF OF OUR SOLAR SYSTEM.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

PETER'S LESSON IN TRUST

Text: Matthew 14:22-33.

And straightway Jesus constrained his disciples to get into a ship, and to go before him unto the other side, while he sent the multitudes away.

And when he had sent the multitudes away, he went up into a mountain apart to pray: and when the evening was come, he was there alone.

But the ship was now in the midst of the sea, tossed with waves: for the wind was contrary.

And in the fourth watch of the ght Jesus went unto them, walking the sea.

And when the disciples saw him king on the sea, they were troubled, ng, It is a spirit; and they cried for fear.

nt straightway Jesus spake unto , saying, Be of good cheer; it is I; not afraid.

id Peter answered him and said, , if it be thou, bid me come unto on the water.

nd he said, Come. And when Peter come down out of the ship, he walked on the water, to go to Jesus.

But when he saw the wind boisterous, he was afraid; and beginning to sink, he cried, saying, Lord, save me!

And immediately Jesus stretched forth his hand, and caught him, and said unto him, O thou of little faith, wherefore didst thou doubt?

And when they were come into the ship, the wind ceased.

Then they that were in the ship came and worshiped him, saying, Of a truth thou art the Son of God.

PETER'S LESSON IN TRUST

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for April 10: Peter's Lesson in Trust.—Matt. 14: 22-33.

BY WM. E. GILROY, D.D.
Editor of The Congregationalist.

The comparison of life to a voyage at sea is one that has been widely developed in the history of human thought and literature. Probably there is no more apt comparison, in the mysteriousness of life's beginning and the mysteriousness of its goal, with all the incidents of calm and quietude, of storm and danger, of sunshine and gloom.

Life is essentially like the voyage of a mysterious ship on a sea of change and mystery. The figure changes and is capable of many variations, but in its deeper elements it is always the same.

It is this figure of life that imparts meaning and inspiration to our lesson. It is the story of a miraculous circumstance, of how Jesus came walking on the waves to the disciples as they were terror-striken in the midst of the storm on the Sea of Galilee, and how with his quiet words, "Be of good cheer, it is I, be not afraid," he calmed all their fears and strengthened their faith.

Peter's Cry.

It is the story of Peter, who, in his impulsiveness, had ventured to meet Jesus upon the sea, but who cried in consternation as he began to sink, "Lord, save me, I perish." It is the story of Christ's reaching forth and lifting Peter safely into the boat, and of Peter's impulsive confession, "Of a truth thou art the Son of God."

It is, I repeat, the story of a miracle, and as such we cannot understand or explain it. If we could, it would not be a miracle. But when we come to its teaching whatever meaning it has for our souls is found in its suggestiveness and in its illustration of that wonder-working power of Christ which is witnessed in the souls of men today.

The words of Jesus, "Be of good cheer, it is I, be not afraid," have not been effectual only for the stilling of a material storm for a few disciples beset with danger on an ancient sea. In the storm and stress of life Jesus has again and again brought this comfort to fear-stricken and discouraged souls. To an innumerable company of those who have found him he has been the Savior bringing peace and safety.

The experience of Peter is one that at some time comes to every man whose life is lived beyond the safety of the shallows and the artificial calm of the enclosed harbor. Those for whom life induces no adventure, whose only thought is to be safe, and who never thrust out into the deeps of experience, may never feel the need of a steadying and supporting hand; but the more fully and the more dangerously one lives, in the quest of the things that are truly worth while, and in the performance of the services that can be rendered only through sacrifice and danger, the more a man feels, at times, his weakness and the his complete insufficiency, the more he is moved to cry to some great Power, "Lord save me, I perish."

Help for All Men.

It is to such men that Christ comes with his help and salvation even as he came to Peter.

We may not see, as these disciples, the Lord Jesus come walking upon the sea; our faith may never rest upon any observance of a departure from physical law, but it is not upon the temporary overcoming of the law of gravitation, but upon the constant power of the uplifting and sustaining presence of Christ that we depend for the greatest of all miracles—the quickening of the soul into life and vigor when all seems failing and falling around us.

To hear Christ's words, "Be of good cheer, it is I, be not afraid," is to find peace and calm and inspiration in the storms of life. To feel the touch of Christ's hand and the uplifting power of his strong right arm is to know in deed and in truth that God has made his presence and his power known to men.

It is the experience of Christ that the soul cries, as Peter cried in his moment of safety, "Of a truth thou art the Son of God."

Matinee Ladies

BY William B. Courtney

"MATINEE LADIES," with May McAvoy, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Bob Ward, working his way through college, finds with his chums, Freddy and Arch, an easy way to earn money—working as dancing partners, of afternoons, for rich women in a fashionable New Jersey roadhouse. Bob thinks it isn't a fit way to make a living; but, faced with eviction for unpaid rent, reluctantly goes to the roadhouse. There he sees the prettiest, sweetest girl he has ever laid eyes on. She is Sally, the cigarette girl. He hears of a mysterious Mrs. Hammond, who frequents the inn; and quarrels with his chums, who think Sally is a gold-digger, like the rest.

CHAPTER VI—Continued

As for Bob, much as he wanted to playfully mash the heads of his chums, Freddy and Arch, for their tormenting play upon words, he managed to restrain himself and merely laugh ruefully to Madame Leonine:

"Yes, that's it—I'm studying engineering in college. Learning about gold digging, and all that sort of thing."

The Madame, whose indignation at the near commotion caused by the quarreling of the boys was allayed by the smug knowledge that in Bob she had struck a bonanza herself, indulgently permitted herself to be disarmed by the explanations. She even ventured a witticism of her own:

"I don't know much about what they can teach you in college, or how they teach it—but you'll pick up here quicker than in any classroom a practical and first hand knowledge of gold digging—as she is dug!"

So the atmosphere, the tension, were cleared again.

And so Madame Leonine, like a motherly old buzzard, shooed her baby hawks off to their foraging:

"There, Freddy—you go to Mrs.

"Madame was taunting confidentially to Mrs. Hammond."

Vanderweed; she's smiling for you. And Arch, Mrs. Lody told me she wanted this dance with you. Mazie Revere has shaken her butter and egg man again in your favor for this dance, Bob. She's sure got a crush on you—and he's aching to crush you, only you're too big. Run along now!"

Dance. Dance. Dance. Shuffle, and slip, swirl and whirl, bend and slide—slide, slide! Light heads, and light feet. Lighter heads, as the moments wear on. Bobbing balloons in a syncopating maze. Music. Discordant—yet strangely rhythmic; unharmonious—yet strangely tuneful. Crash, tinkle, whine, whang. Faster—faster—hard breathing, perfumed prespiration, tense abandon. Passion's paradise. The dance!

Through all the madness, Bob Ward remained coolly detached—confidently impersonal. Much to the chagrin of Mazie Revere, who pressed her lithe body close to him; and adding to the animal fever in her blood the fuel of disappointment because she saw that he was smiling, every chance he got, toward Sally Smith, still on her patient rounds of those who sat and did their smoking with their mouths and not with their pulses.

Sally's smile found Bob's too, as often as Bob's found Sally's. Mazie noted that. Little enough that Mazie ever missed.

Then suddenly Mazie saw a chance to divert Bob's attention in another direction. If she could not win Bob's interest for herself, then as a loyal old friend and co-worker of Madame Leonine—with whom, indeed, she was in a sort of tacit partnership—she would sacrifice her own desires toward keeping Bob, the best bet the Palisade Inn had ever had, from wasting his obvious worth and talents on a nobody of a little cigarette girl. Indeed she would! And here was the chance, conveniently at hand.

A chance—a darn good chance—in the person of a newcomer. A newcomer whose advent seemed to send an inquisitive, curious, half-envious thrill through the crowding, surging dancers. An advent that certainly delivered a galvanic shock to the waiters, the attendants. To the orchestra, even, for the saxophonist suddenly seemed to puff and spit more enthusiastically; the drummer pounded more vigorously; the others, all and sundry, scraped and blew and whanged with greater gusto. The leader contorted and frenzied himself more signally.

All the paid help had great, wide covetous grins; the guests, admiring ones.

Madame Leonine's rouged mask was splintered in a grin that combined the greed and the admiration, as she made a ritualistic show of greeting the newcomer and personally escorting her to the choicest table—tactfully reserved for just this visitation! The fawning maitre hovered in the personage's wake.

The dance, and the dancers, almost unconsciously slipped a measure.

It was Mazie, swinging fully into the dance again with Bob, who confirmed what Bob had guessed. She explained:

"That's Mrs. Hammond. She's famous around here. The Inn's best customer, you bet."

Mazie went on, in a rather awed voice, to whisper to Bob all the information that Freddy and Arch had previously told him.

Bob looked with frank interest upon Mrs. Hammond. He saw a positively ravishing creature, in her early thirties. All the encomiums that the boys had mouthed were true—and more! They had never seen so fair and resplendent a woman—in whom nature's lavish attributes of beauty were multiplied by the breeding and slight hauteur and elegance of manner of an aristocratic lady of fashion.

A lady, too—of passion! It was there—spiritually, in the dark depths of her slightly-veiled eyes; pathologically, in the sensitive nostrils, in the full, richly mobile underlip; in the mature mould of her gloriously statuesque body; and, lastly, in that surest of all marks of sensuality—a slight, very slight swelling where the ivory of her bosom melted into the velvet of her white throat; in other words, a somewhat abnormal prominence of her thyroid gland tract.

Bob was finding Mrs. Hammond a fascinating feast for eye and mind. He had neglected to glance at Sally again since the captivating newcomer had entered.

Mazie took shrewd stock of his astonishment.

"Stunning, isn't she, eh?"

Bob nodded. She was—all of that. Continuing to watch, covertly, of course, for even in a roadhouse Bob still bore carefully the responsibility to himself for his deportment as a gentleman—he saw Mrs. Hammond's eyes sweep the room, after she had given a cursory order to the obsequious maitre, who had personally gone to superintend its execution. The Madame was talking confidentially to Mrs. Hammond—in the manner of one breaking good news. It was because of whatever the Madame was explaining, that Mrs. Hammond's eyes searched out the dancers so quickly.

Sally was hovering near Mrs. Hammond's table. Bob saw that out of the corner of his eye.

The next thing he knew Mrs. Hammond's eyes were resting full upon him—like twin searchlights of an acute and discriminating mind. A connoisseur in young man-flesh! A long, critical appraisal. Bob felt absurdly afraid. He felt as a shy young man might, who, in a nightmare, dreamed that he was in the center of Times Square of a Saturday afternoon in barefoot and pajamas.

He was uneasily provoked with himself for feeling so afraid. But try as he might he could not remain calmly impersonal, unaffected, under that ardent inspection. He was too young, too inexperienced in the ways of women and life.

Mrs. Hammond seemed to appreciatively deduct this last; for she suddenly smiled, with direct interest, upon Bob, and said a few genial words to the pleased Madame Leonine, who nodded.

This byplay, which he was by no means sophisticated enough to fully understand, upset Bob. Made him so nervous he trod upon Mazie's foot. But Mazie, knowing the wherefor, did not wax wroth. Instead, she grinned, like an overwise Cheshire cat.

"Mr. Football Hero, if Mrs. Hammond falls for you—you're jake! She hasn't met anyone here yet that she liked—for more than two dances. Maybe you're just the Big Boy to fill the bill. Looks so, anyhow, from the way she's lamping you, and smiling; and from the way old Leo is simpering."

Bob was dreadfully fussed. He stuttered: "Oh, you're all wrong if you think she's interested in me, or going to be."

"No I ain't! If she asks to meet you, make up to her strong, Big Boy. She's got the prettiest love-nest apartment in New York waiting for the boy whom she falls for. So strut your stuff if you get the chance—and you will!"

TORONTO LIVESTOCK.

TORONTO, April 8.— Higher prices failed to bring out more than the usual five or six loads of stock for the closing market of the week. Fresh receipts for yesterday were only five cars all told, and included 70 cattle, 16 calves, 57 hogs. There was practically nothing left over from Wednesday's market.

The only price change is in the hog section, where an advance of 25c was made in the clean-up Wednesday night. Week end prices will be on the basis of $11.25 f.o.b.

Cattle quotations remain firm at the week's advance of 25c on the general run. Extra choice quality handy weight and heavy beef steers taken in small lots, were in some cases 50c higher than last week.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, April 8 (Canadian Press).—There was an improved demand from foreign buyers for grain overnight and although Montreal exporters asked higher prices for Manitoba grades of wheat, a fair number of their offers were accepted, and some low grade oats were worked with the Continent.

The demand from Canadian and United States exporters for ocean grain room here was good for May loading. A fair amount of business was done to the United Kingdom at 3s to 3s 3d per quarter, and to Irish ports at 3s 6d per quarter, while 16c to 16 1-2c per hundred pounds were paid for Antwerp-Rotterdam, and 17c per hundred pounds for Hamburg freight.

The domestic grain trade was fair. There was some enquiry for Manitoba Spring wheat, and sales of several loads of No. 1 Northern were made at 19 1-4c per bushel over the Winnipeg May option, f.o.b. Montreal, rail-water shipment for April loading. The trade in coarse grains was quiet and prices were unchanged.

The trade in Spring and Winter wheat grades of flour continued quiet, but values were steady.

Prices for all lines of millfeed were well maintained under a steady demand. The market for standard grades of rolled oats was quiet but firm.

A weaker feeling developed in the local egg situation yesterday and prices scored a decline of one cent per dozen, which was attributed to the liberal supplies coming forward. An active business was done. The receipts were 4,288 cases.

The local butter market displayed further weakness and prices were reduced another 1-2c to 1c per pound. Indications are that they will go still lower in the near future owing to the steady increase in the production. The receipts were 361 packages.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, April 8 (Canadian Press). — Rains in Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas, together with extremely favorable reports from the domestic winter crop belt as a whole, carried wheat prices downward yesterday. Wheat closed unsettled 3-4c to 1 1-4c net lower; corn 1-2c to 3-4c off; oats at 1-4 to 3-8c decline, and provisions unchanged to a drop of 30c.

Despite late word that yesterday's export sales from North America totalled 1,250,000 bushels including 250,000 bushels from the United States, wheat failed to rally much and the finish was within 1-2c of the day's lowest level. Traders were especially impressed by notice that the rainfall was heavy at Pratt, Kansas, messages from that point yesterday having asserted that south-central Kansas was suffering from sandstorms which was blowing out thousands of acres of wheat.

July delivery of wheat, representing the earliest arrivals of the 1927 domestic harvest, was the principal target for selling orders. The consequent weakness of July, however, affected the entire market. Bearish sentiment was given impetus, too, by opinion from a prominent Chicago trader who returned yesterday after an extended tour of Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas, and who said that wheat prospects in that territory are the best he has ever seen.

Some increase of country offerings to arrive tended to ease down the corn market. Oats reflected progress of seeding.

Provisions tended to decline owing to weakness of hog values.

CHICAGO CATTLE

CHICAGO, April 8 (Canadian Press).—Cattle receipts 11,000; killing classes steady to strong; vealers 25 to 50 cents lower; best heavy steers $13.75; medium weights on long yearlings order $13; bulk fed steers all weights $10 to $12.75; only medium light yearlings under $9.75; stockers and feeders more active at $8 to $9.25; snappy trade on fat cows and cutters heavy medium bulls up to $7.40; vealers $11 to $12.50 to packers, $14 to $15 to outsiders.

Hogs 34,000; light hogs generally 25c lower; medium weight butchers 15 to 25c off; heavies 10 to 15c lower. Packing sows mostly 10 to 15c lower, closing active; pigs in very narrow demand; common and medium offerings off 10 to 75c lower; early top $11.70 paid for selected 150 to 160 pound weights; bulk 150 to 200 pounds $11.35 to $11.65; 210 to 240 pounds to $11.05 and $11.35; 260 to 300, $10.65 to $11.00; few smooth offerings to shippers upward to $10; few selected pigs $11.50 to $11.65; medium to good kinds $10.50 to $11.25; common offerings downward to $10 and below; shippers took 4,000; estimated holdover 12,000.

Sheep 14,000; very slow; fat wooled lambs steady to 10c lower; clipped lambs unevenly 10 to 25c off; best wooled lambs $16.65; best clipped $15.60; bulk clipped lambs $14 to $15; wooled lambs costly $16 to $16.50; sheep strong to 25c higher; few handy weight fat ewes $11; clipped aged wethers $10.75; feeding and shearing lambs very scare, outlet narrow.

Chatham Motorist Fined For Running On Flat Tire

CHATHAM, April 8.—Sam Kovinsky, a local junk dealer, was fined $5 and costs yesterday on a novel charge. The charge preferred was that he did operate a vehicle on the highway with a defective tire in such a manner as to cause additional impact or pounding on the highway. This is the first charge of its kind to be preferred in a local police court.

HOLSTEIN SALE AT BELLEVILLE

Large Attendance at Sale Held in Belvedere Hotel Stables.

GOOD PRICES.

BURNBRAE, April 8 — Several farmers from this district and Campbellford attended the seventeenth annual Holstein sale held in the Belvedere Hotel stables, Belleville, on Wednesday afternoon. The roads were good for motoring and one of the largest crowds of the season was on hand when Auctioneer Norman Montgomery opened the sale. With him on the platform were Messrs. Caskey of Madoc and McCullough of Vankleek Hill, sales managers, also Mr. P. B. Nelson of Campbellford, secretary of the Belleville club. Fifty-two head were catalogued, but as two herds were not represented less than forty-five animals entered the ring. While prices did not average as high as in some former years, animals of good individuality with breeding back of them realized good prices. A. D. Foster and Sons' good 4 year old cow, Mabel Karndyde Johanna, was keenly contested for and finally topepd the sale at $215, the successful bidder being Mr. Irish of Richmond Hill. Fred Hubbs' yearling bull, King Segis Inka Model, was a close second at $200. He has been classed as a "preferential" bull under the advanced registry system and is an outstanding iddividual. His dam has two excellent records at two and three years of age and is again on test. Mr. Hubbs also sold another young bull and a three year old cow for $160 each.

Most of the cows sold from $125 to $165 each with a few heifers around the $100 mark. Several bulls were for sale including two aged bulls. While some of the younger animals did not reach the century mark, most of the males sold well as the demand seemed good. A few heifer calves sold from $30 to $45 each.

Consignors to the sale were: J. V. Locklin, Frankford; Baker Bros., Portsmouth; Bertram Hoskin, Cobourg; Earl Burnside, Madoc; Geo. F. Burnside, Madoc; A. E. Phillips, Belleville; W. H. Gough, Bloomfield; John Burnside, Madoc; Fred H. Hubbs, Bloomfield; A. D. Foster, Bloomfield; Jas. A. Caskey, Madoc; B. R. Teavens, Bloomfield; Bruce Usher, Colborne; Frank Terry, Frankford.

The sale was held out of doors with raised seats around a central platform. A heavy thunder shower about half an hour after the sale commenced drove the crowd indoors and delayed the selling for some time.

CAMPBELLFORD NEWS.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 8.—Mr. and Mrs. Roblin of Ottawa are in town this week visiting friends.

Mr. Mac Best of the McCallum Granite Works, Kingston, is in town for a few days this week.

Mr. James Craighead of Havelock spent a few days of the past week in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Free and Murray visited friends in Wooler for a few days last week.

Rev. Mr. A. B. Kenny of Belleville, formerly of Campbellford, has returned from a two months' sojourn in California. His host of friends in town will be delighted to know he is very much improved in health.

Mr. Albert Hardy of Oshawa is visiting his mother, Mrs. S. Hardy.

Mr. Dick and Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson of Wallaceburg are in town for a couple of weeks.

Mrs. Benbennick (Lilian Dunk) of Chicago was in town attending the funeral of her father, the late James Dunk.

The fine weather prevailing for the past two weeks is making the residents of town and district believe spring is here. Several farmers and in fact a few of the town gardeners are already turning over the first furrow.

The Campbellford Tennis Club is having a three act play, "Peg Of My Heart", by Belleville talent on Friday, April 22.

On Friday afternoon, April 8, at 3 p.m. in St. John's Sunday school room, Miss Duff, organizing secretary of the W.C.T.U. of Canada will gave an address. Miss Duff will also give a short talk to the public school scholars on Friday morning at eleven o'clock.

More signs of spring: The tennis club is holding its annual meeting on April 19th in the Library and the soft ball association is holding its annual meeting on Saturday evening at 6.30 in the Library.

The Presbyterian Company of Guides has been sanctioned by the local association through the commissioner, Mrs. J. H. Bell, and work will be started right away to form their companies. Miss Clemina Ivey and Mrs. Clarence Massie are officers on probation.

SICKNESS NOW PUBLIC MATTER

Judge Emily Murphy Discusses Trend To Government Control.

NATIONAL CONCERN.

EDMONTON, Alta., April 8.—(Canadian Press.)— That the unmistakable, trend of all health organizations is toward government control, was the contention of Magistrate Emily Murphy in an address before the Alberta Division, Canadian Red Cross. Sickness is no longer a private concern, and although the Red Cross and other philanthropic organizations will always find a ready work in the health field, the government should be responsible for the activities being carried on in the right way. Fifty-four nations now favor government control in health, a thing hardly known less than a century ago.

The speaker deplored the lack of nurses in mental hospital, citing the condition at Oliver hospital where 250 patients are cared for, without nurses.

W. I. CONSIDERS VITAL PROBLEMS

Lady Member of Alberta Cabinet Addresses District Conference.

ON LEGISLATION.

EDMONTON, Alta., April 8.—(Canadian Press).—Hon. Irene Parlby, Minister without Portfolio, brought before the district conference of the Women's Institute some of the most vital problems, acts and amendments being introduced at this session of the Legislature. An amendment to the Domestic Relations Act is important, in that it defines cruelty as follows: "Cruelty shall not be confined in its meaning to conduct which creates a danger to life, limb or health, but shall include any course of conduct which in the opinion of the court is grossly insulting and intolerable, or is of such a character that the person seeking the separation could not reasonably be expected to be willing to live with the other after he or she has been guilty of the same." There is also a section dealing with the maintenance of neglected wives. There is considerable discussion at present over the desirability of making the father take an oath as to parenthood. The judge will also be given power to inquire into the means of the parents, and make arrangements for the support of the child.

The Minister spoke at length on the act which is to be introduced dealing with the sterilization of mental defectives. When the State provides for the mentally unfit it should also reserve the right to say that their number shall not be too great. Mrs. Parlby referred to the report of B. C. Commission which concluded, after intense study, that sterilization was the only solution.

The Hon. George Hoadley, Minister of Health, took up the subject where Mrs. Parlby dropped it. No woman he felt desired to bear a child that would be a curse to herself and to the race. Having destroyed nature's system of surviving of the fittest, by our civilization, we must find an artificial substitute, contended the speaker.

SURPRISE PARTY FOR CAVAN GIRL

Friends Make Presentation To Miss Thelma Armstrong.

MILLBROOK NEWS.

MILLBROOK, April 8.—A number of the school friends of Miss Thelma Armstrong, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Armstrong, West Cavan, gathered at her home on Tuesday evening, as a pleasant surprise, desiring to spend a social time together before her departure to Peterborough to enter upon a course of training at the Nicholls Hospital.

A warm welcome was extended to the unexpected guests, and music, games, with other entertainment, made the time pass rapidly. Midway in the evening's festivities Miss Thelma was invited to take a seat in the centre of her companions, when Miss Blanche Lee, on behalf of the young people, presented her with a Parker's fountain pen and pencil, Mr. J. Thornton reading the following address:

Miss Thelma Armstrong:

Dear Thelma,

Again we come to the parting of the ways, and we feel it our duty to bid farewell to you, whose companionship we have enjoyed and cherished for the past few years.

We hope that your new undertaking as a nurse will be to your interest, and that you may be surrounded with every good gift.

There is consolation in knowing that the distance is not such a barrier as to sever all our relationship with you. We want you to feel that always in the future your interests will be ours, and your absense in this locality will not be forgotten. Your smiling countenance might well serve as an inspiration to others.

We desire you to accept, out of the fulness of our hearts, these gifts as a gentle reminder as the days go by.

We wish you every success in your new undertaking.

Signed on behalf of your friends —Joe Thompson, Blanche Lee, Jack Byam, Marvin Kinsman.

Millbrook, March 29, 1927.

The event was a complete surprise to the recipient of the gifts, but she expressed her gratitude in well-chosen words, indicative of a heartfelt appreciation, and all joined hands and sang, "For She's A Jolly Good Fellow."

Supper was served shortly afterward, the self-invited guests having come well provided for this part of the evening's enjoyment, and full justice was done to the ice-cream and other good things temptingly arranged by the committee in charge.

The hour was growing late before the happy gathering finally broke up, and the guests left for their respective homes.

Miss Armstrong left on Monday morning to enter the hospital and begin her course of training as a nurse.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan L. H. Gray, and Mrs. J. McBride moved this week to their new home on Anne street, recently purchased from Mr. J. Whitfield.

Mr. Whitfield, Mrs. H. Kennedy, and Mrs. W. J. Gardiner have moved to the latter's house on King Street. Miss Annie Armstrong, the former tenant, is at present remaining with her sister, Mrs. T. B. Collins.

Mr. J. Kidd of Peterboro, who has purchased the business and dwelling from Mrs. McBride, is now in possession.

Miss Anna Kells has returned home after an extended stay with Mrs. (Dr.) B. C. Wyte, Battle Creek, Michigan.

The Millbrook Lodge L.O.O.F., No. 308, held its regular meeting on Tuesday evening, and afterward enjoyed a supper of pancakes and maple syrup, inviting a number of the members of Golden Sheaf Rebekah Lodge, No. 176, to be present for this enjoyable feature.

Mrs. E. S. Burnham entertained a few friends at afternoon tea on Tuesday in honor of her sister, Mrs. J. T. V. May, of Toronto, who has been her guest for the past five weeks. Among the guests invited were: Mrs. C. M. Westmacott, Mrs. T. B. Collins, Mrs. (Rev.) F. H. Howard, Mrs. I. E. Needham, Mrs. E. H. Barnes, Mrs. A. J. Anderson, Miss Mamie Collins, Miss Annie Armstrong, Miss Etta Needler, Miss M. E. Needham, Mrs. G. E. Burnham, Mrs. (Rev.) P. C. Howard, Miss Rose Macnamara, Miss S. Dean.

Marsal Sun Chuan-Fang, dictator of Shanghai, who made terms with Chang Tsung-Chang, Shantung's Mussolini. The latter, who is one of the most hated and feared men in China, as well as one of the most picturesque, will undertake its defense against the Cantonese.

Major G. H. Scott, British airman, who piloted R-3 across Atlantic, is likely to come to Canada to advise on aircraft matters.

On their trip to Australia, formally to open the new parliament house there, the Duke and Duchess of York visited the Fiji Islands, where they were welcomed in great ceremony by the native chieftains. Photo to the left shows Rata Popie Seniloli, the highest prince in Fiji, and a grandson of the late King Oakaba, presenting the Duke of York with a "Tabua", tooth of the sperm whale, in one of the ceremonies. This is a symbol of homage and affection. The other picture shows, left to right, Sir Eyre Hutson, governor of Fiji; Lady Hutson; the Duchess of York and the Duke of York, on the arrival of the royal party for the native ceremonies.

Mazo de la Roche, a promising young Canadian writer, who is attracting wide attention by her novels and her plays.

Princes Imertinsky, the former Averill Mullins, daughter of Sir John and Lady Mullins, is the wife of an exiled Georgian, a famous beauty and one of Europe's most delightful hostesses. Most of her time is spent in the fashionable circles of London, Paris and the Riviera.

In this, the bobbed hair age, Miss Shukrid Sjorgren, of Toronto, possesses the unique distinction of having the longest hair of any woman in the world. Its longest strand is 10 feet 6 inches in length and when let out trails behind her like an abbreviated train. When she does it up she braids her hair into two plaits, winding them around her head like a turban. "If a woman finds her hair a burden," says Miss Sjorgren, "there is no reason why she should not shorten it, but I don't find mine a burden."

Probably the first Chinese girls ever to have entered a Canadian hospital to train as nurses are Miss A. Leung and Miss A. Jang. The former was born in Canton and the latter in Vancouver. They are probationers in a Toronto hospital.

Professor George M. Wrong, one of Canada's leading historians, who is giving up his connection with the department of history of the University of Toronto, of which he has been head of for 33 years, to give himself time for important historical writing now underway and in prospect.

Col. Thomas Edward Lawrence, whose book "The Seven Pillars of Wisdom", ten copies of which were published by George H. Doran Company on March 18, is being sold at $20,000 a copy. In "The Seven Pillars of Wisdom" is told in full the story of what happened to Col. Lawrence between the time he became "lost" in Arabia, on leave from the British corps in Cairo, and the time he emerged as the head of an army of 300,000 Arabs, as "the uncrowned king of Arabia", against the Turkish forces.

Mrs. Jean Muldrew, director, Home Branch, Soldier Settlement Board, friend, adviser and helper to the newly arrived British families settling in Canada.

Then and Now.—The Premier and his younger sister. — Years have rolled by but Kemptville, in eastern Ontario, still has its traditions of the days when Howard Ferguson, now Prime Minister of Ontario, was a boy. He was a scrapper, the "old-timers" recall, but he was always fair. His younger sister, Marion, now Mrs. W. E. Storey, of Kemptville, was his staunch ally in his battle. Of interest are the above illustrations showing how the years have dealt with the boy "Fergie" then aged 14, now the Hon. George Howard Ferguson, K.C., B.A., LL.B., Prime Minister of Ontario, president of the council and minister of education, and of how, too, the years have dealt kindly with his sister, the sweet-faced resident of his home town. The Premier is now 57—about.

Philip J. Turner, special lecturer in the department of architecture, Montreal, who spoke on the Liverpool Cathedral at the session of the Royal Architectural Institute of Canada, in the Art Gallery, Toronto.

More than ever before does the mode require keen, discriminating interpretation. To select the best from all of fashion's fancies is a task for most careful thought.

GOT HER FEET WET CAUGHT BAD COLD

Mrs. Ernest Hall, Cardinal, Ont., writes:—"Last winter I got my feet wet and I caught a terrible cold. I took different kinds of medicine, but none did me any good and I seemed to be getting worse all the time.

One day I was reading about what your medicine had done for others, so thought I would get a bottle. After I had taken a few doses I found it was helping me, so I took a few bottles and was completely restored to health. I cannot praise too highly, as I believe that if it were not for it I would be an invalid today."

JEWELLERS' LIST OF BIRTHSTONES

British Association Has Had Experts Study Ancient Writings.

Women and men too, who have made a point in times past of securing a birthstone to accord with their own particular month in the year, will be interested in a revised list which has just been issued by the National Jewellers' Association of London,, England, who have been searching historical records of many ancient races concerning the symbolic significance of birthstones.

Experts of the association spent several months delving into ancient Greek, Roman, Jewish and Russian writings on rare gems, to establish the best list to be official for modern usage.

The association determined the following stones were most significant for the various months:

Garnet for January, amethyst — February, bloodstone — March, sapphire—April, emerald—May, turquoise—June, onyx—July, carnelian —August, chrysolite — September, aquamarine—October, topaz — November, and ruby—December.

Pearls and diamonds are classified as gems of universal application, without particular significance to any date of birth, and appropriate to every month of the calendar.

THIS CANADA OF OURS

CANADA'S RATIO OF PROSPERITY.

Q.—What is Canada's ration of prosperity?

A.—According to the National Bureau of Economic Research Inc. of 17 countries listed, Canada, in the thirty-year period from 1888 to 1924 experienced a greater ratio of prosperity to depression than any other country. In these three decades the Dominion enjoyed 1.86 years of prosperity to one year of depression against 1.79 years of prosperity in the United States, and 1.14, the average of the seventeen countries.

SAINT and SINNER

By ANNE AUSTIN

When Faith and Bob returned to the courtroom the next morning, they passed Mrs. Seymour Allbright, who, before her marriage, had been Alice Cluny, only daughter of Ralph Winston Cluny, for whose murder Cherry was being tried.

"Aunt Alice has made it quite plain that it is war to the death," Bob whispered. "I suppose Banning is going to call her this afternoon, and she wants it distinctly understood that Robert Lee Hathaway is no longer considered a member of the Cluny clan. As far as I am concerned, the Cluny clan be damned: The only decent one of the bunch was Uncle Ralph—and he's dead."

"Poor Bob," Faith whispered, "we have put you in a terrible position."

Contrary to Bob's expectations, Mrs. Allbright was not the first witness. As soon as Judge Grimshaw had taken his place, Banning called Charles Reilly Neff, the dead man's law partner, to the stand.

Banning's first significant question, after preliminaries, was: "Did you, on or about the twenty-sixth day of October last, draw up a last will and testament for the late Ralph Winston Cluny."

"I did," Neff answered and drew a folded legal-looking document from his breast pocket.

"You have that signed and witnessed will with you, Mr. Neff?"

"I have." Neff extended the document in a hand that shook slightly.

"I will now ask you to read that last will and testament of the late Ralph Winston Cluny," Banning stated with much satisfaction.

In spite of the objections of the defense, the will was then read into the evidence, the significant clause being: "And to Charity Amanda Lane, my beloved fiancee, I hereby bequeath unconditionally the sum of one hundred thousand dollars in cash, in the event of my death on or before the twenty-fifth day of November, nineteen hundred and twenty-six. I hereby direct that this bequest is to take precedence over any and all other bequests made in this, my last will and testament."

"That was a temporary will, designed to protect Mr. Cluny's fiancée in case of his death before his marriage to her?" Banning asked.

"So he stated to me," Neff answered. "In fact, he furnished me data for another will which I drew up on November twenty-fourth last, and which Mr. Cluny intended to sign immediately after his marriage to Miss Lane at nine o'clock on November twenty-fifth."

"Now, Mr. Neff, I want to ask you if, to your own personal knowledge, Miss Cherry Lane, as this defendant was then known, knew of the existence of this will?"

Neff answered with great positiveness: "She did. She was a guest in Mr. Cluny's home on Sunday evening, October twenty-fifth, and he, in my presence, showed her a folded copy of this will and told her that she was named in it, advising her as to the terms under which the bequest was made, but not mentioning the sum."

"Can you repeat Mr. Cluny's exact words to the defendant?" Banning persisted.

"No, I cannot, but I have given you the gist of the conversation on Mr. Cluny's part, in reference to this will."

"And what did this defendant answer?" Banning went on, with a diabolic glance of triumph at Stephen Churchill.

Charles Reilly Neff's pale face assumed its usual floridity for a moment as he answered: "I believe I can quote quite accurately. Miss Lane, or rather, Mrs. Wiley as she now is, flung her arms about Mr. Cluny's neck and exclaimed, 'Oh, you darling! You're the sweetest, most generous man in the world!'"

Banning smiled as laughter rippled over the courtroom, laughter which was quickly silenced by Judge Grimshaw's gavel.

"To your knowledge, this, then, is the last will and testament of Ralph Winston Cluny?" Banning asked.

"It is. The will providing for his wife, and to be signed after his marriage, was, of course, never signed," Neff answered, with tightened lips.

"Your witness," Banning waved toward Churchill.

Churchill accepted with alacrity, stepping close to the chair in which his rival of old was awaiting cross-examination.

"Did Mr. Cluny, so far as you know, have any cause to fear an untimely death?"

"He expressed no such fear to me," Neff answered curtly. "He made this will merely as a protection to Miss Lane. His advanced age was his only source of fear. I am sure of that."

"To your knowledge, as Mr. Cluny's partner and a sharer of his business and professional secrets, did Mr. Cluny have an enemy who might have wished his death?"

"Not to my knowledge," Neff answered with a snap of the jaws.

"Now, Mr. Neff, you saw Miss Lane and Mr. Cluny together frequently both before and after their engagement, did you not?" Churchill asked smilingly.

"I did."

"Will you tell this jury, Mr. Neff, as frankly as you have just answered Mr. Banning's question in regard to Miss Cherry's reception of Mr. Cluny's news of the will, whether Miss Cherry was usually demonstrative in her affection for Mr. Cluny?"

"Not in my presence," Neff answered so primly that another titter rose from the audience.

"Would you say on oath that this was the only occasion on which you saw Miss Cherry show affection or love to her fiance, Mr. Cluny?"

"No," Neff hesitated.

"That is all, Mr. Neff," Churchill smiled, and waved the lawyer away.

"Call Mrs. Nora Dennis," Banning directed.

"Mrs. Nora Dennis! Mrs. Nora Dennis!" chanted the court crier, and Faith's heart plunged sickeningly as she realized that "Madame Denise," the modiste who had made Cherry's trousseau and for whom she, Faith, had been working surreptitiously since Cherry's arrest, was going to testify against the girl who had paid her fifteen hundred dollars for making her wedding clothes.

"Your name is Mrs. Nora Dennis?" Banning began.

"Yes, sir."

"You are known, professionally, as Madame Denise?"

"Yes, I am a modiste, and a French name and accent are business assets," Nora Dennis replied nervously, flushing as she saw smiles spreading over the faces of the audience.

"Now, Mrs. Dennis, do you recall where you were on or about Monday, October twenty-fifth last? During the working day, I mean."

"I was working in the home of Mr. and Mrs. James G. Lane, 3518 Myrtle street, making a trousseau for Miss Cherry," Nora Dennis replied.

As Faith wracked her brains to discover the significance of the date that Banning had mentioned, her eyes never left the modiste's face, and at last Nora Dennis turned her own eyes uneasily in Faith's direction. Their eyes met, and Nora Dennis' were full of apology and appeal.

CHILDHOOD'S RETROSPECT

By W. D. Packwood.

When I was but a litt e child,
No earthly sin my soul beguiled,
My life was full of simple joy,
My pleasures knew no worldly cloy.

Life was a daily round of bliss,
Those days I now so sadly miss,
All seemed to me so sweet and good,
I used to think it always would.

The sun, the moon, the stars, the sea,
Were all so wonderful to me,
I loved each little flower that grew,
And all things neath the sky so blue.

My spirits were as light as air,
For life was then, without a care,
Oft heavy hang, they now to-day,
Too brief alas, is childhood's day.

Yet looking back I love to think,
Those early days—a golden link,
That in the chain of life are part,
For I am still a child at heart.

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

The new tendency to use more material may be seen in this frock of gray georgette trimmed with gray lace. The long sleeves are generously puffed below the elbows and the skirt while not very wide is full. It is worn with a wide-brimmed red hat, and is trimmed with red ribbons.

Some of us can recall the time when women used to complain rather boastingly of the number of yards of material the dressmaker demanded for the making of a frock or the fitting out of a last season's frock with a new pair of sleeves. It was in the days when women also boasted of the very little ribbon needed to make a belt.

All through the history of costumery we see instances of the amounts of material needed to make a frock that are really astounding to the modern woman. It is given as a solemn fact that in 1859 a tulle frock, made with four skirts and innumerable ruches, required no less than eleven hundred yards of the material. That was the time when the pendulum had swung as far as it would go in the direction of abundance of material. Undoubtedly it swung as far as it would go in the opposite direction a season or so ago when sleeveless frocks, with short, scant skirts, might be made from three yards of fabric. Those fashions must have been unprofitable to the makers of materials.

Now it seems as if we were entering a fashion period when women's clothes were to be more generously made. Those patient individuals who measure out silks and satins and velvets and woolens behind the counters in department stores will have to use revised figures when advising customers how much material is needed to make a dress. Frocks may not look much wider, skirts may appear to be almost as short, even the larger sleeves are small compared with the sleeves of the 90's or the 50's. But somehow the dressmakers are contriving to use more fabric. The old air of skimpiness has gone. And younger women who have known only the curtailed little frocks of the past five or six years are realizing for the first time that there is something luxurious and decidedly feminine about a frock that is made with more material.

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, but do not Compel.

FOR SATURDAY, APRIL 9, 1927

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

Except early in the morning the planetary government for today is favorable, according to astrology.

Great promise is given to merchants and manufacturers who are to have intensive work in the next few months, if the seers are to be believed.

A period is at hand when those who have positions in the Sun will be of subordinate interest to those who are engaged in big work of the world.

Agriculturists are to profit, despite all discouraging conditions, the seers prophesy, for the world is to buy food of the United States.

Prices of both food and clothing will advance before next winter and fashions will contribute to the expense of attire.

There is a good sign for dealers in leather and makers of shoes are to profit greatly, it is foretold.

Banks and money-lenders are to meet many demands in this year of 1927, when financial problems of new and puzzling aspect will develop.

This is read as a rule lucky for women in business as well as romance.

Weddings today have a happy augury, so far as prosperity is concerned, but youth and age united under this sway will suffer from many disappointments.

This should be a profitable time for theatres, for the people will seek surcease from work and anxiety.

Expansion of American trade in the Mediterranean, which is forecast, is likely to cause ill-feeling and international complications, astrologers warn.

There is a good sign today for art and artists. Musicians should benefit greatly in the coming summer when open air concerts will be more popular than ever before, it is forecast.

Persons whose birthdate it is may have a year of many small changes and interests.

Children born on this day probably will be exceedingly clever, but too much inclined to be visionary.

Ruts

MANY a man of brilliant promise has been lost in a rut of despair. Has seen his enthusiasm, his prospects, blighted! Himself powerless to prevent it—dully realizing that he no longer had the energy to stand the pace. . . . What can crush a man's spirit so completely?

Indeed, what is constipation? More—far more—than the average person realizes. It destroys health. It steals strength. It sickens the mind and leads to suffering and disease! Yet no one need be afflicted with this curse. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation—promptly, safely.

Why part-bran products fail!

ALL-BRAN is 100% "bulk." This bulk absorbs moisture and carries it throughout the intestines, gently distending them—cleansing, removing wastes and poisons. In a part-bran product the quantity of bulk is so small it scarcely accomplishes anything! Doctors recommend ALL-BRAN because they know it is 100% bran—100% effective.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is sold with this definite guarantee: Eat it according to directions. If it does not relieve constipation safely, we will refund the purchase price.

So different from dangerous pills!

How much better to rely upon healthful ALL-BRAN than habit-forming pills and drugs. ALL-BRAN is delicious with milk or cream—and add fruits or honey. Let it soak a few moments to bring out all its nut-like flavor. Use it with other cereals. In soups. Try the recipes on every package.

Don't risk part-bran substitutes. Insist on genuine Kellogg's. Sold by all grocers. Served at hotels, restaurants. On diners. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

I.O.D.E. PRESIDENT IS GIVEN NEW TERM

Others chosen were: Mrs. H. S. Griffin, Hamilton, first vice-president; Mrs. A. H. Malcolmson, St. Catharines; Mrs. C. E. Burden, Toronto; Mrs. A. S. Hatch, Hamilton; Mrs. A. E. Miller, London; Mrs. Gordon Henderson, Hamilton, vice-presidents; Mrs. M. B. Morden, Hamilton, secretary; Mrs. A. W. Leitch, Hamilton, assistant secretary; Mrs. Oscar Main, Hamilton, treasurer; Mrs. A. F. Rutter, Toronto, educational secretary; Mrs. R. V. Bray, Chatham, organizing secretary; Mrs. W. B. Hill, Toronto, Echo secretary; Mrs. J. E. Ruby, Smith's Falls, standard-bearer.

Mrs. Burkholder, in thanking the members for the honor again conferred upon her, stated that the primary chapters were the backbone of the Order. She expressed her gratitude for the loyal co-operation of previous years, and expressed the hope that it would be continued.

Miss Charlotte Whatton, national convenor of Child Welfare, gave an inspiring talk on Canada, mentioning its possibilities, the sacrifices of its sons in the war, and the spirit of unity. Miss Ethel Raymond, Brantford, presented the report of Mrs. Rutter, Toronto, on educational work, and all members were urged to work for the completion of the war memorial scheme.

Reports Presented.

Reports of municipal chapters in Ontario, including Toronto, Hamilton, London, St. Catharines, Ottawa, Kingston, Brantford, Stratford, Kitchener, Windsor and Chatham and Kent Counties, were submitted. The statements were all of a gratifying nature, showing continued interest in the work. New chapters are being formed, and the war memorial scheme is meeting with general approval.

Miss Ethel Raymond, Brantford, former educational secretary, discussed this phase of the work, and discussion on the jubilee program was heard. The plans are well advanced in the different centres, it was stated.

Mrs. A. F. Rutter, Toronto, educational secretary, was unable to attend the meeting owing to illness, and a resolution of regret was passed, which will be forwarded to her. Mrs. Rutter forwarded many constructive ideas, which were very much appreciated.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

A Poem Composed by Lady Over Eighty Years of Age.

The golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Wiggins was celebrated at their home at Marlette, Mich., and Mrs. Wiggins read the following verses during the afternoon. She is a very old lady to be so intellectually clever, but still retains great clearness of mind and activity for one of her age. Mrs. Wiggins is an aunt of Mrs. James Wood Sr. of Oak Lake, Ontario, neighborhood, who is also over eighty years of age and remarkably active for her years as well. Mrs. Wiggins, as a young lady, spent her vacation days on the homestead occupied by Mr. John Woods; she has resided in Michigan for many years—but still has not forgotten Oak Lake days at the farm home, by the water.

The Wilderness Fifty Years Ago.

The wilderness was our abode
Some fifty years ago,
And for good meat we wished to eat
We caught the buck and doe.

For fish we used our hook and line,
We'd pound corn to make it fine,
On Johnny cake our ladies dined,
Some fifty years ago.

With axes good we chopped our wood,
For well we all knew how.
We clear'd our lands with hardy hands
To fit it for the plow.

We sowed our lands to rye and wheat,
For strangers and ourselves to eat,
From the maple tree drew our sweet,
Some fifty years ago.

Our houses they were logs of wood,
Hauled up in squares and corked with mud.
If the bark was tight the roof was good
Some fifty years ago.

Of deerskin we made our moccasins
To wear upon our feet,
Our checkered skirts we thought
No harm good company to keep.

And if a visit we wished to pay
Of a winter's night or a day.
The oxen drew our ladies sleigh,
Some fifty years ago.

For wintergreens the girls would stray
For butternuts boys climbed the trees:
The herb and root our ladies' tea,
Some fifty years ago.

Our health it needed no repair,
No pious man forgot his prayer.
Oh, who would fee a lawyer there,
In all that wilderness.

REPORTS TO CITY COUNCIL

RAILWAYS AND PARKS COMMITTEE

The Railways and Parks Committee reported as follows:

Your Committee consulted the Peterborough Horticultural Society to see if they would take over the care of the city parks this year, but a letter was received from the Society saying that it would not be expedient for them to do so.

We recommend that the matter of arranging the dates, etc., for the use of King Edward park by sporting clubs be left with the chairman of this committee with power to act.

ST. ANDREW'S Y.P.S. IMPROMPTU DEBATE

CAMPBELLFORD April 8. — St. Andrews Young People met as usual on Monday evening and spent a most enjoyable social time together. The first part of the programme was the regular devotional part presided over by Miss Watson. The meeting opened by the singing of "Oh, Safe to the Rock." The Scripture reading was from Mark 2: vs. 27 and 28; Mark 3:1-5.

Each member answered to the roll call by the use of a verse of Scripture.

An invitation to Warkworth from the Society there was unanimously accepted for April 25.

F. McCulloch was appointed convenor of the conveyance committee for the occasion.

The topic for the evening was "Our Need for a Christian Sunday," given by Miss B. Blue. The topic was very well given and enjoyed by all the members. Remarks in brief were given by Messrs John Storie and W. Anderson. Rev. Mr. Grier was then called upon to say a few words. Mr. Grier enlarged on the topic given and explained very clearly the need of rest on the Sabbath Day.

The hymn, "Oh, Master, Let me Walk with Thee," and the Mizpah Benediction, closed this part of the meeting.

Miss F. Nelson presided over the meeting, during the social time.

A piano duet was well rendered by the Misses McGregor, who received a hearty encore. A solo was then given by John Stone, who is always enjoyed. An impromptu debate: — "Resolved,—That a gentleman spends more money on pleasure than a lady" was then given. The speakers on the affirmative side were Grant Thain, W. Anderson and A. Collison and on the negative Misses Watson, Patrick and Ivey. The judges appointed were Rev. Mr. Grier, Miss Finnie and Mr. I. Campbell.

The debaters gave good points and although both sides in such a brief time, the judges gave their decision in favor of the affirmative who won by one point.

The Misses Blue rendered a selection on their guitars. This was the concluding number of the programme.

The members then took part in a contest forming groups, after which a dainty lunch was served. The gathering was dismissed with the National Anthem.

It's a case of "love at first sight" when your feet slip into Invictus Shoes. Such style—such comfort—such wear.

Daily Lenten Devotion

Topic for the Week.
"THE SPIRITUAL STRUGGLE"
Friday
"Desire is Fundamental"

SCRIPTURE: Read—Psalms 40.

"I delight to do thy will, O my God; yea, Thy law is within my heart" (Ps. 40:8). "If a man love men, he will keep my word; and my Father will love him, and we will come unto him, and make our abode with him" (Jn. 14:23). "If any man willeth to do his will, he shall know of the teaching" (Jn. 7:17).

See—Psalms 37:4; Matthew 23:37; 58:14.

MEDITATION: It is never possible to know too much; it is, however, always possible to misuse what we know, much or little. Most of us must live without exhaustive knowledge. Nobody can know everything; many are quite misinformed. But whoever desires to do God's will can have all the necessary information to keep him busy in righteousness, with more to come day by day, and forever. I will therefore turn my face toward His and do His will as He reveals it. If it takes me by the way of Calvary, as it did Jesus, I will not shrink.

"It is all in vain that the mirror exists in the room if it is lying on its face; the sunbeams cannot reach it until it is upturned to them. Even so it is with thee, my soul."

HYMN:

Dear Lord and Father of mankind,
Forgive our feverish ways;
Reclothe us in our rightful mind,
In purer lives Thy service find,
In deeper reverence, praise.

Drop Thy still dews of quietness,
Till all our strivings cease:
Take from our souls the strain and stress,
And let our ordered lives confess
The beauty of Thy peace.

Breathe through the hearts of our desire
Thy coolness and Thy balm:
Let sense be dumb, let flesh retire;
Speak through the earthquake, wind and fire,
O still small voice of calm.

—John G. Whittier, 1872.

PRAYER: Pray for—knowledge with pure purpose; effectiveness in life; lovers of things; parents.

Collect—Our Father in Heaven whose patience knows no bounds, we thank Thee for the oncoming of Thy kingdom in the world, and for the means of grace in our lives. We love Thee for the Son of Man; serving Galilee, loving in Judea, triumphing Gethsemane, atoning on Calvary, rising from the grave. We rejoice our redemption through Him and the hope of immortality brought Him. Yet in our weakness we have set our hearts on things on the earth. We have thought success better than righteousness and ease desirable above service. In Thy patience brood over our dull spirits till love awakens in us. We commit ourselves to the Son of Man in holy living and loving service for His name's sake. Amen.

JOLLY JINGLES

By Graham Hunter

Uncle Wiggily

To-day's Bedtime Story.

By Howard R. Garis

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE WOGGLE-JIG PIE

One morning when Uncle Wiggily slid down the banister railing in the bungleump where he was living, for a time, with Boppy, Um and the Woggle-jig children, the rabbit gentleman saw Um, the little wooden lady, standing in the middle of the kitchen.

"Why, how very white you are, Um!" exclaimed the rabbit gentleman. "You look as if you had rolled in a snow bank."

"If you had said a flour barrel you would have been nearer right," answered Um. Truly she was white, her usual red and green colors not being seen at all under their light covering.

"What have you been doing to yourself?" asked Mr. Longears.

"Making a Woggle-jig pie," Um answered. "I have been rolling out the crust," being, as she was, without arms or legs. Um was very clever at rolling out pie crust. When some of the other creatures living in the woods would say they felt sorry for Um because she had no legs or arms, she would laugh and answer in a funny way:

"What would I be doin' with arms or legs? Sure wouldn't they be in me way when I wanted t' roll over an' over t' make th' crust of a pie? Be off wid ye! Arrah! Sure I'm better off as it is! Wurra! Wurra!"

I think there must have been a bit of Irish Fairy in Um.

At any rate there she stood in the middle of the kitchen, all white with flour from the crust. Uncle Wiggily was just going to ask what sort of a pie Um was going to make for the six Woggle-jig children, when, all of a sudden, Dazie, Wumple and the others came banging into the room, shouting one after the other:

"I want peach pie!"
"I want apple pie!"
"I want lemon pie!"
"I want lollypop pie!"

And so on until poor Um just jumped up and down in the middle of the room, saying:

"I'm only making one pie! How can I put all those different kinds of fruits in? One pie is all you're going to have. Now run along to school and don't tease me any more!"

Away ran the Woggle-jigs, but Gazie turned back to say:

"Oh, Um, if you don't make a blackberry pie I'll be so disappointed!"

And Bumple twisted his green tail and said:

"Oh, if I don't have some cherry pie I'll never be happy."

"What am I to do, Uncle Wiggily?" asked Um, with tears, like little wooden beads, dropping from her eyes. "I want to make a pie for my Woggle-jigs, but how can I make apple, peach, lemon, lollypop and all the other pie flavors they want? Oh, dear!" Um felt so sad that she jumped up on the table and began rolling over and over on the sheet of pie crust on the molding board, saying:

"Woggle-jig pie! I'll show them! I'll make it so tough they can't eat it! Then they won't care what's in it, Woggle-jig pie!"

"I have an idea, Um!" said Uncle Wiggily when the little wooden woman had flattened out the crust until it was ready to spread over the tin and be baked in the oven. "None of the Woggle-jigs asked for carrot pie; did they?"

"No, not one," Um replied.

"Well, as it happens, carrot is my favorite pie," went on Mr. Longears, twinkling his pink nose. "I'll get you some carrots from my cellar, since the new ones haven't grown big enough yet. You make a carrot pie, but put in a little lemon flavoring, a little of peach, a few drops of apple sauce and some pieces of lollypop candy. In this way the carrot pie will taste like all the kinds of pie the ogglejigse asked for, and each one will be happy."

"It's a good idea!" exclaimed Um, bobbing up and down to shake the flour off. "I'll do it!"

Uncle Wiggily brought her some carrots and of them she made a Woggle-jig pie, putting in different flavors. When the six little wooden children scampered home from school the pie was waiting for them.

"I want apple pie!" cried one.

"I want peach pie!" cried another.

"Here you are!" said Um, cutting the carrot pie into different pieces, and one Woggle-jig said:

"Oh, what lovely cherry pie!"

And another said: "Oh, what wonderful huckleberry pie!"

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily to himself. "Imagination goes a great ways." So it all happened for the best.

Must Start Work By May 15, They Tell Detroit Council.

DETROIT, Mich., April 8.—The council yesterday again delayed action on the resolution approving the Detroit to Windsor bridge, which the American Transit Company has proposed to build. The resolution was carried over until today for further action. Frank D. Eaman, attorney for the Transit Company, said that unless the council approves the resolution by next Tuesday if probably would be impossible to build the bridge.

"The plans must be approved by the War Department and this department will take no action until the proposition has been at least tacitly approved by the city," he said. Our franchise to construct the bridge expires May 15. Unless our plans have been approved in Washington and construction started by May 14, we will lose the right to build."

TRY MAGNESIA FOR STOMACH TROUBLE

To Neutralize Acidity and Fermentation. Prevents Indigestion, Sour Gassy Stomach

People who suffer from indigestion usually have tried pepsin, charcoal, drugs and various digestive aids got little more than slight temporary relief—sometimes not even that.

But before giving up to chronic dyspepsia, just try the effect of a little Bisurated Magnesia — not the ordinary commercial carbonate, citrate of milk, but pure Bisurated Magnesia which you can obtain from practically any druggist in either powder or tablet form.

Take a teaspoonful of the powder or four compressed tablets with a little water after your next meal, and see what a difference this makes. It will instantly neutralize the dangerous, harmful acid in the stomach which now causes your food to ferment and sour, making gas, wind flatulence, heartburn and the bloated or heavy, lumpy feeling that seems to follow most everything you eat. You can enjoy your meals without a fear of indigestion.

Moderation Makes For a Long Life

TO practice moderation in all things is to lead a sane existence which is conducive to longevity. Whether it be in matters pertaining to work, recreation, social activities, exercise, eating, drinking or any other activity, moderation is the one practice that makes for a well-balanced mode of living. Over-eating or over-drinking may bring on such conditions as chronic inflammation of the stomach, auto-intoxication, kidney trouble and constitutional diseases such as gout, diabetes and some forms of rheumatism. It is just as important to observe moderation in eating as in other things. The ideal is to have a well-balanced diet, which is one that consists of about three ounces of protein a day such as found in meat, eggs, fish and milk; a moderate amount of carbohydrates such as macaroni, potatoes, bread, cereals and other foods containing starch. Sugar should be used sparingly because it is constipating and tends to cause acidity and obesity. One should also have a certain amount of fat, represented by butter, cream and the fat of meat. These form the primary requisites for nutrition. In addition to these types of food, there are substances necessary for good health which are known to exist but have never been separated from the good. These substances are called vitamins and are found in fruits in their fresh, uncooked state as well as milk, butter, nuts and some fresh vegetables. Many vitamins are destroyed in cooking so it is important to partake of the foods containing them in their uncooked state.

CANADIAN RADIO AHEAD OF BRITISH

Equipment Made Here Compares Well With That Made Anywhere.

According to D. H. Pollitt, director of sales and advertising of the De Forest Radio Corporation of Toronto, Canada is three years ahead of Great Britain in the design, practice and marketing of radio. Mr. Pollitt has just returned from overseas, after completing a survey of the radio industry in Europe.

"Generally speaking," said Mr. Pollitt, "I am of the opinion that Canadian designed and built radio equipment compares very favorably with that produced in any part of the world. In many respects the design, production and marketing practice of British radio parallel conditions existing in this country some three years ago."

The British broadcasting service is government controlled. Mr. Pollitt if of the opinion that both the quality and variety of programs compare very favourably with those released on this side of the Atlantic. The Britisher takes his broadcasting very seriously, and if programs generally do not meet with his somewhat critical approval he is apt to vent his opinion in the press in no uncertain terms.

The DeForest Radio Corporation, Limited, of Toronto, announce that through their associates, the Crosley Radio Corporation of Cincinnati, they have arranged to broadcast a series of Sunday afternoon musical programmes over the WEAF chain.

The following stations will take part in this tie-up: WEAF, WRC, WASI, WHAS, WEEI, WCSH, KSD, WSM, WJAR, WCAE, WOC, WSB, WTAG, WTAM, WDAF, WMC, WGR, WWJ, WGY, WLW, WFI.

The series was opened by the Crosley hour on the afternoon of Sunday, February 6th, from 5.30 p.m. to 6.30 p.m. when the music was furnished by Arno Arriga and his Moscow Art Orchestra. This will be followed by a concert at the same time every other Sunday. Internationally known artists not hitherto available to the radio fan will take part in these concerts and greatly add to the pleasure and entertainment of radio ownership.

Union rates are being demanded in many Chinese towns by native monks, priests and nuns, who have formed a trade union.

PERMIT CARDS WILL COST $2

Good For One Year and Subject To Cancellation For Abuse.

COMMISSION BUSY.

TORONTO, April 8. — Permit cards for individual citizens are to cost $2 under the regulations which the Government Control Commission is now framing. The cards will be good for one year and will generally be subject to the conditions which the Government outlined when the bill was under discussion in the Legislature. In other words, they will enable the individual citizen to secure liquor in reasonable amounts for beverage purposes, but will be subject to cancellation for abuse of privileges.

The date of the opening of the Government stores is at best a matter of conjecture as yet. An immense amount of detail faces the Liquor Commission before it can enter upon its function of administering the law for which the people voted last December. Daily sittings are being held by the commissioners, however, and every possible energy is being directed by them towards the aim of expediting the work of organization. At the present stage an estimate of one month and a half is understood to be approximately that which the officials hold of the time which will have to elapse before they will be prepared to undertake the retail end of their business.

The Commission sittings yesterday were attended by Manager Hilliard Birmingham, of the Government dispensaries, in addition to Commissioners Hanna, Manion and McCleneghan. Hon. Dr. Manion was required to leave last evening for some parliamentary duties in Ottawa.

SITUATION FOREIGNERS

feared between the moderate and extremist factions of the Nationalist party. Chinese military officers, the despatch continued, had seized all the foreign houses in the concession at Ching Kiang for use as barracks.

Warships between Hankow and Wuhu were embarking Spanish priests who were evacuating the area.

CHINESE PLACARD HOUSES.

LONDON, April 8. — (Canadian Press.) — Chinese Foreign Commissioner at Wusu, desirous of placarding British and American houses with the announcement that the personal safety of owners and their belongings should be respected, is said to have visited the captain of the British cruiser 'Caradoc' to ask for a list of addresses of those remaining in town. His request was granted.

FRENCH ANXIETY AROUSED.

PARIS, April 8.—(Canadian Press.) —The French government was gravely pre-occupied to-day by news that the Chinese province of Yunnan, whose frontier touches on French Indo-China, has passed into the control of the Cantonese.

It is not stated whether a note will also be forwarded to the Cantonese government, but it is understood the ministers in Peking may use their own discretion in this regard.

CHIANG AT NANKING.

SHANGHAI, April 8. — (Canadian Press.)— General Chiang Kai Shek left for Nanking this afternoon. It is believed his trip is to prepare for further military operations by Cantonese north of Yangtze river.

Mission Work Ceases.

SHANGHAI, April 8 (Canadian Press).—Christian missionary activity in China has been reduced nearly to the vanishing point, it was stated to-day. The prospects for resuming endeavor in the near future are declared to be dark, at least as far as the Protestant organizations are concerned.

These statements were issued this afternoon by a group of more than a dozen officials of various mission boards, including the Rev. Dr. James Endicott, secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions of the United Church of Canada, who conferred with newspaper correspondents for the purpose of enlightening the North American public as to the exact status of mission work in China.

NUDITY BANNED BY NEW DECREE

New York Theatre and Night Club Owners To Be Held Responsible.

CLOSURE PENALTY.

NEW YORK, April 8 (Canadian Press).—A decree banning nudity from Broadway's night life has been issued by District Attorney Banton after the signing by Governor Smith of the Wales Padlock Bill which closes for one year places of entertainment judged to have violated the licensing regulations and permits the prosecution of offending producers and individual actors.

The law also applies to "obscene, indecent, immoral or impure drama, play, or entertainment," the theatre owners being made responsible. Women in night clubs had also better put their clothes on, according to Mr. Banton. The new law follows months of agitation for a clean-up of the stage.

CHINESE AFFAIRS ARE EXPLAINED TO KIWANIANS

Rev. Napier Smith Tells of Conditions in That Country.

ARMIES TOO BIG.

Victory of Cantonese Would Bring Progress To Country.

The Kiwanis club to-day was given an insight in the National and International troubles of China by the Rev. Napier Smith, who for years has been a missionary in China and knows thoroughly the difficulties which that country faces.

"China is a country which the world knows very little about, and although there live in that land about one quarter of the world's population, our histories tell little about that people who had a civilization of their own before our modern civilization came into being," said Mr. Smith.

"In 1916 a writer said that the world was commencing to take a spasmodic interest in the Pacific area and to-day we find that awakening in China."

The speaker in telling about the national problems of that great country said that things to-day were the result of overthrowing the Mancu dynasty in 1911, for with the birth of the republic the people were thrown on their own resources. Schools were very scarce, there were few railroads, the people were uneducated, and from this there could be only one result and that was the utter chaos which is found to-day. Illiterate leaders cropped up all over the country and these became and are still the curse of that country. On the establishment of the republic a military and a civil governor were set over each province. Soon the military governor began to dominate things and by 1917 a few of these military governors became all powerful and had several smaller provinces under their control. The provinces have too many soldiers and these men owe their allegiance to the military governor and not to the Central government at Peking.

The people were heavily taxed to keep up these armies and in Honan province the taxes have been collected three years in advance. Attempts were made to disband the soldiers and as there was no work for them they formed into bands of bandits and ransacked the country. In Honan one bandit leader had an army of 5000 men under him. A strong band of fellowship existed between the soldiers and the bandits and in case of the soldiers rounding up the bandits they usually gave them ammunition and the bandits gave the soldiers money.

In China there has also been a great industrial uprising, the same as that which occurred in England and other countries at the commencement of the 19th century. With the springing up of factories there was great unemployment and these factors tended to create an industrial revolution.

International Problems

"The international problems are most unique," said the speaker for ever since the mis-called opium war ports have been open to American and European traders. This was the beginning of a peaceful penetration of foreign influence under which different spheres of French, British, and Japanese influence were divided off. These operated to the good of China in the local spheres and rather poor internationally.

The railroads are owned by foreign interests and these do not work together. China borrowed money very extensively from foreign countries for war and in the end these foreign powers formed a banking group and refused to lend money for war. This banking group has proved a wonderful thing to China. The Post Office and Customs are under foreign influence and the present is a very inopportune time to hand these wonderful departments back to Chinese domination is the opinion of the speaker.

Causes of Uprising

The speaker gave as the cause of the present uprising a long overdue struggle between the north and the south. The general trend of events has been forward and these two divisions differ practically in every respect. There has been a great intellectual awakening and the socialist leaders from other countries have spread their literature all over the land.

The speaker favored the South. Although it was anti-Christian he thought it was more progressive and if it won out there would be a change in conditions and the country would get away from the continual struggles.

In closing the speaker said: "No one who knows the situation would question for one moment sending troops, for they have prevented bloodshed and looting and have provided a place of refuge for missionaries and others.

Madame Holland and Merlin Davies, the soloists for to-night's Male Voice Choir Concert, were present and rendered solos in a very pleasing style.

Champion Whip Cracker Amazes Duke and Duchess

BRISBANE, Queensland, Apr. 8 (Canadian Press)—Australia's champion whip-cracker, Dan Hassett, amazed the Duke and Duchess of York to-day when he gave an exhibition of his prowess as an interlude in a display by two thousand school children. Hassett at a good distance whipped off the neck of a beer bottle, which was cut as cleanly as though with a knife, and cut to pieces a strip of paper held by a colleague.

"PROMOTING ROMEO."

Three Act Comedy Presented By Trinity United Dramatic Club.

A three-act comedy entitled "Promoting Romeo," was presented in Trinity Reid street hall last evening by the Dramatic Club of Trinity United Church, and proved to be a very successful production, the large audience present, according much applause to the various actors, all of whom took their parts in excellent fashion.

The play, which will be repeated this evening, is quite entertaining and abounds in humorous situations. It centres about the efforts of a group of people to promote the love affairs of a youth, Robert Fenwick, who has never had much success in making good. He is in love with Dorothy Stevens, a fascinating young widow, but his father objects to the match. However, the elder Fenwick, who is a well-to-do business man, promises to give his consent if Robert can prove himself capable of earning a livelihood, and after many ludicrous episodes and misunderstandings, the play ends happily for all concerned.

"Promoting Romeo" is produced under the personal direction of Mrs. O. I. Smith and Miss Olive Armstrong, and will be repeated this evening in Trinity Reid street Hall. Specialties between acts last evening were provided in Hawaiian guitar selections played by the Misses Hamilton and violoncello numbers by Jack Thackeray. This evening Mrs. Vaughn Walker will sing. An orchestra also supplies enjoyable music, and is composed of A. Clarke, pianist, H. Munro, violin, P. Mowry, saxaphone, and J. McDonald, traps.

The cast of characters is as follows:

John Fenwick, a well to do business man, R. C. R. Cumming.

Ellen Fenwick, his wife Lyda Wilson.

Robert Fenwick, their son, W. S. Derry.

Elsie Evans, a niece and ward of Mr. Fenwick's, Helen Ross.

Dorothy Stevens, a young widow, Doris Donley.

Ben Craig, engaged to Elsie, S. Kennett.

May Craig, his young sister, Alma Blanchard.

Romeo Badger, the Fenwicks' colored chauffeur, W. T. Fanjoy.

Mrs. Amarilla Badger, his mother, Rose LaRoque.

Rosalie Jones, his sweetheart, a manicurist, Edna Forster.

Selma, a Swedish maid, Marion Armstrong.

A policeman, O. I. Smith.

Lipton's Name Proposed As Confederate Admiral

TAMPA, Fla., April 8 (United Press).—Sir Thomas Lipton, the famous British yachtsman, just missed becoming Honorary Commander of the Confederate Navy yesterday. Admirers of the sportsman among the Confederate veterans pointed out that he was born in Old Virginia and General W. B. Freedman, Honorary Commander-in-Chief, proposed his name.

But Sir Thomas was not elected to the Navy that once boasted the dread raider "Alabama." Although he had the good fortune to be born in Virginia, yet he is English, it was decided.

CENTRAL TOWNS ASK REPORT ON BUYING SYSTEM

Wish To Have Power Plants Of This District Real H. E. System.

COST TWO MILLION.

Municipalities Would Buy Local Distribution Lines.

TORONTO, April 8.—At a private meeting this morning between the committee representing the Central Ontario power district municipalities and the Hydro Commission, it was decided that G. T. Clarkson, the Hydro auditor, should prepare and submit to the committee and to the Central Power Association a memorandum or report comprising a scheme for unscrambling the system, selling the local distribution plants to the various municipalities, outlining the basis of power costs to the municipalities afterwards, the basis of ultimate ownership of the system by the municipalities, and generally dealing with the system as to how it might be made a Hydro Electric system.

This information was given by G. D. Conant, ex-Mayor of Oshawa, and one of the committee, after the meeting. The approximate cost of the municipalities possible purchases will be in the neighborhood of $2,000,000 if purchase is decided upon, he said.

The Central system is not now a Hydro-Electric system at all, but has been carried on by the commission. Following a recent increase in rates, the Central Commission at its last meeting in Cobourg appointed a committee, consisting of J. O. Herity, of Belleville, Mayor Thomas Holgate, of Bowmanville, ex-Mayor Conant, of Oshawa, and H. Fullerton, of Cobourg, to confer with the Hydro Electric Commission as to the basis of selling the local distributing plants.

PLAINTIFF STABS PRISONER IN DOCK

Defendant Had Just Been Fined For Theft When Attack Occurred.

SOUTHEND, England, April 8 (Canadian Press). — A sensational scene was staked in police court here today after Edward Wilson, a former Canadian soldier, had been fined forty shillings for theft from William Salmon, a timber merchant, with whom he resided.

As sentence was passed, Salmon yelled, "I've got you," leaped across the room, and Wilson fell in the dock with a stiletto in his back. Wilson was removed in a dying condition and Salmon was charged with attempted murder, being advised to make no statement before arraignment. No motive for the attack was disclosed.

OTTAWA, April 8 (Canadian Press). — At question time in the Commons to-day J. S. Woodsworth, Labor, Winnipeg North Centre, asked the Government if it was being informed as to the development of events in China, and also whether the Canadian Government was in accord with the policy being pursued by the British Government in China.

Premier King replied that the Government was being kept informed by the British Government more or less along the lines of the information contained in the press despatches. He added: "We have not been asked our advice and we have not extended any advice to the British Government in the matter."

LABATT EVIDENCE TO BE SENT PRICE

Attorney-General of Ontario To Have Testimony About Police Officers.

TORONTO, April 8 (Canadian Press). — A complete copy of the evidence taken by the Royal Customs Commission in the Labatt Brewing Company case will be sent to the Ontario Attorney-General for whatever action he wishes to take. N. W. Rowell, K.C., Commission counsel, to-day requested that this be done. A witness called in the Labatt case stated that the manager of the brewing company had told him that Labatts had paid money to Provincial police officers.

Ottawa-Boston Held Scoreless In First Of Play Offs

TWENTY MINUTES OVERTIME FAILS TO BREAK DEADLOCK; BRUINS BETTER MOST OF WAY

Boston Team Has Distinct Edge Until End of Regular Time.

SIX PENALTIES.

Two Offside Goals Add To Excitement—Ottawa Defense Strong.

BOSTON, Mass., April 8. — The first game of the 1927 series for the Stanley Cup, the emblem of the professional hockey championship of the world, between Ottawa Senators and Boston Bruins here last night, resulted in a scoreless tie. Twenty minutes of overtime play failed to break the deadlock.

The Bruins had a distinct edge on the offensive during the three regulation periods, while the overtime session was about even. The closest the teams came to scoring were two offside goals, each team getting one. In the first period the veteran Cy Dennenay put the disc past Winkler on a forward pass from Nighbor. In the overtime session Galbraith was ahead of the puck when he slipped the disc into the Ottawa net following a pass from Herberts.

The game produced clean hockey, with only six penalties being meted out during the eighty minutes of play, three of these coming in the overtime. All six were for minor offences, the boys evidently preferring to stick to straight hockey with so much at stake.

The dashing, fearless attack of the Bruins gave them the upper hand during the three regular sessions, but though they bent the Senators' defence many times, they failed to crack it. However, they managed to get close enough to Connell to make the Ottawa supporters, practically nil in number, somewhat apprehensive. The entire Boston team played high class hockey, and had a distinct edge in territorial play.

Winkler Had More Saves

On the other hand, the Ottawa offensive at times seemed sluggish, the close-checking Bruins making perfect combination practically impossible. Winkler was seldom in danger from close-in shots, such was the protection afforded him. Winkler made approximately 38 stops to Connell's 35, but Connell's were of the more dangerous variety.

Clancy was the leading light of the visiting sextet, his end-to-end dashes causing Winkler more trouble than the work of any of his teammates.

Boston—Goal, Winkler; defence Hitchman and Shore; centre, Frederickson; right wing, Oliver; left wing, Galbraith; subs., Cleghorn, Coutu, Herberts, Stuart, Meeking and W. Boucher.

Penalties—First period (Shore); second period (G. Boucher); third period (Adams); overtime period (A. Smith, Frederickson, Clancy).

1st Vice President—A. B. Ryley.

2nd Vice President—F. C. Dawe.

Treasurer—Dr. J. J. Hamilton.

WINS ON DECISION.

MINNEDOSA, Man., April 8 (Canadian Press) — Battling "Kid" Saunders of Los Angeles, California, defeated Jack Reddick, former Canadian middleweight and light-heavyweight champion, in a ten round bout here Wednesday night. Saunders was credited with seven of the rounds. The last meeting of these two fighters resulted in a win for Reddick on a foul.

SUPERIOR PITCHING CARRIES RED'S HOPE

Says Manager Hendericks Regarding Cincinnati's Chances in National League.

ORLANDO, Fla., April 8. — What are the pennant chances of the Cincinnati Reds in the National League?

No person in baseball is better qualified to answer the question than Jack Hendricks, whose official title is manager of that club.

Here is what the genial Mr. Hendricks has to say on the subject:

"Despite the fact that the Reds did't have a regular shortstop until the 1926 season was almost over, we were a contender to the finish.

"I honestly believe if I had been able to put through the deal I tried to make for Fger Peckinpaugh of Washington, or had had Horace Ford report earlier, we would have won the pennant.

"Ford played great ball for me after I got him from the American Association. However, too many games had earlier been tossed away through erratic play at that position. It was a terrific handicap.

"I know the experts say my club lacks a batting punch, also many of them are skeptical of my infield, but I am perfectly satisfied on both points.

"True there are several clubs with greater offensive strength and some with infields that look a bit more classy on paper, yet I feel my club is up to big league standards in both features of play.

"George Kelly is going to help the club a lot in the field and at the bat. He has a punch and will drive in a lot of runs for us.

"However, it is in my pitching that I place most of my confidence for staying in the running throughout the season. I feel that I have the best staff in the majors, an evenly balanced combination of left and right-handed pitching.

"I certainly figure we have a great chance, and hope to make the most of it."

CANCELS BOUT.

Junior Lightweight Bhampion Will Not Fight Foley at Vancouver.

PORT ANGELES, Wash., April 8 (Canadian Press)—Tod Morgan, world's junior lightweight champion, yesterday cancelled his scheduled title bout with Vic Foley at Vancouver, B.C., on April 22. Grief over the death of his father was given as the reason for the cancellation.

ATHLETICS PICKED TO CAPTURE HONORS

Yanks Not Favored By Players of League To Repeat.

By NEA Service

NEW YORK, April 8.—Like the St. Louis Cardinals, the New York Yankees, winners of the American League pennant, are not favored by the players of that league to repeat.

Putting the question of how the clubs would finish to 100 players in the American League brought about a wide difference of opinion.

Philadelphia was most favored to carry off the honors. The players seem to think Collins, Cobb, Wheat and Boley will give the Athletics the needed strength to win.

The New York Yankees have many supporters who believe Babe Ruth and Co. can go over, provided the Bambino continues his sensational play of last season. The Athletes stick to the belief the club will go as Ruth does.

Outside of the pitching, Washington is well liked. Cleveland, runner-up last season, isn't strongly figured as a championship possibility. The players stress the handicap the loss of Speaker will place on the Indians.

However, of all the clubs, the Red Sox team is the only one on which the players definitely agree. They're about unanimous in assigning the Red Sox last place.

Here's how the teams are ranged by the majority choices of the players as a whole:

1—Philadelphia Athletics.
2—New York Yankees.
3—Washington Nationals.
4—Cleveland Indians.
5—Detroit Tigers.
6—Chicago White Sox.
7—St. Louis Browns.
8—Boston Red Sox.

MATCH GOLF PLAY IN OLD COUNTRY

Captain of Ryder Cup Team Survives First Round of Play.

ROEHAMPTON, Eng., April 8 —Abe Mitchell, captain of the Ryder Cup team of nine British professional golfers survived the first round of match play yesterday for the Roehampton Cup. He eliminated H. C. Kinch, three up and two to play.

Two other Ryder Cup players met in the first round and A. G. Havers defeated George Duncan, five up and four to play. C. A. Whitcombe, another of the players who will defend the Ryder Cup against the United States next month, was eliminated by H. C. Jolley, two up and one to play.

The Roehampton Cup tournament is the first big golfing event of the English season. Elimination stroke competition ended yesterday, the sixteen qualifiers starting match play this morning.

PRINCE WINS SECOND RACE

Rides Own Mare, Lady Doon, To Sweeping Victory.

SOUTH NOTTS CHASE.

OXTON, Nottinghamshire, April 8 (AP)—For the second time within a month, the Prince of Wales yesterday won a point to point steeplechase, when he rode his mare Lady Doon to a sweeping victory in the South Notts race here over a three and a half mile heavy course.

The Prince's last victory was at Bicester on March 16, when he rode one of his own hunters to capture the Lord Manners Cup in the Grenadier Guards regimental steeplechase against 14 other entries.

Then the Prince swept across the line after a desperate fight for the lead which was marked by great riding judgment, the crowd, breathless with excitement, greeted him with a storm of cheers. None were more delighted than a bevy of woman betters who had backed Lady Doon.

So crowded with social engagements was the Prince that he had to adopt the methods of a quick change artist to keep his appointments.

After taking part in the ceremonies honoring William Penn at All Hallows Church in London where a restored table was dedicated in commemoration of William Penn's baptism in the church in 1644, the Prince had to jump in his car to rush to the station to entrain for Nottingham.

Changed on Way

His hunting kit had been brought to the train and he changed from cutaway to riding suit en route and within an hour or so was in the saddle for the south Notts meet.

While making an official visit to Hastings Wednesday he had dropped the hint that he had expected to win today and consequently all Hastings had figuratively bet its last cent on Lady Doon.

The victory, however, was not so easy as it seemed at first for after leading from the start to about a half mile from home, Lady Doon was overtaken and headed by A. Knowles, riding Fusilier. Then a desperate fight for the lead was staged, the Prince exercising keen racing judgment. At the last jump Fusilier fell and the Prince romped home.

The Prince of Wales has taken part in several steeplechases since his victory at Bicester on March 16, in one of them being thrown. This took place at Holdenby on March 22 in the army point to point race for a cup which he himself had donated. The Prince was riding Dark Courtier, on which he had captured the Bicester race only a few days previously. He was leading when his horse tripped on a head branch at the first jump. Although the Prince was thrown about 15 yards he arose smiling and escaped injury.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE. EXAMINER

What Gotham police call the "coldest premeditated crime" in the history of the force, is said to have been solved with the confession of Harold Judd Gray, corset salesman, that he and the victim's wife plotted the murder of Albert Snyder, art editor of Motor Boating Magazine. One little detail, the secreting of the jewelry that Mrs. Snyder told the police had been stole, gave the clue that upset the plot, which was arranged by correspondence. The plotters planned to marry, it is said, after getting Snyder's $25,000 insurance. Photos show the victim and his wife.

AIMEE TO LEAVE ANGELUS TEMPLE

Other Cities Are Calling, Says Mother Of Evangelist.

LOS ANGELES, April 8.— (Canadian Press.)—Indications were given to-day by Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, mother of Aimee Semple McPherson, evangelist and founder of Angelus Temple here, that the two had come to the parting of the ways and that the Canadian born evangelist might be leaving Los Angeles permanently.

Mrs. McPherson yesterday left the Kennedy-McPherson home adjoining the Angelus Temple and took up residence in a Santa Monica house. With her went her two children, her private secretary, Miss Emma Schaffer, and two other secretaries. Mrs. Kennedy said they would like to keep her there. "You know the people of New York want to built a temple for her," she said. "Many cities are calling her and she will, I fear, have to answer the call."

OBITUARY

F. McAVOY.

PORT HOPE, Ont., April 8.— The passing of Francis McAvoy at the family residence on John street, on Wednesday, removes one of Port Hope's oldest citizens well known in this district. Deceased has had an eventful life, being at one time a river driver near Marmora and Belleville. He was a member of the famous Midland Battalion which took part in the Riel Rebellion of 1885 and was in action in several battles, among them that of Batoche and Big Bear.

Mr. McAvoy was 73 years of age and was born in Seymour township. At the time of his death he had been a resident in Port Hope for the last 53 years. He was a member of the local Foresters Lodge, a Liberal in politics and an Anglican in religion. He is survived by his wife, two sons and one daughter.

MRS. DANIEL HOLLAND.

The death occurred on Thursday afternoon after a short illness, of Mrs. Daniel Holland, at her late residence, 378 London street. The deceased had many friends in the city, who will regret to learn of her sad demise. Her husband predeceased her about eight years ago, and there are left to mourn her loss one daughter, Sister Daniel Joseph, St. Joseph's Convent, Campbellford, and two sisters, Mrs. K. Regan and Mrs. P. J. Hickey, both of this city.

The funeral will take place from the late residence on Saturday morning and proceed to St. Peter's Cathedral thence to St. Peter's cemetery for interment.

THOMAS R. DIXON.

The death occurred in this city today after a short illness, of Thomas R. Dixon, aged 63. Mr. Dixon was born in the township of Douro and has resided there practically all his life. Lately he has been farming on the 2nd line of Smith.

He leaves to mourn his loss six sisters and four brothers. The funeral will be held on Monday from the residence of Mrs. Johnston, 684 Ross street, at 2.00 p.m., with the Rev. Dr. R. C. Blagrave officiating. Interment will take place in Little Lake cemetery.

WILLIAM JAMES MULLIGAN

The funeral of the late William Mulligan, who passed away in this city on Thursday, will be held under the auspices of the Loyal Orange Order on Sunday at 2.00 p.m. at the family residence, Bethany. Interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery with the Rev. Mr. Poulter officiating.

Mr. Mulligan leaves to mourn his loss a sorrowing widow, three daughters, Mrs. Nichols Shields, Grand View, Manitoba; Mrs. Gordon Lamb of London, and Mrs. Douglas Driver of Bethany; also two sons, Wilfred and Gervin of Lifford, Ontario; and one brother, George of Winnipeg.

REPORTS DIFFER.

PARIS, April 8.—(Canadian Press.)—Continued improvement in the condition of King Ferdinand of Rumania is reported in direct despatches from Bucharest. He is said to have conversed with Premier Averescu and to have signed several documents.

On the other hand general correspondence represents Dr. Sluys, the Belgian expert who applied radium treatment for the monrach's intestinal affection, as stating that death is inevitable, although the King may hold out for days or even weeks.

Industrial progress is a great factor in modern life. You find it exemplified in the advertisements from day to day. Read these advertisements and keep up with the history of your own times.

Trading Restricted To-day; Mining Market Irregular

TORONTO, April 8 (Canadian Press).—Restricted trading and irregular price movements featured the market on the Standard Mining Exchange today. The majority of the higher priced issues suffered declines, while Quebec stocks were in the main firmer. Noranda recorded the greatest gain of the day, advancing 20 cents to 21.65. Lake Shore gained five to 18.70, and Wright Hargreaves sold up four cents to 10.59. McIntyre declined 5 to 25.05, and Teck Hughes was off 7 to 6.85, while Dome Mines was unchanged at 8.25. Barry Hollinger advanced 3 cents to 40, and Keeley was up 2 to 1.45, while Kirkland Lake firmed 1 to 1.05. Premier dropped six to 2.10 while Amulet was a strong spot at 1.08, a gain of 8 1-4.

Good Weather In West Results In Wheat Sagging

CHICAGO, April 8 (Canadian Press).—Excellent weather for the new domestic crop had a fresh bear effect on wheat early today. Lower quotations at Liverpool and large shipments from Argentina and Australia tended further to bring about downturns. Opening at 1-8 cent to 5-8c off, wheat soon showed some further decline. Corn, oats and provisions were also easier; corn starting unchanged to 1-8 cent down and later receding all around.

Opening prices were: Wheat, May 134 3-8; July 138 1-8. Corn, May 73 1-4, July 78. Oats, May 44, July 44 1-2.

International Nickel Leads Toronto Activity

TORONTO, April 8 (Canadian Press)—International Nickel ruled the favorite of the market on the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day. Traded in to the extent of 8,605 shares, Nickel sold up 7-8 to close at 45 3-8 after previously selling as high at 46. F. N. Burt was the strong feature of the market, selling up 3 1-2 points to 62 1-2. Industrial Alcohol was in demand and advanced 3-4 to 27 3-4. British Columbia Fishing, old stock, strengthened 1 1-4 points to 83 1-2. Massey Harris was quiet and firmed 1-2 to 136. Seagram was active and stronger, selling up 3-8 to 25 3-8. Walker was active and strong, selling up 5-8 to 43 1-2c. G. and W. weakened 5-8 to 60 7-8. The oil and mining issues were steady.

Railway Shares Stronger; Industrials On Down Grade

NEW YORK, April 8. Canadain Press. — The stock market was a "two sided affair" again to-day with the rails climbing steadily to new high ground, while the industrials were inclined to sell off. New York Central sold above 151 for the first time in over 20 years. Kansas City Southern touched a new up around 61 and Norfolk and Western, Louisville and Nashville, Atlantic City and several others sold 1 to 3 points above yesterdays final quotations. General Motors advanced 2 points to within a small fraction of its record high. United States Steel common held firmly. Several specialties, such as Commercial Solvents 'B,' Butterick, By-products coke and Case Threshing Machine recorded good gains. Renewed weakness developed in Continental Banking 'A,' Ward Banking 'B,' Wilson Company Preferred, Cudahy Packing, Shubert Theatres, and American Woollen Preferred.

ARGONAUT DOWN AT 1250 FEET

Stimulated by the good results at the Kirkland Lake Mines where better showings occurred at depth, the management of Argonaut Consolidated Mines, Limited, decided a year ago on a large programme of development carrying operations down from 750 feet to 1,250 feet in depth.

Two new levels were opened in 1926, at 875 and 1,000 feet. Good ore was encountered and diamond drilling gave the assurance of still better mineralization further down so that in December last the drillers were put to work again with 1,250 feet as the objective. This level was reached Tuesday of this week, April 5th.

Men are already at work cutting a station. In a few days all machinery will be in place and drifting will start at once on both of the two new levels, 1,125 and 1,250 feet. Four veins, 1014, 1018, 1022 and 1037, well defined and capable of good production, are now opened on the 1,000-foot level for length running from 135 to 150 feet respectively.

Three veins should be reached on the lower level within 100 to 150 feet from the shaft and everything points to larger production at Argonaut at a very near future date.

GIVES ADDRESS ON THE HISTORY OF DOMINION

H. R. H. Kenner Speaks at Meeting of Life Underwriters' Association.

SOLOS RENDERED.

Capture of Quebec Turning Point in History of Many Nations.

Canada's history from earliest times was touched upon by H. R. H. Kenner, Principal of the Collegiate Institute, in a most instructive and interesting address before the members of the Life Underwriters' Association of Peterborough. Mr. Kenner spoke at the regular monthly meeting of the association, which was held in the Empress Hotel last night.

Mr. Kenner divided Canada's history into three parts; first, the French section, from 1535 to 1760, which was marked by the struggle between the French and the English for the mastery; second, the English section, marked by the struggle of the people for responsible government; and thirdly, the era since Confederation in 1867, a time of consolidation and expansion, in which the national sentiment has grown.

The first period is full of romantic names: Cartier, Champlain, Frontenac, coureurs de bois, Indians, Montcalm and Wolfe. It came to an end with the battle on the Plains of Abraham, on September 13, 1759, and the surrender shortly after of the forts at Quebec and Montreal. Mr. Kenner recounted the circumstances of the battle, with the deaths of the beloved leaders, and quoted the motto engraved on the monument erected to their memory on the battlefield: "Valor gave them a common death, history a common fame, and posterity a common monument."

This battle was a turning point in history for many nations. It freed the colonies to the south from the fear of a French invasion and opened to them the rich lands of the west. They had developed many fine military leaders and had supported armies from their own resources during the war, so that at the first opportunity they declared their independence. England, by the war of which the Quebec campaign was a part, became a great colonial power, and no longer was rated by her standing in Europe alone, but from then on overshadowed the other nations. Canada, which the French had failed properly to colonize, due to the lack of freedom of the ordinary people, grew, under English freedom, into one of the greatest nations in the world.

The second period might be termed the constitutional period, said Mr. Kenner. It was marked by four great acts: the Quebec Act, the Constitutional Act, the Act of Union, and the British North America Act. The Quebec Act gave the power to the Governor and Council; it restored French laws to Quebec and settled the question whether the French-Canadians were to be swallowed up or to grow up side by side with the English.

Later the Continental Congress decided that if the Canadians would not accept freedom it should be forced upon them, and sent armies to capture Montreal and Quebec. Most of the habitants remained neutral, but some of them volunteered and helped the British garrison drive back the invaders. The revolution to the south brought the United Empire Loyalists, in a movement which was one of the most far-reaching in history. Thirty thousand of the best citizens of the colonies, leaders in every phase of activity, came to this country.

The Constitutional Act was passed because these new comers refused to be content under the orders of a governor, but demanded self government. They had a great deal of sympathy from England, and the act was passed, splitting the two provinces, and giving them the institutions to which they were accustomed. Then in 1812 the Americans attacked Canada, and Canadian militia had a great part in the repelling of this attack. This raised up a feeling of martial self reliance and patriotism, and started the bond between all the provinces which resulted ultimately in Confederation.

The rule of the governors and councils was much in the nature of an oligarchy, as they were not responsible to the elected assemblies. Rebellions broke out in Upper and Lower Canada, and Lord Durham was sent out to make his famous report, which resulted in the legislative union of the two Canadas. Responsible government came into being from 1848 to 1853 in the various provinces.

In 1864 representatives from the Maritime Provinces were to gather at Charlottetown to discuss union, and delegates from Canada were sent. The idea of Confederation overshadowed that of Maritime union and the conference broke up to re-

England-Australia Wireless Beam Service Can Now Send Over 200 Words a Minute Both Ways

LONDON, April 9.—The Postoffice yesterday inaugurated a wireless beam service to Australia which is able to transmit more than 200 word simultaneously in two directions per minute. Although the cable rates to Australia have been reduced twice since January, the beam rate is a third less than the present cable rate. It is expected that the wireless beam will be operated in July between London and New York.

According to time—since wireless waves travel better at night—the new beam will be directed on its 10,000-miles journey either eastward over Europe or westward over America. A letter takes the eighteenth of a second to pass from the transmitter in London to the receiver in Australia.

Because of its speed the beam is expected to revolutionize the transmission of messages. As many as 325 words a minute in both directions have been sent simultaneously over the Australian beam. A beam to Montreal has been working since October, and beam stations for South Africa and India will be ready for tests in a few weeks.

SOVIET ACTION REGARDING PEKING ANXIOUSLY AWAITED BY POWERS

Position Among Powers in China Brought To Fore By Incidents.

SITUATION TENSE.

Action at Shanghai Based on Fear of Hostile Demonstration.

SHANGHAI, April 9 (A.P.).—The entire difficult question of the position of Soviet Russia among the Powers in China has been brought to the fore by the events at Peking and Shanghai insofar as they affect the Soviet's diplomatic representatives during the past few days.

The apparent ostracism of Soviet Russia among the Powers diplomatically represented in China has been emphasized by these events and the situation has become the most important topic throughout China wherever foreigners and Chinese have come into contact.

It is widely recognized that the incidents in Peking and Shanghai are filled with dynamite and Moscow's reaction, thus far unindicated, is anxiously awaited.

While the ministers of the Powers at Peking and the Consuls at Shanghai are taking up technically correct positions, the former protesting against the action of the Northerners in exceeding the terms of their permit to pass through the Legation quarter, and the latter asking the municipal council to explain the cordon placed about the Russian Consulate. It is felt that there can be no question that neither affair would have been possible had any Power offered the slightest opposition.

Feared Demonstrations

The action of the municipal council of Shanghai in placing a cordon around the Soviet Consulate was based on fear of possible hostile demonstrations against it, it was stated yesterday. This fear was prompted by information reaching the Commissioner of Police that the raid on the buildings attached to the Soviet Embassy in Peking had revealed matters which were likely to create feeling against the Soviet Consulate here.

As a result of a protest received from the Soviet Consul-General against the stationing of a guard around the Consulate, the Consular body met yesterday afternoon and decided to refer the matter to the Shanghai municipal council, with a request for an explanation of its actions.

Responsibility for posting the cordon was entirely that of the municipal council. The cordon was made up of the municipality's paid police force, which includes police volunteers, including foreigners and Chinese and white Russians belonging to the Russian company of the Shanghai volunteer corps. This latter company, recruited largely from the defeated forces of the Northern general, Chang Tsung Chang, is under the orders of the municipal council. While the Russian angle of the situation is now holding the centre of attention, the evacuation of foreigners from the interior, the political manoeuvres within the ranks of the Cantonese, and military movements in China's civil war also are continuing.

Keeps Cigar 52 Years Smokes It On Birthday

GREENVILLE, O., April 9.—Fifty-two years ago, a storekeeper gave T. Burns a 10-cent cigar. Burns decided to "keep it until after supper" and after supper decided to keep it until he was older. On his seventy-seventh birthday recently he smoked the cigar that he had kept moist and wrapped in cotton since 1875.

BEER SALE BILL IN THIRD READING

Manitoba Legislature Passes Act For Holding Plebiscite.

RULES SUSPENDED.

WINNIPEG, April 9. Canadian Press. — After sitting for sixteen hours in two sessions, the Manitoba Legislature adjourned at 4 a.m., today, to meet again at 11 o'clock for prorogation. During this period no less than two filibusters were broken—one on the periodic day of rest for the employees bill, and the other on the government's plebiscite bill, containing form of ballot to be used at the forthcoming referendum on the extension of the liquor laws in regard to sale of beer.

The first bill was finally ordered not reported for the third reading, while the plebiscite bill was given a third reading at 4 a.m. Five other bills were given a third reading before adournment. John Queen, the labor leader, spoke for four hours in the afternoon and J. K. Downes, Independent, Winnipeg, occupied the floor for three hours in the evening.

WINNIPEG, April 9. Canadian Press. — After many hours of debate the government's plebiscite bill, providing for the sale of beer by the glass or the bottle, was reported from the committee at 2.10 a.m. today, and upon suspension of house rules was given the third reading in the Legislature.

QUICK CHANGE IN STORE FRONT

Order Given Tuesday Afternoon Completed This Morning.

BY LOCAL FIRM.

The remodelling of Brass's Ladies' Store front constitutes one of the quickest contracts ever executed in this city. The order for the new front was received by Fred Dummitt, a local contractor, late on Tuesday afternoon. At an early hour this morning the job was completed. Other local firms that helped in making the record possible were the Peterboro Hardware Co., who supplied the glass and copper; the Vermont Marble Co., who supplied the marble; and the McDonald Lumber Co., who supplied the panels.

The new front is the newest model and is of a particularly attractive nature, enabling merchandise to be displayed to the best possible advantage. The rear portions of the windows are finished in old ivory. The mirrors and door panels are designed in scored glass. The entire interior will be remodelled next week and will be completed in time for a formal reopening next Saturday.

This store will carry a full line of millinery, lingerie and hosiery

SAYS THAT BRITISH SUBJECTS ARE DISCRIMINATED AGAINST IN DEPORTATION CLAUSE OF ACT

Lucien Cannon Appeals For Its Elimination From Immigration Act.

MEMBERS ARGUE.

Stevens Believes Government Should Go Back To Act 1910.

OTTAWA, April 9. — When the House resumed yesterday afternoon, Hon. H. H. Stevens, of Centre Vancouver, resumed the debate in second reading of a bill to amend the immigration act respecting sedition and the penalty of deportation therefore. In the opinion of Mr. Stevens the government should go back to the act of 1910.

Hon. Robert Forke declared that while certain offensive clauses of the act were to be removed by this bill there were ample provisions in the immigration act to take care of all undesirables.

Favors Elimination.

Neil. of Comox-Alberni (Independent) declared that it was unfortunate that the member for Calgary West had introduced this controversy. The measure had passed the House three times and Mr. Neill stated that he intended to vote for it again.

"I happen to be one of those persons," he said, "who have been referred to as belonging to that unfortunate class called imported Canadians, and as being inferior to my sons or grandsons. I favor the bill because I am opposed to deportation in any form whatever."

Under the act of 1910, Mr. Neill declared that he "could have wiggled out by saying he was a Canadian citizen," but under the 1919 act he could not do so.

"Then," said Mr. Stevens, "why not readopt the act of 1910?"

There were some interruptions in which Messrs. Stevens and Cannon participated.

Resuming Mr. Neill said: "When lawyers quarrel honest men come into their own." He declared that it was not the purpose of those who advocated the bill to condone crime but there were courts in the dominion before which those who committed a crime could be tried and punished without the necessity of having recourse to deportation.

"Try and convict," he said, "by all means do so, but why admit weakness of our laws, by deporting?"

Hon. Lucien Cannon, solicitor-general, declared the bill was the same as had been passed in the House last session. Under the immigration act the department had full authority to-da" to keep out of Canada, whosoever it wished. British subjects, in 1919, had been put in a position of exception. A British subject born in Britain, even if he had lived in Canada 40 years, could be deported. Was it fair that such should be the case, whereas a foreigner born in Russia but who had obtained naturalization here, could not be deported? The old law which it was now sought to repeal discriminated against British subjects born outside of Canada.

We can deal with the bolsheviks under the existing law," declared Mr. Cannon, "section 41 can deal with the bolsheviks, but under the present act an arbitrary minister of immigration can send British subjects out of Canada without any trial or right to appeal."

Mr. Cannon declared that even if as proposed by the bill the section under discussion were repealed the government had power under the act to deal with all cases which might come up.

'SAFETY FIRST' DINNER PLANNED

Canadian Manufacturers' Association Bringing R. B. Morley To City.

COST OF ACCIDENTS.

On Monday night at seven o'clock the 'Safety First' banquet and meeting, under the auspices of the local branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, will be held in the Empress Hotel. The speaker for the evening will be R. B. Morley, General Manager of the Industrial Accident Prevention Association, and his subject will be "The Cost of Industrial Accidents." He will show how, by the observance of general safety principles, employees expose themselves to less risk and the cost of group insurance is reduced.

A film known as "The Outlaw," dealing with the general question of safety, will also be shown. All employers of labor are requested to be present and as many others as are interested in the subject.

Mr. Morley is thoroughly versed in the subject and his address is sure to be very enlightening and interesting to both employers and employees.

NEW YORK, April 9 (Associated Press).—A child's toy wooden horse and a wax tablet recording the birth of twins in 145 A. D. were among many valuable objects discovered in the Fayoum in Egypt by an expedition of the University of Michigan, Prof. Francis W. Kelsey announced upon his return here from a three-months' survey of the excavations.

He said more than 3,000 pieces of cloth, many tools and objects of daily life in wood, leather and other perishable materials were found in good condition.

The excavation, now in its third year, is being made on the edge of the Lybian Desert.

JANITOR KILLED WHEN CRUSHED BY ELEVATOR

James Rose Receives Fatal Injuries in Cressman Store.

INQUEST ORDERED.

Elevator Boy Was Fixing Connection at Top of Elevator.

James Rose, the janitor of the A. W. Cressman Company store, was accidentally killed last night at about 5.25. Mr. Rose was getting into the elevator while it was moving. His head struck against the bar in the door, tripping him, and he was crushed to death instantly between the elevator bar and the first floor.

Philip Heffernan, the elevator boy, had gone to the roof to make a connection which would put the elevator into commission. While he was making this connection the elevator started and the accident occurred.

Mr. Rose was a resident of Otonabee, and leaves a wife and family.

An inquest has been ordered for Monday evening by Coroner Dr. T. W. H. Young.

19 KNOWN DEAD; TRAFFIC TIED UP

New Flood Warnings Sent Out in Southern States.

KANSAS CITY, April 9 (Canadian Press). — With nineteen known dead in Kansas and Oklahoma and thousands of acres of valuable land inundated, new flood warnings were broadcast to-day as streams rose to record marks, following cloudbursts that crippled traffic and communications throughout a large area. Most railroads in South-Eastern Kansas and Northern Oklahoma were forced to re-route trains following three derailments yesterday, in which three persons perished and more than a score were injured.

The plane is piloted by M. Drouhin, accompanied by Captain Saint Roman, and Commander Mouneyres. There are two mechanicians and a wireless operator.

New York Manufacturer Strangled To Death While He Slept By His High Stiff Collar

NEW YORK, April 9.—Charles B. Kelly, New York, manager of the Illuminated Arrow Co., was strangled to death in his office yesterday by a high, stiff collar he was wearing.

He, with a companion named Robert Johnstone, of Hempstead, L.I., had been in the company's offices all night. Kelly fell asleep and slipped from his swivel chair to the floor. He was in a haunched position, with his head resting on his knees, and his neck pressed tightly against his collar. Police detectives found him in this position and said the collar had strangled him to death.

Johnstone, dazed from liquor, had left the office yesterday morning to buy a package of cigarettes. When he returned he asked the superintendent of the building to help him rouse Kelly. It was then they found he was dead. Alfonse Mosley, the building superintendent, called police and Bellevue Hospital.

Johnstone was arrested on a charge of transporting liquor. A bottle filled with gin was found in a travelling bag said to belong to him and another bottle with a small quantity of gin left was found in the room.

SLEEMAN BREWERY REPORTS COMPANY'S BOOKS ARE MISLAID

Given Until Monday To Produce Them at Customs Enquiry.

SALES TAX ARREARS.

Toronto Garageman Questioned Regarding Long-distance 'Phone Slips.

TORONTO, April 9 (Canadian Press).—Another brewery company has mislaid books and records which are required by the Royal Commission on Customs. This time it is the Sleeman Brewery of Guelph, Ont., which is being taken over by a new company. The brewery is not operating at the moment.

The Commission manifested some impatience when Henry O. Sleeman, managed of the old company, said that some of the books for which the auditors have been looking, are lost.

"Nonsense!" came an ejaculation from the bench.

"We've had enough of disappearing books" said Commissioner Wright.

Finally, after the examination of Mr. Sleeman, and of a former bookkeeper for the brewery, Chief Commissioner J. T. Brown suggested that Mr. Sleeman be given until Monday next to find the books. "If he does not we will probably see a way of taking some action, added the chairman.

Hon. N. W. Rowell, K.C., made searching inquiry as to the possible location of the missing records. He informed Mr. Sleeman that the auditors said that it was impossible to arrive at the history of the firm's transactions with the records which were available. Production and sales did not balance, according to the documents which the auditors were able to lay their hands on, counsel said.

After questioning Mr. Sleeman without discovering any clue to the missing books, Mr. Rowell called Mrs. Gertrude Hussey, a former book-keeper for the brewery. While not now actually engaged in the brewery office, she told the Commission that she had done work at home during the past few years on the books. The sales and customers' ledgers had never been sent up to her house by Mr. Sleeman, however, and so she had found it necessary to keep a sort of supplementary set of ledgers in small paper-covered books. These books had been mislaid, Mrs. Hussey informed the Commission, but she stated that all the records from which they were written up should be at the brewery office. She had returned them.

Sales Tax Arrears

From James R. Hanlon, Acting Collector of Customs at Guelph, the Commission learned that the Sleeman Brewery was in arrears for sales tax. The last audit made showed the amount to be about $1,100.

Earlier in the sitting, Mr. Rowell examined Mike Bernardo, partner in Toronto garage, in respect to his business relations with Mr. and Mrs. Rocco Perri, of Hamilton. Armed with a number of long distance telephone slips covering calls which, counsel said, passed between the Perri home at Hamilton and Mike Bernardo, Mr. Rowell tried to find what the conversations were about.

KEEPING MARIE OUT OF POLITICS

Rumanian Political Leaders Agree That Regency Will Function.

CAROL BARRED.

LONDON, April 9. (United Press)—Rumanian political leaders have agreed to keep Queen Marie out of Governmental affairs after King Ferdinand dies, says a dispatch to-day from the Daily Express Budapest correspondent, who has just returned from Bucharest where the King has been critically ill. Premier Averescu and former premier Bratiano agreed that the triumvirate of regents for Prince Michael, grandson of the king and heir to the throne, would assume power on the king's death the dispatch said. Averescu and Bratiano decided that Prince Carol, who renounced his rights to the throne, must never become king, according to the correspondent.

Plans have been made to put Rumania under martial law immediately if the king dies, he said.

King Out of Danger

BUCHAREST, April 9 (Canadian Press) — King Ferdinand's physicians consider him out of immediate danger; it is learned on best authority. This optimism is limited to the present crisis, however, and concerns the bronchial-pneumonia complications. Nothing is definitely known concerning the development of symptoms of cancer, which caused his first illness.

MAYOR'S VISIT TO COMMISSION IS UNAVAILING

Might Lose Chance To Sell To Private Firm, Commission Explains.

BUSSES TIED UP.

Hydro Awaits Outcome of Council Meeting Before Releasing Them.

Mayor W. T. Holloway and W. H. Bradburn, M.P.P., yesterday interviewed the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario regarding the street railway situation in this city. The Commissioners would not commit themselves as to the lowest price which they would accept for the railway and gas plant. Their reason for this action was that while they were waiting for the people of Peterborough to decide, an opportunity might arise to sell the railway and gas plant to a private concern. When they refused the city's offer of $150,000 they said that, as the city's offer was not acceptable, they would immediately open negotiations to sell to a private company.

Mayor Holloway has called a meeting for Monday night, when the whole situation will be discussed in Committee of the Whole Council. The Commission refused to let the busses be put in operation until it sees the outcome of Monday night's meeting.

AROUND THE CITY

Early yesterday morning a small fire broke out at 149 George Street North, causing about $50.00 damage. The chimney caught fire and the sparks dropped down into an old fireplace which was covered over with cardboard. The soot and cardboard ignited and the fire spread into the living room, where it blackened and scorched the paper on the walls.

PAINTS DARK FUTURE

VIENNA, April 9.—The history of the decline of the Roman Empire is repeating itself in Europe, declares Cardinal Piffl, Archbishop of Vienna. He denounces small families, modern dress of women, and the more recent dances as sure signs that European civilization is decaying. But he says the fox-trot, tango and shimmy are harmless.

FRANCE WILL JOIN POWERS IN PROTEST NOTE

First Foreign Concerted Action in China Since Boxer Rebellion.

FIVE POWER NOTE.

Is Now Convinced Can No Longer Act Independently in China.

PARIS, April 9 (AP) — Announcement of the first such concerted action in China by foreign government's since the Boxer rebellion in 1900 was made by the French foreign office yesterday.

The announcement said the ministers of France, Great Britain, Italy Japan and the United States have been instructed by their governments to hand a joint note of protest to the Peking government against the treatment accorded their nationals. It was stated that the note would threaten penalties but without specifying their nature. It is supposed that the decision to send the note is mainly due to the Nanking affair.

It is understood that the note will be drafted by the ministers in Peking and will follow lines indicated in instructions from their governments.

According to the foreign office, France now is convinced that she no longer can act independently in China, and her minister in Peking has been instructed to co-operate with the other diplomats concerned in presenting identic notes to the Chinese government setting forth that the lives and property of foreigners must be safeguarded against acts of violence.

Up to yesterday France had maintained that other powers, more interested in China, should take the lead in any representations in the present anti-foreign troubles.

In fact, foreign minister Briand is reported to have told the foreign affairs committee of the Chamber of Deputies a week ago yesterday that the position of France in China was excellent. He added that the policy of France in the Far East remained one of vigilance.

In connection with yesterday's announcement it was reported that there is no attention at this time of joint punitive action in China, and no further French troops will be sent there for the present. But the events of the past few days have convinced France that the time for a united front has arrived.

Report Wheat Outlook Is Highest Since Year 1921

WASHINGTON, April 9 (Canadian Press)—Condition of the winter wheat crop on April 1 was the highest of any year on that date since 1921, the department of agriculture to-day placing it at 84.5 per cent of normal, an increase of 2.7 points since December 1, compared with an average decline of 4.6 points between those dates in the last ten years.

The department issued no forecast of indicated production nor any statistics on the acreage abandoned, both of which will be estimated next month. The area sown to winter wheat last fall was 11,807,000 acres. Last year's harvested area was 36,913,000 acres, and production 626,929,000 bushels.

All important winter wheat states in the eastern central and north central sections showed an improvement in condition since December.

FIRE DESTROYS HOUSE AT LANG

Residence and Blacksmith Shop of W. Thickson Burned To Ground.

OTHERS IGNITED.

KEENE, April 9—The residence and blacksmith shop owned by William Thickson, at Lang, was totally destroyed this morning by fire, the cause of which is unknown.

The efforts of neighbors were necessary to save the surrounding houses, as sparks and embers, carried by the high wind, started a number of roof fires.

Mr. Thickson lost his tools and furniture, which were partly covered by insurance.

More than half a ton of snails was shipped from France to the United States last year.

The one-oared sampans of the Chinese look innocent enough as they ply up and down the river at Shanghai. But there have been many mysterious shootings along the river banks, so the craft have been suspected of harboring guerillas. The picture shows British troops inspecting a couple of the sampans for rifles and explosives. Long usage of the sampans has given the Chinese uncanny skill in handling the awkward-looking craft to elude pursuit.

Native Shanghai may be out of date but it boasts the first trackless trolley ever put in operation. The city's narrow winding streets make car tracks impractical. The street car uses electrical power like ours, but the Chinese save the cost of trackage. The motorman must guide the car along under the double trolley wire. This type of car has been common in China for 20 years and still is in operation. Note the trolley on the front end of the car.

EVANGELIST TO LEAVE TEMPLE

Aimee McPherson To Continue Revival Services "On the Road."

VARYING REPORTS.

LOS ANGELES, April 9. Canadian Press. — Aimee Semple McPherson, evangelist, and her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, yesterday living apart, made varying explanations which indicated a disruptive trend in the situation at the Angelus Temple. The evangelist's mother, who is the business manager of the Angelus Temple Association, made statements indicating that she and the temple might be facing the permanent loss of Mrs. McPherson.

The latter o Thursday left the home adjoining the temple in which she, her children and her secretaries had lived with her mother. Mrs. McPherson insisted to-day at her new home in Santa Monica that she was just visiting friends." The friends (Mr. and Mrs. H. Emmil) were not in evidence while the presence of Mrs. McPherson's two servants and considerable baggage, gave the appearance of a prolonged "visit."

"Sister always goes to the beach the summer," her mother said. "We are working full steam ahead, but always in a great work like this there are those who misconstrue things.

"You know the people of New York want to build a temple for sister."

Members of the temple congregation and the evangelist's press agents reported that the exit from the joint home marked a parting of the ways between Mrs. McPherson and Mrs. Kennedy, and that the evangelist planned to continue "on the road" conducting revival services.

The evangelist declared that it was her intention to remain in her pulpit until June and to return to it after the Chicago and Toronto revivals, which she previously announced she would hold this summer.

Basle, Switzerland, has issued special poster-stamps to commemorate this year's exhibition of Swiss industries.

PINEDO FORSAKES PLANE FOR MOTOR

Latest Lap of Round World Journey Covered By Land.

PHOENIX, Ariz., April 9 (United Press).—Col. Francesco de Pinedo, Italian world flyer, arrived here yesterday at 9.25 a.m., mountain time, after a fast trip by automobile from Roosevelt Lake.

He will leave about 11 a.m. as a passenger in one of four planes sent here from the naval station at San Diego.

De Pinedo was much perturbed by reports that the burning of his plane was due to a plot, it was evidenced by a statement which he made shortly after his arrival here. The statement read:

"I want to emphasize that the destruction of the Santa Maria by fire on Roosevelt Lake Wednesday noon was due solely and entirely to a careless American youth, and that in no manner could it be construed as being an attack upon me or my government.

"Col. Francesco de Pinedo."

New Plane.

ROME, April 9.—A new hydro-airplane, similar to the destroyed Santa Maria, will be sent to Col. Francesco de Pinedo, Italian aviator, aboard the S.S. Duilio, sailing from Genoa for New York April 20, it was announced yesterday.

GIVES ADDRESS

convene in Quebec a few months later. Thirty-three delegates from the six provinces met and drew up seventy-two resolutions. These were approved by all but Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland, and delegates from the four provinces went to London to get the necessary act passed. On July 1, 1867, this came into effect.

Six years later the entry of Manitoba, British Columbia, and Prince Edward Island, with the purchase of the Northwest Territories, brought into being a nation covering half the continent. This period of expansion is the third into which Canada's history was divided by the speaker. Only Newfoundland is lacking now, he said, to complete the union.

Mr. Kenner dwelt at great length upon the great riches added to Canada by the Western provinces, with their fertile fields, great forests, mines, fisheries, etc., and spoke of the value of the C.P.R. as the link which bound them together. With the Suez Canal, the C.P.R. completed the great British girdle around the earth. Never did a country begin under fairer auspices, he said, and much greater things will be accomplished if her children remain true.

The thanks of those present were tendered by T. H. Gillespie and D. M. Bissell, and heartily endorsed.

Vern. Morphet was soloist for the evening, singing two well-received solos, "Just A-Wearyin' for You," and "A Bachelor Gay."

Neil Tobin, president of the local branch, presided. Charles Sedgwick played for the soloist and for the community singing.

SOVIET ACTION

controversy between the moderates and extremists within the Cantonese political organization, left Shanghai for Nanking yesterday afternoon.

His departure was believed to presage further Cantonese military operations north of the Yangtse River, although it is possible that it may have something to do with his political controversies. Not long ago Chiang was ordered by the central executive committee at Hankow, with which he has been at odds because of its extreme views, to resume his military command at Nanking.

While in Shanghai he has conducted an energetic compaign against Communism and had ordered the disarming of Chinese Communists and laborites, who were reported to be numerous in the native city.

Wang Ching Wei, chairman of the Kuomintang, or political organization of the Cantonese, who has made strenuous efforts to heal the breach within the party, left secretary on Wednesday for Hankow.

Snipers Operating

Yesterday morning the comparative calm of the international settlement of the past few days was broken by the operation of snipers from alleyways and roof tops. These fired on Japanese and seriously wounded one marine. Shots were exchanged for about an hour, when British and Japanese reinforcements arrived and the snipers withdrew. Later sniping broke out in a new area of the same district, but ceased quickly when the Japanese replied.

It is understood that the Peking diplomatic body has been discussing defence of the foreign communities in Peking and Tientsin which are threatened by the advance of the Cantonese armies. It is likely that a large force of foreign soldiers will be asked for as a defence against brigandage which is feared would develop after any collapse of the Northern authorities.

HOUSE DESTROYED WITH IMPLEMENTS

Nearby School Building Saved By Efforts of Neighbors.

APSLEY, April 9. — On Monday night a log house at Clydesdale, occupied by Robt. Caldwell, was burned to the ground, together with a binder, horserake and other implements, the property of Reeve Alan Caldwell, who lives near by.

The high wind carried the flames towards the school house, which was only saved from destruction by the strenuous efforts of neighbors.

In spite of their endeavors, the woodshed was destroyed, and the porch of the school also burned.

MARMORA NEWS.

MARMORA, April 9.—There was a good attendance at St. Paul's A.Y.P.A. on Tuesday evening to hear a most interesting talk on Radio by Mr. W. R. Reynolds, electrician at Deloro. Mr. Reynolds mentioned that radio was a wonder of the world, surpassing the seven wonders of ancient time. His address was prefaced with an excellent review of the discoveries in connection with electricity.

FATHER WHO SLEW DOCTOR MAY DIE

Frances Caruso Convicted of First Degree Murder By Jury.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., April 9 — (United Press).—Francesco Caruso, convicted of killing, in his blind ignorance, the physician who was unable to save Caruso's dying son, yesterday faced the penalty of death in the electric chair.

A jury decided at midnight, after deliberating six hours, that Caruso committed first-degree murder when he stabbed Dr. Caspar S. Pendola to death in a frenzy of grief over the death of his son Joseph, aged six.

Caruso, a longshoreman, believed Dr. Fendola had killed the boy with some deadly poison because he saw the physician inject anti-toxin into Joseph's veins in a fruitless effort to stem the ravages of an advanced case of diphtheria. No physician had been called until the case was too severe for effective treatment, it was testified at the trial. Caruso had treated the boy with "home remedies," one of which was to tie a leaf of lettuce around the lad's neck.

Caruso's wife and five children were reported to be destitute. Relatives in New Jersey cared for them during the trial.

SLEEMAN BREWERY

With some difficulty, he at last ascertained that Bernardo had been commissioned to buy car-loads of beer for Mrs. Perri on two occasions. The witness insisted that, on neither occasion, had the deal gone through, and declared that the money paid to him was returned. An interesting feature of this evidence was the admission by Mike Bernardo that one of the cheques which was sent to him by Mrs. Perri bore the signature "Bessie Starkman."

The Commissioners objected to Mr. Bernardo's manner of testifying. Counsel had difficulty in getting direct answers to his questions at times. Two or three times the Commissioners protested.

Finally Chief Commissioner Brown said that he thought they would have to put Mr. Bernardo "where he'll have time to think."

Finally, Mr. Bernardo was requested to produce his bank-book for the inspection of the auditors. He will be called again next week.

Produced Report

Just before adjournment A. B. Nash, Commission auditor, produced a report covering four Toronto firms: the Royal Cloak Company, the Alco Dress Co., the O. B. Earle Co., and the Model Dress Co. He said that this report was merely supplementary to one which had been filed before the Parliamentary committee at Ottawa. In certain instances court action, based on this first report, was being taken, he said, so he gave no details of this report.

The Commission adjourned until Monday.

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

UNCLEAN

When I was just a little boy,
A woman in our neighborhood
A simple method would employ
To keep a youngster's morals good.
For, if her boy an oath applied,
She didn't use a strap or rope;
His mouth she made him open wide,
And then she washed it out with soap.

I used to think her method mean.
But I don't know, I'm not so sure;
For lots of fellows I have seen
Who need her good, old-fashion cure.
I meet them in the smoking-car,
I find them in the office, too,
And even where the ladies are,
When that is what I long to do.

A filthy word or filthy thing
Must taste alike, I have no doubt;
And so their mouths I'd like to bring
Some soap so they could wash them out.
Yes, when I meet that sort of men,
Who think vulgarity is fun,
I'd like to make them clean again
And fit to be their mother's son.

OLD MASTERS

What is to come we know not.
But we know
That what has been was good—
was good to show,
Better to hide, and best of all to bear.
We are the masters of the days that were:
We have lived, we have loved, we have suffered . . . even so.

Shall we not take the ebb who had the flow?
Life was our friend. Now, if it be our foe—
Dear, though it spoil and break us! need we care
What is to come?

Let the great winds their worst and wildest blow,
Or the cold weather round us mellow slow;
We have fulfilled ourselves, and we can dare,
And we can conquer, though we may not share
In the rich quiet of the after-glow
What is to come?

—William Ernest Henley. "What Is to Come."

THE LIFE OF CHRIST : In the Garden of Gethsemane

Synopsis Arranged by Dr. Wm. E. Gilroy, D.D., Sketches by Kroesen.

Jesus and His disciples go to the Mount of Olives. He takes Peter, James and John into the Garden of Gethsemane. Christ goes off alone and prays in agony, "O, my Father, if it be possible, let this cup pass from me! Nevertheless, not as I will, but as Thou wilt." (Matthew XXVI : 30-39)

"And there appeared an angel unto Him from heaven, strengthening Him." (Luke XX : 43)

"In agony, He prayed more earnestly; and His sweat was as it were great drops of blood falling down to the ground." (Luke XXII : 44)

After the agonizing prayer, Jesus returns to find Peter, James and John asleep. He reproaches them saying, "What! Could ye not watch one hour?" (Matthew XXVI : 40-41)

MUSINGS AT A MANSE WINDOW

IN the hope that many of my friends who read the first part of the story as told by "A Yankee Parson," would like to hear the rest of it I shall set it down very much as he gave it to me. You will remember that it has to do with the minister of Shiloh, who seems to have been such a pastor as any people would be glad to have as leader and spiritual adviser. He never preached in the minor key, but always with a fine ring of triumph. In all his preaching he was careful to close with the expectant note. He was careful to cultivate his own soul. Among his books of devotion, Richard Cecil easily stood next the Bible, and he used to read over and over these words of that English minister of a century ago, "The grand aim of a minister must be the exhibition of gospel truth. His first duty is to call on his hearers to turn to the Lord. Men who lean toward the extreme of evangelical privileges do much more than they who lean toward the extreme of requirements. To know Jesus Christ for ourselves is to make Him consolation, delight, strength, righteousness, companion, and end."

The Minister's Secret Life.

I must not invade his secret life to tell you how he daily talked with God; sometimes sitting in his study with an empty chair near by, which was not empty to him, or standing for a moment as he was about to go out—for another eager word with Jesus. He regarded prayer for his people as important as calling or preaching. In his prayers in the pulpit, he seemed like a father gathering his dear children together around the throne of heavenly bounty, and people would say, "The prayer was a sacrament, we were in the holy of holies."

It was clear that conversation with Christ was a daily practice, and that he left neither objects nor language of public prayer to the hour in the pulpit. Some one once said, "I believe our pastor must have a book where he writes prayers when life is at high tide, to inspire when the ebb lingers wearily on the beach."

Serious Yet Cheerful.

His manner was serious yet cheerful; noble yet sympathetic. Not believing it necessary to canonize solemnity at the risk of dullness, he was not afraid to call up a smile, though he ever talked as a living man to living men. There seemed to ring through his soul the words of a charge given him at his ordination, "So live that when people see you in the street they shall think that you are walking with Christ." It could have been said of him without any exaggeration what the prophet Malachi says of the ideal priest, "He walked with Me in peace and equity." To him, God was real and always present. It was no shadow that he walked with put a real person. This seemed to give him poise. And you never could be near him without feeling the better for the experience.

Friendly But Not Purely Social.

It was a joy to him to be with his people in their homes. He went to them as a friend, and more, as a good shepherd, eager to feed, restrain, guide, quicken any who needed his wise counsel. On returning from an afternoon in the parish he could neither study nor read, so weary and burdened was he. Yet there were those who thought his life was one of comfort and ease. He thought much of the needs of his people. His prayer list kept changing, as one by one the repentant took the place of the indifferent. He felt a keen responsibility for the conversion and growth in grace of every one under his care, and once a year at least he sought in some way to bring the gospel personally to every impenitent life. His calls were always friendly, but not always purely social, for he went as an artist of the spiritual life with mind enraptured with eternal realities. He entered with sympathy into the lives of his people, but never as a meddler or busybody.

No Rule for Praying.

He had no rule about praying in the homes, but he was on the lookout for the best way to mingle the spiritual life with common tasks, and when he knelt for a moment of audible prayer it seemed as natural as the jest which fell as a pearl from his pure lips. After praying he went right away, as Maclaren says, "bidding his people good-by before the throne of grace, and in the very presence of the Lord."

He had a warm place in the love of his people because he gave so freely to them all he was. They felt they could pour out their cares and he would keep their confidence as sacred as his life.

A Calling, Not a Business.

The ministry was his calling and not his business, yet he made a business of his ministry. He was careful in the use of time, yet he never seemed in a hurry. There was a fine dignity in him which sometimes asserted itself. One day he called at an office. "Call again, an hour is nothing to a minister," said the business man. There flew to his lips Cecil's words, "An hour nothing to a minister! You little understand the nature of our profession. One hour of a minister's time, rightly employed, sir, is worth more to him than all the gains of your merchandise."

Was the minister of Shiloh never disheartened? Yes, and at such times he liked to read Cecil's words, "Perhaps it is a greater energy of divine power which keeps the Christian from day to day, praying, hoping, believing, than that which bears him up for an hour at the stake." And he was not ignorant of Emerson's great message to the preacher, "Discharge to them the priestly office, and present or absent you shall be followed by their love as an angel. The true preacher is known by this, that he deals out to people his life."

The People's Part.

After all the people are largely responsible for the best results of a ministry. Their charity and devotion, their readiness to respond and to do their part creates a watered garden in which the minister's graces flourish. There is something in what Gladstone says, "Eloquence is a giving back in rain what the speaker receives in mist." There is much in the saying, "A responsive and praying people call forth the best that is in their minister." Those Christians in Shiloh knew the Bible and human nature, and that united faith, sympathy, and hard work form a mighty church.

They took religion seriously; put thought and time into it; most of them believed that morning prayer is as important as breakfast, and the prayer-meeting as valuable as a card party.

No Clock Strikes Twelve Every Hour.

The people at Shiloh went to church in the spirit of Emerson's thought, "We come to church properly for self-examination; for approach to principles; to see how it stands with us with the deep and dear facts of life and love." Whenever the sermon was less finished and strong than usual, they said nothing but words of kindness, and remembered that no clock strikes twelve every hour; that on some days bread is heavy and the cake falls. Whenever he made a blunder, they had sense enough to remember that they lived in glass houses. When a brother faltered they acted on Burke's words, "Applaud us when we run; console us when we fall; cheer us when we recover, but let us pass on—for God's sake, let us pass on."

Difference in Churches.

It was observed that the church in Sodom Valley was usually in trouble; ministers were fleeting, and a Shiloh elder said, "The Sodom folks shrink from a straight message, and they turn the dinner hour on Sunday into a forum to discuss the minister in sharp criticism." The Shiloh people felt about unkind scrutiny of their minister as you would feel about bitter words concerning your mother. They went to church so joyfully and welcomed strangers so cordially that the service came to be thought of as a festival of friendliness and holiness.

Over in Gomorrah, the people thought that the minister was hired to do the praying as well as the preaching, and the minister's wife was an unpaid, economical helper. It was not so in Shiloh, where the people felt that they were called and ordained as really as the minister.

—Allan Fairbairn.

A REAL TEST

MANNERS impress as they indicate real power. A man who is sure of his point, carries a broad and contented expression, which everybody reads. And you cannot rightly train one to an air and manner, except by making him the kind of man of whom that manner is the natural expression. Nature forever puts a premium on reality. Thus spake Emerson, and he was capable of judging.

Take Heed To Your Ways

IT does not matter how early you rise if you do nothing when you get up. It does not matter how much you do for the sake of your health, if you are a healthy good-for-nothing. You will never become intelligent by buying books and arranging them neatly, and treating them like bits of furniture. You must get the books into your souls.

—W. R. N.

What Think Ye of Christ?

EIGHTEEN hundred years ago the world was pagan. Today the best of it is Christian. Those nations that have embraced this religion, believing this Jew to be the Son of God, have been seen to draw away from those that did not, to become enlightened, civilized, cleaner, more humane, superstitions dissolved and their minds liberated. While every nation that refused Him, or accepting, forsook Him, has either remained in darkness, or disappeared from the earth. How do you account for these things?

CHURCHES AND CHURCHMEN

By I. SEEWELL

A Reader's Creed.

A LOVE of books will save us from a fever, from fretfulness, from fear, from envy, from the baser and maligner passions. Nor will the solace fail us when the rest fail. On the contrary, it becomes greater and surer as the toilsome years draw home. Soothed and fortified, by beholding the bright countenance of truth in the quiet still air of delightful studies, at the end we may look up in peace, content with the work of the day.

It is possible to look at that creed and then pass on without being any wiser or richer on the inside of us. But if we will go over it again carefully and thoughtfully I am persuaded we shall see that it sets before us the pathway to both pleasure and profit.

Good Advice.

IF a man is really an imbecile it is the duty of the State to take care of him. If, on the other hand, he has abilities and will not use them, he is a scoundrel, and ought to be punished. Those who know will agree that this is good Christianity. There was a certain teacher of old time who said that, if men would not work, neither should they eat. As the late Robertson Nicoll once said, that is precisely my doctrine.

There is a sentimentalism that does not agree with this as being good advice, but, without wanting to be rude or unsympathetic, I think such sentimentalism is destitute of good sense.

On Flying Low.

ONE who was a famous churchman at the same time as he was an editor and writer of international repute, gave the following good advice to would-be writers.

"I would say to the literary aspirant, choose your target and fly low. Count the number of your words, and adapt them to the usual requirements of the periodical. See that your subject is in line with the subjects treated in the paper. Above all things, be sure that what the editor prints is what the editor likes; that originality, unless of a very compelling nature, is not required, and that there is a fashion in journalism as well as in other things. If I may presume to say so, many disappointments might be avoided in that way. I have been writing all my life since an early age, and have only had two rejections from editors. This was because I aimed definitely and was not too ambitious. The great thing is to get a beginning. Never refuse any work that is offered to you till you are in a position to do so. Never grumble at the terms you receive unless you have better offers available. I read the other day of a famous American doctor, who, when dying, attributed all his success to the fact that he had never declined any labor which he was asked to perform."

The Test of Friendship.

NEVER was a truer word written than that which says that the test of friendship is its fidelity when every charm of fortune and environment has been swept away, and the bare, undraped character alone remains; if love still holds steadfast, and the joy of companionship still survives, in such an hour, the fellowship becomes a beautiful prophecy of immortality.

Such a friendship is possible between the most erring member of the race and Jesus Christ, the sinner's friend.

Is It Sensitiveness?

LILLIAN WHITING tells us that there is a class of people who are comparatively valueless to the world because of a certain morbidness which they are pleased to call sensitiveness. In reality it is nothing of the sort. It is self-love—a refined variety of it, to be sure, but none the less is it the result of a selfishly subjective state, in which they look in and not out, and down and not up, and fail to lend a hand—not from any real unwillingness, but because they are looking in, and do not see the opportunity.

Let these words play the part of a mirror into which you will look in an attempt to discover whether they describe your condition and conduct.

The Papal Dress Reform.

WE find ourselves in hearty agreement with "The Presbyterian" when it says: "Many of us who utterly deny the claims of the Papcy on historical and Biblical grounds, are nevertheless grateful for the fact that since it is a temporal sovereignity, it is often used in the restriction of great universal evils. There are two serious modern evils which have appeared in other ages, but have reached a crisis in our own age. These two evils, for there are others, are lewd dancing and immodest dressing. In his appeal the Pope very wisely states in his plea for modest dressing that 'it is necessary that all who still have a sense of human nobility and dignity, should agree and find a means of creating dams against a current so ugly and so ruinous and carrying so many catastrophies with it.' The prophets and the two chief apostles warned the women of their day of the dangers and evils of improper dress. If it were an evil then, it is thrice an evil now."

Revival of Calvinism.

FROM France comes word of the founding of the Calvinistic Society of France (La Societe Calviniste de France), which "has for its principles of organization and of activity the teaching expounded by Calvin and by the confessions of faith which are inspired through this teaching." The particular aims are: (1) The study and propagation of Calvinism considered as a factor in the power and progress of Christian thought; (2) The making known of the person and works of Calvin, and the religious literature of Calvinism. The aim in view is to establish ultimately a "Universal Calvinistic Alliance," embracing all organizations which hold the principles of the great Reformer. It is around Professor Lecerf, of Paris, that these developments have gathered. These developments lead us to believe that still more remarkable things may be expected.

Salvation and Good Works.

UNDER this caption a certain great religious weekly tells of a lecturer who should have known better, and who probably did, who recently declared that the new evangelism teaches men how to live, while the old evangelism only taught them, and only teaches them, how to die. The expression has a sort of swing to it that catches the shallow and uninformed, although it makes indignant those who resent the misrepresentations of that which is sacred. The so-called new evangelism probably does not teach men how to live any better than it teaches them how to die, but the so-called old evangelism taught, and teaches, men both how to live and how to die, according to the invitations and instructions of the wise and gracious Lord who inspired the Holy Scriptures.

HON. DR. MANION'S POSITION.

The fact that Hon. Dr. Manion is trying to fill two jobs at the same time by acting as a member of the Ontario Liquor Control Board and also as a member of the Dominion Parliament continues to arouse criticism in the press.

It does not seem logical to think that the member for Port William can possibly do justice to the duties of both positions, for which he will draw $10,000 a year in one case and $4,000 in the other.

So far Hon. Dr. Manion has given no indication that he proposes to relinquish either of his posts, and legally there is nothing to prevent him from continuing to hold both.

Should he decide to do so in the face of the adverse comment of many newspapers, there is nothing that can be done about it, although the electors of Fort William will have a chance to act at the next election if they are asked to return to Parliament a representative who combines with his duties at Ottawa a $10,000 job on a Provincial board.

It will strike the man on the street as reasonable to argue that if Dr. Manion's duties on the Liquor Control Board will permit him to sit four or five months in Parliament, they are not heavy enough to warrant $10,000 a year salary.

NEW BRUNSWICK IN LINE.

New Brunswick has not been long in following Ontario in the adoption of Government control as the most satisfactory method of dealing with the liquor problem, although in the case of the Maritime Province the question has not been decided by the people, the New Brunswick Government putting through the measure on its own responsibility.

The bill has already had second reading.

In its provisions the New Brunswick act is very similar to the measure passed by the Ontario Legislature, providing for the sale of liquor in Government stores, although as yet there has been no mention of a permit system such as is being tried out here.

New Brunswick is the seventh Canadian Province to desert the prohibition standard, and present indications are that before long the remaining "dry" Provinces, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island, will also institute some form or other of Government sale.

The conclusion is inevitable that prohibition, while accepted readily by Canadians as a war measure, is a step further than the country is yet prepared to take.

With seven Provinces lined up to authorize the sale of liquor it is clear that public opinion in this country is not in favour of a complete elimination of the traffic.

Prohibitionists, however, should be able to take some comfort out of comparing the conditions even under Government control with those existing before the war.

TRAFFIC IN BEER.

Evidence given by the Customs Commission as to the extent to which the Ontario Temperance Act has been violated by the delivery of strong beer, apparently shipped for export, to Toronto hotels throws a sharp light on the manner in which the measure has been enforced.

Apparently this traffic in strong beer has been carried on without much interference from the authorities, although it is difficult to see how such a bold violation of the law could take place undetected by those charged with administering the regulations.

Surely beer from Ontario breweries could not be delivered by the truck-load to Ontario hotels and sold there without the knowledge that such transactions were going on becoming general.

Officials who could not detect such a flagrant and widespread flouting of the law would have a difficult time convincing any committee of citizens that they were earning their salaries.

Promises that there will be strict enforcement of the new Control Act have been made frequently by the Premier and other members of the Government.

In the light of recent revelations, these pledges are not as reassuring as they should be, especially as the enforcement of the provisions of the Control Act is not in the hands of the commission, so far as the detection of violations is concerned.

MIS-USING THE SCHOOLS.

Miss Agnes MacPhail, M.P., who objects to cadet corps and hopes that there will be no "crazy military parades" in connection with the Diamond Jubilee celebration, has apparently been using the schools of her constituency for the purpose of spreading propaganda among the pupils tending to discredit British policies and Great Britain herself in the eyes of Canadian children.

A copy of a letter sent over her signature to South Grey teachers to be read in the schools and giving Miss MacPhail's views on the Chinese situation, has been published by The Globe, and editorially that paper flays the communication as a "spicious tissue of half-truths and untruths and a despicable attempt to misrepresent and discredit Great Britain and British policies," and says of Miss MacPhail herself that "she is in her wrong place as a representative of Canada in the Dominion Parliament."

Miss MacPhail has peculiar views on a good many things, but that in itself would do no harm.

It is a very different matter, however, to have a member of Parliament using the schools to spread propaganda of such a nature among children who are British subjects.

The educational authorities should see to it that Miss MacPhail is prevented from making use of the schools for any such purpose.

It has often been said that Canada could get along with fewer members of Parliament; if a cleaning out process were possible the first two names that suggest themselves as among those who should go are those of Miss Agnes MacPhail and Henri Bourassa.

A GREAT PERIOD.

Many signs indicate a keen public interest in plans for the formal celebration of the Diamond Jubilee of Confederation on July 1. That is gratifying. But for every true Canadian the patriotic and picturesque ceremonies being planned for the day itself should not suffice. There should be preparation that will add an importance and significance to the events not otherwise capable of attainment. This need not be irksome or expensive. A little brushing up on Canadian history will do. Too many of us are inclined to think that the most fascinating period in that history began with the coming of the French, and ended with the battle on the Plains of Abraham. That is a signally unfortunate and vision-cramping point of view.

The thrilling events of the earlier records have their counterpart in the amazing story of Confederation and since. Far seeing as were the men who laid the foundation stone of a new nation on the American hemisphere in 1867, is it possible that they ever visioned the Canada of today? They had for raw material a few scattered British Provinces, almost completely at the mercy of a powerful and not always friendly neighboring foreign land. In the face of difficulties at home and abroad they welded those Provinces into a whole which was to grow beyond all their dreams. Some of the present Provinces had not yet been born. They have since been carved out of a hinterland that was then a questionable unknown. These very Provinces now outstrip those of an older civilization in many respects, and the limits of their progress are beyond the ken of man.

Not to know something of how these accomplishments came to pass, of the circumstances surrounding the Confederation era, of the men who put their hands to the plow and would not turn back, is to miss the real lesson in the celebration of Canada's diamond jubilee. It is to find one's self embarrassed and chagrined in the presence of ever inquisitive young Canada, and of visitors and strangers who think that the Canadian is the one to apply to for information about his own land, and especially about the events of July 1.—Brantford Expositor.

SAVING THE FIT.

For a long time health authorities have been under fire by certain individuals because they have tried to reduce the number of infant deaths. Certain critics grew red in the face, arguing that infant welfare work would result in race suicide. They contended that the infants that die are the weaklings who ought to be permitted to die. Only the strong should be kept alive to grow and propagate their kind. These critics branded our welfare work with a bad name—they said it is "dysgenic"—and they shouted to the world that the doctors were interfering with one of Nature's greatest laws, the law of natural selection.

In modern times we have seen many of Nature's so-called laws flouted. Modern science has nearly annihilated distance and time for the convenience of man. Human beings fly and talk and sing and look at each other over great distances. Man doesn't take all of his natural limitations as seriously as he once did.

And doctors are not such fools as they are sometimes made out to be. When they were told that by preserving infants that would otherwise have died they were preserving the "unfit," they paid very little attention to their critics and went on about their business. And they did this with good reason.

Is the baby that dies from rotten milk and hot weather necessarily less fit to live than the one that gets cleaner milk and is better cared for in the summer time? Is the baby a "weakling" because it dies from a cold, from bronchitis or pneumonia contracted from a neighbor's child who had a running nose when it kissed the wee one? My answer to these criticisms has always been: No!

Now we have another answer. We have the answer of a scientific study to prove that the critics of infant welfare work are sitting on the wrong side of the fence. The experts in Chicago's Health Department have conducted a unique, scientific study of the question. By the use of birth and death and population figures and a lot of higher mathematics they have now proven that infant welfare work does not preserve the unfit. And they have gone even further than this. They have shown that welfare work actually works to preserve the fitness of the fit.

The results of these scientific studies are very clear-cut. They show that for every ten infants that are preserved by health methods, and who would otherwise die, there are nearly five more who are preserved in the second year of life, two in the third, one in the fourth and one in the fifth years of life. In other words, where we used to think we were saving ten children, we now know we have really been saving nineteen. The reason for these savings in the later years of life is this: When the number of fatal illnesses is reduced, the number of cases of non-fatal but damaging sickness is also reduced. The damaging sickness of infancy may not kill the young child, but it reduces his resistance to disease so that he is more likely to die prematurely in the second or third or later years of life. Therefore, if we prevent infant sickness we not only reduce infant deaths; we also reduce the excessive number of deaths in the later years of childhood.—Chicago Health.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The Georgian Bay canal bill was killed with so much enthusiasm that there is natural wonder that the execution was not carried out weeks ago.

Sault Ste. Marie boys have started the swimming season. Florida papers, please copy.

The Vancouver Jubilee Celebration Committee suggests that an official version of "O Canada" should be proclaimed as a national anthem. Just now most Canadians sing it by using the expression "O Canada" wherever they think it fits and falling back on humming the rest of the song.

Mr. Dunning may take a trip through the Trent Canal this summer, something he never had a chance to do so far as the Georgian Bay canal is concerned.

And now they are talking about enlarging the Senate Chamber. Perhaps that is what is meant by Senate reform.

DR FRANK CRANE'S DAILY EDITORIAL

A CALAMITY
By Dr. Frank Crane.

This article is necessarily written about a month before it appears. Our readers will have time to judge whether the warning contained in it shall have been timely.

One of the most amazing developments in the United States has been the redemption of the Imperial Valley. That Valley is a basin in the lower part of California which is below the level of the sea.

Alongside of it flows the Colorado River. Formerly it was a barren desert, but now it is a fertile country producing enormous crops and maintaining a considerable population. It is constantly threatened by the overflow of the Colorado River. If that river overflows in the Spring freshet it will flood the Imperial Valley and cause thousands of dollars' worth of damage ruining property and endangering lives.

At present the Swing-Johnson bill to regulate it by a dam at Boulder Canyon and control the flood waters of the Colorado is being considered by the Senate. Its supporters claim that it is necessary. Its opponents are against it because they say it implies the United States government going into business.

While the two sets are quarreling snow is falling in the upper regions of the Colorado and when this snow melts in the Spring freshet it is liable to cause a disastrous flood which may wipe out a large portion of the Imperial Valley.

Even the opponents of the Swing-Johnson bill concede the necessity of an emergency measure to control the floods of the Colorado River until some agreement is reached about damming the waters further up.

If the Boulder Dam is decided upon it will take five years before it will be completed. In the meantime Imperial Valley is exposed to the floods.

Two hundred thousand acres of Valley land cry out for flood relief.

William B. Fawsett, a prominent grower in the Valley, says that the situation at the river front is far more serious than is realized by many people.

W. W. McEuen, president of the El Centro Chamber of Commerce, says: "We do not want to make any move that will jeopardize the Swing-Johnson bill, but it is apparent that federal aid must be obtained to give us protection during the time that Boulder Dam is under construction."

Protecting Imperial Valley is not a substitute for the Boulder Dam proposition, but it is an emergency measure and one that ought to be undertaken at once.

Mr. Boschke, chief engineer of the Southern Pacific, asserts: "In case of even a reasonable flood in the Colorado River there is great danger that the flood waters will get away and flow into Salton Sea, doing a vast amount of damage to the Imperial Valley."

The river is actually flowing along on a plateau of mud and silt 130 feet above the town of El Centro and 300 feet above the lowest point of the Valley. Any serious break, therefore, in the levee system will result in a flood of greater proportions and unquestionably greater loss than that which followed the disastrous flood of 1906.

The government should take precautionary measures at once.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL Que., April 9 (Canadian Press)—The export trade in Canadian grain on the Montreal market was quiet yesterday, there being practically no demand from the United Kingdom and the continent.

A little trading was done in wheat and barley in the domestic market for export account, but the demand from local and country buyers for coarse grains was slow. The undertone was steady and prices were unchanged.

Prices for all grades of spring and winter wheat flour were well maintained under a quiet demand from all sources.

The demand for standard grades of rolled oats was limited, but prices were unchanged.

The undertone to the egg market continued easy, but there was no further change in values. The trade was active. The receipts were 3,568 cases.

The condition of the market for potatoes was unchanged, business being slow and the feeling steady. Sales of odd cars of Quebec varieties were made at $1.11 to $1.15 per bag of ninety pounds in bulk, ex-track.

The weakness that has characterized the local butter trade this week was prominent again to-day, and prices were reduced another 1-2 to 1c per pound. This was due to the increased supplies of fresh made butter coming forward. The receipts were 254 packages.

The cheese trade continued dull, but values ruled steady. The receipts were 506 boxes.

A QUESTION.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Mr. Editor: Having read Rev. Mr. Allan's explanation or answer to a question, "Why don't Presbyterians commemorate the Lord's Supper every Sunday" I am amazed at such an answer from such a man, one who poses as a teacher of Divine Order. First, to use such a phrase as "familiarity breeds contempt," saying in fact that of meeting with the Lord Jesus (as is stated by the Lord Himself) would cause a child of God to consider the Lord contemptible, and have contempt in his heart for the One who died for him, and rose again for his justification. The Scripture statement is: "As oft as ye eat this bread, and drink this wine ye do show forth the Lord's death till He comes. It is not as seldom, but as often.

Then, second, to say that every six months made it more sacred. Why not every year, then?

No; Mr. Allan, you have no Scriptural ground for either of your statements, and to me they simply display a lamentable lack of love in your own heart for the One you profess to serve.

The Acts of the Apostles show clearly that every first day of the week the disciples came together for this purpose—to remember the Lord in His own appointed way and time.

A BELIEVER.

SENATOR, YOUR ROMPERS

Long skirts will return, says Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, but it will take 30 years to work the change. So Willie can look forward to having something he can hang onto by 1957. . . Men may don womanly apparel, she guesses. The only reason we want to live 30 years more is to see Dawes in a gingham apron. . . Women probably will wear hats three feet wide made of spun glass, is another prediction. One thing about a glass hat, you probably will be able to see the person you're talking to. . . . Women then possibly will be a bit more light-headed than they are now. Would it be contempt of court to express the desire to behold William Howard Taft in a red kimona, with sandals? It isn't contempt of court then it certainly is criminal libel.

FINDING THE CAUSE OF NEURITIS

Whenever you see the "itis" attached to a medical word, it always refers to inflammation, so Neuritis means inflammation of the nerves.

In a true neuritis, the neurones, or nerve cells, are inflamed and this is a very rare but serious trouble. In at least 99 out of 100 cases, which are called neuritis, these inside nerve cells are not affected, but the trouble comes from either a chemical or mechanical irritation of the nerve trunks. In some cases, the pain, which apparently exists in some part of the body, is really a reflex caused by nerve irritation a long ways removed from the place where the pain appears.

A general bodily toxemia must be considered the most important cause of all inflammation in the body, and when this inflammation exists around a nerve trunk it is only because some of the body toxins have accumulated in this particular place. Inflammation and swelling of the nerve is produced and the pain is often very severe. The bodily toxins, which produce this trouble, are principally caused from intestinal poisons from using improper kinds of food and from inharmonious food combinations.

If the chemistry of the fluids of the body is not correct, disease of some kind is bound to exist some place in the body. These chemical poisons may collect around a joint and the trouble is then called "rheumatism," while, if the toxins form around a nerve, it is then called "neuritis."

Abscessed teeth or diseased tonsils may be contributing causes and if these offending organs are removed, the patient will experience a very rapid relief. However, if the system's toxemia is continually produced from wrong eating, it will only be a little while before enough poisons will generate to produce further trouble.

What may be called the mechanical causes are often responsible for the distressing pains of neuritis. If the spinal vertebrae are slightly out of alignment, the impingement upon the nerve going to the arms will produce a definite neuritis which can only be cured by a local treatment to the proper vertebra.

In attempting to find the cause of neuritis, it is always a good plan to go to an osteopath, naturopath, or chiropractor and see if any mechanical pressure can be found which is causing the trouble. The average physician is not trained to find these causes, but any doctor, who is a good diagnostician, will be able to discover whether or not such a mechanical pressure exists.

If you have dieted properly and your neuritis pains have not disappeared, go to a doctor who understands manipulative treatment—have him diagnose your case and after one or two treatments you can very easily tell if the trouble is mechanical or if it is necessary for you to continue your strict dieting to further eliminate toxemia.

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

Theatres

AT THE GRAND

SIR HARRY LAUDER

Sir Harry Lauder, the globe-trotting singing comedian, comes to the Grand Opera House next Wednesday night.

The programme will be a typically Lauderesque one, with a liberal supply of new songs and a free revival of the most popular of the old chanties. The new songs were composed during Sir Harry's notable three years' tour of the world, and were introduced in London after his return. Among them are: "I'm Lookin' for a Bonnie Lass tae Love Me," and "Susie Maclean" both typical Lauder songs, which were credited with making a great hit in the British metropolis. The revivals will include a number of songs not heard here in recent years, but full of lilting melody and laughable characterization that is always identified with this famous entertainer's work.

Sir Harry's world tour was remarkable in many ways. He gave successful performances in many of the garrison cities of India, sometimes playing several weeks in a city, and drawing audiences from the surrounding country for hundreds of miles. Strange to say, many of his audiences included hundreds of natives, who could not understand the English language, but who, nevertheless, were intensely interested and entertained by the little Scot's lilting melodies in his remarkable delineations of character. It was the same in China. In South Africa and Australia, countries previously visited, he found many friends and admirers to give him a welcome.

Associated with Sir Harry this season is an exceptionally clever company of entertainers, about equally divided between imported and American artists. As in other years, the programme will be presented in a most atractive scenic enviroment, with a new producton especially made for the current season, assisted by an orchestra of fourteen musicians.

THE DUMBELLS.

Once again we will have The Dumbells with us. This time they will be seen in Captain Plunkett's springtime revue, "That's That", at the Grand, Saturday, April 23rd. "That's That" is sure to have as warm a welcome as was given any of its predecessors, and all cities where it has thus far been presented are very enthusiastic over it.

In many respects it is better entertainment than that provided on the last visit with "Joy Bombs". With all the resourcefulness that they display there is no reason whatever why Captain Plunkett's forces should not go on amusing us indefinitely. The permanence of this remarkable organization, that is now so firmly established in the good graces of Canadians, may be taken for granted. Apart from the continued pleasure that they give, their success should be a source of the most legitimate pride to all their fellow-countrymen. After their achievement no one need despair of seeing a distinctively Canadian theatre.

The old favorites have, as usual, a goodly supply of excellent material. Al Plunkett has a fine collection of songs and he gives them as only he can. Ross Hamilton never looked so well or sings better. Red Newman's boisterous and Pat Rafferty's quicter humor goes home with unusual effectiveness, and it can be said that Jock Holland is funnier than he has ever been on former occasions. As Rafferty's mother in one of the sketches, who interrupts him from her place in the front box, his characterization is the best that he has yet furnished.

The wonder that Glenn Allan's dancing steadily grows. He is much more than a female impersonator. The grace of his work is that of a thorough artist, and he makes even the "Black Bottom" a thing of beauty.

Morley Plunkett as a general utility performer is a source of great strength and in this revue is given good opportunity to display his versatility. Jimmie Devon's dances are most original and invariably brings him a lot of enthusiastic applause.

The sketches interspersed throughout "That's That" are exceedingly humorous and it is doubt ful if they ever before averaged up so well. "Accidents" is one of them with Red Newman as the far from meek "poor pa." "Proverbs" and the hospital and coffee stall scenes are also good for innumerable laughs.

The orchestra, under the baton of Howard Fogg, gives an excellent program, and the leader's violin solos are an outstanding feature of the evening. The medley of wartime airs have proved most popular everywhere, and the old time dances, with which the bill concludes, makes an appeal all their own.

"THE MUSIC MASTER" RECALLS COLORFUL CHARACTERS OF SCORE OF YEARS AGO

East side New York twenty-five years ago is brought back to life in "The Music Master", the William Fox screen masterpiece, with Allan Dwan chief magician and director in recreating the scenes from the good old days and Alec B. Francis in the role of the master of melody.

Those were the days when "Ginny played the organ on the sidewalks of New York", and inspired the song that became entwined with the rise of Al Smith to fame and fortune, governor of the Empire state and candidate for president. The original "Chuck" Conners was king of Chinatown and wore just such a suit as the ballyhoo man in the Huber museum scene in "The Music Master," Percy Gaunt had written "The Bowery" for one of Charlie Hoyt's comedies and Steve Brodie's saloon was one of the show places.

Edward Harrigan's plays, with the melodies of Dave Braham, were still beloved. Ada Lewis had created the first of the many "tough" girls and Edward Townsend had taken a composite of Chuck Conners and evolved the celebrated Chimmie Fadden, which Charles H. Hopper was to play in time from Coast to Coast.

Andrew Mack was to write the first of his East Side ballads, much after the style of Chevalier's Coster songs and R. F. Outcault's "Yellow Kid," who had moved from "MacFadden's Row of Flats," was as familiar a figure as old man Jiggs is today in the comic supplements.

Brodie's and Barney Fynn's the "Tub of Blood" and the Fleabag", the Atlantic Gardens and even Huber's museum are gone forever but the characters that frequented them, the types that Edward Harrigan and Townsend and Oycault loved can be seen today in "The Music Master," which will have a three days' showing at the Capitol Theatre commencing Monday.

ONE - TIME BATHING GIRL, MARIE PREVOST, HAS STAR ROLE IN "UP IN MABEL'S ROOM."

Latest Al Christie Laugh Special Is Said to Be One of the Most Entertaining Comedies of the Season

Marie Prevost has moved her mirror, make-up case and wardrobe "Up In Mabel's Room." The one-time bathing girl who sparkled in "The Beautiful and Damned," "The Dark Swan," "Tarnish," "Kiss Me Again" and "The Marriage Circle" has now reached the heights, for in the Al Christie production of the famous stage farce, "Up In Mabel's Room," which will be on view at the Regent Theatre next Monday, Miss Prevost is a full-fledged star.

In the picture Miss Prevost has a delightful time making Harrison Ford, who plays Garry Ainsworth, her ex-husband, miserable—all because of an autographed chemise which Garry gave Mabel before they were divorced. As Garry poses as an innocent bachelor instead of a husband with a past, the fun gets fast and furious when Mabel is invited to the same house party at which Garry is also a guest and at which the two are "introduced."

And so Marie Frevost, Harrison Ford, Harry Myers, Sylvia Beamer, Carl Gerard, Phyllis Haver, Paul Nicholson, Maud Truax, William Orlamond and Arthur Hoyt, and the incriminating chemise, all get mixed "Up In Mabel's Room," with delightful results. "Up In Mabel's Room," as a play, delighted untold thousands and in obtaining the screen rights, Mr. Christie secured for Miss Prevost one of the best film stories of the year. "Up In Mabel's Room" was written by Wilson Collison and Otto Harbach.

Miss Prevost's talent at gay, light farce is given an excellent chance in the scenario by F. McGrew Willis, known for his scripts "Charley's Aunt," "Her Temporary Husband," "The Million Dollar Handicap" and many others. E. Mason Hopper directed.

DUFFUS ALLEYS TO BE DOUBLED

Arrangements Completed For Putting in New Equipment.

NO MORE WAITING.

Arrangements have been completed for doubling the capacity of Duffus' Bowling Alleys.

Patrons of this popular recreation academy have made the suggestion, and consequently the change is being met.

It was pointed out that the extra alleys would not produce an attractive profit, but would eliminate the necessity of patrons having to wait for alleys at any time.

Visitors to Peterboro have made very many complimentary remarks regarding the equipment, healthy atmosphere and splendid management of this high-class recreation, and this enterprising firm is to be congratulated for having provided this healthful sport to the citizens of Peterboro under such ideal conditions. A feature in connection with this important change is that all the alleys will be on one floor, something unheard of anywhere in the Province of Ontario.

OUTLINE OF SCIENCE CL—Falling Stars. by MAX HAHN

IT'S EASY TO SEE WHY PEOPLE IMAGINED THE END OF THE WORLD WAS NEAR IN 1833 AS THOUSANDS OF METEORITES OR "SHOOTING STARS" FELL ON THE EARTH. WITHIN NINE HOURS MORE THAN 200,000 METEORITES DROPPED.

LUCKILY FOR US THERE'S AN ATMOSPHERIC "NET" WHICH CHANGES MOST OF THE METEORITES INTO GASES AND PREVENTS THEM FROM FALLING ON THE EARTH. HISTORY RECORDS ONLY ONE DEATH DUE TO A METEORITE. THE VICTIM WAS A HINDU.

SCIENTISTS BELIEVE METEORITES ARE FRAGMENTS OF COMETS. AND MOST OF THE "SHOOTING STARS" ARE SMALLER THAN THEY APPEAR. IN THE AIR THEY LOOK AS BIG AS A STAR BUT IN REALITY MOST OF THEM ARE SMALL. ONE OF THE HEAVIEST METEORITES WHICH HAS BEEN IDENTIFIED AS SUCH, FELL IN MEXICO AND WEIGHED ABOUT 50 TONS.

BUT WHEN A BIG METEORITE BREAKS THROUGH THE ATMOSPHERIC SHIELD AND HITS THE EARTH IT PUSHES THE SURFACE ROCK DOWN. IT IS INTERESTING TO KNOW THAT ANALYSIS OF A METEORITE, REVEALING THAT IT WAS 90 PER CENT IRON AND 10 PER CENT NICKEL LED TO THE MANUFACTURE OF ARMORPLATE OUT OF A STEEL WITH SIMILAR COMPOSITION.

FRIENDS HONOR MISS ARMSTRONG

Bring Gifts To Surprise Party For Popular Cavan Girl.

MILLBROOK, April 9.—A delightful social gathering was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Armstrong, Zion, on Thursday evening, about one hundred friends and neighbors arriving, in surprise fashion, to enjoy a few hours together before bidding farewell to Miss Thelma Armstrong, the eldest daughter of the home, who left this week for Peterborough to enter upon a course of training as a nurse.

With their usual warm-hearted hospitality Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong welcomed the unexpected 'guests,' and gave the home over to their enjoyment. Games, music, cards, and dancing provided entertainment which made the time pass happily, and at a prearranged hour Mr. Armond Gilmour took his place as chairman and asked all to join in singing "Auld Lang Syne."

Miss Thelma was given the place of honor in the centre of the company, when Miss Isabelle Syer read the following address, and Miss May Gilmour, on behalf of those present, gave her a handsome leather-lined club bag, with French ivory fittings:

"Miss Thelma Armstrong:

Dear Thelma,

"It is with feelings of deep regret that we learn you are about to leave us, and we desire before you go to spend one more good evening together. From childhood you have grown up in our midst, and have endeared yourself to us by your kindly and cheerful disposition, in a way that shall not soon be forgotten.

"Although you are not going far away, we realize that your absence will mean a missing link in the chain of friendship, but we know that your service in the noble occupation which you have chosen to follow will be rendered willingly, and may you be given strength and grace to sooth and comfort those who are given to your care.

"We are glad to be with you tonight to wish you God-speed, and to prove our affection and kind thoughts toward you we ask you to accept these tokens, not for their value, but simply that you may be reminded of your friends and neighbors.

"Signed on behalf of your friends and neighbors,"

Armand Gilmour,
Eva Beggs,
Maie Gilmour,
Robert McDonald.

The surprise of the occasion made it somewhat difficult for Miss Thelma to reply, but she expressed her feelings of gratitude and appreciation in well-chosen words, and the singing of "For She's A Jolly, Good Fellow" relieved the tension always evident on such an occasion.

The committee in charge served a dainty and substantial supper after Mr. Armstrong had voiced the genuine appreciation which both he and Mrs. Armstrong felt for the kindly words and gifts bestowed upon their daughter, and some others present had also spoken briefly. A violin solo by Miss Audrey Bristow, with piano accompaniment by Mr. Victor Gilmour, was much enjoyed.

Dancing was resumed, following the supper hour, and it was well into the morning hours before the last car-load had left for home.

Mr. and Mrs. James McMillan moved this week to the house on Queen street recently vacated by Mr. Parrinder. Mrs. C. Devitt, of Orillia, the owner of the house formerly occupied by Mr. McMillan, intends selling the property.

Mr. P. Stinson was in Collingwood on Monday attending the funeral of his aunt, Mrs. T. Baker. Messrs. S. Hamilton and J. Connell accompanied Mr. Stinson to the northern town on Sunday.

Gordon Reynolds, of the Bank of Toronto staff, Toronto, is holidaying with his mother, Mrs. William Gray, his aunt, Mrs. J. H. Paul, and other friends.

TRANSPORTATION COST BIG FACTOR IN IMMIGRATION

Has Nearly Trebled Since 1914 — Third Class $87.50.

SERIOUS BARRIER.

Empire Settlement Scheme Devised To Give Help To Settlers.

(This is the fifth of a series of articles on Canada and Immigration contributed by the Federal Department of Immigration and Colonization).

The cost of transportation is one of the biggest factors affecting immigration from the British Isles and Europe. Before the war a third class passage from a port in the British Isles to a port in Canada cost approximately $32.00; from continental ports $33.00. Today the cost is $87.50 from the British Isles and from the nearest continental port $112.50.

Before the war a settler, his wife, and three children under twelve years of age could move from a port in the British Isles, to Halifax, St. John, or Quebec for $112 and to Winnipeg for $160. Today the cost for the same journey (if unaided under any government scheme) to ocean ports is $306 and to Winnipeg $381. If the family came from Europe the pre-war cost was $115 to Atlantic ports or $163 to Winnipeg. Present costs are $450 and $525 respectively.

Such increases present a serious barrier to both British and European settlers. To many excellent families, through no fault of their own, such prices are absolutely prohibitive. Others, in moderate circumstances, are able to pay the transportation rates, but after doing so they have little left for settlement in Canada. Families well able to pay present costs of ocean transportation are not inclined to move in any large numbers.

To meet this situation an Empire Settlement Scheme was devised between the Canadian and the British Government. It had its origin in the Empire Settlement Act of Great Britain passed in 1922, the purposes of which was to enable the British Government to share on a fifty-fifty basis in the expenses for the migration to and settlement of British people in any Overseas dominion. As a result of the action taken approved adult settlers may now obtain transportation from the United Kingdom to points in Canada at the following unprecedented rates.

To Halifax, St. John or Quebec	£2. 0
To Montreal	3. 0
To Toronto	3. 0
To Winnipeg	3.10
To Regina, Moose Jaw or Saskatoon	5. 0
To Calgary or Edmonton	5.10
To Vancouver	8. 0

The classes eligible for passage assistance are farmers, farm workers and houseworkers.

These extraordinary rates payable by the migrant are made possible by contributions from the British Government and Canadian Government, and a rebate by the steamship company. The steamship rebate is £4, and the British Government's contribution runs from £7.10 up according to destination in Canada. Canada's cash contribution is £3.10. Although this is less than that of the British Government Canada asumes all the cost of recruiting, selection on the other side, reception, placement and aftercare in Canada.

Children under seventeen belonging to the classes eligible for assistance receive free transportation paid for by the British and Canadian Governments at a reduced rate arranged with the steamship companies.

In connection with the passage scheme for eligible classes there is an arrangement effective throughout Canada by which any British subject in Canada may nominate a British subject in the United Kingdom for passage assistance. The nominator sets out in a printed form some details of his own circumstnces and supplies information about the nominee.

As a result of the co-operation of the Canadian Bankers' Association nomination forms are procurable at any branch of a chartered bank in Canada. Local bank managers assist the nominator in filling out the form and conduct the correspondence with the Department if desired.

If the nominator in Canada is not acquainted with any suitable person on the other side, he may nominate by description, stating the type of person required—whether a farm worker married or single, or a houseworker. If the conditions offered by the nominator (conditions of housing, wages, permanency of engagement, etc.) are satisfactory the nomination is forwarded for action by the Immigration Department's organization in the British Isles. The Department does not undertake to accept any or all nominations, but endeavors to develop only those which give promise of satisfactory results.

In addition to this personal nomination system, immigration officers are authorized to forward as many as possible of those suitable for land work or house work. These are placed by the officers of the Department in suitable situations upon arrival in Canada.

The Colonization departments of the two Canadian railway systems are also each authorized to move an allotment of farmers and farm workers. Placement of that allotment is assumed by the railways, but the after-care falls upon the Department.

Canada's first venture in assisted passages was begun in April, 1923. Up to the first of January, 1926, the arrangement was to loan passage to adults and in certain cases provide free passage to children under seventeen years of age. With the reduction in passage rates already referred to the necessity for passage loans largely disappeared.

A plan for the settlement of British families in Canada, known as the Three Thousand Families Scheme, was arranged in the autumn of 1924. It is a scheme to transplant from the British Isles in a period of three years three thousand selected British families. They receive the passage assistance already mentioned, and the British Government makes a loan up to £300 per family for the purchase of stock and equipment for their farms. Canada does not make any loan of money to these settlers except, in certain instances, to assist them in their passage. Under the rates now available such loans are comparatively small.

Up to the end of February, 1927, 1,526 families had been settled on the land in Canada under this arrangement. The total number of assisted migrants in the calendar year 1926 was approximately twenty thousand.

The steps which are taken for the settlement on the land of new settlers arriving in Canada will be discussed in the next article of this series.

NO MORE INDIGESTION

After Mrs. Monette Took "Fruit-a-tives"

MRS. O. MONETTE

There's comfort for all who suffer from indigestion in this grateful note written by Mrs. Omer Monette, Montreal: "I hardly dared take 'Fruit-a-tives,' fearing my dyspepsia wouldn't vanish," Mrs. Monette frankly confesses, "but finally took two boxes. Now I eat well and recommend 'Fruit-a-tives' to all my friends as the best remedy for dyspepsia." Mrs. Monette expresses the sentiment of thousands of people whose digestions came quickly back to normal under the healing influence of "Fruit-a-tives."

This wonderful medicine is a combination of intensified fresh fruit juices and tonics. Indigestion and biliousness often are due merely to lazy bowels, liver and kidneys. "Fruit-a-tives" overcomes these conditions gently and naturally. Get a box from your druggist, 25c or 50c. Relish your food again as Mrs. Monette does.

SPRING IMPURITIES DUE TO POOR BLOOD

A Tonic Medicine a Necessity at This Season.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are an all-year-round tonic for the blood and nerves. But they are especially valuable in the Spring when the system is loaded with impurities as a result of the indoor life of the winter months. There is no other season when the blood is so much in need of purifying and enriching and every dose of these pills helps to enrich the blood. In the spring one feels weak and tired—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills give strength. In the spring the appetite is often poor—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills develop the appetite, tone the stomach and aid weak digestion. It is in the spring that poisons in the blood find an outlet in disfiguring pimples, eruptions and boils—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills clear the skin because they go to the root of the trouble in the blood. In the spring anaemia, rheumatism, indigestion, neuralgia and many other troubles are most persistent because of poor, weak blood, and it is at this time when all nature takes on new life that the blood most seriously needs attention. Some people dose themselves with purgatives at this season, but these only further weaken themselves. A purgative merely gallops throgh the system, emptying the bowels, but does not help the blood. On the other hand, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills enrich the blood which reaches every nerve and every organ in the body, bringing new strength and vigor to weak easily tired men, women and children. Try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills this spring—they will not disappoint you.

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

RADIO INSPECTOR SPEAKS TUESDAY

Department Man Will Speak To Radio Club.

ON INTERFERENCE.

Radio fans in the city will have an opportunity of finding out many of the causes for reception interference on Tuesday night at the meeting of the Peterboro Radio Club in the Chamber of Commerce.

The Radio Club was originally formed here to determine and if possible eliminate local interference, but this is a slow investigation and very complicated, so throughout the winter months meetings have been held monthly with many good speakers and demonstrations.

On Tuesday night this club is to have as its speaker Mr. R. S. McWatters, of the Department of Marine and Fisheries (Radio Branch), who is at present on tour investigating radio interference, and he will tell his experiences.

Anyone interested in radio would do well to avail themselves of this privilege of understanding more of the reasons for much discomfort while operating their sets.

Mining Exchange Quiet With Trend Irregular

TORONTO, April 9 (Canadian Press).—Trading was quiet and price movements irregular on the Standard Mining Exchange to-day. Towagmac featured the market with an advance of 40 cents a share to 3.60. Noranda was strong, selling up 13 cents to 21.68. Amulet gained one to 1.09, while Central Manitoba Gold was strong at 1.25. The dividend-paying gold stocks were generally weaker. Dome Mines declined 10 cents to 8.15, McIntyre was off five cents to 25.00, and Lake Shore dropped ten cents to 18.55, while Teck Hughes was off three cents to 6.92. Wright Hargreaves strengthened two cents to 10.60. Mining Corporation was strong at 3.53, a gain of three. Kirkland Lake eased one to 1.07, while Beaver dropped 1½ to 76½.

Wheat Prices Turn Up Till Selling Brings Reaction

CHICAGO, April 9 (Canadian Press)—Wheat scored early gains to-day owing to bullish aspects of the United States Government crop report. Selling increased on the up turns, however, and brought about reactions at times. Opening 1-4 to 3-4c higher, wheat subsequently lost most of the advance. Corn, oats and provisions were steady, with corn starting unchanged to 1-2c up and later holding near to the initial range.

Opening prices were: Wheat, May 134 7-8, July 128 3-4. Corn, May 74 1-4, July 78 3-8. Oats, May 43 3-4, July 44 3-4.

Nickle Again Leader In Activity At Toronto

TORONTO, April 9 (Canadian Press).—International Nickel again continued active on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. With a turnover of over 11,000 shares, Nickel advanced 14 to 47. British Columbia Fishing was an active and strong feature, selling up 1 1-2 points to 85. Arnold Brothers gained 1 5-8 points to 23 7-8 in active trading. The distillery issues were in the main quiet. Industrial Alcohol, however, was an exception, and in active trading sold up 7-8 to 28 3-4. Seagram gained 1-4 to 25 3-8. Walker declined 1-8 to 43, while G. & W. eased 1-2 to 60. Massey-Harris' old stock gained 1-4 to 136 1-4, and the new 1-8 to 33 7-8. The oil stocks were quiet and fractionally weaker.

Some Record Highs Made; Other New York Shares Sag

NEW YORK, April 9 (Canadian Press).—The major speculative activity in today's stock market was again on the upside, but sufficient points of weakness developed to give the market a ragged appearance most of the time. General Motors, Dupont, Commercial Solvents "B," United Drug, People's Gas, and several others established record high prices.

Selling was directed chiefly against the baking, packing, and oil shares in which recent trade developments have been unfavorable. Expectations of a further reduction in crude oil prices, record breaking production in the Seminole Field, and the failure of directors of the Union Oil Co. of California to declare extra dividends all contributed to the heaviness in that group with Pan American B"" and General Asphalt the hardest hit.

United States Common sold fairly steady. The strength of General Motors was a supporting influence for other members of that group, with special buying again apparent in Hudson and Chrysler. American Smelting was run up shortly in the late trading. The closing was irregular. Total sales approximately 1,000,000 shares.

'GRADS' REPLY TO PETES' WIRE

'Red' Porter Expresses Appreciation of Team For Message.

SENT DURING SERIES.

Dr. Ed. Wood has received a letter from "Red" Porter, captain of the Varsity "Grads," expressing appreciation of the message sent the Grads at the crucial point of the final series with Fort William.

162 Crescent Road,
April 8, 1927.

Dear Dr. Wood:

On behalf of the Varsity "Grads" allow me to extend our sincere thanks for the splendid message you sent us during the Allan Cup series in Vancouver. We appreciated it the more fully as we knew it came from a club which was nearly as close representing the East as we were.

The attendance out west was a real homage paid to amateur hockey and series was a fitting final.

Thanking you again,
I remain,
Yours sincerely,
John C. Porter,
(captain.)

BOOTH BIRTHDAY TO BE OBSERVED

Salvationists To Hear Phonograph Records of Founder's Sermons.

ADDRESS ON WORK.

In addition to the observance of Palm Sunday, Salvationists of Peterborough will also think of the life and work of General William Booth, the founder of the Salvation Army, whose birthday this is, the General having been born on April 10th, 1829.

As is well known, William Booth, founder of the Salvation Army, spending his life lifting the sinful and lowly, was himself lifted to a position equal to that of the greatest followers of Jesus Christ recorded in history.

Adjutant Frank Ham will give an address on Sunday evening on "Lessons from the life and work of William Booth, founder of the Salvation Army."

A striking feature of this service will be excerpts from addresses of General William Booth, recorded on phonograph records during his lifetime. The Scriptural words, "He being dead, yet speaketh," will thus be fulfilled through modern invention.

Messrs. Heintzman and Co., Ltd., through the courtesy of Mr. Haddow, are very kindly lending to the Salvation Army an Orthophonic Victrola.

Many who never had the privilege of hearing the founder speak in his lifetime will be able through this medium, to hear him preach in life-like tones.

It is expected that large crowds will take advantage of this unusual opportunity.

Uncle Wiggily

To-day's Bedtime Story.

By Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY'S MUD PIES.

Copyright, 1927, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

(By Howard R. Garis.)

"I wish we could make some money; don't you, Dumple?" asked Wumple, the yellow Wogglejig boy, one day as he and his brother were playing out in front of the bungleump, there being no school.

"I would like some money," agreed Dumple. "If I had some I'd buy two lollypops and give you one."

"I'd buy six lollypops and that would be one for each of us," went on Wumple, thinking of his two brothers and his three sisters.

"I'd buy eight lollypops, and that would be one for each of us," said Dumple, "and there would be one each for Boppy and Um."

"But we haven't any money!" sadly sighed Wumple. "so what's the use talking of buying lollypops."

"If we had something to sell, like gold or diamonds, we could make a lot of money," went on Dumple, kicking a stone into a puddle of thick, soupy mud not far away. As the stone plopped in with a little splash, Wumple shouted:

"Oh, I know what we can sell to make money for lollypops! I know!"

"What?" asked his brother.

"Mud pies!" cried Wumple. "Look at all the nice, soft brown mud to make into pies. I'll go get some empty clam shells and we'll soon have a lot of pies made. We can sell them!"

"But who will buy them?" asked Dumple. "Where could we sell mud pies. Nobody wants them. Mud pies are only good to play with!"

Wumple thought about this for a moment and then he said:

"Uncle Wiggily will buy them!"

"What? Buy our mud pies made in empty clam shells?" asked Dumple. "He will not!"

"Yes he will!" cried Wumple. "You will see! Here, you start to making the pies. I'll go get Uncle Wiggily and bring him here to buy them. There are some clam shells," and he pointed one leg toward a pile of them. "You make the pies and I'll get Uncle Wiggily to buy them."

No sooner said than done. Away ran Wumple to the Wogglejig bungleump where the rabbit gentleman was staying on a visit. Dumple brought the clam shells to the edge of the mud hole and then he began to wade out in it to get plenty of nice, fresh mud, the best kind for pies.

Meanwhile Wumple reached the bungalow where Uncle Wiggily was just getting ready to hop away to look for an adventure.

"Don't you want to buy some mud pies, Uncle Wiggily?" asked Wumple.

"Mud pies?" cried the rabbit. "Mud pies? What in the world would I do with mud pies? I couldn't eat them. They're only good for mud turtles. Ha! Ha!"

"Well," spoke Wumple sadly, "if Dumple and I don't sell some mud pies we'll never make any money to buy lollypops; and if ——"

"Oh, so that's how the wind blows, does it?" chuckled Uncle Wiggily. "Well, if you and Dumple are in the mud pie business I might buy a few. But where is he, and where are the mud pies?"

"Come with me!" invited Wumple, so he led the way back to the mud puddle. But when he got there it was exactly as if the cupboard was bare, for there wasn't a mud pie in sight. Nor did Dumple appear to be where his brother had left him.

"Dumple! Dumple! Where are you?" cried Wumple. "Here is Uncle Wiggily who wants to buy our mud pies. Where are you?"

"Glub! Wlub! Dlub!" was all the answer that came. Then the rabbit gentleman and the other Wogglejig boy looked hard at the puddle and in the middle, with brown mud up to his neck, stood poor Dumple.

"What ever is the matter?" cried Uncle Wiggily.

"Oh! Oh!" cried Dumple. "I waded out here to get nice fresh mud to make the pies, but I'm stuck! I can't pull my legs out of the mud! I'm stuck!"

"Dumple! Dumple! Where are you?" cried Wumple.

"Wait! I'll help you!" offered Uncle Wiggily. He made a cowboy's wild west lasso from a piece of honeysuckle vine, tossed the loop over Dumple's body and began to haul the Wogglejig boy out of the mud. After a while it was done, but one of Dumple's legs stuck in the mud and they had to get Mr. Poke, the turtle gentleman, to dig down after it. Then Dumple was washed off and all was well.

"Here's ten cents for lollypops, never mind about making me any mud pies," said Uncle Wiggily to the Wogglejig boys with a twinkle of his pink nose.

"Oh, thank you!" they cried. So it all ended happily.

French Historians Engaged In Heated Discussion—Which Hand Did Napoleon Shove Into Vest Front?

PARIS, Apr. 9 (United Press)—French historians are engrossed in a heated argument over the question of which hand Napoleon, in his well-known pose, shoved in his vest. Half of the historians contended that it was his right arm, while an equal number pointed to many contempory paintings to show that it was the left arm which crossed the breast. Ingres and Charlet painted him in that attitude, yet David, Napoleon's court painter, showed the right hand in the vest.

It is impossible to settle the argument by Napoleon's vests, for half of them button on the right and half on the left. Pacifying historians have suggested that perhaps Napoleon used the right hand when he used a vest buttoned on the left and vice versa, but the argument goes on.

WITNESS SENT CHEQUES BACK

Toronto Garage Man Says He Did Not Buy Beer For Perris.

GIVEN WARNING.

TORONTO, April 8 (Canadian Press)—A cheque from Mrs. Rocco Perri, Hamilton, to Mike Bernardo, Toronto garage man, bearing the signature "Bessie Starkman" was the subject of much questioning before the Customs Commission this morning. Bernardo, recipient of the cheque last February could not remember very well, but thought the amount of the cheque was $700 and was given him to buy a load of beer. Questioned by Mr. Rowell, he denied it was for seven thousand dollars. He declared he had not bought beer and had later returned the cheque to Mrs. Perri. Bernardo's statements finally led Chief Commission Brown to declare that he was "getting tired" of evasive answers.

"We'll see if we can't teach you a lesson unless you answer more carefully," he warned the witness.

Bernardo insisted that he had done very little business with the Perris. On another occasion he had been sent money to buy beer for Mrs. Perri but again he had returned it.

FEVER EPIDEMIC UNDER CONTROL

Montreal Ofifcials Issue Statement Regarding Typhoid Otbreak.

60 NEW CASES.

MONTREAL, April 9 (Canadian Press).—The first official statement that the typhoid fever epidemic in Montreal was definitely under control, that the cause had been traced immediately the disease made its appearance on Maren 4th last, and checked, was issued yesterday under the joint signatures of Mayor Mederic Martain and Dr. S. Boucher, Director of the Health Department.

The statement deplored the "exaggerated reports" of the situation broadcast all over Canada and the United States, and declared that visitors coming to Montreal could feel perfectly safe and that there was no danger of a further spread of the malady. Sixty new cases were reported during the last twenty-four hours, bringing the grand total up to 2,148.

Topic for the Week
"THE SPIRITUAL STRUGGLE"
Saturday
"Choice is Essential"

SCRIPTURE: Read—Psalms 51.

"Not by might, nor by power, but by my Spirit, saith Jehovah of hosts" (Zech. 4:6). "Repent ye therefore, and turn again" (Acts 3:19). "If ye then, being evil, know how to give good gifts unto your children, how much more shall your Heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit unto them that ask him" (Lk. 11:12).

See—Isaiah 6:6-8; Mark 1:14, 15; John 5:40-43.

MEDITATION: I have many conflicting desires, but I have will power also. I can and must decide. If I choose to, I can cover the light and quench the spirit, or I may repent and make it burn brightly. Earnest desire for the spirit of God assures the presence of that spirit. With my host of fellow-seekers after God, let me blend my will with his.

"That which makes me greater than the beasts of the field is not my superior strength, but my superior insight into my own weakness. My greatness is my sense of needs unsatisfied."

HYMN:

Christian, rise, and act thy creed.
Let thy pray'r be in thy deed;
Seek the right, perform the true,
Raise thy work and life anew.

Hearts around thee sink with care;
Thou canst help their load to bear,
Thou canst bring inspiring light,
Arm their faltering wills to fight.

Come, then, Law divine, and reign,
Freest faith assailed in vain,
Perfect love bereft of fear,
Born in heaven and radiant here.
—F. A. Rollo Russell, 1893.

PRAYER: Thanks for daily bread. Pray for—spirit of good will; lovers of self; young people.

Collect—O God, who dwellest in the beauty of holiness, we praise Thee for the beauty of the earth, for loveliness embodied in noble men and for the revelation of Thyself in Jesus Christ the incarnation of Thy conquering love. We are covered with shame at the thought of Thy faithfulness for we have not been ever true to Thee. Keep us from infidelity to Thy friendship. Save us from treachery of soul. From the choice of evil and from the enthronement of the lesser things deliver us. Awaken in us a living sense of Thy spirit. Give us hunger and thirst for righteousness. May our hearts burn with the presence of Christ in us. So would we enthrone Thee, trust Thee, love Thee, obey Thee: all by the grace of Christ. Amen.

CANADIAN BANDS TO BE GUARDED

Prosecution For American Broadcasters Infringing Canadian Waves.

MUST STAY OFF.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—The new Radio Commission has definitely adopted the policy of issuing only "short term" licenses to radio broadcasting stations. Under this policy, announced by Commissioner Bellows, acting as spokesman for the Commission, it will issue no three-year licenses for some time to come, if at all.

The law provides that licenses may be issued for as long as three years, but does not compel granting them for that entire period. The short-term licenses will be issued in the beginning for periods running from 60 to 90 days to continue for indefinite periods, so long as the Commission feels that the station is entitled to a place on the air within the intent and meaning of the radio control law.

All American broadcasters will have to get off the channels assigned to Canada. The Commission will protect, by prosecution of offenders, frequencies allocated for exclusive use by Canadian stations. Commissioner Bellows said that stations on this side of the border barred from using the Canada wave length "would have to find homes elsewhere."

The policy of the Commission after April 24, Mr. Bellows said, would be to issue short-time licenses, which might run anywhere from 60 to 90 days. Until April 24 stations would operate on the temporary "permit" system, which extended authority to function as conferred by the Secretary of Commerce under the Radio Act of 1912.

U. S. DOCUMENTS GIVEN TO MEXICO

Confidential Papers Stolen From State Department Later Returned.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Pilfering of the United States Government's confidential correspondence relating to Mexico has been established through investigation which dovetails with the subject matter of the "mystery note" delivered to the Mexican Foreign Office recently by James R. Sheffield, the United States Ambassador in Mexico City.

This pilfering was conducted on a wholesale scale, as nearly or quite 300 documents belonging to the United States Government were stolen. These documents were turned over to President Calles of Mexico, who, when that fact was discovered, delivered them to the State Department.

Included in this large batch of confidential papers was a considerable number of reports of military nature, most of them supposed to have been taken from the office of the military attache of the Embassy in Mexico City.

Some time ago rumors were circulated in Washington that a 'leak' in the State Department had been discovered, and that an employee of the Department had been dropped from the rolls in connection with the alleged "leak."

It is now being asserted that the alleged "leak" was associated with the established fact that confidential documents of the United States Government relating to Mexico had come into the possession of the Mexican Government.

Matinee Ladies

BY William B. Courtney

Copyright 1927, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

"MATINEE LADIES," with May McAvoy, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Bob Ward, working his way through college, finds with his chums, Freddy and Arch, an easy way to earn money—working as dancing partners, of afternoons, for rich women in a fashionable New Jersey roadhouse. Bob thinks it isn't a fit way to make a living; but, to get funds to finish school, goes. At the Inn he sees the prettiest, sweetest girl he has ever laid eyes on. She is Sally the cigarette girl. He hears of a mysterious Mrs. Hammond, who frequents the Inn; and is advised by Marie, a gold-digger, to play up to Mrs. Hammond if she asks to meet him.

CHAPTER VII

Bob Ward resented Marie Revere's insinuation that he should be at all interested in the love-nest that Mrs. Hammond had waiting for the fortunate boy of her choice. Bob had no intention of selling his honor, of sacrificing his own sense of decency, to curry the favor and money of Mrs. Hammond—or sixty Mrs. Hammonds!

Hot disavowals rose to his lips, scaldingly. There were some things in life—!

But now the dance had ended. And Marie's butter-and-egg man, grimly determined not to give her another instant with this too-handsome college boy, had whisked her off.

Involuntarily, instead of streaking off to the stall table where the paid entertainers usually congregate while awaiting selection by the dancing matinee ladies, Bob found himself hesitating, and looking diffidently toward Madame Leonine—toward Mrs. Hammond.

Were they—was she—really signalling to him? Or was he imagining things? Yes, that was it; his imagination was running away with him, because of all the wild things Marie had been telling him. Hah! The heat, the spell of the dancing, the jazz delirium, were getting under his skin—fevering his brain, making him "see things." Darn it!—why did he have to squander his time, prostitute his strength, with this sort of thing?

Why? The rent, of course—and clothes, and the expense of Commencement Week, so close at hand.

But, look!—yes, Madame Leonine really was beckoning to him. Mrs. Hammond really was smiling at him. Uncertainly, he stepped toward her table. The Madame was standing beside it. After all, he felt a little comfort in the Madame's presence. She had seemed to be a good soul—a little coarse, but genial. He would not feel so helplessly involved, so out of water, in talking to this ravishing creature, Mrs. Hammond, if the Madame were standing there beside him.

It would keep him reminded of the fact that, after all, he was a paid entertainer. A workman. Dancing with ladies for hire—not for fun. With grand ladies, like Mrs. Hammond. Yes, her like all the rest.

Of course, after what he had been told, he would be flattered if she were actually selecting him for her first dance this afternoon—him, a green boy, upon whom she had never cast eyes before. It would be most unnatural for him not to feel flattered. For Bob Ward, all in all, was just a boy—an essential boy. A clean boy—but arrogant in his physical self, as all boys are.

He quickened his pace a little. Somehow he knew that Freddy and Arch must be watching him. Enviously, of course. Though probably snickering up their sleeves a little, too, at him for being what they termed a "sap" who would not know enough to take advantage of a break. Who would not know how to depend himself in the face of a glittering distinction!

So it became a matter of pride.

He must show those smart Alecks that he could take care of himself. That Mrs. Hammond meant no more to him than any other woman with whom he was paid to dance. It would be a great feather in his cap to put THAT over on the boys. How he could kid them about it afterwards? Shut them up forever!

He was walking fast now—towards the enigmatic smile of the famous and mysterious woman. He was no longer conscious of Madame Leonine's beckoning professional summons. He was only aware now of dark eyes—of a fascinating head, as delicately poised on a swaying stem of a neck as is a cobra's. Snakes!

Quicker, quicker, he walked. He had almost reached the fringe of tables now, where the erstwhile tangoers were settling for a brief respite. He was in a kind of spell. All these thoughts had been racing through his dazed brain like a cascading torrent of water. Hazy, muddled water.

Who—who was this, stepping out in front of him so suddenly? Blocking his way. Sally! Oh, yes, Sally! He had almost forgotten her. The dream aura of the earlier afternoon had been dispersed, dissolved, in a cloud of mingled emotions, impressions.

Still, he had been on the point of fighting for her good name but ten minutes since. Seeing her mellow honey hair, her bright eyes, his mind cleared up with a snap. Was cleaned out, as a cold wind searches out a country brook on a sunny midwinter day.

But—what was this? Little Sally Smith's dear eyes were troubled?

She pretended to encounter him quite by accident—casually, as employees may reasonably be expected to pass, and exchange a word in passing.

She said to him, in a tense little whisper, so boldly that she hardly recognized the sound of her own low voice;

"I like you, Mr.—Bob—Ward. But, listen—"

The innocent confession of eager girlhood. Bob, thrilling to the unreality, the incredibility, of this prolonged afternoon dream, blinked and flushed—and hoped nobody would awaken him. He had never before heard a human voice give expression to such sweet music.

Sally was frightened to death by her own temerity. She was sorry the dancing floor boards were so unyielding. She wanted to sink out of sight. But, with the curious fatalism and regardlessness of consequence so peculiar to females when they have once decided to tell the truth, she persisted;

"—and—and I wouldn't like to see you let this Mrs. Hammond get her fingers around you!"

"But," objected Bob lamely, "I have to dance with whomever the Madame assigns me to, don't I?"

Sally, craftily watching to see that the Madame was not growing too impatient because of Bob's delay, grew almost regal with jealousy;

"Of course, your reputation is made here if Mrs. Hammond likes your dancing."

"I want only to make a reputation with you!" he said.

Even her tender years did not detract from Sally's sex instinct for seizing her advantage and rubbing it in, like salt on a bare wound!

"I couldn't help overhearing her say to Madame Leo that you were the best looking boy that she's ever seen!"

There were tears trembling in the low timbre of Sally Smith's whisper as she cast off that tentative anchor. A drag—a pull—a bump; and the Ship of Love was safely held on the seas of new romance. For Bob replied, with an humbleness and abjectness that would have warmed the cockles of many a more worldly wise heart than that of Sally Smith, the little cigarette girl:

"Let her say what she pleases. Flattery doesn't make a hit with me. Neither her nor anybody else can make me look away from you, Miss—Sally. Why, Mrs. Hammond's old enough to be my mother!"

Oh, that last was a lovely line, though! It set wild melodies free in Sally Smith's heart. Reassuring, comforting song—for, even love's young dream likes to feel secure. And now she warned happily;

"Sssshh! See, Madame Leo is getting miffed because you're delaying to talk to me, while the great Mrs. Hammond waits. Run along now—Bob!"

Which he did. Cheeks hot, eyes glowing, with the sheer delight of having heard his name breathed from that soft little rosebud mouth.

Unfortunately for Sally, the ardor which her words had aroused in Bob's face and manner only served to make him the more attractive to Mrs. Hammond.

CATTLE GRAIN, AND PRODUCE

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, April 9 (Canadian Press)—Well grounded assumptions that the United States Government crop report yesterday afternoon might contain a surprise, rallied wheat yesterday from an early setback. The official estimate of the condition of winter wheat, 84.5 per cent, turned out to be lower than expected. Wheat closed unsettled at the same as Thursday's finish, to 1-2c lower; corn 1-8 to 1-2c up; oats at 1-8c decline to an equal advance, and provisions varying from 10 cents drop to a rise of 5c.

Wheat traders construed the government crop report as slightly bullish in view of rather general anticipations of a higher condition private estimates having been around 86. Aside from uneasiness over possible unforeseen developments, some fears were also expressed that spring wheat seeding operations are being unduly delayed both sides of the Canadian line.

On the other hand, export demand for North American wheat yesterday lacked volume and weather prevailing in domestic winter wheat territory was favorable although mention was made of too much moisture in some sections and of green bug infection in Oklahoma. Big shipments from Argentina and Australia with Liverpool [illegible] tions lower than due, coun[illegible]s at times as a bearish influe[illegible]. Some commission house buying of May against sales of July was a late feature.

Corn owed its strength largely to expectance that 1,441,000 bushels now afloat here will be moved out in the next few days. Adverse conditions for seeding tended to steady the oats market.

Burglar Steals Revolver From Toronto Policeman

TORONTO, April 9. Canadian Press. — Held up by a burglar, who surprised him in the rear of a grocery store, early to-day, Constable George Drohan was forced to part with his belt, revolver and whistle. The thief escaped, telling Drohan he would throw his belt and holster over a nearby fence. The thief backed out of the lane, keeping the constable covered with the revolver, and ran on reaching the street. Drohan says he was suddenly cornered by the armed burglar, and put up his hands in the face of superior force.

UNIQUE SERVICE BEARING UPON A STRANGE RACE

In St. Paul's Church, With Passover Table For Background.

JEWISH CUSTOMS.

Foreshadow Wonderful Future for the People of the Restless Feet.

What a wealth of history is wrapped up that one word—Jew! It has been well said that it seems as if all the great nations have been implicated in their history. He perplexes philisophers; makes historians marvel; and confounds sceptics and infidels. Great empires have risen, flourished, faded and fallen, and yet the Jew exists—the contemporary of all.

To-day, he exercises more influence among the civilized nations than he has ever done in all his history. In every phase of life where intellect is demanded, there the Jew excels—in scholarship, law, art, finance and politics. His mind, thought and intellect is helping to shape or to wreck the doctrines of empires and nations. He is a wonder of wonders.

Passover Table.

In St. Paul's church, Rev. Mr. Allan, who has been delivering a series of sermons dealing with the Jews, will bring this series to a close on Sunday night with a message which is entitled, "The Jew — His Passover and What It Has to Say to the 20th Century." This address will be illustrated by a specially prepared Passover Table as used by the Jews. The interest in these services has been very impressive, there being many Jews in attendance, with all of whom Mr. Allan is on excellent terms. Large as the attendance has been it is likely that it will be larger still for this unique service.

THE ONLY MEDICINE BABY HAS HAD

Is What Thousands of Mothers Say of Baby's Own Tablets.

Once a mother has used Baby's Own Tablets for her little ones she will use nothing else. Experience teaches her that they are without an equal for relieving baby of any of the minor ailments which afflict him at one time or another. The Tablets never fail to be of benefit —they cannot possibly do harm as they are guaranteed to be free from all injurious drugs.

Concerning Baby's Own Tablets Mrs. Russell Hill, Norwood, Ont., says:—"I shall always have a good word to say for Baby's Own Tablets. I have given them to our baby girl. In fact they are the only medicine she has ever had and I am proud to say that she took second prize at our baby show. She is eleven months old and weighs 22 pounds. No mother whose child is peevish or ailing will make a mistake in giving Baby's Own Tablets."

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or direct by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

BONFIRE SPARKS CAUSE BARN FIRE

John Martin, of Warkworth, Sustains Loss of About $300.

WARKWORTH, April 9.—Fire destroyed the small barn of John Martin last night about 6 o'clock, causing $300 damages. A large bonfire had been started near the barn and the sparks from this put the barn on fire. The fire, which had received a good start, was first seen by Morley Smith, who turned in the alarm. Mr. Martin is an old man and very deaf. When he noticed the fire he rushed out to save some chickens and but for the help of the Rev. Mr. Jones he would have perished in the fire. He was badly badl singed around the head and received minor burns.

W.C.T.U. RALLY AT CAMPBELLFORD

Many Members Hear Address By Organizing Secretary.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 9.—A ally meeting of the W.C.T.U. was held on Friday afternoon in St. John's Church. A fair attendance was recorded. Mrs. Robert Moore had charge of the devotional period after which the President, Mrs. Bell, took charge of the business part of the meeting. Mesdames Bakes, Weston, and Moore were chosen as nominating committee for the next meeting which will be the annual meeting, to be held at Mrs. Robert Moore's home.

Miss Duff, the organizing secretary of the Canadian W.C.T.U., was the speaker for the afternoon, and gave a very interesting address, which was enjoyed very much. The speaker asked all those who were wearing their white ribbon pins. She said ever since Frances Willard and a small band of women organized a union and pledged themselves to promote total abstinence, just so today, women are following in their footsteps. Fifty-two years ago, Mrs. Doyle of Owen Sound formed a small band of women into the first Prohibition Union of Canada. This body will celebrate its golden jubilee next Fall in Ottawa.

Miss Duff described her travels to Edinburg as Canadian representative; conditions in Alberta, and the splendid progress of other countries. Even in Japan, a country with whom Canadians so often associate heathenism, their new Emperor refused wine while in France, out of respect to the young people of his nation. Miss Duff asked for the co-operation of the women in this campaign, to protect the young people of the nation. The speaker suggested having the work taken up in the schools and Sunday school and encourage the children by use of essays and slogans with prizes attached, thus increasing their interest in the work.

Miss Duff ended her address with a slogan of the Young Women's Christian Temperance Union which, she said might well be adapted to the use of all other societies:

"Canada safe,
Canada free.
Canada dry from sea to sea.
How do we do it?
We just go to it."

Mrs. Bell dismissed the meeting with the Benediction.

Make NEW MILEAGE Budgets not UPKEEP Budgets

Many a promising road-building programme trips over the maintenance hurdle. New mileage below expectation and far behind modern traffic needs, results from too large a proportion of the budget going to re-condition non-permanent roads.

Permanent concrete roads remove this hurdle. Maintenance with them, is merely incidental and communities that have standardized on them, find each ensuing year's budget increasingly productive of new mileage.

Such communities are keeping pace with the growth of motor traffic, providing even, safe driving surfaces that cut gas, tire and vehicle repair costs from one-fourth to one-third.

Advocate more concrete roads in your community and help it develop and prosper.

"It's the little they cost to maintain that makes Concrete Highways Economical."

NASH
Leads the World in Motor Car Value

How many main bearings in your motor car? Nash recommends 7

Because for the finest and smoothest performance results, you need 7, rather than 3 or 4.

Obviously, 3 or 4 supports for a crankshaft cannot give it the rigidity and smoothness of 7. That is why Nash—with customary engineering progressiveness—has developed the 7-bearing motor for all Nash models.

The 7 bearings of Nash achieve power-smoothness and quietness, and achieve it, moreover, with no sacrifice of acceleration. In fact, the proper support of the crankshaft decidedly improves the energy and aggressiveness of the car.

Here is another fact to remember about the 7 bearings of Nash: They have more bearing surface, by actual measurement, than any 6-cylinder engine of similar size and price, no matter how many bearings it has. (Actually 20 square inches more than cars with fewer bearings.)

When you buy your 1927 motor car be sure to ask: "How many main bearings?" And for better results choose the car that has 7. Nash offers you this performance-advantage in every single model, no matter which one of the 23 Nash models you choose.

SAINT and SINNER

By ANNE AUSTIN

"You were on that date engaged in designing and making garments for this defendant's trousseau?" Banning repeated.

"Yes, sir. I worked there six weeks, until November 13," Mrs. Dennis replied.

"Will you tell this jury how much you were paid for your work on Miss Cherry's trousseau?" Banning asked suavely.

"I object!" Churchill sprang to his feet, "on the grounds that such testimony is irrelevant, incompetent—"

"Objection overruled!" Judge Grimshaw silenced him.

Faith raised her hands to her burning cheeks, but Cherry's head was high, her eyes glowing like hot metal disks as they stared unwinkingly at the witness.

"Fifteen hundred dollars, which included the wages of my sewing woman, Mrs. Hogan," Mrs. Dennis answered with a note of pride behind her evident distress.

"Whose name was signed to the check with which you were paid?" Banning asked.

Again Churchill's objection was overruled.

"Mr. Cluny—Mr. Ralph Winston Cluny—signed the check," the witness said.

"Were her home surroundings, her standard of living, in proportion to this expenditure for a trousseau?" Banning asked suggestively.

This time Churchill's objection was sustained.

"Now, Mrs. Dennis," Banning went on, not at all non-plussed, since he had got his point to the jury, "do you recall overhearing a conversation between this defendant and her sister and mother on the afternoon of Monday, October 25 last?"

"I do," Mrs. Dennis answered in a low voice, with another quick glance of appeal toward Faith.

"Tell in your own words, the circumstances leading up to your overhearing this conversation and, as exactly as you can remember, the words of that conversation," Banning instructed her, strutting up and down before the witness chair like a crowing rooster.

"It was a few minutes after five. I was through work for the day and was in the hall of the Lane home, putting on my coat and hat. The door was open into the dining room and I could see Miss Faith Lane, her mother and Miss Cherry seated around the table. Miss Cherry and Miss Faith were addressing the envelopes of the wedding invitations—"

"Just a minute, Mrs. Dennis," Banning interrupted her. "Could you see all this from the hall?"

"The hat rack is almost directly opposite the dining room door."

"All right, Mrs. Dennis. Go ahead."

"First I heard Miss Faith say, 'What would happen in case you did not marry him?' And Miss Cherry answered immediately, that she supposed—"

"Use the defendant's exact words, as nearly as you can remember them, Mrs. Dennis," Banning interrupted her.

"Well, Miss Cherry said, as near as I can remember, 'Oh, I suppose he would change his will if I broke with him, but don't you worry. I'm not going to let a million slip through my hands'—or words to that effect; I know she said 'million'—" Mrs. Dennis hesitated, her face going very red.

"You must go on with your story, Mrs. Dennis," Banning ordered her sharply. "What else did Miss Cherry say, if anything?"

"She—she said, 'Of course I don't say it would hurt my feelings'—or maybe she said 'break my heart'—'if Mr. Cluny died before November 25', and then Mrs. Lane—"

"Oh, Muggy, Muggy!" Cherry's moaned appeal to her dead mother could be distinctly heard over the suddenly breathless courtroom.

"Go on, Mrs. Dennis. Speak right up so the jury can hear you," Banning admonished the unwilling witness impatiently.

"Well, Mrs. Lane said, in a shocked voice, 'Cherry!' and Cherry—Miss Cherry said, 'Don't be shocked, Mother,' or words to that effect, and then she said, 'He won't die! No such luck'."

In the tense silence of the courtroom, Cherry's thoughtless words, repeated by a woman who was obviously unwilling to testify, took on a hideous meaning. Even the jury which had shown maddeningly little interest in the trial, exchanged shocked glances, stirring uneasily in their seats.

Cherry and Churchill conferred together for a few minutes eagerly before Banning, with dramatic suddenness, turned his witness over to the defense lawyer for cross-examination.

"Mrs. Dennis, you are a friend of this defendant, are you not?" Churchill asked sympathetically.

"Yes, sir. She—she was just lovely to me while I was working for her" Mrs. Dennis answered in a broken voice, her handkerchief dabbing at her red eyes.

"And you are an even closer friend of the defendant's sister, Miss Faith Lane, aren't you?"

"Yes, sir."

"Now, Mrs. Dennis, when you were putting on your wraps in the hall, did the defendant or her mother or sister, or all of them, observe that you were within hearing distance?" Churchill asked with deceptive gentleness.

"I—I don't know. The door was open. They could have seen me. And when I had my hat and coat and goloshes on, I stepped to the door of the dining room and called out 'Good-night'."

"Did Miss Cherry or Miss Faith or Mrs. Lane appear to be embarrassed at the possibility that you had overheard what Miss Cherry had said?" Churchill pressed her.

"O, no, sir. Not at all, sir," Mrs. Dennis answered eagerly.

"Now, Mrs. Dennis, I'll ask you to describe, as nearly as you can remember the tone of voice that Miss Cherry used when she said those words you have accredited to her."

"Objection!" roared the indignant district attorney.

But Judge Grimshaw overruled the objection, and Mrs. Dennis was instructed to answer the question.

"Her voice was gay, like it always was. She—she spoke as if she didn't mean—"

"Confine your answers to facts, not conclusions," Judge Grimshaw admonished her rather sternly, before Banning could phrase his objection.

"Well, her voice was gay and careless, and laughing-like," Mrs. Dennis persisted.

"Now, Mrs. Dennis, as you tried on clothes on Miss Cherry, and planned dresses for her, did she confide in you her feelings toward Mr. Cluny?" Churchill asked.

"She talked about him sometimes."

"Did she express her fondness for him, her gratitude to him, or did she express dislike and disgust for her elderly fiance?" Churchill asked.

"Your honor, I object to that question as one intended to lead the witness!" Banning positively lanced in his anger.

"I will withdraw the question." Churchill smiled "and put it this way: what was Miss Cherry's attitude toward Mr. Cluny as expressed to you in conversation?"

"She referred to him as 'an old darling' or 'a sweet old duck' or 'my nice old boy friend'—" Mrs. Dennis floundered over the Cherry-like endearments, until she was stopped, in confusion, by the ripple of laughter that ran over the courtroom.

While Judge Grimshaw was angrily rapping for order, Churchill smilingly dismissed the witness, and Banning, red-faced and angry, waved her away also.

"Call Mr. Chester Hart," Banning directed.

Faith and Cherry looked at each other in blank astonishment, then the slow red of shame crept over Cherry's magnolia-white face.

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

Of undoubted newness is this frock of black point d'esprit trimmed with blue ribbon bows.

"I haven't seen point d'esprit for so long that I've forgotten what it's like," is the comment of many women when told that this material is listed among the really smart things for spring. "The name is perfectly familiar," one woman remarks, "because I know I had a number of white point d'esprit frocks when I was a girl—fussy, frilly dresses—but that is all I can remember."

The fact is that it would have been hard a few months ago to find a material more completely out of fashion than point d'esprit. A younger generation of salesgirls wouldn't have known what you were talking about if you had asked for it at some of the shops. But point d'esprit is enjoying its well-deserved revival of favor. But it is black point d'esprit, not white, that has taken the eye of the French designers.

To Jenny of Paris belongs the credit of having actually brought about this revival. There is nothing at all quaint or Victorian in the way she uses this old favorite. In one long-sleeved dinner gown she has a skirt of three tiers of black point d'esprit held close to the figure in fine side pleats. The lower two flounces tilt somewhat upward to show the warm flesh-colored crepe de chine slip over which the point d'esprit is posed.

A less sophisticated type of frock in black point d'esprit is shown in the sketch, though it shows a number of the new ideas—the short puffed sleeves, the gathered tiers and the ribbon belt tied at the front. The point d'esprit is backed by black chiffon and in this case worn over a flesh-colored slip. Even when worn over a black foundation the best effects are secured when the black chiffon is used directly beneath the point d'esprit.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By ROBERT F. FOSTER.

2.—SCORING.

(Copyright, 1927, by Robert F. Foster.)

The most important part of the game of contract is the scoring. The value of the tricks won by the declarer depends upon the trump suit; there is no difference in their value to the adversaries if they defeat the contract.

If clubs are trumps, each trick over the declarer's book, within the limits of the contract, is worth 6 points toward game; if diamonds, 7; if hearts, 8; if spades, 9, and if no-trumps, 10. These values are doubled if the contract is doubled and succeeds; they are quadrupled if the contract is redoubled and succeeds. Hearts doubled and redoubled would be worth 32, the odd trick winning the game.

It does not matter how many points more than 30 the declarer makes, they are all scored, but win only that one game. If one side has a "partial score," less than 30, when the other side goes out, that partial score is worth nothing toward winning the next game, which starts at zero for both sides.

In addition to the trick scores there is a special bonus of 80 points for holding four honors in one hand, regardless of the suit, and 100 for holding all five honors, or four aces. When their side wins a game, they add 100 points above the line, and the side winning a second game adds 300 for the rubber; so that if the same side wins two games straight, the rubber is worth 400 to them. If they have to play three games, only 300.

If either side wins twelve of the thirteen tricks, the little slam is worth 50 in honors. If they win all thirteen, the grand slam is worth 100. Little slam both bid and made is worth 250; grand slam both bid and made, 500. Grand slam made after bidding little slam, 300.

If the declarer makes any tricks over his contract, they are scored above the line. The first over-trick is worth 50, the second 30, the third 20, and any further tricks 10 each. This has been found better than the old way of scoring them all at 50 each, which led sharp players to underbid hands that could not well be overcalled, so as to pile up honor counts that were worth more than winning a game. The Canadian system of making over-tricks only 10 each, killed all interest in the play after the contract was fulfilled, as the tricks were not worth playing for. The same objection lay against scoring the tricks at the usual value. Now, a player bidding two hearts and making five, scores 76 toward game and 100 above the line.

The chief difficulty having always been to settle upon an equitable value for over-tricks, which should strike a balance between tricks won by good play in exceptionally fortunate situations, such as every finesse turning out right, or tricks presented to the declarer by the mistakes of his adversaries, and tricks won which should have been included in the bid, the Auction Pinochle plan has frequently been suggested.

This is to give no bonus whatever for over-tricks, but to abandon the hand as soon as the contract is fulfilled, instead of wasting valuable time in playing for a few extra points that have no possible effect upon the eventual winning or losing of the rubber. This system would be as fair to one side as the other and would greatly enhance the importance of bidding the full value of the hands, instead of allowing a player to "sweat out" by making a few tricks toward game at a time, and piling up a big honor score for over-tricks that should have been game-winning tricks.

If the declarer is doubled and still fulfills his contract, he only scores his tricks as undoubled, but gets 50 points bonus for fulfilling a doubled contract, and 50 more for any he may make over his contract, and also doubles the sliding scale of 50, 30, 20 and 10 for over-tricks. A bid of three hearts doubled and making five odd would score a total of 48 for game and 310 in penalties and bonus, besides honors held, if four in hand.

If the declarer fails to fulfill his contract, his adversaries score 50 points above the line for the first trick by which he fails, 100 for the second, and 200 each for any further tricks, so that if he should bid five and make two only, they would score 350 in penalties, regardless of what the suit was.

These penalties would be doubled if the contract was doubled, and four times as much if it was redoubled. These penalties are made increasingly severe to prevent rash players from repeatedly overbidding their hands in order to prevent the other side from winning the game.

ELEVEN DROWNED BY CLOUDBURSTS

Hundreds of Homes Inundated in Oklahoma and Kansas.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 9.—(A.P.)— Flood waters surging in on the heels of cloud bursts had swept at least eleven persons to death in Oklahoma and Kansas last night with hundreds of homes inundated, railroad service paralyzed and further flood warnings being issued.

Six were drowned and six others were missing after flood waters trapped two families of Mexicans in their home near Rockyford, Okla. Only two of the fourteen in the house were known to have escaped.

Three persons lost their lives early yesterday when Missouri, Kansas and Texas passenger train 22, northbound, from San Antonio, struck a washout at St. Paul, Kansas. The engine and ten cars going into a flooded ditch. E. L. Phillips, engineer; Dave Ball, fireman, and an unidentified man were drowned. Fifteen were injured, some severely.

Eight miles away train No. 21, southbound from Kansas City, plunged into a flooded creek an hour afterward, injuring several, none severely.

Two persons were drowned in Oklahoma Thursday.

Many Southeast Kansas streams went to the highest stage on record after the downpour Thursday and early yesterday.

Saves Marines.

An unidentified Kansas farmer boy saved a special train of marines going to San Diego for duty in China from going into a washout at Erie yesterday morning. The boy ran to Walnut, Kansas, and told railroad men the track was out and the train was flagged down a few minutes later. It was marooned with washouts on both sides.

A Charming Home of Seven Rooms

(By Messrs. Warren & McDonnell, Architects.)

This home will attract favorable attention in any community. The exterior is very distinctive, the most outstanding features being the design of the verandah; the smart-hooded entrance and the two, one might say, "twin" chimneys. The pots surmounting the brick coping are delightfully characteristic of the English domestic architecture which pervades the entire design.

Entering the front door, a pleasing impression is immediately created by the bright, well-lighted vestibule. The two windows in the inside wall and French doors to the living- and dining-rooms insure the same effect in the main hall.

The living-room is 12 ft. x 23 ft. and has a large brick fireplace and centred end-groups of triple casement windows. Surely such a room will appeal to the imagination of those whose views of the future are already focused on a new home.

There is another fireplace in the dining-room on the opposite side of hall. The dimensions of this room are 12 ft. x 12 ft., the popular square type, particularly so, when the narrowest dimension is not less than in this case. The kitchen is 12 ft. x 10 ft. 6 ins. and you will notice there are windows on two sides to provide for cross-ventilation. There is a built-in cabinet and a sink with drainboard and, when the stove, table and refrigerator have been placed in their alloted positions you will be well pleased with the convenient arrangement.

Upstairs there are four bedrooms, two 12 ft. x 11 ft., one 12 ft. x 11 ft. 6 ins. and one 12 ft. x 9 ft. 4 ins. The bathroom is opposite the stairway, the intervening space being a practical square plan hall with a nicely balanced placing of doorways.

The approximate cost of this desirable home is $8,500, including hot-water heating.

Readers desiring further information regarding the plans and specifications for this house should communicate with the architect direct. Address Messrs. Warren and McDonnell, Hamilton, Ont.

MALE VOICE CHOIR CONCERT

(By Jeanette.)

There was a splendid attendance at the seventh annual concert of the Peterborough Male Voice Choir, given last evening in the Grand Opera House. Over eight hundred people were present and manifested much pleasure at the extremely fine programme presented by the Choir and assisting artists, Madame Ethel Holland, contralto, of Toronto, and Merlin Davies, baritone-tenor, of Montreal. The latter made his first appearance in Peterborough last night, while Madame Holland has sung here only once before.

The Choir last night repeated the splendid impression that previous year's concerts by this hard-working organization have made upon the music-lovers of the city. The manner in which this group of singers, numbering about sixty-five men, present their varied programme, is a credit both to themselves and to their zealous conductor, Martin B. Chenhall, A.R.C.O. The one concert that they give during the year is the result of many months of practice and the results of their labor and attention are very pleasing. They sing with constant and earnest attention to the various nuances of tone and tempo and rhythm that go to make up an artistic ensemble of deep and light-toned voices, and they interpret their numbers in a manner that shows a sentimental, as well as intellectual, appreciation of the atmosphere of each offering.

The singing of "O Canada" opened the programme, which finished with the National Anthem, and the first double number included "Strike the Lyre" and the rollicking measures of an old English folk song, "Come to the Fair." "Murmuring Zephyrs" demonstrated excellently the ability of the singers to attack a difficult form of vocalization for a large group of men, in its soft, hushed type of rendition, while splendid control and enunciation were shown in "Macushla," this last provin galso the Choir's appreciation of sentimental values in choral music.

An unaccompanied and extremely effective offering was the "Volga Boat Song," using a dimming light for the diminuendo of the voices in the retreating splash of the oars, simulated by finely modulated cadences. "The Beautiful Ship From Toyland," from Friml's opera "The Fire Fly," in which the Choir formed a background for the assistant vocalist, Madame Holland, who took the solo in this number, was also very interesting.

The big number of the evening, in which the men excelled themselves in the interpretation of the varied and exacting character of the composition, with its softly sung sections shading almost imperceptibly into deep, swelling intervals, was "The Hebrew Captives," a massive thing, finely handled.

A trio of humorous offerings, in which the enunciation of the words appeared somewhat oddly to be submerged at moments in a desire to bring out to the utmost the humour of the peace, included the staccato comedy of "But—They Didn't," the tale of the tardy lovers, also "A Tragic Story," delineating the efforts of a Celestial to remedy a misplaced pigtail, and "A Chilly Serenade," with some very realistic sneezes in its rendition. Again the interpretive ability of the singers and their absorption in their music was apparent in these well-received selections.

The "Hallelujah" Chorus from "The Messiah," for which the audience stood, was beautifully done, and one of the loveliest choral numbers of the evening was "Lead, Kindly Light," in a special arrangement, striking and effective, by Mr. Chenhall. The melody and sweetness of the song prayer was outstanding and the tenor solos of Mr. Edward Jones in this number added much to its beauty.

In the two assisting artists of last evening, Peterborough audiences had a fine opportunity to observe contrasting types and methods in vocal music. Both were very fine singers and both received plenty of enthusiastic applause from pleased hearers. Madame Holland wound up to a superb finish in a rendition of "Abide With Me," while, conversely, the most attractive offering of her companion, Merlin Davies, at least as far as one listened was concerned, was his opening song, "I Shot an Arrow Into the Air."

Madame Holland's voice is like the rumbling music of a deep, rich-toned bass viol. It is capable of extraordinary bass notes and has some wonderful high-pitched tones, also, as was demonstrated admirably in her big number, the aria, "O Don Fatale" from the opera, "Don Carlos," by Verdi. The voice was unlikeable in the middle register.

The three opening contralto numbers were Chaminade's "By the Shore," Rasbach's lovely song, "Trees," with words by Joyce Kilmer, the war poet, and del Riego's "Sink, Red Sun." In these was markedly exhibited the quality of the church singer, the extreme attention to technical perfection which gives a pleasing artistic presentation, but allows little latitude for individual interpretation by the vocalist.

The sustained power and ringing volume, ease and facility in rendering difficult music and a dramatic interpretation which accorded admirably with the character of the aria, all attributes of Madame Holland, were demonstrated wonderfully in the excerpt from "Don Carlos," in which the singer scored a triumph, and received renewed and enthusiastic encores that brought a lovely and reverent rendition of "Abide With Me," sung by request. Madame Holland's voice was also very satisfying in the solo work of 'The Beautiful Ship from Toyland.'

In Mr. Merlin Davies, baritone-tenor of Montreal, Peterborough welcomed a new singer and very pleasing vocalist. His voice has depth, richness and sonority to its deep register and sweet, ringing clarity to its tenor notes, with a curious husky catch in intermediate spaces that gave an odd effect to an otherwise almost flawless calibre of tone. It is a voice as smooth as cream, with a vibrant, holding quality that captures the attention at once. Balfe's "I Shot an Arrow into the Air" was a beautiful song, with much sentimental appeal in its ringing timbre.

"Danny Boy," the old favorite, suffered from too much manner in its rendition, its simplicity submerged in vocal tricks that detracted from its charm, but the finished quality of this voice was apparent in the lightness of the dainty "Sylvia" number.

In the recitative and aria from the oratories, "Samson" and "The Creation," Mr. Davies showed possibly his true vocal character, as an artist who excels in tricky and difficult vocalization. He was manifestly quite at ease in the intricacies of "Total Eclipse" from the former work, and 'In Native Worth' from "The Creation," and his dramatic flair was paramount in both numbers. He is an exponent of a very broad type of vocalization, each word getting its full worth, and thus is extremely easy to listen to, his excellence in this regard combining with a beautiful tone quality to make his music thoroughly satisfying. A "heart" song by such a voice would have been a wonderful conclusion, but Mr. Davies chose to sing a comic little number about a lady named "Jane," in response to much enthusiastic applause.

Just in passing, an ordinary observer wonders why two such conscientious artists were compelled to use notes while rendering their songs, many of which must be quite familiar to them. Do the latest singers suffer from lapse of memory to a greater extent than the older type, or is it merely an affectation that carries these notes to a half-darkened stage and takes the singer's eyes to their level with such surprising frequency?

A great deal of the perfection of the programme last evening was undoubtedly due to the fine work at the piano of the accompanist, Miss Muriel Bridge, who gave the choir and soloists alike sympathetic and satisfying instrumental backgrounds for their vocal work. Both Madame Holland and Miss Bridge received lovely bouquets of flowers last evening.

And to Mr. Chenhall, the conductor, a large meed of praise is due also. The public has little idea of the immense amount of hard work and attention to detail required in training such a large body of singers and the tact and skill necessary to ensure the measure of cooperation which is evident in the ranks of this organization.

Gas on Stomach Caused Severe Pains

Mrs. C. F. Wheeler, R.R. No. 1, Glen Ewen, Sask., writes:—"For years my eldest son suffered from severe pains and agony from imperfect digestion. He dieted and used artificial digestants, but all to no avail. At last I got him a bottle of

NORTHERN ARMY REPELS ADVANCE OF CANTONESE

Remnants of Sun's Troops Force Nationalists To Withdraw.

RUSSIANS ON MOVE.

Four Divisions of Infantry Being Sent To Siberia.

SHANGHAI, April 9 (Canadian Press). — Serious reverses are reported to have been met by the Cantonese (Nationalist) expedition up the Grand Canal at the hands of the reorganized remnants of the army of Marshal Sun Chuan Fang, which originally held Shanghai. Wireless messages from Chinkiang, about forty miles east of Nanking, indicate that the Cantonese are steadily being driven back towards the Yangtze.

Russian Infantry Moving.

LONDON, Apr. 9 (United Press). — Four infantry divisions of the Russian army have been mobilized and sent to Siberia and three Cavalry brigades also have been mobilized, an Exchange Telegraph despatch from Copenhagen reported to-day.

The whole staff of one army unit has been sent to China, the despatch added.

Vessel Fires at Fort.

SHANGHAI, April 9 (Canadian Press). — The British destroyer "Veteran" engaged in an artillery duel yesterday with Chinese batteries fifteen miles below Chinkiang, on the Yangtze River, it was learned to-day. The Chinese opened fire with rifles and field guns, whereupon the destroyer opened up with her main armament, consisting of four 4.7 inch guns. She fired eighty rounds. The shells destroyed the Chinese gun emplacement and hit a barracks, doing considerable other damage. There were no casualties aboard the "Veteran."

Powers' Notes Identical.

LONDON, April 9 (Canadian Press).—It is believed in authoritative quarters here that Great Britain, the United States, France, Japan, and Italy early next week will present identical notes to the Cantonese authorities in China, demanding reparation, apologies and punishment of perpetrators of outrages in Nanking.

Russians Pledge Support.

MOSCOW, April 9 (United Press).—Pledges "to take arms in the defence of the Nation" appeared in Moscow newspapers to-day, in discussions of the raid by Chinese police on the Soviet Embassy compound in Peking. The papers were filled with resolutions of protest from many cities.

The Government, however, seemed to be more calm, with the official newspaper Isvestia hinting at a non-aggressive policy and asserting the raid was made to provoke an armed reply by the Soviet, thus providing an excuse for intervention by the powers.

Ministers Differ.

LONDON, April 9 (Canadian Press).—Reuter's Shanghai correspondent says: "A semi-official Japanese statement from Peking indicates that Japan is insisting on devising moderate action against the Cantonese regarding the Nanking incident, whereas Great Britain and the United States are urging Japan to act in concert with them in the event the Cantonese refuse to accept the powers' demands."

VARICOSE VEINS REDUCED OR MONEY BACK, SAYS BOND'S

Simple Home Treatment That Is Giving Amazing Results.

The world progresses. Today ailments that took weeks to treat can now be ended in a few days. If you have vericose veins or bunches you can start today to bring them back to normal size, and if you are wise you will do so.

Just get an original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil at any dispensing pharmacist and apply it night and morning to the enlarged veins. It is very powerful and penetrating, and only a little is required.

After a few days' treatment the veins will begin to grow smaller and by regular use will soon reduce to normal.

Moone's Emerald Oil is also a marvelous healing agent. One application for instance stops the itching of eczema, and a few applications cause the eruption to dry up, scale off and completely disappear. It is equally as effective in barbers' itch, salt rheum, redness and inflammatory skin trouble.

People who want to reduce varicose veins, or get rid of eczema, ulcers, or piles in a few days should not hesitate to get a bottle at once. It is so powerful that a small bottle lasts a long time. Any pharmacy can supply you. Bond's Drug Store, McDermid Drug Co., Ltd., McDermid & Jury sells lots of it.

Rheumatism gone —20 years younger

"Please send me $2.50 worth of Gin Pills. I had Rheumatism so bad that I had to crawl to the wash room on my knees, and I could not sleep at night from pains in the back. I only had two boxes of Gin Pills and I feel twenty years younger. Thanking you so much, I am, Yours truly, "William A. James, 2947 W. Fuller Ave., Chicago, Ill."

Rheumatism and lumbago are only too frequently the result of disordered kidneys. Gin Pills regulate the kidneys to normal action and bring permanent relief.

EUROPEAN TOURS.

People planning to visit Europe this year will be interested in the announcement that the Hoseason Tours will again tour Great Britain and the continent this summer. Last year these popular tours took over the largest organized party from Ontario points and proved that travelling with a conducted party is the most economical, complete and comfortable means to see the best of Europe. Five of the most important countries of Europe are traversed, the two greatest cities of the world visited and 9,000 miles by boat, train and rural motoring thoroughly enjoyed. The scenes of the great war are explored throughout Flanders Fields. So completely has the programme of the tours been planned that many university graduates consider the tour the equivalent of a postgraduate course in historical, geographical and social information. Guides in each country and city allow the tourist to hear the most authentic information, and language differences present no difficulties. The parties will sail from Montreal July 1 and July 8, this year. The latter one will be in charge of L. J. Colling, principal of Queen Mary school, Hamilton, formerly of Peterborough, and Mrs. (Dr.) J. M. Park as chaperone. Mr. Colling obtained valuable tour experience overseas last year, and tourists will benefit thereby this summer. The tours are open to all who wish to travel the better way, and their merit is proven by the fact that 40 teachers were members of the large party last year.

LIQUOR CONTROL BOARD PASSES PERMIT RULES

Regulations Governing Storage and Inspection Also Drawn Up.

HOURS NOT FIXED.

Permit To Cost $2 a Year, Are Subject To Suspension.

TORONTO, April 9—Regulations made by the Liquor Control Board of Ontario, and assented to by Chief Commissioner D. B. Hanna, were approved by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council at noon yesterday.

These regulations, officially setting the machinery of the Commission in motion, deal with the delivery of liquor to and from Government stores, fixing, in this connection, the status of 'common carriers"; the delivery by brewers and brewers' agents; the filling of beer orders received by brewers from vendors; the duties and conduct of vendors; the duties and conduct of inspectors; the question of officers authorized to issue permits; the matter of manufactures; the possession of liquor in places other than residences, and permit fees.

Sale Hours Not Decided

No decision has been reached as yet with regard to the number of stores to be located; where, and when; or as to the hours the stores will be kept open. Although the regulations approved yesterday permit delivery of beer by brewers' agents, between the hours of 7 o'clock in the morning and 7 o'clock at night, no such hours, it is understood, will prevail in the sale from Government shops. The Commission, it is said, has some pretty rigid ideas on this question, and it would not be surprising were stores in large centres not to open until 10 o'clock in the morning.

Permit Fees Set at $2

A fee of $2, as forecast, will be charged for every individual permit, whether it be the ordinary "resident" permit, "transient" permit; special permit issued by physician, druggist, dentist, veterinary, or special permit issued to a person "engaged in mechanical or manufacturing business or any scientific pursuit."

No fee will be charged for any special permits issued to ministers of the Gospel for sacramental purposes, or for special permits to hospitals, education and Government institutions, where the liquor is purchased to be used for scientific or medicinal purposes.

Permit Year Ends Oct. 31.

Permits, it is understood, will date from Oct. 31 to Oct. 31, thereby conforming to the Province's fiscal year. Accordingly applicants who secure permits on May 1, or when available, will have to take out new permits after Oct. 31 next.

The regulations also prescribe that no vendos shall sell liquor to any person whose permit has been suspended during the period of one month from the date of such suspension, and no vendors or persons authorized to issue permits shall issue a permit to "any such persons" during the same period. A man whose permit has been suspended must deliver the same to the nearest vendor for furtherance to the board at Toronto. Proof to be furnished as to loss or destruction of a permit must be in the form of a statutory declaration made before a vendor or some other authorized person.

Storage of Liquor and Beer

Licenses issued under the regulations to any brewer or distiller shall authorize such parties to have and keep liquor manufactured by them in buildings wherein the manufacture is carried on. Similarly, licenses to brewers' agents will permit them to keep liquor for sale to the Commission on any premises designated for that purpose.

A Government vendor may deliver liquor to an agent of a permit-holder, provided the agent produces the necessary permit and authority to receive the liquor. The vendor may also ship liquor by parcel post to any holder of a subsisting permit authorizing the purchase of such liquor. The consignee can either secure the liquor from the Postoffice or authorize an agent, in writing to get it for him. In both cases the liquor must be carried to the residence of the consignee and not elsewhere.

Delivery of Liquor

The delivery of liquor within Ontario from a Government store to a permit-holder may be made by a vendor or an employee to such permit-holder; or it may be made through any recognized express company at the risk of the consignee.

In this connection, every railway company, express company or other "common carrier" will be required to keep at each company agency an accurate record of liquor consignments both received and delivered by them.

Sunday or holiday delivery of beer by a brewer or agent will not be allowed. No delivery will be allowed on a day when either Provincial or Dominion election polling is conducted in the electoral district in which a brewery or warehouse is situated. Seven a.m. to 7 p.m. delivery will be the rule on regular days. At any time, however, the board, by order of Chairman Hanna, can prohibit any beer delivery. All deliveries must be signed for by the persons receiving them and receipts must bear the name and number of delivery, the name of the brewery and of the career making delivery.

Board's Officer in Breweries

The board may establish an office in any brewery, and place there an inspector empowered to check all orders and deliveries of beer. All orders for beer must be in a special form provided by the board which shall contain the name and address of each purchaser, the kind and quantity purchased by each person, the amount paid, the method of delivery (when ascertained), the permit numbers, and the name of the brewer or brewer's agent to whom the order is directed.

The duties of vendors include regulating and apportioning the work of the staff; supervising all matters connected with reception and distribution of liquor on his shop premises; safeguarding all liquor, moneys, fixtures, etc.; conducting the store in accordance with the board's regulations, as may be issued from time to time; and "at all time rendering courteous service consistent with proper enforcement of the Liquor Control Act."

A vendor will have the power to "hold up" a medical prescription until he ascertains its bona fideness.

Duties of Inspectors

The inspectors to be appointed by the board will inspect breweries, distilleries, hotels, drug stores, and such places as the board may designate, and report on same. They also will be empowered to make searches for and seizures of liquor, and power to arrest or lay information, as is conferred upon a Provincial constable under the act.

The Control Board may appoint any person it thinks desirable to issue permits. Permit issuers will have authority to take any oath necessary in performance of their duties. They cannot grant a permit to any person unless and until an application therefor has been made on the form prescribed by the regulations.

"The board may permit a special permit to any manufacturer of vinegar, perfumes, pharmaceutical, patent or proprietary medicines, essences, or of such other products as the board may determine, entitling such manufactures to purchase from the board or from a vendor named in the permit or from any other person selling alcohol or liquor by direction of the board alcohol or other liquor in such quantities as the board may by such permit authorize."

The time during which the permit shall remain in force is left to the board's discretion. Before it is issued, satisfactory evidence shall be furnished as to the character of the articles or commodities proposed to be manufactured in which the alcohol or liquor is required.

The regulation regarding "possession of liquor" is merely a reiteration of statements made by the Government during the recent legislative session. Liquor purchased by permit may be carried from one residence to another, provided it is not consumed while on the way.

ESSEX SUPER-SIX SCORES AGAIN

61.7 Miles an Hour For 14 Hours — Ability on Turns Great Help—Fast as a Limited Train.

Once again the Essex Super-Six has demonstrated in a spectacular test the extraordinary performance and endurance built into it. On a dirt track at Tanforan, Cal., the organization of Stanley W. Smith, Hudson-Essex distributor at San Francisco, ran an Essex for virutally 14 hours at a pace of 61.7 miles an hour.

Then the Essex was driven on high gear to the top of Twin Peaks, with never a hitch or a miss to suggest the terrific strain to which it had been subjected. This run follows one recently made at Culver City, Cal., where the Walter Murphy organization attained an average speed of 53.8 miles an hour for 24 continuous hours.

OFFICIAL OBSERVER WRITES

At Tanforan, the Essex was observed by newspaperment. One of them, chosen as official observer, wrote, in part, the following account:

"Tanforan track was chosen to make the test of speed and stamina because it was the only available place in Northern California. The track was never designed for anything but horse racing and in the few attempts that have been made in the past to put motor cars over it at high speed, four lives have been lost on the unbanked sharp turns. In addition to these handicaps, the track had lain in disuse for many months. It was overgrown with weeds, its surface rough and full of rain gullies.

"Added to these difficulties, lowering clouds began to spill rain on the course at the outset and continued at intervals throughout the darkness. With no special equipment except shock absorbers and a spreadlight, the Essex battled these adverse conditions, hour after hour. Its sturdy motor never missed a beat during the long hours of the night. Lap after lap, it tore down the back stretch at top speed, ripping into the vicious curves at the ends, straightening out as it slithered through the mud and pounded over the wretched roadbed.

PLENTY OF COURAGE

"The super-performance of the motor was equaled by the courage shown by the men who drove—none of whom had ever driven a car on a race track before. Several professional drivers who were present refused to go on, declaring that no automobile built could keep up such a terrific pace in view of all the obstacles. But the amateur drivers from the Stanley W. Smith service department showed how the trick could be done.

"Words can convey no adequate description of the punishment that the Essex car took in this long grind or the unfaltering courage of the men who kept on, hour after hour, in the face of obstacles which would daunt the most stout-hearted. Yet, at the finish, the motor was functioning so perfectly that the car was driven with four passengers, including myself as official observer, to the top of Twin Peaks in high.

SURELY A SUPER-SIX

"After observing the run, checking every detail and examining the car, I believe that had weather permitted, it could have gone on at this high speed almost indefinitely, even under all the other adverse conditions encountered.

"The record is surely proof positive of stamina, endurance, speed, reliability, roadability and power far greater than the most exacting person could expect in a motor car which sells for so little money. At Tanforan last Saturday and Sunday, if never before, the Essex earned its right to be called a "Super-Six."

SENIOR BALL FOR PETERBOROUGH IS NOW CERTAIN

Petes Are To Find a Berth in the Lake Shore League.

CENTRAL THROUGH.

Old Organization Automatically Comes To An End To-day.

Although the Central Ontario League passes out of existence automatically to-day, Peterborough is not to be without senior ball, for this afternoon a meeting is being held at Oshawa at which the Petes will be admitted into the Lake Shore League, the circuit to comprise Goodyear's of Toronto, Oshawa General Motors, Port Hope and Peterborough.

At the semi-annual meeting of the Central Ontario League several weeks ago, a resolution was passed providing that unless a fourth team applied for admission before today, the League would disband. The fourth team has failed to materialize, and thus the Central League which has been in operation since 1919 ceases to function.

Meanwhile President Gordon Matthews of the Peterborough Club has been busily engaged in making sure that the Petes would find a berth in senior company somewhere, and as a result of his efforts to-day's meeting will bring about the organization of a League which is practically a case of the "survival of the fittest," inasmuch as it is made up of elements of both the Central and Lake Shore Leagues.

A meeting of the Peterborough Club was held last night at which it was unanimously decided to enter the Lake Shore League, and H. T. McFadden, Max Swanston, Al Heckman and "Shiner" Johnston were appointed as delegates to attend to-day's meeting at Oshawa.

President Gordon Matthews was delegated to wait upon the City Council to arrange for the use of James Stevenson Park.

The new League will be welcomed by Peterborough fans, who will welcome the chance of seeing some new teams in action. Both Goodyear's and General Motors have strong line-ups, and Port Hope, who expect to draw material from Cobourg, will also be tough opposition.

A.—The first steamship on Lake Ontario was the "Frontenac" built near Ernesttown, Ont., and launched on September 16th, 1816. A tablet marking the site where the launching took place has been set up by the Dominion Government. It marked a new era in lake transportation, even though "she made a terrible noise when in motion. After many years of service, the vessel was burned by accident, near Niagara.

DOCTORS ADVICE TO THE SICK

Wash Away All Poisons in Stomach, Liver, Kidney and Bowels Before Breakfast

To feel your best day in and day out, no more headaches, indigestion, gas on stomach, bilious attacks, rheumatism, kidney pains, bad breath, you must bathe your self inside. Start today by taking one Tanol Calomel tablet before meals or two at bedtime, then next morning drink a glass or two of hot water to wash from the stomach, liver, kidney and bowels all the previous day's waste, poison and toxins before more food is taken in. Get a few Tanol tablets from F. C. Weber, Charlotte street, Peterborough. They are harmless to take, do not nauseate, no bad after effects, no salts or seidlitz next morning, like ordinary calomel. Then you can eat better, sleep better, work better, think better and look better.

WALKER SIGNS FOR TITLE BOUT

Middleweight Champion To Box Twenty Rounds With British Challenger.

IN JULY.

CHICAGO, April 9 (Canadian Press).—Mickey Walker has decided to risk his prized middleweight championship in a London ring against a British challenger.

Jack Kearns, manager of the title-holder, yesterday closed a twenty-round match with Tommy Milligan, champion of Great Britain, to be decided in London sometime between July 1 and 16. It will be staged under the direction of Charles Cochran, London theatrical producer and sports promoter. Cochrane plans to hold the bout in an arena seating 100,000.

Kearns says he has been guaranteed "considerable more" than $100,000 as Walker's share of the purse.

PADDOCK CAN TALK AS WELL AS SPRINT

Persuades Athletic Officials To Order Race Run Over.

LOS ANGELES, April 9. — Charlie Paddock, the great Pacific Coast sprinter, is working on another moving picture. This means, of course, that his temperament or his desire for publicity, or both, increases with each new film venture.

Paddock was one of the members of the Los Angeles Athletic Club team which went to Berkeley the other day for a meet against the University of California track team.

When the gun went off for the 100-yard dash, Charles refused to heed the starting signal and his team-mates stayed behind with him, while the California varsity sprinters then romped merrily down the stretch.

Paddock then explained his attitude, saying that the start was a false one, although no second gun was fired. Well, the race, in accordance with Paddock's demands, was run over again and the fagged California runners were easy prey for Charles and his club colleagues.

Before the race, Paddock proclaimed that he was not in shape to do his best, that he has just appeared to help out and would try for no records. His time for the century flight is 9:8, indicating that Southern California star needs a lot of training. It is only a champion who can stick in his holes after a perfect start and convince officials that a race must be re-run.

Winning and Losing Mike McTigue Thrilled

NEW YORK, April 9. — The indoor boxing season which is beginning to draw near a close has been replete with interesting incidents. There have been no great title bouts but the fans had plenty to occupy their minds.

Mike McTigue's feat in forcing Paul Berlenbach to retire in the fourth round of their bout last aJnuary and Jack Sharkey's success in forcing McTigue to resign in the twelfth round were winter highlights, as was the surprising upset which occurred when Jim Maloney took the decision over Jack Delaney.

Charley Rosenberg put up a nifty bout against Bushey Graham,beating him handily but he forfeited his title because he defended his crown overweight. Tony Canzoneri turned in a thrilling surprise when he battled the formidable Bud Taylor to a draw.

Mushy Callahan put over a jazzy stunt when he knocked out Andy Divodi and won the junior lightweight title. Fidel LaBarba showed he had much to learn by the lacing which Johnny Vacca gave him in Boston. The bout being at catch-weights, Fidel's flyweight title was not at stake.

FORMER HOCKEY DAYS RECALLED

Percy Dietrich Exchanges Reminiscenses With Chris. Graham.

There was a real fanning bee running back to hockey classics of twenty-five years ago at the Empress Hotel yesterday when Percy Dietrich who played on the forward line of the Galt team in 1902, dropped in and exchanged reminiscences with Chris Graham, who was a wing man with the Peterborough team that season. Galt and Peterborough were intermediate finalists in 1902, and the Petes won the championship by one goal after two keenly fought games on slushy ice. The first game was played here in the old Charlotte Street rink, and when the Petes were only able to beat the westerners by only one goal, their chances did not look very bright. However, they held Galt to a tie in the second game on Galt ice and brought home the championship.

BEST GAMES WILL COUNT

Teams Will Share Honors Jointly If No Superiority at Finish.

"NO GATE PLAYS."

BOSTON, Mass., April 9 (Canadian Fress).—Best three out of five games will count in the Stanley Cup world's championship hockey series, and if, the first game having been a tie, there is no game superiority at the end of the series, the Ottawa Senators and the Boston Bruins will share honors and money jointly and have joint possession of the cup.

This ruling was made yesterday by Frank Calder president of the National League, while the Bruins and Senators rested after the eighty minute draw Thursday night and prepared to go at it again tonight.

The decision of Calder to limit the series to five games was based, it is said, on the possibility of inference being drawn, should the series be lengthened, that an additional "gate" was desired.

Thursday night's contest was declared a draw despite the protests of the weary players who were willing to continue the struggle all night if necessary to reach a decision. The ice had become soft and soggy because of the heat in the close packed arena, and officials deemed it unsafe to allow the game to continue.

Both the Bruins and Senators emerged without casualty from the prolonged contest, which was featured by close knit defensive play. Each team was confident yesterday that to-day's game would bring the "break" that would permit of a victory.

The lucky nine thousand fans who had their tickets for the game two days ago before they were all gone, were confident that to-day's contest would be a rip snorter for several reasons. It will be the Bruins' last chance on their home ice and they are expected to stage a wide open attack in an effort to score one victory before leaving for Ottawa, where the series will be concluded. The Boston team, while showing an edge on attack Thursday night, played a lot of defensive hockey which mitigated against their best offense.

If the Bruins do play a more open game at the cost of an airtight defence, the crafty and experienced Senators will not be backward in taking advantage of the least opening to filter through for a goal. It is not expected, however, that Ottawa will take any chances with the weakening of their own famous defence and will stake all on an opportune goal to give them the victory.

The players were resting yesterday and will continue the process until game time to-day. The managers were available to the press, however, and Ross and Gill of Boston and Ottawa respectively, made the same prediction as to the outcome of the series. Both indicated that without the least possible doubt Boston or Ottawa, according to which manager was speaking, would win. They also agreed that it was too bad that the first game finished so unsatisfactorily.

HORSE IS MOURNER.

CHICAGO, April 9.—Jim, for more than fourteen years a faithful member of the Chicago Police Department cavalry, was relieved of his duties the other day that he might serve as a mourner at the funeral of a man who had ridden him. One of the dying requests of Policeman David Cairns was, "I want Jim at my funeral."

Inside Sporting Dope

By A Wise Cracker

Mister Sporting Editor:

Outside the, as it were, jam between the Ottawa Senators and the Bruins of Boston for the cash and carry title, the hockey season is over, Mac. The All-in Cup goes to the Grads, and Mister Connie Smythe's lads has been given a big reception in their home town. And I'll bet you a nickel, Mister Sporting Editor, the birds which yelled, "Atta boy, Grads," the loudest in Toronto Thurs. was the same guys that used to give the x-students the raspberry every time they seen Mister Louie Hudson's dirty upper lip out there at the arena last winter. With a lotta fans the Grads has been as popular in Toronto and elsewhere as an income tax form, but it makes a difference when the big prize is copped. Nearly everybody loves a winner, so the jeers has turned to cheers. Mister Smythe's lads weathered a No. of games by a eyelash, but anyway they was only beat once in 26 starts, so they deserve some applause now it's all over.

The pro serious, Mac, with 30,000 fans trying to get tickets for the games in Boston, shows that hockey has sold itself to the Yanks. I don't know whether that's a good thing for us or not—it sure is, of course, for the players, who stand to get salaries soon in the baseball class, but the danger is as I see it that Canadian cities may not be able to stand the pace and eventually get frozen outa the pro. circuit.

Have you been playing the new bus game, Mac? It's simple and any number of players can and is playing it. The corner of Charlotte and Geo. sts. is a good spot to try it out. You go up to the 1st bird you meet and say,"Kin you tell me where I kin geta bus for Auburn?" and if you ask the question before he does, give yourself 2 points. If you both say it at the same time, you get a point each. If anybody gives the right answer inside ½ a hour he makes a grand slam and wins the game. Points is taken off for bad language in talking about the Council or the Hydro.

By the way, Mister Sporting Editor, ain't it great the interest the Aldermen is taking in sport? Look what they're doing to encourage walking. "Let the people walk," is their slogan, and they climb into their cars and get a real kick out of watching the workers doing a heal and toe to their jobs, and the women from the outskirts trying to shepherd 2 or 3 youngsters and carry twice as many parcels. It's a great life if you don't halfta lead it.

The baseball situation ain't exactly cleared up yet, although the outlook is more rosier. The Petes may find themselves in a league with Oshawa, Port Hope and Belleville, but they won't be nothing settled until after Sat. anyway.

Well, Mac, by next week I hope to have some ball news for you. Meanwhile don't get hit by no street cars.

Sportfully yours,
A. WISE CRACKER.

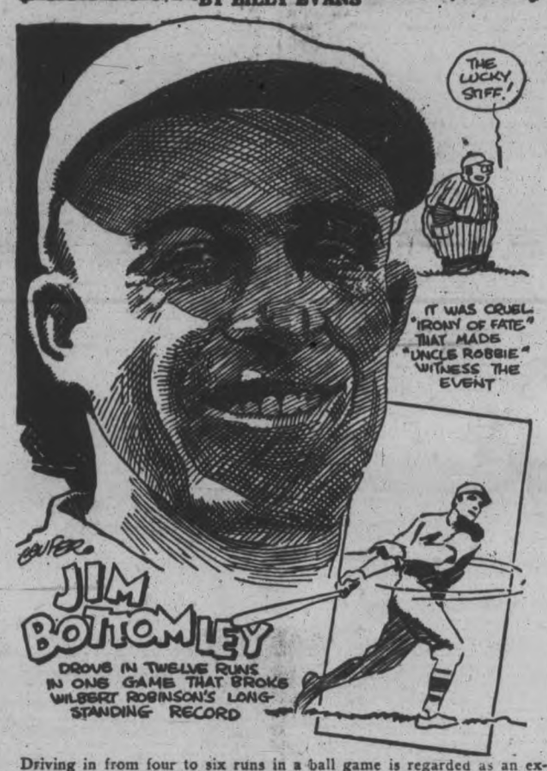
BY BILLY EVANS



Driving in from four to six runs in a ball game is regarded as an extraordinary batting feat.

However, to Smiling Jim Bottomley of the St. Louis Cardinals goes the honor of having sent an even dozen men over the plate in one game on six assorted hits.

Bottomley made his record during the season of 1923 against Brooklyn. It was a strange coincideden ce that Wilbert Robinson, who 32 years previous had set a record by driving in 11 runs, sat on the bench and watched Bottomley break it.

When Robinson established his record he made seven hits, a mark that still stands in baseball. Bottomley made six hits, including three singles, a double and two home runs.

Here is how he did it:

In the second inning a fancy double drove one man across the plate.

Jim wasn't up in the third session, but in the fourth a home run with the sacks loaded registered four.

In the sixth another home run accounted for two tallies.

His second single sent two more over in the seventh.

He concluded a big day's work in the ninth by making another single, scoring one.

Robinson's record of 11 runs driven over in one game stood 32 years. Bottomley's dozen has an even chance of holding up longer.

CURLING CLUB HOLDS BANQUET

Prizes For Past Season Are Presented at Lakefield Function.

HAPPY EVENT.

LAKEFIELD, April 9. — The annual banquet of the Lakefield Curling Club w.s held at the Motel Lakefield on Monday evening, with a large attendance. A sumptuous fowl supper was served by mine host and Mrs. Lawless to which all present did ample justice. Excellent music was rendered during the evening by the Lakefield orchestra which was enjoyed by everyone. When the inner man had been fully satisfied the meeting came to order with the president, C. S. Tanner in the chair, and the officers were elected for 1927-8:

President: D. H. Charlton.
Vice-President: J. W. Ridpath.
Executive Committee: J. E. Galvin, B. Q. Dench ,Rev. S. A. Kemp, H. G. Armstrong J. R. Hill.

The SecretaryTreasurer, P. Spence read a financial statement, which was exceedingly gratifying; the club has 60 members, 3 junior members and 5 associate members.

The total receipts for the past season were $620.00; balance from 1926, $38.74, making a total of $658.74, the total expenditure for 1927 season was $549.49, leaving a balance on hand of $109.25.

The prizes were presented amid much laughter and many jokes as the occasions on which they were won were recalled.

The FitzGerald Cup for the local competition was won by J. W. Ridpath's rink, who on the night of the final game wore large bouquets of heather from Bonnie Scotland. This was considered a brilliant triumph of wit by the winners and regarded by their opponents as taking an unfair advantage. The prizes in this contest were handsome boudoir lamps, and to the runners-up were given caps. C. S. Tanner made the presentations. The winners were H. G. FitzGerald, H. J. Sutton, J. M. Simpson and J. W. Ridpath, skips. The runners-up were F. Wannamaker, D. FitzGerald, C .Waldon, J. J. McFadden, skip.

The Casement cup, or Skips' cup, in the local bonspiel, was presented by J. W. Ridpath to S. Spence, R. Charlton, D. H. Webster, D. H. Charlton, skip; the prizes were silk scarves, and to the runners-up, Rev. T. M. Wesley, W. W. Leonard, J. E. Galvin and C. S. Tanner, skip, were given alarm clocks.

Mr. E. A. Tanner presented the Tanner cup, or ice-Skips' cup, to T. Braden, W. A. Robinson, D. Fitzgerald, H. G. Armstrong, skip, with military brushes ,as the accompanying prizes; and to the runners-up W. G. Morrison, J. Hill, E. H. Northey, and R. J. Jory coffee percolators.

Mr. T. Crawford, who held the Douro cup last year, presented the trophy this year to C. Hunter, G. A. Charlton, skip. The prizes were mouse traps.

It was moved by E. A. Tanner and seconded by T. Braden, and carried unanimously, that the secretary-treasurer be given a hearty vote of thanks for his work. Mr. Spence had the interests of the club thoroughly at heart and lost no opportunity to promote its welfare, giving time and energy unsparingly.

All the newly elected officers and the prize winners gave speeches, nearly al very brief. Mr. J. S. Montgomery, who was one of the principal speakers gave a recitation also, which was heartily applauded. Other speakers included Dr. F. H. Lingwood, Messrs H. R. Wagar, E. W. Bailey and E. A. Tanner.

Mr. Bailey sounded a new note in his address, as he referred to the fact that the club which enjoys such happy times and pleasant relations during the curling season, disbands after the banquet, and do not get together again till curling tie once more looms up. In Lakefield there is opportunity and need for a men's club devoted to community service, and the speaker felt that the Curling Club could be the nucleus of just such an organization, as it was composed of representative men in every walk of life.

It was moved by E. A. Tanner, seconded by P. Spence that steps be taken toward such an organization, and that Messrs. J. S. Montgomery, G. G. Connell, H. G. FitzGerald and E. W. Bailey, be a committee to take steps toward the formation.

It was moved by J. E. Galvin, seconded by T. Braden, that a hearty vote of thanks be tendered Mine Host and Mrs. Lawless who had spared no effort to make the occasion a success, and it will long be remembered as a red letter night in the Lakefield curling club.

Those present were: H. G. Armstrong, E. W. Bailey, Thompson Braden, G. G. Connell, D. H. Charlton, R. G. Charlton, S. J. Charlton, T. Crawford, B. Q. Dench, George Davey, H. G. FitzGerald, A. M. FitzGerald, Dr. Gibson, J. E. Galvin, J. R. Hill, C. Hunter, R. J. Jory, E. S. Kelsey, Rev. S. A. Kemp, A. G. Lawless, Dr. F. H. Lingwood, Charles Lake, J. J. McFadden, R. D. Murduff, John Madill, James Millar, W. G. Morrison, J. S. Montgomery, E. H. Northey, G. Northey, J. R. Northey, D. Pugh, N. Payne, J. H.Payne J. W. Ridpath, Dr. Renwick, W. Robinson, P. Spence, G. H. Spence, S. Spence, Jr., J. M. Simpson, H. J. Sutton, E. A. Tanner, C. S. Tanner, F. Wannamaker, H. Wannamaker, N. R. Wagar, D. H. Webster, G. A. Welbourne, W. Watson, Rev. T. M. Wesey, W. W. Yale.

PEACE RIVER AREA SHOULD BE STUDIED

House Committee Makes Report on Proposed Outlet.

OTTAWA, April 9. — Canadian Press.)— The Railways and Canals committee of the House of Commons, which concluded its hearing on the Peace River outlet this morning, will report to the House this afternoon that its opinion is that the building of a western outlet from the Peace River area is feasible from an engineering standpoint, that on economic ground, construction should not be commenced forthwith, and that the potentialities of the Peace River area warrant continuous study of its development.
